Homedale girl rescued from rottweiler attack

Dog quarantined, no citations issued

"I just want to thank him with all my heart," a 15 year old Homedale girl said Thursday after a Homedale man rescued her from the jaws of a nearly 120-pound rottweiler dog as she was walking to school Thursday morning. "If it had not been for the man, I am not sure what would have happened. He just would not let go of my leg."

Lupita Calderon said she was on her way to school Thursday morning, as she does every morning, but when she passed in front of the dog's home, he burst out of the bushes and grabbed her by the leg.

"I stopped my truck and seen him crouched in the bushes, then he seen her and just went after her like nothing I have ever seen before," Ervin Watson, said of the attack. "She was turned and was trying to run down the street, but he would not let go of her. I jumped out of my truck and started for her screaming and yelling at the dog. When he saw me it seemed like I broke his gaze and he let go of her."

Watson said he was parked near Brothers Automotive when the incident happened. He said he looked in his mirror and saw the young girl walking down the street. He said the next thing he knew, the dog had a hold of the girl's pant leg.

"She took off running and that dog took off after her," Watson said. "He had his mouth on her leg. He acted like he was ready to take her down

Homecoming activities continue through this week

Both the Marsing Huskies and the Homedale Trojans will continue to celebrate homecoming activities through Saturday.

RV Park suspected target of bomb threat

Pipe bomb found in Boise connected with family in Marsing

Several residents were evacuated from a Marsing RV park Tuesday after the Owyhee County Sheriff's Office received a report that a bomb may have been placed near a vehicle.

It all started when Boise Police Department received a report of a pipe bomb under a van in the 2400 block of S. Pond Street in Boise. Several families were also evacuated from the Boise area after discovering the bomb.

The Boise Police Bomb Squad, the ATF, Probation and Parole, Boise Fire and Ada County Paramedics responded to the home. A small explosive device (approximately 4 inches long and 3/4 inches in diameter) was found under a van.

Owyhee County Sheriff Gary Aman said Ada County dispatch contacted his office and said they had reason to believe another bomb may have been placed under a vehicle at Snake River RV Park. Thirty six-year old David Eugene Maxwell was being sought in connection with the Boise bomb after officers received a report of ongoing disputes with several of his family members.

"Maxwell has relatives in Marsing and the understanding was is that he was going to kill everyone in his family," Aman said Tuesday. "We evacuated everyone within 150 feet of the home. The Nampa Police Department's bomb squad was called out as well as Canyon County officers and officers from the Idaho State Police."

Aman said no evidence of a bomb was found at the residence, but he said he would continue to assist Boise police in the search for Maxwell. The Nampa bomb squad searched four vehicles as well as around the residence.

Nearby residents were evacuated from their homes in Boise while bomb technicians used the police department's bomb robot to retrieve and disrupt the device. No one was injured and nearby residents were allowed to return their homes just before 3 p.m. Tuesday afternoon.

The robot surrounded the device with sandbags and then fired a plaster bullet into the device destroying it before it detonated.

Investigators from the Boise incident said Maxwell has had an ongoing dispute with a family member who lives at the S. Pond Street address. Boise police said that if the device had detonated it could have impacted the neighborhood.

Maxwell turned himself in to Garden City Police Officers on Sept. 17 after learning that his probation and parole officers had obtained an Agents Warrant for his arrest. Boise detectives spent several hours questioning him and released him to his probation and parole officer. After being questioned by Probation and Parole, Maxwell was released and informed not to leave the area.

Boise detectives are continuing their investigation. Detectives do not believe the pipe bomb was randomly placed at the Pond Street location. -CP

Motorists told of delays on Highway 19

The Idaho Department of Transportation is warning residents of extensive delays on Highway 19 between Dairyland Seed in Homedale and the Oregon border as the department will spend the next two weeks overlaying the road.

Traffic will be cut to one lane on the two-way route with a pilot car. Speed limit will be reduced to 35 miles per hour. Special width restrictions of 8.6 feet will be imposed on the 4.5 mile section of roadway.

The construction is a full-width asphalt overlay of approximately three inches. Transportation technician Larry Vaughn said motorists can expect delays for approximately 15 days. -CP

Missile lights up Grand View/Bruneau sky

Several Grand View and Bruneau area folks made phone calls to the Owyhee County Sheriff's Office last Thursday evening to find out what was exploding in the sky. The bright light people saw at approximately 8:30 p.m. was a Minuteman III Intercontinental Ballistic missile from Northern California.

The launch of the unarmed missile provided a spectacular light show for overmuch of California, Arizona, Nevada and Idaho.

The missile, part of the Force

Development Evaluation Program was from Vandenberg Air Force Base in Northern California. The missile was deployed at 7:36 p.m.

The three-stage, solid-fueled missile was blasted out of an underground silo located on the military base north of Santa Barbara. Owyhee County Sheriff Gary Aman said six people called his department to find out exactly what the light was.

The two unarmed re-entry vehicles from the missile were expected to travel about 4,200 miles in about 30 minutes. The vehicles were to strike predetermined targets at the Kwajalein Missile Range in the western chain of the Marshall Islands in the Pacific Ocean, the Air Force said in a prepared statement.

The 576th Flight Test Squadron at Vandenberg and the 341st Space Wing and the 341st Space Wing from Malmstrom Air Force Base in Montana directed the mission.

The Force Development Evaluation Program's mission is to test missile-launching systems and make missiles more accurate and reliable. -CP

Ihlis honored by donation to county historical society

Museum Complex receives land

Three building lots adjacent to the Owyhee County Historical Society's museum complex have been donated to the Society in honor of Nick and Dolores Ihli. The Ihlis have been long time OCHS volunteers and community leaders. "Nick and Dolores have been fabulous supporters of the historical society and museum and deserve to be recognized in a meaningful way," stated the anonymous couple that made the donation. The addition of the lots to the historical society's property consolidates the museum complex on one city block.

The donors insist that Mr. and Mrs. Ihli are the important people to be recognized by this gift, not themselves. "Nick and Dolores deserve to be honored for their steadfast support of OCHS and their community," they said. They added, "Dolores and Nick are a team. They work together on things important to them. Their service to OCHS and the Murphy community is mutual. They both deserve special recognition."

Nick Ihli currently serves on the OCHS Board of Directors. "Nick and Dolores have been invaluable resources to OCHS this past year. Their years of experience in the title transfer business has been one of the many expert abilities from which OCHS has benefited," according to Jim

Hyslop, OCHS Board Chairman. "The Ihlis live near the museum and have readily pitched in, almost on a daily basis," says fellow Board member and Murphy resident, OCHS Board Chairman Jim Hyslop, center, honors Nick and Dolores Ihli for their dedication to the museum.

Joan Bachman. Barbara Jayo, another long time friend of the Ihlis said. "Nick graduated from Marsing High School in 1948 and Dolores a couple years later. They have been married over 50 years. Nick was always really smart."

Prior to their owning Ihli Title Company, Nick served as Owyhee County Clerk for 15 years. He was treasurer of the Silver City Taxpayers Association, Inc., for many terms. Nick and Dolores were instrumental and supportive of the founding of the Murphy, Reynolds, Wilson Fire District. Nick currently serves as secretary for the fire district. Dolores served two terms as Owyhee County Treasurer.

The Ihlis have a son, two daughters, and four grandchildren. Their roots in Owyhee County can be traced back to the earliest pioneers, including the Joyce family of Sinker Creek. Mary O'Malley, another descendent of the Joyce family, says of her cousin Dolores and Nick, "It is nice Dolores and Nick are being recognized. Like so many other OCHS volunteers, they readily step up to help.

Chairman Hyslop says there are no plans to build in the new lots at this time. He said, "A whirlwind of new projects are stating up. Since the Norris McKeeth bequest a year and a half ago we have had many fantastic things happening at the museum. We are excited to have these three lots in the event that we eventually build. For the foreseeable future we will utilize them annually for our Outpost Days in June.

Horse Liniment Eases Arthritis Pain

OCALA, FL -- An ingredient derived from hot peppers that decreases inflammation in race-horse's legs, is now recognized as safe and effective for human use. The ingredient has been formulated into a product called ARTH-Rx™ and comes in a strength designed for humans. Researchers are excited and say the formula can relieve arthritis pain for millions.

Developed by the Phillips Gulf Corporation, ARTH-Rx is a breakthrough in the treatment of painful disorders ranging from minor aches and pains to more serious conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, tendonitis, backache and more.

Although the mechanism by which ARTH-Rx works to relieve pain is not totally clear, scientists suggest that pain is relieved because ARTH-Rx intercepts the messenger substance that sends pain signals to the brain.

ARTH-Rx is available in a convenient roll-on applicator without a prescription. According to a spokesperson for the company, due to the overwhelming demand for ARTH-Rx, supplies are sometimes limited. ARTH-Rx can also be ordered by calling 1-800-729-8446. # Caldwell accident kills Homedale woman

A Homedale woman died when a Homedale man struck the pickup she was driving as she pulled onto Highway 19 west of Caldwell last Monday afternoon.

Ruth Cooper, 54, died at the scene when her car was hit and knocked into a parked tractor-trailer. Idaho State Police reported that Cooper apparently failed to yield the right-of-way at a stop sign when she was turning from Farmway Road onto Highway 19 just after 4 p.m.

Rodrigo Albor, 40 also of Homedale, reportedly struck Cooper's driver's side door spinning the pickup around across the highway. Cooper's vehicle came to rest after it crashed into a parked semi. The semi received minor damage.

Cooper was alone in her vehicle, but eight people were in Albor's vehicle, a 1989 Chevrolet pickup. Albor and several passengers were transported to West Valley Medical Center in Caldwell and to Mercy Medical Center in Nampa for treatment for minor injuries. -CP when I got to her. I started screaming at him and he ran back to a house.”

Watson said he tried to give Lupita a ride home, but she said her sister lived near by and he took her there.

Homedale Police Chief Jeff Eidemiller said the three-year old dog would be quarantined for 10 days at a local veterinary clinic. He said that currently no citations have been issued because the dog had not been allowed to run free. He had “escaped” from his owner’s home.

“The owner has said that after he is released from quarantine if there are no problems with him that he will either find a new home for the dog or he will dispose of it,” Eidemiller said Thursday afternoon.

Eidemiller said the dog did not have any tags, which is required within city limits and he said the dog was outside of his vaccination period. A spokesman at the Owyhee Vet Clinic said if the dog has rabies he would expire within a few days. The spokesman said the dog weighed nearly 120 pounds and is a three-year-old rottweiler.

“The city has a leash ordinance and the state also has a dog running at large law, but Mr. Almarez has made an effort to contain the dog,” Eidemiller explained. “If dog owners are making an attempt to restrain their animals we will work with them. We are talking about climbing, digging, jumping dogs. They get out sometimes. But if the owner is not making an effort we have the option of issuing a warning or a citation. It is on a case by case situation.

Eidemiller said as of Sept. 19, his department has impounded 60 dogs, over one per week. He said he receives at least one call per day of a dog at large.

If a dog is captured it is taken to the vet clinic and impounded until its owner can be found. If it is not claimed, it is euthanased.

“All I can really say is if you are a pet owner, be a responsible pet owner,” Eidemiller continued. “Dozens and dozens of people do not try to take care of their animals, but for the most part I think people try to obey the law.

“I would also like to thank Mr. Watson for getting involved. It is reassuring to see people still get involved.

In Homedale we have an ordinance that states any owner of a rottweiler or a pit bull terrier is required to obtain liability insurance. There are several other dogs listed, but I don’t have a copy of that in front of me.”

Lupita received scratches and bruising to her leg and was taken to the Homedale Clinic where she was treated.

The owner of the dog, Guillermo Almarez could not be reached for comment. - CP

Hopkins said. “This is a positive indication for everybody in the community as well as in the school district.”

The funds were needed to add five classrooms and build a new freestanding kitchen facility to be located between the elementary school and the high school. Recent legislation will allow the state to pay about 76% of the bond interest, providing a lower financing cost for district taxpayers.

“This will be a facility that community members as well as school people can take advantage of,” Hopkins said.

The time line for construction-related activities has already been set, and now that the results are in, it will be followed, Hopkins said.

Mayor Faye Pfrimmer said she was “elated” at the results. She credits the bond’s passage to lots of people working very hard at educating the public on what would happen if it didn’t pass.

“I would like to say a big thank you to everyone who got out and voted, who got involved, and who worked so hard to get it passed,” she said.

New vet likes animals of all sizes

Dr. Carrie Arnhoelter, new vet at the Owyhee Veterinary Clinic, comforts a scared kitty.

The new vet at the Owyhee Veterinarian Clinic plays no favorites.

"I do everything - whatever comes in," said Dr. Carrie Arnhoelter, who joined the clinic in early August after a year and a half at a strictly dairy practice in Caldwell. She graduated from the University of Wisconsin in Madison, then worked in a mixed practice clinic in Wisconsin before being recruited by the dairy facility in Caldwell. She has been a licensed veterinarian since 1998.

She has liked animals and wanted to be a vet ever since she was four years old, which is true of most people in the profession, she said. "Seventy-eighths of my class will tell you the same thing."

She joins Drs. Randy Bean and William Cegnar at the clinic.

Arnhoelter and her husband, David Roitt, like to camp, ride horses, and train dogs in their spare time. -KL

Former Rimrock teacher arrested in Oregon

A 32-year-old former Rimrock Junior/Senior High School teacher was arrested earlier this month at a school district in Sweet Home, Oregon.

Sweet Home, Oregon police department arrested Carl Freeman Duncan for two counts of sexual assault with a minor under 16 and one count of lewd and lascivious conduct with a minor under 16.

Duncan recently began working for the school district at the Sweet Home High School. Sweet Home School Superintendent Dr. Larry Horton said Duncan had only worked for the district for 13 days and had only been exposed to students for eight days. He said five days were spent in teacher in-service classes.

"Duncan was an English teacher and a football coach," Horton said. "We were shocked and hate to start our school year with this kind of incident."

Horton said since Duncan was only with the students for eight days, they only had a counselor available to students if they needed to speak with anyone. He said he has been an administrator for 32 years and has never had anything like this happen in his district.

"He seemed to be doing a good job while he was here," Horton explained. "He had the greatest respect from the kids."

Horton said his district checks references before hiring a new teacher and said apparently Duncan's returned "clean" or he would not have been hired.

"We check a criminal background and fingerprints, but if you have not been arrested, you do not have a criminal record," Horton said. He said the Bruneau/Grand View School District did not return any information of problems with Duncan before he was hired.

Bruneau/Grand View School Superintendent Dallas Taylor could not be reached for comment. -CP

Frosty Palace to add indoor seating

The Frosty Palace in Homedale is not only still open, it’s expanding.

Construction on the building has led some people to believe the ice cream shop and eating establishment had closed.

Not so, said co-owner Jan Roesberry. “We are adding an addition that will allow indoor seating,” she said. Up to 28 customers at a time will find room to sit when the addition is completed by the end of October. The work is being done by Grammter Construction of Homedale.

The restaurant, which is open year around, currently provides a lunch and dinner menu as well as ice cream and soft drinks to walk-up and drive-through customers. When the addition is completed, new menu items will also be added, Roesberry said.

A new Frosty Palace is now open in Caldwell, joining the Homedale and Parma locations. -KL

Homedale library’s fall book sale to be Saturday

More than 1000 books – fiction and non-fiction, hardcover and paperbacks – are waiting to be sold at the Homedale Public Library’s fall book sale Saturday, Sept. 28, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the library’s patio.

The book sales are usually held twice a year, but because last spring’s didn’t happen, people will find lots more to buy now, said Library Director Margaret Fujishin.

Books sell for $1 a pound, which means you can get three paperbacks for about a dollar, and a 600 page hardcover will cost about $1.75.

Books to be sold may have been selected from those donated to the library, or sorted out from library shelves. One consideration is how long it’s been since the book has been checked out. “It’s hard to choose,” Fujishin said, “but with our limited space, every book needs to be earning its way.”

The event “draws people from all over the valley – even Boise,” Fujishin said. Proceeds average about $200 and go towards the purchase of new books.

Women are different at heart.

And knowing the difference could save your life.

Heart disease is the number one killer of women, but most people think of it as a man’s disease. St. Luke’s is working to change that.

Even though women are nearly twice as likely to die of a heart attack than men, millions remain unaware that heart disease kills more women than all forms of cancer combined, including breast cancer. The symptoms of heart disease in women can be subtle, and go unrecognized. Learn the warning signs. It just might save your life.

If you experience the symptoms of a heart attack, call 911 or get to the nearest hospital immediately.

Big Loop rodeo action begins Friday

The ranchers of Owyhee County and the surrounding areas continue to be faced with the task of keeping their lively hood of ranching and raising the beef for the world in tack. One of the unique ways of helping out is the Jordan Valley Big Loop Rodeo, which is held on the fourth weekend in September.

The event is a stock dog field trial, muley cattle, horse roping, and buckaroo bronc riding competition. Contestants who enter this event donate a percentage of their entry fees to the Stewards of the Range legal defense fund.

The rest of the entries are paid out as prizes.

Another way of helping fund the Jordan Valley Big Loop Rodeo and the muley roping is the sale of calendars of the Big Loop Rodeo photographer WT Bruce.

Bruce will donate a portion of the sale of each calendar sold to the Jordan Valley Big Loop Rodeo Board.

To purchase the calendars you can go to the Rope and Ride event in Jordan Valley September 27-29th or check with local merchants or you can order from web site wtbrucephotos.com. 208-583-2270 for phone orders.

The calendar is a 12-inch by 18-inch wall calendar for 2003 with 26 photos from the Jordan Valley Big Loop Rodeo and the Rope and Ride event in the fall. The calendars make great gifts and supplies are limited so hurry your order.

This last fall was the first one of many to come Buckaroo Bronc riding contest with cowboys from ranches from all over Idaho, Oregon and Nevada competing for top honors. The horses are from Wally Blossom Ranches in Owyhee Nevada.

The Event starts Friday the 27th at 9 am in Jordan valley with the stock dog contest and the finals of the top ten dogs is Saturday the 28th at 9 am the ranch style bronc riding is Saturday at Noon with the roping events following.

There will be a tri-tip beef BBQ all day Saturday and Sunday. The roping events start Sunday at 9 am. The Jordan Valley Big Loop Rodeo Board puts on the event.

Cooper runs 221 yards for Trojan football victory

Cole Cooper ran for 221 yards and a touchdown to spark the Homedale Trojans, as three- second half turnovers crippled the Pilgrims and dropped passes late in the game sealed a 15-6 WIC home loss for New Plymouth.

New Plymouth (1-2 overall, 0-1 WIC) fumbled a handoff exchange on its first offensive down in the second half, leading to a Cooper 2-yard touchdown run with 5:05 remaining in the third quarter. The Trojans (2-2 overall, 2-0 WIC) made the best of a broken up PAT attempt, as their holder scrambled and found an open man in the end zone and Homedale went ahead 15-6.

With under a minute to play in the third and New Plymouth driving, the Pilgrims suffered another critical turnover when Adam Shockley took a pass from Dane Edmunson near the Homedale 10-yard line, but had the ball knocked loose.

Matt Nauman connected with Nick Williams on a 28-yard scoring pass in the second quarter.

Kyle Hawker countered with a 7- yard touchdown scamper to cut the Pilgrim deficit to 7-6 heading into halftime.

Alex Madrid paced New Plymouth with 59 rushing yards on 10 carries. Edmunson completed 7-of-21 passes for 92 yards and had one interception, while Shockley gained 84 all-purpose yards.

Nauman was 7-of-13 passing for 83 yards and had one interception.

The best of grub, a snug parlor nicely fitted up and well-furnished bed-rooms are among the accommodations. Miller knows how to keep a hotel, but he don’t know a continental about keeping a horse restaurant. Stopping there the other day, we ordered dinner for ourself and feed for our horse. Almost instant death ensued. A Coroner’s Inquest was held, and a verdict of accidental death returned by the jury, who at the same time exonerated the Company from all blame.  SMOKY – During the past week the atmosphere hereinabouts has been charged with dense smoke often to such an extent as to hide the sun from view. ### Back to the drawing board

Last week this newspaper announced that a new reporter had joined our Staff. Kathy Lundman began work for the Avalanche last week, moving here from Havre, MT.

This week she announced she was returning to Havre.

Kathy is a good reporter, and we were looking forward to a long-term relationship. But, as she put it, “I thought I wanted a major change in my life, but, now I realize I really didn’t.”

So, it’s back to the drawing board. Cheryl will continue to do all that the can to cover all the news. In the meantime, we’re again looking for a reporter.

And we all wish Kathy the best in her search for whatever it is she wants.

Parental Assistance Needed

At the last home football game while fans cheered the team on to victory a large number of children, not high school students, choose to play in the field on the East end of the football field.

Despite the warnings from game supervisors, ticket takers, police, staff and parents some children elected to play on the seven-man football-blocking sled.

While this in itself seems harmless enough, it is what your children are doing on this sled that caused several people to attempt to remove the children from this piece of equipment. The children are not watching the game and have started tipping the sled forward in an attempt to let it rock back and flip younger, lighter children into the air. This child may be yours’. Do you know where your children are during an activity?

The sled is made of steel and will be very unforgiving when it comes down on a young arm, leg or head. During the course of any home activity our ticket takers and supervisors have enough duties and responsibility without baby-sitting 20-30 children.

While we encourage you to attend the activities, we also encourage you to be responsible for your children and do not leave them unattended for others to watch. Everyone must do their part to keep our activities safe.

Homedale High School

Apology to Mrs. Payne

Dear Ms. Payne,

I apologize for your granddaughter not being seen when you came to the Marsing Clinic just before closing on September 9th. It is our policy to see walk-in patients especially when they are injured, acutely ill or young children – even when they are not our regular patients – however late in the day it is.

We are a Community Clinic, part of Terry Reilly Health Services, a non profit care system that has served the Marsing area of Owyhee and Canyon Counties for 25 years. We have several regular patients who live in the Jordan Valley area. I have served as the principal provider in the Marsing Clinic for six and one half years. My staff and I live in the Marsing area and are part of the community.

We are a single provider clinic seeing 450 to 500 patients per month – with only one provider on site at any time. Although our doors close at 5 p.m. Monday through Wednesday and Friday, and at 9 p.m. on Thursday, our waiting room often is still partially full – and I see those patients until six or seven in the evening. On Thursdays, I am often seeing patients until after 10 p.m.

We work very hard for our Community to provide high quality care to everyone. We have prided ourselves in being accessible and competent. We are sorry for your experience and would welcome you back.

The difference between man and animals

You’ve often heard it said that man is an animal. Walt Disney taught us that animals could talk, Jack London showed us animals can be loyal, and every kid’s good dog convinced us that animals can love.

But there are subtle differences between Homo sapien and say, lizards. Those cold-blooded reptiles will lie on a flat rock to soak up the sun, not unlike...say Minnesotans on a weekend jaunt to balmy Lake Superior.

In the wild, lionesses do all the hunting, then the king of the beasts lumbers in after the kill and gets first choice. Can you imagine a female human spouse haunting the supermarket, planning for days, rising early, baking, stirring and basting, laying a cornucopia of delectable on the table, then offering her mate the wishbone? Ridiculous...except at Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter, Sunday dinner, his birthday, her birthday, etc. Okay, okay, granted we have a few behavioral traits in common with animals.

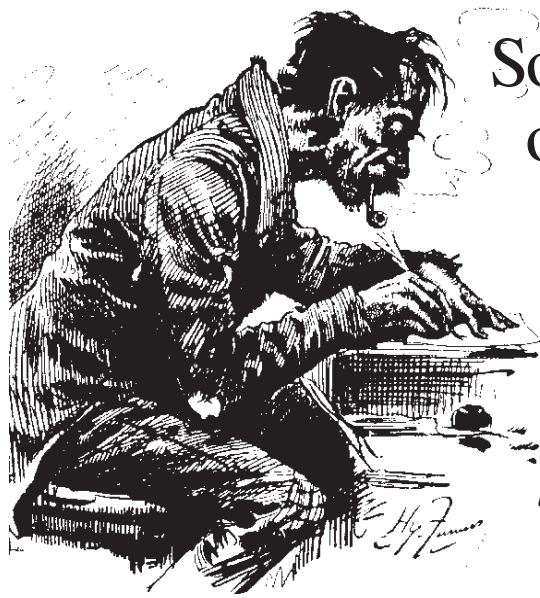

If anthropomorphism is giving animals human traits, then tunapomorphism must be the attribution of animal traits to humans, i.e., you eat like a pig, she was led like a lamb to the slaughter, stop that monkey business, quit horsing around, she’s a foxy chick, he’s a wolf in sheep’s clothing, roll a snake eyes, he looks wormy, come fly with me, you got my goat, he crowed about winning, she’s got a tiger by the tail, you’ve got me buffaloed, a hippo in the hand is worth 2 in the bush, I’ll tell ya, I am cat tired, her hair was sort of a musk oxy brown, three blind mules, “Free Fido”, The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Husbands, she’s stubborn as a wombat, he was only three in sloth years.

Back to my point, the differences between man and animals:

- You will never see an animal tip their waiter after a meal.
- It is uncommon to find an animal that has an interest in Western art.
- Most humans avoid rolling in or pecking at pungent putrefying varmint remains.
- Animals don’t smoke or chew tobacco after a good meal.
- Bovines cannot be taught to enunciate.
- Horses could whistle, they just don’t want to.
- Chickens rarely have inflated egos, chapped lips or a future.

Stereotypes, I know but we share our planet with animals and we each are more comfortable in our own space. And it works well since animals are at home when they are outside, and people go inside to be home.

It’s nice to live in a perfect world.

Something on your mind?

Accuracy in media

Oops, they did it again

by Notra Trulock

Unhappy about becoming what the New York Times terms a “laughing stock” after the 2000 election, Florida Governor Jeb Bush promised a model election the next time around. Since then, Florida has spent nearly $32 million on state-of-the-art touch-screen voting machines and poll-worker training. A local Web site run by Miami newspapers displayed complete step-by-step instructions on how to use the machines. If you have ever used a bank ATM, voting in Florida should be ridiculously easy.

Yet the outcome of the September 11 Democratic primary for governor had the national media jeering at Florida again. The Times says that chaos reigned in the state’s most populous counties. Al Gore accused Governor Bush of screwing it up again. National Public Radio commentator Nina Totenberg agreed that the Democrats were right to “sock him with it.”

As in 2000, many of the worst problems occurred in Florida precincts that are heavily African-American. NPR’s morning program, All Things Considered, said that while frustrations were high everywhere, the “problems seemed worse” in those neighborhoods. Donna Brazile, who ran Gore’s 2000 presidential campaign, said on CNN that it’s Bush’s fault that the 2002 primary was “disenfranchising black people.” One community activist proclaimed this to be a “new Selma.” NPR and others reported lots of finger pointing, but NPR only ran one on-air interview with an African-American elections supervisor who said her county had “unequal and unmet needs” that had been ignored by the state.

But a closer look indicates that September 10 vote-counting difficulties didn’t stem from racism, as some Democrats suggested, or voters too dumb to use the new machines, as Governor Bush quipped. Florida conducts elections in 67 counties; sixteen had purchased and installed new touch-screen machines. Local election supervisors selected three vendors, approved by the state, to provide the machines. Although the Times quoted an election observer criticizing the use of “unsuccessful, first generation equipment,” the vendors have decades of combined experience. One company advertises that its machines are used in 15 states, while another claims its machines counted over 100 million ballots in the 2000 U.S. election alone. Of the 16 counties using the new touch-screen machines, problems occurred in only two counties: Miami-Dade and Broward.

These two plus ten other counties used machines made by ES&S, based in Omaha. Todd Urosevich, an ES&S spokesman, told AIM that problems with new machines are “not unprecedented,” but stem mostly from insufficient training of poll workers. Experts cited by the New York Times agreed that “training matters.”

Some counties provided twelve hours or more of training and one, Sarasota, required poll workers to pass a test before they could work election day. In one county, 14,000 voters and hundreds of poll workers conducted a dry run on the new voting machines in early August. Palm Beach County, which achieved national notoriety in 2000, also conducted dry runs at local music festivals and used the machines during a March municipal election.

But neither Miami-Dade nor Broward put much effort into training poll workers on the new machines. The local media reported that some poll workers got four hours training, some got 10 minutes, and still others said that election morning was the first time they had laid hands on the new machines. Not surprisingly, they couldn’t cope with last-minute changes in instructions for starting the new machines, although this may have been because some poll workers couldn’t read English or couldn’t read at all, reports the Times. At the end of the voting day, precinct workers disappeared with computer cartridges containing the day’s tallies. Some machines were later found stored in a warehouse, before the votes inside had been counted.

Miriam Oliphant, Broward’s election supervisor, was particularly defensive about her county’s performance. She told NPR that her county was underfunded, but the Miami Herald reported that she has a $5.3 million budget, received over $600,000 in additional funding from the state for voter education, poll-worker recruitment and training, and nearly $500,000 more from the county. This in addition to the $17.2 million Broward spent on new machines. Her local critics, who she claims are out to get her, alleged that she fired all the experienced administrators when she first came into office in 2000.

So who’s at fault? In the “buck stops here” sense, Governor Bush. But state officials charge that locals like Ms. Oliphant rejected their offers of assistance. And both of the problem counties are run by Democrats. Whatever the case, Florida has just a few short weeks to avoid another election day debacle on November 5.

Farm Bureau

Make plans to vote;
it’s your civic duty

by Frank Priestley, President

Some people think it makes little difference whether they take time out to cast a ballot. And in some elections they’re probably right. But try thinking about it this way. Voting gives you the unbridled right to complain about stuff.

Some of us are more opinionated than others and free speech is one of the cornerstones of democracy. But if you don’t follow through at the voting booth your political opinions are no more than window dressing.

To all the people who take the time to write letters to the editor or call in to talk radio shows to harangue politicians, governments, and various special interest groups, if you don’t vote, your opinions shouldn’t carry much weight with the rest of us.

Here are some more reasons to vote this year. Idaho Republicans have been running the show for the last few years and there’s a few Democrats who aren’t impressed with the job that’s been done. Many Republicans who have run unopposed for several elections in a row now have opposition. You can bet the Democrats will get their vote out this November. In addition, the swing vote in Idaho is likely to be more important this November than it has been in recent memory.

This nation just passed the first anniversary of a tragic attack against our free way of life. The attack on the World Trade Center was the most hateful crime committed against the U.S. since Pearl Harbor. And although it stunned America, it also rekindled our patriotism.

The aftermath reminded us that despite all of the faults and shortcomings, this still is the greatest nation on earth. And why is that? It’s because the people who fought for independence and established this country were different. They were freethinkers, they weren’t afraid to question authority and they believed we are all created equal. Subsequent generations held on to those beliefs. Thousands of Americans have given their lives to preserve the basic human rights guaranteed to us in our Constitution. The 15th, 19th and 26th Amendments to the U.S. Constitution guarantee us the right to vote.

Voting isn’t a hard thing to do. You can even register right there at the polls. All you need is something that proves residency like a utility bill and a driver’s license. If you can’t make it on election day or your polling place is too far away, contact your county clerk and they will set you up with an absentee ballot that you can put in the mail.

If we don’t exercise our rights then we take for granted all of the blood that was shed in the process of establishing them.

Experience counts

If someone kidnapped your daughter, you would want the most experienced sheriff at the crime scene, not someone fresh out of the police academy.

County elected positions require specific and highly specialized training to be successful in representing you, the citizens of Idaho.

Your rights as citizens of Idaho

Term limits restrict your right to vote for the candidate of your choice.

The constitution provides for term limits - the ballot box. Complacency erodes the very core of our democratic process.

Felons are not denied the right to run for office. Your family, friends and neighbors deserve greater freedoms than convicted felons with regard to the electoral process.

Say YES to your right to vote for the candidate of your choice.
Say YES to your right to place your name on a ballot to run for the office of your choice. Defend your rights as an Idaho citizen.
