Ada County jury convicts Payne on sex charges

An Owyhee County man was convicted during a four day jury trial in Ada County last week of the same charges to which was pleaded a bargain down last year by the Owyhee County prosecuting attorney.

Scot Payne

Scot Payne was convicted on two counts of lewd and lascivious conduct with a minor under 16 in an Ada County courtroom after a jury deliberated for just short of two hours.

Payne was arrested in Owyhee County last year and charged with lewd and lascivious conduct with a 14-year old girl, but the charge was later reduced after he pled guilty to felony aggravated battery. He was sentenced in January to three years in prison and 10 years probation, with the court retaining jurisdiction, which means Owyhee County could enforce up to 10 years in prison if Payne did not meet the terms of his agreement. He served six months in a prison facility in Cottonwood and was released last summer.

Ada County Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Jean Fisher prosecuted the case and said she was able to do what Owyhee County Prosecuting Attorney Ed Yarbrough didn't.

"I think a travesty of justice has been committed in Owyhee County," Fisher said Monday. "I think the victim deserved better, and she got better here in Ada County. Justice was served

Pheasant season opens Oct. 19

Hunters will take to the fields next Saturday for the opening of pheasant season in Owyhee County. The season opens at noon on Oct. 19 and remains open until Dec. 31.

The daily bag limit for the birds is three cocks per day and six cocks in possession after opening day.

To hunt birds on the C.J. Strike Wildlife Management Area between Bruneau and Grand View, hunters must acquire a WMA pheasant permit. Permits are required for hunters 17 or older or have a pheasant in his or her possession on any of the WMAs where game farm pheasants are released.

In April, 2002, the Idaho Fish and Game Commission standardized the bag and possession limits for pheasants. Now the statewide bag limit will be three cocks per day and six in possession for state wildlife management areas,

County candidates run unopposed

Term limits hottest issue on this year's ballot

Although Owyhee County will not see a competition for elected offices this year with none of the candidates being opposed, the hot topic for this year's election is the term limits issue, Proposition Two.

County candidates up for election this year, but unopposed are County Commissioner Harold Tolmie (R) who defeated Bill Watterson in the primary election, County Commissioner Chris Salove (R), Clerk of the District Court, Charlotte Sherburn (R) who will replace Cyndi Eaton, County Treasurer, Barbara Wright (R), County Assessor, Brett Endicott (R) who will replace retiring Ernie Bahem and County Coroner, Harvey Grimme (R).

Voters will have a choice of six candidates for Legislative District No. 23. For State Senator William K. (Bill) Chisholm (D) will run against

Retired ISP officer to teach DARE program

by Cheryl Peterson

Rich Wills, a retired Idaho State Police Officer, school drug educator and Republican candidate for House Seat 'A' for District 22 will begin teaching Owyhee County students the dangers of drug use in the DARE program. Wills has currently joined the department, but said he will not be entering the classrooms until later this month.

Wills is from Glens Ferry and retired from the ISP after 30 years of service. He and his wife Connie own and operate the Opera Theater in the southwestern Idaho town, a business Wills is very proud of. Connie is a principal at the Glens Ferry Middle School. The couple have raised four children, including three sons who are in law enforcement for the City of Boise, and have four grandchildren.

"Dick Freund has agreed to fill in for me during my interim period," Wills said of his position as representative. "I had four dummies I used to use during classes with ISP, but so far they haven't given them back to me."

Wills was well known for his presentations as a school drug educator with his "dummies." He said his wooden friends helped immensely during classes.

Children are the focus of Wills' career and said although he retired from law enforcement, he just could not stay out of the profession altogether.

Besides educating children, his second love is his theatre in Glens Ferry.

"It is a non profit organization," Wills said. "We are umbrellaed under the city of Glens Ferry because it is a wonderful building. It was built in 1914 for live shows. It was called the Gorbie Theatre at that time. It was done for live shows on stage because at that time there was a turn around there for the trains. It was the half way mark and they turned around both ways there. When people had some off time from the train they could attend a show."

Wills said he and his wife have owned the establishment for nine years and said it operates only in the summer months every Friday and Saturday night.

"It is incredible," Wills continued. "It is the only theatre in the state of Idaho that still functions with its original intent. The old dimmers are still there and still work. They use it for everything and we

Lockdown could effect local crop exports

Executive Director Larry Link from the Idaho-Oregon Fruit and Vegetable Association said in a statement released Monday that the recent lockout of the Longshoremen's Union by Pacific Maritime Association on the west coast could impact local fruit and vegetable shippers in the area. "The impact may be felt in this area if it lasts further into the market season," Link said in a comment released Monday. "Produce is a perishable item and any delay at the ports could be a problem. West Coast shipments normally destined for export might need to be diverted to other markets." Angelica Espino from the Idaho Agricultural Statistics Service said her department has not heard of any delays as of yet from farmers and ranchers in the area.

A second week of a port shutdown has caused noticeable increase in plant closings, job losses and financial market turmoil, say analysts and business leaders who are increasingly skeptical of a quick end to the labor dispute.

Storage facilities at beef, pork and poultry processing facilities across the country are full with produce that can not be exported.

A spokesman from the JC Watson Company in Homedale said the lockout has not effected the company yet, but could when the apple production gets in full swing.

"We began packing apples late this year due to packing onions," the spokesman said Monday. "We haven't seen any fall out from it yet, but could when the production of the apples really begins." -CP

Apple production

The harvest has begun for local apple production and growers in the area are uncertain if a lockout by West Coast Longshoremen will halt production and control harvest prices.

Harvest season

Onions production is slowing this year with a one percent decrease in production throughout Idaho. As of Monday, 5.1 million pounds of onions are produced in Idaho.

Loading

A worker at Bowman's Produce in Marsing, loads onions into bins before sending them through a packing process for exporting. Exported fruits and vegetables have come to a stand still as dock workers went on strike nearly two weeks ago.

Ripening

Apples ripen on fruit trees at Garrett Ranches near Homedale last week. Apple production will be in full harvest soon.

Sorting

A packager for Bowman's Produce in Marsing lines up onions to be packaged into 50-pound bags last week. Shipping the product has become uncertain as Longshoremen continue a lockout of West Coast dockworkers.

Local author’s work published

Metcalf’s book on Oceanside, Ore. now available

A nearly life-long dream was fulfilled this summer when Mary Evelyn Metcalf’s book about Oceanside, Oregon was published.

Oceanside, Oregon: Treasure by the Sea tells the story of the Oregon coastal village from its early days to the present through interviews, photos, and news articles. Metcalf shows her love of the area’s beauty, people, and demographics through her own personal recollection, photographs, and poetry.

The book started to take form in 1997 when Metcalf was living in Oceanside and writing a newspaper column called “Oceanside Fencepost.”

“I interviewed a lot of people. I wanted to write the history in the Fencepost columns,” she said.

Metcalf currently lives in Homedale. She grew up in the area raised her nine children here. She teaches piano between trips to Oceanside and elsewhere to visit her children as well as other relatives and friends.

Metcalf first fell in love with Oceanside as a teenager in 1938 when her family spent the first of many summers there. She hoped some day to live in Oceanside, to write about the area, and to be the chapel pianist. She has now done all three.

She finished writing her book last fall, and her daughter, Annis Clapp, saw to its layout and publication. The finished product arrived at Metcalf’s home on Aug. 26. She and daughter Roselyn Wilson then traveled to Oceanside, and over the Labor Day weekend sold nearly 200 copies from the chapel.

The book is available for sale locally at Lori’s Latte in Homedale.

Former teacher released on reduced bond

Prosecutor’s absence allows defense to argue bail

A former Rimrock High School teacher arrested in Sweet Home, Oregon last month was released on a lowered bail than what Magistrate Judge Thomas Ryan originally set after defense attorneys requested the bail be lowered. Prosecuting Attorney Ed Yarbrough did not attend the hearing to dispute the request.

Carl Freeman Duncan, 32 of Sweet Home, Oregon, was arrested by Linn County police officers last month on Owyhee County charges of sexual abuse of a child under the age of 16 and lewd conduct with a minor child under 16. He was transferred to Owyhee County and arraigned Sept. 26. Freeman joined the staff of Sweet Home School District this fall after working for several years in the Grand View/Bruneau School District.

A report filed with the Owyhee County Courts shows that Duncan was released by Magistrate Judge James Peart on a $10,000 bond lowered from the initial $100,000 Judge Ryan ordered on September 13 when the complaint was filed. Judge Ryan was recovering from a recent illness and did not preside at the hearing.

“This was the initial appearance and he (Duncan) does not plead at an initial appearance,” a spokesman from the courthouse said last week. “His bond was set at $10,000 cash bond.”

The spokesman said that the defense attorneys, Susan Weibe from Marsing and Tim Grasback from Moscow, basically had free reign to argue down the bail because Yarbrough was not in attendance.

Yarbrough said Wednesday that he “never” attends initial hearings. He said he was unaware that the decision had been made.

“Bond is set to ensure personal appearance, not set to punish a person,” Yarbrough said. “If the judge does not have any appearance or public safety issues he may reduce the bond. I didn’t know it happened. I don’t go to the initial appearance.”

Duncan’s preliminary hearing is set for October 7 at 1:30 p.m.

Family Reading Night scheduled

Parents and students can enjoy an evening of reading during Family Reading Night at Homedale Middle School. The family reading nights are held from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on the third Tuesday of every month.

The next Family Reading night is Tuesday, October 15.

During that time the Homedale Middle School library will be open to all middle school students, parents, grandparents, guardians and siblings.

It is time to relax for an evening of reading alone or to read to children. Parents can also watch their children test on the Accelerated Reader software.

Field to speak at women’s meeting

State Representative Francis Field will be the guest speaker for this month’s Owyhee County Republican Women. The meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m., Tuesday Oct. 15, 2002 at the Owyhee County Courthouse in Murphy. Field will speak of state government.

All men and women are invited to attend and coordinator Joan Mason said all teachers and interested people should attend this informational meeting.

Payne’s trial began last Monday and ended Thursday. Fisher said Richard Harris was Payne’s defense attorney and a jury of nine women and three men convicted Payne.

“I have to give a huge plug to Owyhee County Chief Deputy Dick Freund,” Fisher said. “He did an incredible investigation. He had everything ready for us to get a conviction. It was a fabulous investigation. If it wasn’t for Chief Deputy Freund and the young witness, we may not have gotten the conviction we got. The witness was so believable. The pain she actually felt was felt by everyone in the room. She was a very compelling witness.”

Freund said he was extremely pleased with the outcome of the trial.

“I was very, very impressed with her (Fisher’s) ability to prepare for this trial,” Freund said. “I have not been this prepared for trial in 15 years, since (former prosecuting attorney) Clayton Andersen. She called me numerous times and we met numerous times to go over evidence.

“I feel that this is a beginning point for this young girl to heal. Now she can begin to heal because before, that guy was walking around. I don’t know how many other young girls were victimized by this guy, but I know he had relationships with other women who left him because they were concerned about their children. Now this girl can begin the healing process.”

Fisher said Payne would be scheduled for sentencing in December and she is still seeking people in the area who have some concerns in Payne’s sentencing.

“I have a lot of work to do before I know what I will be asking for,” Fisher continued. “I am interested in talking to any family or any one who may have any other information on Payne.”

Fisher said Payne previously worked for the Marsing School District in, she believed, the maintenance department. She said if anyone has any further information concerning Payne to feel free to call her at the Ada County Prosecuting Attorney’s office. -CP still use it for everything. Weddings, meetings, you name it, it has been used for everything.”

“I don’t know why I am back in law enforcement, except dedication,” Wills laughed. “I am a people person and I love the youth. After spending 28 years with them you can’t stay away from them.”

Wills and his wife also hold CSC classes for Elmore County for youth who are in trouble.

“I was amazed to find that Owyhee County does not have any self help classes for youth,” Wills explained. “We have been blindsided by drugs because we didn’t see it as being the negative impact that it has on the community. I think it has leached into every aspect of society. The farther down in the economic situation you go the more it has become a crutch.

“We are looking at third and fourth generations of people now who have had those crutches in their life. Whether it is in the genes or passed on, it is now a part of living in their own environment as the kids are growing up. What are they supposed to do when you see mom and dad doing it and you see nothing but that side of it, what are they supposed to do? That is where we are. It is a very serious situation.”

Wills said that the situation is exactly where he comes in. To help detour children into making the right choices and not relying on a “crutch.”

“That is a huge reason why I am a part of this is because hopefully I can make a positive impact and at least change their behavior so they can make the right choices. The kids are the bottom line.”

Wills is no stranger to tough times, growing up at poverty level incomes and being subject to the pressures of alcohol, smoking and drug abuse from peers. He said his biggest accomplishment is being able to say he has never smoked a cigarette, tasted alcohol, or put an illegal drug into his body.

“There is an old adage that says ‘if you forget where you have been, you are condemned to repeat it,’ Wills stated. “I think that is where we are. We are at a crossroad in life now to where help is more vital and important and we are realizing the long-term effects. My dad died of emphysema. He was a heavy smoker all of his life. His last few years were a terrible ordeal for him. I have never indulged in any of those things. My family has a history of alcohol and smoking. I just stopped and told myself, no I am not going to do this.

“This interview should not be about me. It is about the youth. That is the bottom line, it is about the youth. Can we have a positive impact on the children? I am just a person. I love the youth, I love to be around them, I love to make a change in their lives.”

youth hunts and all other private and public lands.

Another change enacted in Owyhee County this year is vehicle restrictions. Motorized vehicle use is restricted to established roadways capable of travel by full-sized automobiles within the following boundary; Twin Falls County west of U.S. Highway 93 and south of Rogerson-Three Creek-Jarbridge Road; and Owyhee County south of Rogerson-Three Creek-Jarbridge Road and east of the West Fork Jarbridge River in management unit 47.

With the opening of pheasant season, hunters are reminded by the Idaho Fish and Game Department to follow the rules and regulations. It is unlawful to shoot from a vehicle or from or across public roads. The department said they would remind hunters to ask permission before hunting on private land. Nearly all pheasant hunting takes place on private land and permission to hunt on farmland is a privilege obtained from landholders.

“Pheasant numbers are up in Owyhee County,” a spokesman from the IDFG said. “It should be a good year for the birds.”

Council to meet tonight

The Homedale City Council will meet tonight (Wednesday) to discuss a variety of topics of city business including the airport remediation project.

Among the old business, the council will be presented with the re-appointment of Bonnie Cade to the library board, an update of the Jeppe/Sunset Mobile Home Park project, an update on signs and curbs, the new computer system and telephone system installed in city hall and a status on posting of the airport.

City Engineer Bob Walker will give the public works report and an update on the water project. Homedale Police Chief will give a report on the police department and the council will begin its discussion of mayor and council reports.

The council meetings are held every second Wednesday and fourth Thursday of every month in the courtroom at Homedale City Hall at 7 p.m. The public is welcome to attend.

Homedale man arrested for stealing Jeep

A Homedale man, Steven Larzelier, 18, was arrested Sept. 25 and charged with grand theft for reportedly stealing a 2001 black Jeep Cherokee from a local residence. Larzelier is being held in an Owyhee County jail on a $50,000 bond.

On August 29, Homedale area resident Lori Badiola reported that her Jeep was missing as well as personal items from her purse and her home. Larzelier is accused of that theft, along with a 16 year-old Homedale female juvenile.

Wilder man arrested with 10 pounds of meth

A saturation patrol by the Malheur County Sheriff's office netted methamphetamine with a value of over $60,000 and the arrest of a 31 year old Wilder resident late last month.

Malheur County Sheriff's officers were conducting a 10-day Three-Flags saturation patrol near Jordan Valley on Sept. 21 to look for safety belt and speeding violations when the discovery was made.

Jesus Ramirez Castellon was pulled over for speeding between Jordan Valley and Rome, Oregon. During the stop, Malheur County Undersheriff Brian Wolfe said Castellon gave officers consent to search the black Nissan Maxima he was driving.

Wolfe said MCSO's drug dog, Mickey, was put to work and immediately hit on the vehicle's trunk area. Wolfe said the drugs were hidden in the spare tire of the vehicle in the trunk. He said Castellon was arrested and charged with possession of a controlled substance, and manufacture and delivery of a controlled substance.

"What we do is a drug interdiction down Highway 95 several times a year," Wolfe explained. "We take several deputies when we are there.

We post warning signs before our sites telling people that we have drug dogs working ahead, drug officers working ahead.

We knew this guy was traveling at 76 miles per hour. A single occupant, Mr. Castellon, occupied it. When he seen our signs he turned around and headed back from where he came from. When we got him stopped he was interviewed and was found to be in possession of methamphetamine. It was interesting that it was hidden in the spare tire."

Wolfe said the interdiction was operating in conjunction with the Three-Flags saturation patrol.

During the 10-day operation, officers working extra patrols throughout the county tallied up the following citations: 16 driving uninsured; six careless driving; 74 failure to use seat belts; 191 speeding violations; seven driving while suspended; four minor in possession; five possession of less than one ounce of marijuana; three warrant arrests; and one felony possession of a controlled substance.

"When the dog got into Mr. Castellon's vehicle he immediately went into the back seat of the vehicle and just went nuts," Wolfe explained. "He was trying to dig through the floorboard to get to the spare tire in the trunk."

Wolfe said the Three-Flags operation has been in the works for many years, but he has the drug interdiction program has only been in effect for five years. He said this year's program started on September 20 and ended on the 29th.

"We have had people throw things out the window, turn around and try to go back the other way. It is crazy what they will try to do. We had a captain from a California fire department who was in a motor home. It was a hot day and he gets out of the motor home, puts on a coat and walks into the sagebrush. He then took a package out of his coat and hides it in the sagebrush. He tried to hide a pound and a half of marijuana in the sagebrush. When we pulled him over he had more marijuana in the motor home that he must have forgot about. About three years ago we arrested a guy with 129 pounds of marijuana."

Wolfe said Castellon is currently in jail on an immigration hold. He said due to the amount of drugs found, the federal DEA and Department of Justice will take over the case.

"The operation in my opinion is a very big success," Wolfe said. "The only problem is for every one we catch there are probably ten that go by you. We are trying to be proactive with these things instead of being reactive." -CP

Youth pheasant hunt planned Saturday

First time bird hunters will have a chance to learn from the experts at an upcoming pheasant youth hunt sponsored by the Canyon County Chapter of Pheasants Forever.

The event will be held at Idaho Sporting Clays and Game Birds on Sage Road south of Homedale on Oct. 12. The event is designed for first time bird hunters of any age to become familiar with pheasant hunting and shot gun safety.

"Persons with little or no field experience shooting shotguns and hunting upland birds are encouraged to attend," event spokesman Barney Harper said. "Folks are encouraged to bring their own shot gun to the event, but we will have shotguns available for people to use."

Harper said people wanting to attend will need to pre register with him to confirm a time and there is no cost for the event.

Registration times will begin at 8:30 a.m. To register contact Harper at 454-9551 or by e-mail at bharper11@msn.com.

Participants will receive shooting instruction during an accuracy workshop and then will follow with a supervised pheasant hunt. Harper said he hopes each participant will return with a bird.

Bingo, Christmas parade top Chamber agenda

The Homedale Chamber of Commerce will discuss bingo nights, plans for an upcoming yard sale, meeting date changes and this year's Christmas parade during its next meeting Thursday, Oct. 10 at the Owyhee Lanes Bowling Alley at noon.

Chamber president Kelly Burns said the chamber has been actively working to bring in additional businesses and members so the group can continue to function in the future. She said a lot of new ideas for a different Christmas parade this year have been brought to her attention and she will discuss the options during this week's meeting.

Photographer hit with egg during homecoming events

Homedale homecoming events were not completely quiet this year as a photographer’s backdrop for the homecoming dance Saturday night was struck by an egg thrown into the cafeteria as students celebrated the final evening of weeklong events.

“It was actually the photographer’s backdrop that took the damage from the vandalism,” Homedale Principal Mike Williams said Wednesday. “As he was leaving an egg was thrown into the cafeteria. I don’t think he was the target, but he was the one who got hit. It is my understanding from some of the chaperones that the police department caught the kids involved. I don’t believe they were from our school or maybe even in school.”

Williams said he didn’t believe the vandals had a specific target. He felt they were just throwing at anyone they could hit.

“It is very ironic after hearing about the news about the man who got beat to death back east after someone threw an egg at him,” Williams explained. “I think it was a gang type thing. That is a little of my fear as an administrator. These kids will go out and throw eggs. If it is your personal property and you have a kid out there throwing eggs at your house and you go out and the kid gets mouthy. If you grab him in the heat of whatever, you could be in big trouble. A parent would say that we are teachers and we can’t do that, but if someone is destroying your property, you have a right to defend it. It does not matter who you are.”

“I think we have had a couple of people in town who had their houses egged Friday night, but I still believe this year has been a little calmer then in the past,” Williams continued. “It still isn’t what it needs to be.”

Several events have been banned from homecoming events because of vandalism problems in the past. Freshman “hell” week was one of those this year.

In the past, students in the upper classes would force freshman students to do a variety of activities to initiate them into the high school. Williams said this year the school board, with Williams’ recommendation, banned freshman “hell” week.

“We have never endorsed it in the past,” Williams said. “What they have done is the seniors would put lipstick on the freshman and they would make them walk on the white or blue tiles or do air-raid drills. We didn’t see the physical rough ‘em up, spank them here. But what the board did was completely ban it this year. We have been doing the battle this week, but I don’t know what went on with the activities downtown. I have heard that some paddling went on downtown, but we didn’t have any of that here. If it takes place on my school property I can take action, but if it happens outside of school, I really can’t do much. The people who did this will never be at a dance at this school again.”

Homedale Police Chief Jeff Eidemiller said his department had the name of one student from Homedale High School who was involved and expected to interview the juvenile this week. He said possibly two students would be charged with malicious injury to property, but currently the attack was still under investigation. The charge would be a misdemeanor.

The photographer’s backdrop suffered approximately $25 in damages. -CP

Three Creek

Lola Blossom

Three Creek school opened on September 4, 2002 with 6 pupils and a new teacher.

The Teacher is Miss Lori Harrison. She grew up in Paul, Idaho on a farm and ranch, with her family. She graduated from Minico High School in 1998 after being active n many extra curricular activities such as 4-H, FFA and the Idaho Junior Hereford Association. Her formal education took place at the college of Southern Idaho and the University of Idaho.

Her helper is Antonia Gonzales from House Creek Ranch. She is learning more English and more about computers, She hopes to get her GED soon and have a better job in the future.

Pupils are Ruby Lee Brackett in the 6th grade, Colton Aslett in the 6th, Levi Brackett in the 5th, Dianna Gonzalez in the first grade, Jessica Gonzalez in the 3rd grade and Jessica Fowler in the first grade.

The kids have ordered a “Grow A Frog” so they can watch a tadpole become a frog. They are learning to cook and say school is a lot of fun with Miss Lori. The boys are interested in toads, lizards and snakes.

Last Saturday Kim and Ira Brackett hosted a dinner for Bert and Paula Brackett and Kim’s Aunt Nita from Wyoming. While there they dined on watermelon which Kim had raised. The first watermelon we ever heard of raised in Three Creek.

Josh Williamson of Hollister is a new cowhand at Brackett’s Flat Creek Ranch.

Brandon and Bambi Fowler and children, Jessica, Cody and Wyatt have left summercamp Ranch and moved to the T.S Ranch at Battle Mountain, Nevada.

Harland Mink is or new road supervisor. He spent almost 24 years at House Creek Ranch. He is taking the place of Bob Taylor who retired. Bob done a real good job while here. Road board members are now Chet and Ira Brackett and Bob Taylor.

Highway 19 delays

Motorists are delayed for short periods of time on Highway 19 outside of Homedale last week as work to resurface the roadway continued. Delays are expected to last through the remainder of this week as Idaho Transportation Department crews continue the two-week construction.

Homedale loss boosts Panthers to first place

Big plays and an oppressive defensive effort lifted the Parma Panthers past Homedale 30-14 Friday in a Western Idaho Conference showdown at Bennett Field in Parma.

The win moved the Panthers (5-0 overall, 3-0 WIC) into first place in the WIC, one game ahead of the Trojans (3-3, 3-1).

Parma took it to the Trojans right from the opening kickoff as Hyrum Blaylock took the kick 80 yards for a touchdown and following a Trevor Roche kick the Panthers led 7-0 just 13 seconds in the game. Parma's offense got untracked midway through the second quarter on Skyler Beard's 2-yard dive into the end zone, making it 14-0 Parma.

R-Jay Black had a pair of interceptions and returned a punt 40 yards for a fourth-quarter touchdown, putting the final nail in Parma's win. Black's return lifted Parma to a 24-6 lead.

Homedale got on the board just before the half on a 40-yard scoring strike from Matt Nauman to Nick Williams. Nauman threaded the needle into triple coverage and the score sent Olson into halftime a little nervous.

Neither team managed much coming out of the locker room. Parma's Trevor Roche tacked on a 30-yard field goal to push the lead to 17-6.

Beard's punt return put Parma up 24-6, but Homedale again found paydirt.

Nauman connected with Clay Haylett on a 7-yard pass and the two-point conversion trimmed the Parma lead to 24-14 midway through the fourth quarter, but the Trojans would get no closer.

Beard tacked on the game's final touchdown, scoring from 15 yards out, but the Homedale defense managed something no other defense has been able to — hold Beard under the century mark in all-purpose yards.

The Trojans limited Beard to just 78 total yards — 75 rushing and two yards receiving — and held the Panthers to 120 yards on the ground.

Trevor Roche completed 12-of-18 for 165 yards for Parma, outdueling Nauman, who completed just 8-of-30 for 133 yards but tossed three interceptions.

Cole Cooper rushed for 120 yards to lead Homedale's ground attack and Nauman took 133 yards of passing.

Black ended with 52 yards receiving and a touchdown. Kevin Jackson caught three passes for 60 yards, Roche threw for 165 yards and Beard rushed for 75 yards to lead the Panthers.

Homedale will enjoy a bye week, while the Panthers will travel to McCall to face the Vandals Friday.

Trojan girls place fourth in Crosby Invitational

Against heavy winds, the Homedale Trojans' girls cross country team faced many challenges in weather and in experience. The girls team didn't let the conditions or the experienced hold the back and placed fourth at the Crosby Invitational held in Ontario last week.

Ashley Puga finished first from Nampa Christian followed by Sheryl Page from Ontario in second and Megan Rolland from Emmett in third. Homedale's T.J. Martinat placed seventh while New Plymouth's Katie McKie finished sixth. Ontario's Kazie Wetzel took eighth place honors with the Pilgrims' Becca Navarro bringing home ninth.

Tristen Uria, Homedale, placed 12th followed by teammates Hailee Reed in 23rd, Nicole Cahill in 38th, Michele Uria in 41st and Michele Eby in 43rd, Emmett's Boyd Standley was able to hold off the Ontario boys to claim the victory out of sixty-four boys.

Cambridge's Tyler Rase captured fourth place, with Vale's Isiah Galaica and the Tigers' Ammon Roberts taking the next two spots. Jeff Caulson of Council took eight, while Cambridge's Tyler Turnbull of Cambridge was tenth.

The Tiger boys captured the team crown finishing with 50 points, while Greater Oregon League rival Vale took second 13 points behind the Tigers. New Plymouth was third with 88, while Council (133) was sixth and Weiser eighth (177).

Homedale boys placed seventh in team scores with Devin Almanza placing 16th with a time of 19:17. Mark George placed 34th, Kaleb Hothckiss placed 37th, Mike Shank placed 46th and Stefan Froebe placed 50th. Andrew Vanderhoff finished in 58th place followed by Stuart Miyasako in 59th.

On the girls' side, Emmett took the team crown with 56 points, with Weiser third with 88 and Vale fifth with 101. New Plymouth finished seventh with 133 points.

Battle of the Trojans bolsters Homedale to undefeated season

Homedale gave a commanding performance with a second win of the season against rival Nampa Christian Trojans last week in 2A Western Idaho Conference volleyball and gave Homedale its 12th straight victory.

Homedale junior varsity player Shannon Batt stays low as teammate Tegan Krall spikes the ball for a point in a 18-21, 21-16, 15-11 win over the Nampa Christian Trojans last week. Photo by Gregg Garrett.

Homedale 12-0 overall, 8-0 league used two serving runs by Kelsi Haylett and Jennifer Anzaldua, who was playing with an ankle injury, brought back the home team from a one game to none deficit to get the victory.

Homedale dropped the first game 21-17 but rebounded back for a 21-15 victory in game two. Haylett served eight straight points for Homedale.

In game two, following a NCHS run to cut the lead to 13-9, Homedale rebounded behind Karianne Vanderhoff to win the game.

In game three, Homedale jumped to a big early lead due to good serving by Anzaldua who served seven straight points and an 8-2 lead.

After a NCHS timeout, Homedale scored three more points on a ace by Alysa Gluch and two unforced errors by NCHS for a 15-4 lead. NCHS lost the game 21-7.

Game four was much like the previous with Homedale jumping to an early 6-1 lead. Nampa Christian answered right back Lindsay Forseth hammered a commanding kill for a point 6 and Julie Heida added a kill of her own to bring NCHS to within one point at 5-6.

Scoring went back and forth over the net until Homedale found itself leading by four points. Jennie Silveria served an ace that hit the net and fell in front of Heida. Her second serve hit the net again and forced Tara Lewis to dive and knock the ball out of bounds giving Homedale a 20-14 lead.

NCHS hit three extra points to gain within three when Kim Silveria hit a tip kill off of Katie Free for the 21-17 win.

Haylett led Homedale with 28 assists and three aces. Vanderhoff added nine kills and six blocks and Kim Silveria had eight kills.

Panthers stop Huskies 3-1

Parma's Hailey Constantine had 23 assists, 21 service points and five aces to help propel the Panthers' volleyball team to a 21-17, 21-12, 18-21, 21-17 Western Idaho Conference road win Thursday over the Marsing Huskies.

Becky Jones proved an intimidating force on the front line for the Panthers, recording 16 kills. Emily Watson added nine digs.

Marsing's individual scores were unavailable.

Three incumbents petition for re-election

HOMEDALE – Election judges and clerks were designated at the Monday meeting of the City Council. Florence Stimmel was designated as judge for 1st precinct with Faye Orr and Charlott Pierce both as clerks. In 2nd precinct, Opal Nash was designated as judge with Joan Waugh and Iva Hill both as clerks. According to Marie Badiola, city clerk, petitions have been taken out by all three incumbents: Herb Fritzley, Bette Uda and Larry Bauer. There will be two seats open for four year terms and one for a two year term. Persons filing for the November 8th election, are to have their petitions signed by 17 citizens who have voted in the last city election, and turned in to the city clerk by October 11.

A new council president was to fill the vacancy left by Mike Kelly when he resigned recently. Gordon Cahill was elected to serve as president and will fulfill the duties of the Mayor in his absence at council meeting.

The council gave final approval to Tom Morris for the Riverview Terrace Subdivision located across the Snake River from the high school athletic stadium. The final plat was approved with the recommendation of the Homedale planning commission and also with Canyon County passing without a dissenting vote. It will be subdivided in 13 lots.

Trojans fall to Pilgrims, 20-14

Homedale – Daryl Kellum’s Homedale Trojans suffered their second defeat last Friday night at the hands of the New Plymouth Pilgrims. Final tally was 20-14.

The Trojans did all their scoring in the first half, holding a 14-7 lead, but the second half was a different matter. The Pilgrims came on strong.

Phil Maupin cored both touchdowns for the Tros, with a kick-off return and a 48-yard sprint.

Wherry scored for the Pilgrims on an eight-yard scamper and after the Pilgrims recovered an on-side kick Hartzell came across with the clincher on a 25-yard run. Another on-side kick gave the Pilgrims the ball once again and Homedale wasn’t to get it back until the closing minutes of the game.

The Tros threaten with about a minute remaining, but back-to-back personal fouls kept the Tros at bay and put New Plymouth in the winners’ circle.

Tomorrow night the Trojans host the Melba Mustangs at 7 p.m. for a conference bout.

Eastern Star meets

The regular meeting of the eastern Star was held on September 20 with Dora Upton, Worthy Matron, and L.W Upton, Worthy Patron, presiding. There were nineteen members and visitors attending. The visitors were Zola Gregory, Pat Grand Matron of Rupert Chapter No.39, Rupert; Florence Long from Meridian Chapter No. 66, Meridian; and Edna Wilson of Nampa Chapter No. 30, Nampa.

The highlight of the evening was when Nona Jackson was given special honor on her 89th birthday this month.

Sewer Mains construction plan blocked by interest lack

Plans for the construction of additional sewer mains in Homedale were pidgeonholed last Monday evening when the city council reviewed the response of local citizens to the construction plans. According to the council, the sewer plans will be tabled until more interest of the people is shown.

The proposed new sewer would have been built in four stages, depending upon the need in each designated area. People were sent questionnaires recently to determine the number of probable hookups in each stage.

Of a possible 77 connections in Stage 1, only 31 indicated they would connect. In Stage 2, 7 out of a possible 16 indicated they would connect. In Stage 4, 10 of a possible 29 returned the questionnaires stating they would connect.

The city council said that the returns not only showed that there was a definite lack of interest on the part of the citizens, but also that the small amount of probable hook-ups would make the cost per unit too high for consideration. The council stated that on the basis of the response to the questionnaires, the cost per unit would be as follows:

Stage 1, ...951 per connection; Stage 2, $771 per connection; Stage 4 $1,480 per connection.

In view of the high cost per unit the council decided to pigeonhole the sewer plans until such time as there would be more public response or the need for additional facilities becomes apparent.

At its meeting Monday evening, the council also discussed the paving of city streets and decided to investigate the programs of other nearby towns to determine paving costs there, The council indicated that it was anticipating a heavy oiling program in the spring.

New tables approved for school lunch

Twenty new tables to be used in the new school building in the hot lunch program were approved and ordered by the school board at a meeting held Monday evening in the high school building. The new tables will be of the latest design in folding table and will make the equipment of the Homedale school lunchroom nearly complete.

Representatives elected

At the regular meeting of the Empress Rebekah Lodge this week Mrs. R. B. Smith and Mrs. Earl Earnest were elected to represent the lodge at the state assembly which will start in Boise on Monday.

Attend concert at Nampa

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Brown and Beverly were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter lynch Sunday and afterwards all attended a concert given by the Nampa high school choir at St. Michael Episcopal Church. Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Reynolds accompanied them to Boise and visited their daughter.

Entertained at 85th birthday

Mrs., Elmer Mitchell entertained at an 85th birthday dinner for her father, C. B. Banks. At the Banks home. Guests were members of the family, Rev. and Mrs. Stanley Banks and family of Parma and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Banks and family of Caldwell.

BRIEF LOCALS; – Hon. Seth Catlin has gone on a visit to Oregon.

Frank Kraft of Idaho City has rented Blake’s old assay office and will soon engage in the hardware business.

Alex Campbell, of Portland, has rented the upper portion of Bishop ... Bonney’s new building for a liquor store.

Geo. Gans ha rented the lower story of the same building for a dance house.

Fred Brunzell has returned from San Francisco and has a large stock of goods on the way.

Phil Stich has closed out his business in Boonville and will soon start for Europe.

A rich pocket has lately been struck in the Oro Fino.

The Lincoln Mill has stopped for repairs.

The Catholic Church will be dedicated in about two weeks.

Peck ... Porter have a shaft down on the second extension of the Oro Fino ninety feet from the bottom of which they are drifting north.

POSTMASTER BRADLEY has furnished his office with ninety-eight new boxes, which he will rent at two dollars each per quarter. To business men especially a box is indispensable “Time is money” and much time is lot in waiting for a Postmaster to look through a list of letters, when by having a box a glance will tell whether you have letters or not.

Mr. Bradley has sent an order for additional newspapers and magazines about a hundred in all, so that in short time, he will have reading for the million.

***

ANOTHER RICH LEDGE- We were this week shown an assay made by McDonald ... Co. of ore from the Beluord, a ledge recently discovered by Messrs. Noland, Larragay, Clark and others in Flint District, about one and a half mile eat of Owyhee City, which proves that all the rich quartz is not yet found in Owyhee County. The shaft is now down 12 feet and shows a width of three feet, with even pay all through. Judging from the smug contentment of the boys, we should say they fell well.

***

KEEP COOL – Messr. Geo. Gans ... Co. are making preparations to put up an unlimited quantity of the ice this winter. Mr. Gans is an old hand at the ice business and will furnish the article cheap enough next summer, so that everybody here can afford to keep cool.

We also learn that John Cassidy is preparing to put up a large quantity of lice for his own use next summer.

SMALL POX – As this loathsome disease prevails to a greater or less extent in both California and Oregon, it stands our citizens in hand to guard against it here. Drs. Denny and Bodman, inform us that they have just received a supply of vaccine virus and will vaccinate persons at their office on Jordan Street free of charge.

STAGE TIME – We direct attention in the change in Railroad stage advertisement this week. Passenger cars are now running to Winnemucca, about 200 miles from here. The stage from Boise leaves Silver every day at 6 a.m. and arrives at 3 p.m. The stage for Winnemucca leaves at 4 p.m. and arrives at 10 p.m.

FREIGHT FOR THREE FORKS –Twelve 10-mule teams belonging to Creighton Crawford ... Co. contractors, under the Wagonmastership of Tip Wilder, arrived at Camp Three forks yesterday, loaded with supplies.

On the edge of common sense

Baxter Black, DVM

Martha Stewart

Poor Martha Stewart. Household name, successful marketer of practical household instruction, handyman to the housewife, and bland but useful TV neighbor to millions, is in deep doo-doo because she sold $224,000 worth of stock the day before it went to the bottom of the Wall Street pool like a set of car keys.

Just lucky? Some don't believe it. They suspect illegal insider trading. Meaning, someone told her it was going down. Her stock broker says one thing, his assistant says another, and she says another. But, isn't that what a broker is supposed to do? Warn you if he knows it's going to fall? But, of course, he's not supposed to know.

Somebody's lying, either Martha or one of her buttocks-covering broker buddies. And, the sad thing is, nobody knows who to believe. Apparently the investigating subcommittee (they themselves, no paragon of straight talk) thinks they are all capable of lying.

What a life.

Are there any public figures who can be taken at their word? Who, if found with a suitcase full of $100 dollar bills in his closet, strange perfume on their collar, or the secret formula for a nuclear warhead taped under his desk, would you believe when they said, I've been saving aluminum cans, was struck by a kiss and run over, or was planning to remove a stump in the backyard.

It's hard for us to evaluate the integrity of public figures. Unfortunately we assume they would all lie if it suits their purpose. Yet, if I were asked to name a few I could trust to tell the truth, my guesses would be Tammy Faye, Charleton Heston, Julia Child, Paul Harvey, Ralph Nader, Cher, Nolan Ryan, Billy Graham and Jesse Ventura.

Oddly enough I can think of many friends and neighbors that I consider incapable of lying. But in fairness to both public figures and personal acquaintances, many just simply don't tell the whole story, because it's nobody's business.

We teach our children the sanctity of truth. We presume they have a conscience, which is the main stimulus to be honest. But where do they get a conscience? From their environment? From their family? From a higher power? Only humans feel guilt, slinking dogs notwithstanding.

So, back to Martha. Has she sold her soul? Lost her conscience? Can she lie if it suits her purpose and still sleep at night? Can she justify lying because she offers such a noble service to mankind? Or, is she, as I would dearly like to believe, telling the truth.

Don't let me down Martha. Say it ain't so.

Letter to the editor

A fine example for the kids

There are many groups, organization, businesses, and adults who try to do things for our young adults to help keep them out of trouble. That is why I was totally shocked to read about the tort claim against the Homedale City Councilman and Police Commissioner David Freelove, the City of Homedale, the City of Wilder and both cities police departments because of the action taken by Mr. Freelove.

What a fine example of a city official for our kid when he:

1. Jumps the gun and acts on a false rumor that juveniles were drinking on the premises of the Owyhee Bowling lanes and restaurant. Was he that eager to try to get something on the kids?

Would that have put a feather in his cap and made him the big man about town?

2. Gets picked-up for trespassing and a possible DUI. Oh, but wait, Mr. Freelove is still holding this position. Why hasn't the residents of Homedale made him resign his position or at least give a public apology to the city residents and especially those 30-40 kids and the Owyhee Lanes and Restaurant?

I am also wondering, what has Mr. Freelove done constructively for the kids? I'm sure we would all like to know the answer to that question!

Term limits for law enforcement is a bad idea

Gary Aman
Owyhee County Sheriff

If someone told you that wealthy people from out of state were pumping thousands of dollars into Idaho to make sure that the local county sheriff or prosecutor could not appear on the ballot, you would probably think the person was joking. After all, why should someone from Michigan or California care who the sheriff is when a burglar gets caught in Filer, Ashton or Peck? But it's no joke – term limits backers, funded heavily by out of state special interests, are pushing to make sure that anyone can run for sheriff or prosecutor except the person who does a good enough job to get reelected.

With all the talk about the supposedly "arrogant" legislature, one simple fact has been lost in the analysis: the legislature overturned a law that made it impossible for experienced people to run for the top jobs in local law enforcement. Eight years and you were out, no matter how good you were at the job. It didn't matter to the out-of-staters that the locals might not like the idea – they had a point to make.

Now they are at it again. Soon you will see slick commercials with cigar chomping politicians riding around in limousines. You will see glossy mailings from term limits backers. As the money from out of state continues to roll in, the signs will go up and the radio ads will begin. When the media blitz starts, you might ask yourself, when was the last time you saw your sheriff in a limo?

The Idaho Sheriffs Association opposes what the out of state term limits crowd is doing. We support the idea that merit and good work still matters in our society. We believe that experience counts. We think that voting rights should not be tampered with. We know that Idaho already has term limits, it's called the ballot box.

Term limits for sheriffs and prosecutors would mean that local law enforcement would no longer be a career choice for younger people willing to take risks to do good work for their county. After all, why would any young man or woman take a job that they knew would be closed to them before they reached middle age? That being the case, the incompetent, the ill-equipped and those ready to retire would be willing to run, but few others.

In all the debate on term limits, not once did the term limits bunch ever give a cogent reason why term limits should apply to law enforcement. This is so because it simply makes no sense. So why do they keep on pushing it? Simple, they want to show that they control the agenda.

We Idaho sheriffs hope that the voters will see through the term limits rhetoric and recognize that Proposition 2 is really a battle for voter's rights. Idahoans should be able to vote for anyone they choose, despite whether one of the candidates has been on the job for a few years. Idahoans should have the right to vote for anyone, despite what wealthy people in California think about it. We urge everyone to support voter's rights by voting yes on Proposition 2.

Summary Judgement

Saving prairie dogs to kill them

by William Perry Pendley
President, Mountain States Legal Foundation

Phillips County, in north-central Montana along the Canadian border, an area once described as “an almost mythical place, a world of savage blizzards and withering droughts in a geography too vast to comprehend,” contains miles of sparse scrub grass, low native plants, gravel, and rocks. Hostile and forbidding, bitterly cold in the winter and aridly hot in the summer, it contains mountain lions, coyotes, rattlesnakes, antelope, deer, and black-tailed prairie dogs. The few people, 0.9 per square mile, are outnumbered by the prairie dogs.

Gary Marbut and Dr. Philip Barney, with fellow Montanans, formed a club to promote firearm safety and to engage in an activity as old as mankind’s first encounter with the land of Phillips County: hunting. That land is primarily federal land, managed by the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) of the U.S. Department of the Interior. Since its creation, the Interior Department has kept those lands open to the shooting of unregulated wildlife, such as prairie dogs, one of the few recreational activities in this desolate region.

The Federal Land Policy and Management Act requires the BLM to develop plans to control the manner in which these lands are managed, which must involve active, public participation. In 1994, the BLM developed such a plan, called “the Judith Valley Phillips Resource Management Plan,” or “JVP RMP,” for the 2.8 million acres under BLM control in Phillips, Fergus, Petroleum, Judith Basin, Valley, and southern Chouteau County. A portion of the 2.8 million acres covered by the JVP RMP lies within Phillips County, which again contains 20,000 acres of land preferred to as the “40 Complex.” Under the JVP RMP, approved by the BLM in 1994, after extensive public participation, Marbut, Barney, and their fellow Montanans may use the public lands of the 40 Complex for hiking, camping, hunting, and the recreational shooting of unregulated wildlife.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS) decided to introduce a minimum of 20 surplus black-footed ferrets in 1994, and annually thereafter for to 4 years, into north central Montana, including the 40 Complex. The FWS also announced that the ferrets would continue to be protected under the Endangered Species Act (ESA). A short time later, without notice or opportunity for public comment, the BLM closed the public lands in the 40 Complex to the “discharge or use of firearms,” to “protect habitat for the reintroduction of the black-footed ferrets.” Violations of the Closure Order result in “a fine not to exceed $1,000 and/or imprisonment not-to-exceed 12 months.” Since issuance of the Closure Order, Marbut, Barney, and their fellow Montanans have been denied the ability to engage in an activity allowed by the JVP RMP: the recreational shooting of unregulated wildlife.

The federal government is not seeking to protect the prairie dogs because they are listed under the ESA; they are not. Nor is the federal government seeking to prevent the shooting of ferrets, which are protected by the ESA; there is no danger of that.

What the government is seeking is to save prairie dogs so that the ferrets can invade their homes and eat them. As the FWS put it, “The prairie dog colony provides prey base and habitat for the survival of the ferrets. Black-footed ferrets depend almost exclusively on prairie dogs and prairie dog towns for food and shelter.”

The natural extension of this interpretation of the ESA is mind boggling: any plant or animal could be placed off limits under the ESA because it is used, as food or shelter, by a plant or animal protected by the ESA! Marbut, Barney, and their fellow Montanans understand the dangers posed by the federal government’s precedent-setting and illegal actions in Phillips County. But with the lawsuit they filed against the government, they have a limited objective. They simply want the government to obey the law so that, “in a geography too vast to comprehend,” they can go hunting again.

Curiouser and curiouser

by Norta Trulock
Associate Editor

AIM’s recent column, A Shaggy Dog Story, challenged a Newsweek story that revealed the use of bloodhounds in the investigation of Dr. Steven Hatfill as a “person of interest” in last fall’s unsolved anthrax killings. The FBI told AIM that the column was incorrect, but refused to say how or why. So what did we get wrong?

AIM has confirmed that the FBI did use a vacuum machine to collect scent from an envelope containing an anthrax-tainted letter. The scent was supposedly vacuumed onto a gauze pad and then used to cue the bloodhounds at Hatfill’s apartment and two other locations. AIM reported that Larry Harris, a co-inventor of the vacuum, and his dogs were flown in from the West Coast for the search. Harris denied this, saying, “That was not Larry Harris.” When asked if his dogs were used, Harris clammed up saying that he “was not at liberty to discuss the details of the case.” He referred AIM to the FBI in Washington, but spokesmen there cited the “ongoing investigation” to decline comment.

AIM stands corrected. The bloodhounds were most likely flown in from three local police or sheriff’s departments in Southern California. Harris is based in Orange County, but AIM has not been able to learn if the dogs were raised or trained by him. The FBI recently told a Baton Rouge reporter that these were the only “scent discrimination” dogs in the country used by the Bureau. In mid-September, the FBI flew three dogs to Louisiana to assist local authorities in the hunt for a serial killer. Naturally, the FBI gave a press conference and demonstrated a “specialized mini-vacuum cleaner device that sucks the scent from the object onto gauze pads,” according to Melissa Moore, a reporter at Baton Rouge’s The Advocate. Moore told AIM that the killer is still at large. Her impression: this was a last ditch effort to demonstrate to the public that law enforcement was desperately trying to find the killer. Sort of like the anthrax case.

And there are still unanswered questions about the scent supposedly collected from the envelope. A 1999 article in the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin defined scent as “the bacterial, cellular, and vaporous debris enshrouding the individual.” This combination is believed to be unique to an individual, which the article says accounts for the “singularity of human scent.” The FBI says that scent is to be collected by investigators or evidence technicians from “anything a suspect has touched, worn, or eliminated, but articles of clothing worn close to the skin work best.” AIM learned that scent may also be collected from car seats, spent bullet casings, and it may be transferred to sterile gauze pads for storage and later use. This may be done either by the vacuum device or by direct contact between the scent article and the gauze. The gauze pads may be preserved over time in an evidence freezer and be used months later. Experts say that the earlier the scent is collected the better, but the FBI claims that usable scent has been collected from evidence three years old.

Neither the National Police Bloodhound Association nor the Law Enforcement Bloodhound Association has endorsed the vacuum device used to collect the scent in this case. Officials from these organizations say the vacuum itself may contaminate the scent and cite studies showing that temperatures of 650 degrees F are required to completely erase scent from the materials used in the “scent chamber.” They say that they have witnessed users swabbing out the scent chamber with alcohol, which for them raises basic contamination issues. The Bureau knows about these disputes, but attributes them to personalities and factionalism within the community of police dog handlers.

However, the Associated Press has reported that forensics examination of the anthrax letters turned up no fingerprints and no saliva residue. The use of envelopes with pre-affixed stamps indicates that the perpetrator took great care to leave no traces. A police detective said that the perp likely donned protective gear to prevent direct contact and infection. So how then could scent have been transferred onto the letters or envelopes? One FBI source, who acknowledged a lack of expertise in these matters, insisted that it was possible to collect scent from the envelopes.

A Maryland state policeman with long bloodhound experience thought that it was theoretically possible that some minimal amount of scent might have survived decontamination of the envelopes. And that scent might have transferred if the perp “leaned over the envelope.” But this source says that’s “a lot of variables,” and expressed deep skepticism about the FBI’s claims.

Tea: The other hot beverage

Dear Betty,
I’ve been hearing tea is all the rage with celebrities. What’s new about tea?
Sevierville, Tenn.

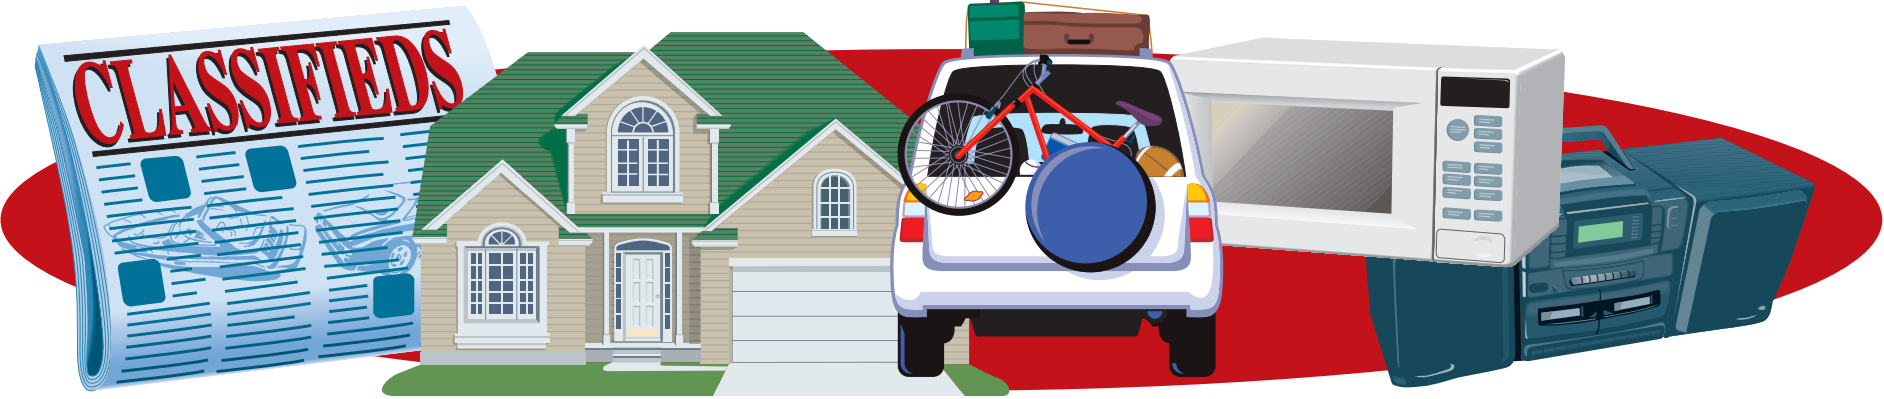

When you cozy up with a steaming cup, you’re joining millions of people around the world who sip tea for refreshment, relaxation, stimulation and possibly even health benefits. Tea drinking is steeped in tradition, but in recent years it’s taken a couple of new twists:
— Green tea = good health? Researchers are studying the positive health benefits of green tea. Some believe it may help in lowering cholesterol, controlling high blood pressure and blood sugar and preventing some cancers. All the data isn’t in, but even if the final reports on green tea aren’t so glowing, it’s still a refreshing beverage whether served hot or cold.
— Infusions. An infusion is made by pouring boiling water over sprigs of fresh herbs, such as thyme, chamomile or rosemary, and letting them steep or brew for several minutes. Leave the herbs in the infusion and serve in a heat-proof glass carafe.
— Chai. A newcomer to the American tea scene, chai has long been a staple in India. It’s made from black tea brewed with water, milk, sugar and spices such as cinnamon, cardamom, cloves and black peppercorns. Chai can be served hot or iced.

Dear Betty,
How do I brew a good pot of tea?
Clarissa, Minn.
Brewing a wonderfully flavorful pot of tea is as easy as 1-2-3. The steps are the same whether you’re using tea bags or loose tea.
Step 1: “Hot the pot.” That means adding boiling water to a china, glass or earthenware pot to warm it up. Pour out the water just before brewing your pot of tea.
Step 2: Heat cold water to a full rolling boil or until your tea kettle sings.
Step 3: Brew the tea. Use 3/4 cup boiling water and 1 teaspoon loose tea or 1 tea bag per serving. Pour the water over the tea, and let it steep for 3 to 5 minutes, stirring once for an even brew. Although it’s tempting to determine tea’s strength by its color, taste is the best judge. When it’s to your liking, remove the tea bags, or catch the loose tea with a small strainer as you pour the tea into cups.
