About three feet of new snow greeted New Year's day visitors to Silver City. By the weekend, however, the snow level had dropped about half due to warm temperatures.

Teen injured during making of 'class project'

A Homedale teen was injured and transported to local hospital Thursday night when a class project took a near fatal turn for the worse. Homedale School District Superintendent Bob Lisonbee said that several students chose to reenact the Vietnam War and videotape it for an extra class project.

Details were sketchy Monday, but an Owyhee County dispatcher said the sheriff's office received a report from Mercy Medical center that a Homedale teen had been admitted to the hospital for severe facial lacerations. The dispatcher said the boys had reported that they were attempting to reenact a war and videotape it as part of a class project.

Homedale School District Superintendent Bob Lisonbee said Monday that the sheriff's office requested he show them where the school's outdoor classroom was behind the middle school at approximately 11:30 p.m. Thursday night. He said

Winter storm drops much-needed snow

A winter storm moved through the Owyhee valley last week adding over 10 inches of snow to the South Mountain area and nearly as much to the Mud Flat area. The added moisture inched basin moisture averages to a little closer to normal.

The U.S. Natural Resources Conservation Service reported that according to data from the service's SNOTEL sites in regional river basins, precipitation is below average and reservoir storage is still down.

South Mountain recorded 17.6 inches of snow on Dec. 29. By Dec. 30 21 inches were recorded and by the following day, 10.1 inches had been added to the ground.

Mud Flat recorded 10.9 inches of snow on Dec. 30 and 19.3 inches of white stuff by New Year's Eve. As of Jan. 2, South Mountain recorded 28.9 inches of snow and Mudd Flat remained at 19.3.

On Dec. 20, the Owyhee Basin recorded a 68 percent of average snow water and 55 percent of total precipitation. By Dec. 31, The basin had raised to 93 percent of average snow water and 71 percent of moisture. The current numbers are much lower compared to last year's averages, but not record breaking.

Snow water equivalent, a common NRCS snowpack measurement, is the amount of water contained within the snowpack. Snow water equivalent, the NRCS said, can be thought of as the depth of water which would theoretically result if the entire snowpack was melted instantaneously.

In 2001, the Bruneau Basin recorded 145 percent of average in Dec. 31 for snow water equivalent. The Owyhee Basin recorded 146 percent. Average precipitation for the same date in 2001 in Bruneau was at 110 percent and 111 percent in Owyhee.

But in 1997, considered to be the beginning year of the drought, the Owyhee Basin recorded 44 percent of average snow water equivalent and 54 percent of average precipitation. The Bruneau Basin recorded 72 percent of snow water and 57 percent of precipitation.

According to Bureau of Reclamation figures, as of Monday, Owyhee Reservoir stood at 112,787 acre feet, or 16 percent of the total 715,000 acre feet of storage available. Over in the Malheur River Basin, reservoir storage is 6 percent at Warm Springs, 13 percent at Beulah and 22 percent at Bully Creek.

More precipitation is expected this week with snow in the higher elevations and rain in the valley.

Caldwell man flashes gun at Texaco employee

A Caldwell man was arrested Dec. 28 after he flashed a gun at the clerk of a Jackson's Texaco Station.

Thomas Lindberg, 43, was taken into custody after a brief struggle when a customer reported to the Homedale police department that a man was displaying a gun in the store.

"The report we received was a man was displaying a gun in the store,"

Police Chief Jeff Eidemiller said Monday. "When we got down there he was no longer in the store. One other person was stopped because when the officers got there he was walking out of the store with his hands in his pockets. He was detained momentarily until we found out that the guy we were looking for was still sitting in his car. Officers on scene instructed him to place his hands on the wheel of the vehicle in plain site."

Eidemiller said Lindberg refused to remove himself from the car and a brief struggle ensued.

"He refused to get out of the vehicle," Eidemiller said. "At one point, the man made a furtive movement toward his waste band on the right hand side, at which time he was removed by officers from the vehicle."

Eidemiller said after a brief struggle, Lindberg was restrained in handcuffs. He said during the search is when he found what could easily have ended his life. Eidemiller found a loaded 357-magnum handgun in the waistband of Lindberg's pants.

"He was arrested for carrying a

Homedale teen donates locks for children

A Homedale teenager took a giant step last week by having the one thing she has had since her birth and donating it to a needy child with cancer. Sarah Black cut over 10 inches of her hair off and donated it to the Locks of Love foundation.

Locks of Love is an organization that asks for donations of hair to help make wigs for people who have no hair. Donors provide hair to volunteers who staff an office and a manufacturer hand-assemblies each piece into a wig. It takes nearly four months to manufacture one complete wig. The wig is a vacuum-fitted hairpiece made of entirely donated human hair. Each wig has about 10-15 ponytails of hair in it. The cost for a child to pay for a hairpiece begins at approximately $3,000.

Sarah Black, daughter of Elaine and Martin Black, is now among the people who made the choice to have her locks cut off and donated to someone less fortunate.

"I was sure I wanted to do this now," Sarah said. "I knew the rest of my family, my two brothers and my dad, weren't going to be too thrilled to see my long, thick, brown hair that hung clear down to my tail bone, cut off about to my shoulder blades. Especially since they are firm that girls just had an extra shine to them with long hair. Everyone I've known admired my hair since I was in kindergarten, but I had come up with more pros than cons, and I was going to cut my hair and give it to Locks of Love with no regrets."

Sarah said when she went into have her haircut, she felt a "jolt" of excitement in her stomach. She said the stylist put her hair into a ponytail and began cutting.

"I squinted my eyes closed and waited," Sarah laughed. "When she said she was done, I slowed opened one eye and then the other and looked. It looked great. I love it."

"Dad is not real happy, but he will get over it," Sarah grinned. "I told him that I just donated 13 inches of hair to a child that has no hair at all. I said my hair would grow back and I just made some child's day. It is going to a very good cause."

Locks of Love began in 1997 and has helped 850 children since it's first year of operation.

"I am so glad that I did what I did. I won't have any regrets no matter what people say, because no one could give 10 or more inches of their own hair to someone who has none and not feel good about their decision for the rest of their life. So I encourage you to grow out your hair for those in need no matter how long it takes, it's really simple and I guarantee that you won't feel anything warmer in your heart than knowing that one little insignificant thing could change someone's life forever." -CPB

Financial aid meeting planned at HHS

There will be a financial aid meeting for parents of senior class students on Jan. 13th at 6:30 p.m. at the Homedale High School media center.

Dawn Skeith-Baughter, from the BSU Educational Talent Search will provide assistance and advice in filling out the FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid).

Parents from Wilder are also invited to attend the college financial aid meeting. For more information contact Rich Hoyt at Homedale High School at 337-4613.

Water quality workshop set for beef producers

Cattlemen Encouraged To Attend: No Cost, No Obligation

The Idaho Cattle Association will present the Environmental Enhancement Program at a workshop to be held in January in Lewiston and Sandpoint.

Environmental Enhancement Program Workshops provide beef producers with information regarding federal and state regulations for Animal Feeding Operations (AFOs) and Concentrated Animal Feeding Operations (CAFOs). The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has defined AFOs and CAFOs as those areas where cattle are confined and fed for 45 days or more in a 12-month period and where crops or forages are not produced during the normal growing season. However, new revisions to the EPA CAFO Regulations are scheduled to be released in December 2002 that may change the way livestock operations are regulated. These new revisions will be highlighted at the Sandpoint workshop.

In addition to an explanation of the new regulations, topics will include wastewater storage and containment facilities, nutrient management plans, available cost-share assistance and how to review your own operations. Experts on these topics have been invited from the Idaho State Department of Agriculture, Soil Conservation Commission, U of I Extension Service, and Natural Resource Conservation Service.

The Environmental Toolkit will be provided free of charge to all workshop participants. The Toolkit provides an easy reference for producer questions concerning regulations, and serves as a convenient resource for where to get technical and financial assistance. The Lewiston workshop is scheduled for Monday, January 13, 2003 at 1:00 pm in the Lewiston Community Center, 1424 Main Street in Lewiston. Complimentary refreshments will be provided. Producers with questions about the workshop can contact the Nez Perce Soil and Water Conservation District at 746-9886.

The Sandpoint workshop is scheduled for Tuesday, January 14, 2003 at 6pm in the South Wing of the Exhibition Building at the Bonner County Fairgrounds in Sandpoint. A free, complimentary meal will be provided, and workshop attendees are requested to RSVP to Maureen Mai at 267-2668 by Jan 10th. EEP has been funded by a grant that allows ICA to continue its dedication of staff time and resources to non-regulatory, volunteer technical support of beef operations around the state. At the producer's request, ICA staff will arrange for an on-site environmental assessment of his/her operation, at no charge, and supply the producer with the confidential results. ICA is a grass-roots membership driven association representing almost 1,500 cattlemen and women across the state. For information on membership, or to set up a workshop or site visit, contact ICA at 208/343-1615, lloyd\_ica@rmci.net or send correspondence to ICA at P. O. Box 15397, Boise, ID 83715.

F&G increase fees for late harvest reports

Hunters who plan on filing their mandatory big-game harvest reports from 2002 when they buy a new license next year will dig deeper into their pockets.

The Idaho Fish and Game Commission has approved a $1.50 fee to be paid when hunters file the 2002 report at the same time they buy a 2003 license.

The fee is for the extra effort for the vendor.

Hunters are required to send in their reports within ten days of harvesting a deer, elk or antelope, or within ten days of the end of the season.

Those who do are eligible for a drawing for ten "super tags." The winner can use it in any controlled hunt in the state for that particular species.

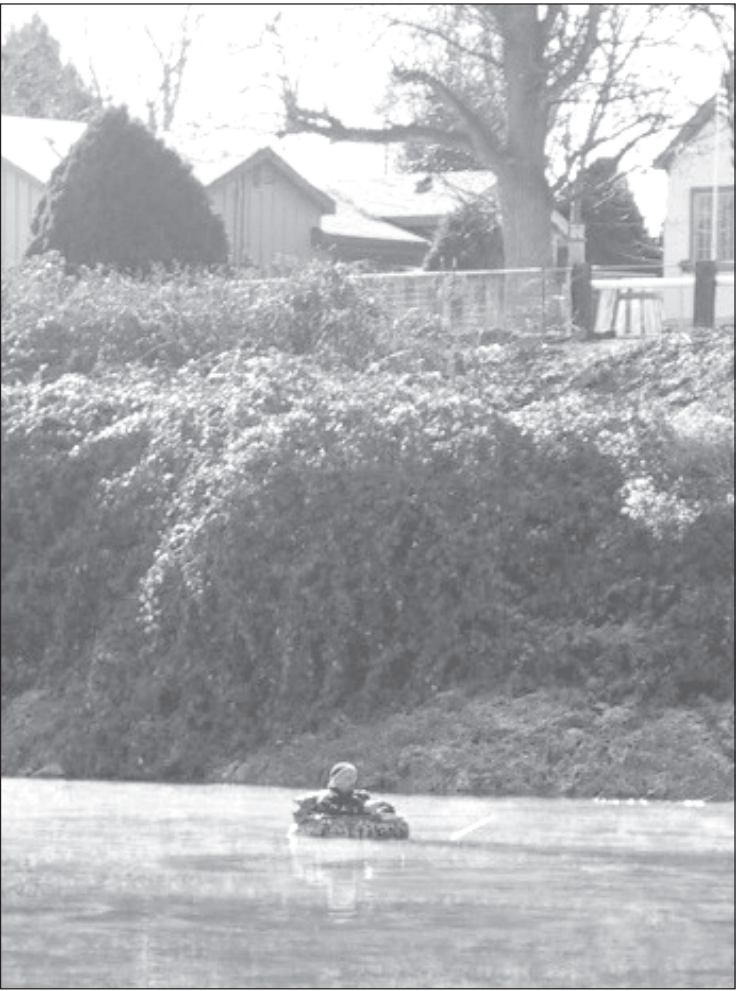

The fee, approved by the commission in December, will be assessed when sportsmen buy new hunting licenses in 2004. Reports on whether deer, elk or antelope were killed during the 2003 season must be filed before a new license can be issued.

Hunters are required to send in their reports within 10 days of harvesting an animal, or within 10 days of the end of the season for which the tag was valid.

Those who have filed within those deadlines are eligible for entry in a drawing for 10 "super tags," valid for any controlled hunt in the state for that particular species. They must choose the species by May 1.

Mandatory report cards can be mailed to Hunter Harvest Reports, P.O. Box 70007, Boise, ID, 83707. Reports also may be filed under the hunting section of the Fish and Game Web site.

when he arrived at the scene, he found a campfire and other items that he said he would not identify at this time.

“I really do not know a lot about the incident yet,” Lisonbee said. “We looked around with flashlights in the dark and found where they, or someone, had a campfire and cooked some chicken. It was not a class project I can guarantee that. From what I was told is that the kids had been assigned to write a poem. I don’t know where it went to from there.”

Lisonbee said he would still need to investigate the matter to see if it happened on school property. He said he is not sure if the kids “came up with the story to cover themselves.”

“I am sure no teacher gave them an assignment to build a bomb, I can guarantee that,” Lisonbee continued. “The way that we are tied into it is because it happened on school property.”

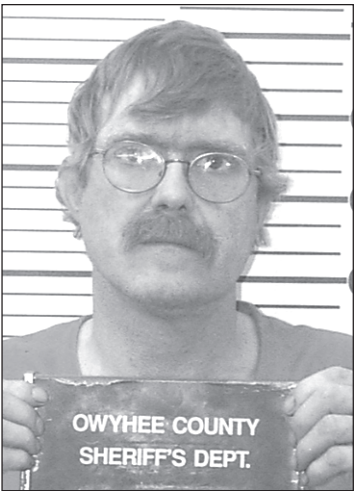

High School Principal Mike Williams said he did not have any confirmation of who was involved in the accident Monday morning. He said the school district would need to confirm what happened and take into consideration to decide what responsibility the school would retain.

“If this took place anywhere else on school property, what would I have to do?” Williams stated. “You can not bring an explosive device on school property and detonate it. We have to wait and see what the (sheriff) give(s) us. I understand there is a videotape. Where is it? We have to check these things out.”

Lisonbee and Williams released a written statement Monday morning stating, “This accident is an unfortunate and regrettable incident. Advanced Placement English seniors are required to submit an independent project every quarter. Students are allowed flexibility for these projects and are encouraged to read books, write stories, and attend cultural events that interest them. Some students have chosen to produce video reenactments of literary scenes for project points, with positive results.

“It was not and will never be a class or school assignment to create weapons of any type for school related projects or assignments.

Shoo-Fly Livestock club to meet

The Shoo-Fly 4-H club will hold a regular meeting on Sunday, January 12 at 7 p.m. at the Friend’s Community Church in Homedale.

New officers will be elected and coordinators advised everyone running to have a speech prepared.

“Every family needs to bring their raffle item so we can make a list to start selling tickets,” coordinators continued. “We also need to remind everyone that has not paid dues yet that they may do so at this meeting.”

Demonstrations will be given and refreshments will be served. Coordinators also said that anyone in the Homedale area with a livestock project is welcome to attend.

42nd annual disaster auction slated for Feb. 1

Auctioneers will begin calling out bids at 10:13 a.m. Saturday morning as the 42nd annual Marsing Disaster Auction and sale kicks off. A few things will be different this year, but the same reasons for the record-breaking sale will remain the same, raise money for local folks plagued by disaster.

The auction will be held at the Phipps-Watson Community Hall in Marsing instead of at the Marsing Elementary School as in year’s past. New items will be donated and sold to the highest bidders and this year the junior class at Marsing High School will be selling the raffle tickets.

The auction is an annual event that raises money to replenish funds for local disaster relief, fires, funeral, hospital, or large medical bills, and also assists the funding for the Marsing Ambulance crew. A portion of the proceeds is also donated each year to the United Way and a service organization, which is chosen at an annual meeting in April.

Almost all items donated by individuals and businesses are new. Several items listed this year for the annual drawing have changed, but several will remain the same.

There will be a drawing for a half beef, cut and wrapped sponsored by Spring Valley Livestock, Sandy and Terry McLeod, a $250 Marsing shopping spree sponsored by the Marsing American Legion Post #128, a Boise get-a-way hotel, dinner and show package, $250 value, sponsored by the Disaster Committee and a handyman tool package, valued at $250, sponsored by Canyon County Farm Bureau, Kerry Harris.

Tickets will be sold for a Marsing merchants and committee raffle for $10 each. The raffle will include a drawing for a Ruger 22-250 donated by Wayne Hungate Owyhee County Farm Bureau Insurance, a 12 Ga. auto shotgun, $500 value, donated by Dick Downum, Haken/Emerald Insurance, a complete computer system, donated by the Disaster Auction Committee and a $500 Lee Read Jewelers shopping spree, donated by Lee Read and committee.

Food booths will offer a variety of lunch items including chili, coffee, and homemade pies.

Marsing Elementary students sold nearly 5,000-raffle tickets last year and committee chairman Pete Smit says they hope to break that record this year.

Smit said tickets will go on sale later this month and can be purchased from a Marsing High School junior classman or from a disaster committee member.

Auctioneers will again be Bob Hopkins, Sid Maxwell, Lonnie Rudd, Al Osmus, Rick Brown, Chris Brown, and Elis Albright. J.B Salutregui will also join the crew of bid callers this weekend.

The local fundraiser has raised nearly $250,000 in just six years.

Local quilters began working on quilts shortly after last year’s auction in preparation for this year’s sale.

Long time quilter Peggy Korte will again have a quilt for the sale. Along with her quilt, buyers will have the opportunity to dicker for Korte’s sour cream pies and quarts of dill pickles.

To donate items for the auction or to volunteer contact Smit at 863-8742, or cochairman Dusty Clover at 573-3614 or any member of the Marsing Fire Department or ambulance service.-CPB

Beef prospects weigh in on positive side

TWIN FALLS, Idaho—Previously cinched back by oversupplies, beef prices now appear to be “poised for a rebound” in 2003, says University of Idaho Extension economist C. Wilson Gray.

In the UI’s January 2003 Idaho Agricultural Outlook, Gray says commercial beef production is expected to drop 2.9 percent from this year’s record high 27 billion pounds. Forecasters say it should drop again—by 1.8 percent—in 2004.

In addition, consumer demand during the first three-quarters of 2002 was 1 percent higher than a year ago as economically stressed and war-worried consumers return to high-gratification comfort foods and more traditional at-home meals. Gray says studies by the University of Minnesota’s Food Industry Trade Center suggest that less-trusting consumers are choosing fresh, produce, dairy and meats over prepackaged foods that could have been altered at the plant.

According to Gray, fed cattle prices in 2003 could be as much as 8 to 11 percent higher over matching quarters in 2002. He projects average prices for Pacific Northwest cattle at $76.77 per hundredweight in the first quarter, $73.76 in the second quarter, $68.56 in the third quarter and $71.04 in the fourth quarter.

With slaughter levels down and with dressed steer weights shedding the 30 extra pounds they had been carrying for the first three-quarters of 2002, beef prices are already responding to prospects of lower supplies. “November and December are the first months in 2002 that cattle feeders made money,” Gray says.

Calf and yearling prices should begin pulling ahead of year-ago prices by the second quarter. Steers in the 400- to 500-pound range should average $95.88, $98.47, $93.57 and $91.71 as the quarters progress, and those in the 700- to 800-pound range should average $80.34, $80.86, $80.80 and $80.09, respectively, Gray says.

Because low milk prices are sending so many dairy cows to market, cull cow prices “may not participate as fully” in the rebound as other categories, says Gray. Cull values have been $5 to $8 per cwt. under year-ago levels since last summer and milk prices aren’t expected to recover until the second half of 2003.

According to Gray, “trends and numbers should generally be supportive of cattle prices in 2003, but that can change.” Among the potential threats: higher retail prices could cause cash-strapped consumers to shift preferences away from beef, continuing drought could heat up feed grain prices and shrivel calf prices, and unexpected restoration of poultry exports to Russia could encourage U.S. poultry producers to ramp-up production. Currently, however, both pork and poultry production—weighed down by oversupplies—are forecast to drop in 2003.

Homedale high parents plan all-night grad party

Parents of Homedale High School’s class of 2003 are busy planning a drug-free, all-night graduation party and are seeking volunteers.

Allyn Gluch and Karla Haylett have agreed to serve as volunteer chairpersons for the preparations and planning and several parents have volunteered to act as cochairman, but the help of more parents is needed to make the night a memorable occasion for local seniors.

The next meeting for all parents will be held on Sunday, Jan. 12th at 6:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. Plans are underway for the major fundraiser, the seniors/faculty basketball game and cake auction.

To volunteer to serve on one of the committees call Allyn at 337-5647 or Karla at 337-3817.

HEALTH NEWS
Looking For Heartburn Relief?

WASHINGTON — Research indicates that a new type of chewable tablet containing an extract of deglychrrized licorice (DGL) may actually strengthen the body's reaction to acid naturally. Medical experts say that GI problems are not the result of excess acid, but the body's inability to deal with it. This chewable tablet is available over the counter and is called Cidaban DGL™.

Cidaban DGL not only works on stomach acid immediately but also addresses the underlying causes of digestive problems. Studies appearing in a British medical journal have shown that DGL works effectively like Zantac®, Tagamet® and/or antacids without all the side effects.

The problem with antacids is that they actually disrupt or interfere with normal digestions. Cidaban DGL is a natural alternative to antacids or acid blockers and is available at pharmacies and nutrition stores without a prescription or call 1-800-729-8446.

Reflections on 2002 newsmakers

Pres. George W. Bush: Presentential musings
Press Secretary Ari Fleischer: Tantalizing obfuscations
Ex-Vice President Al Gore: “Mirror, mirror on the wall, who shall I try and be next fall?”
Ex-President Bill Clinton: “To tell the truth...”
Rev. Jesse Jackson: “Hey, I’m over here!”
Rev. Al Sharpton “Here! Beside Jesse!”
Gulliver (of ‘Travels’ fame): “I’d like to thank all the little people.”
Senator Tom Daschle: “Stick with me, boys, I’m going down with the ship!”
Shaquille O’Neil (Irish basketball player): I dunk, therefore I am.
Vice-President Dick Cheney: the sidekick riding shotgun.
Ex-Secretary of Interior Bruce Babbitt: Finally united the cowboys and Indians.
Attorney General John Ashcroft: “I even named my dog J. Edgar Hoover!”
Sadaam Hussein: “Step right up! Try and guess how many nuclear hand grenades are in this barrel of oil!”
Garth Brooks: How to do it right
Alan Greenspan: “And what does ATM stand for again?”
Hugh Hefner: “Easy, just put some cleavage on the cover.”
Barry Bonds: “Who says nice guys finish first!”
Senator Hillary Clinton: It takes a village to cover your tracks
Martha Stewart: Gardening in a confined space
A.C.L.U: “Don’t blame me, I didn’t write the Constitution!”

Abandoned puppies

Attached you will find a picture of four puppies. These puppies were abandoned in Owyhee County. We are writing to you because this is by far the worst example we have seen of cruelty to dogs by abandonment. In the two and one-half we have lived here, we have rescued a pregnant Labrador and a young male Dalmatian as well as these puppies. Unfortunately we have had to destroy other dogs that we were unable to catch and which were attacking our stock.

We found these puppies on Saturday, January 4 when we were riding in the Squaw Creek area where it crosses Sommercamp Road. We believe they had not been there long because there was no evidence of predation in the area and the puppies were not emaciated. I am sure most people are aware of how little chance 8-week-old puppies have of surviving in the wild, especially in January. All these puppies had to look forward to was death by starvation, death from exposure or death from a predator attack. We were able to find a home for the white puppy and we delivered the other three to the Canyon County Animal Shelter. The Canyon County Shelter has lock boxes that can be accessed after hours.

The farmers and ranchers in Owyhee County will not adopt these dogs (or cats). We already have our own animals. We do not want to catch these animals, shoot them or otherwise dispose of them. Live up to your obligations as a pet owner and take care of your own animals in a humane manner.

I certainly hope there is a special place in hell for people who abuse animals, especially when there is no need to abandon them. If any of your readers know who dumped these puppies, I hope they will contact local law enforcement.

Accuracy in media

Bad medicine from Dr. Frist

The media have been negligent in noting that Senator Bill Frist, the new majority leader with a career as a medical doctor and heart surgeon, has made pronouncements on health issues that sound good but are just plain wrong. A doctor is supposed to save lives, and that includes the Senate’s only doctor. But Frist takes positions that fail to stop millions of needless deaths.

One health problem is the emergence of deadly insect-borne diseases such as West Nile Virus. The Washington Post notes that the virus has been spreading across the U.S., killing at least 241 people in 2002 and infecting many thousands more. Two cases of malaria were discovered in Virginia in August. Worldwide, it is estimated that more than 1 million people die from malaria each year. Children under the age of five represent at least 75 percent of that figure. The Frist response, which is politically correct, has been to defer action on bringing back DDT, which is effective against such diseases but has been demonized by environmentalists. On September 24, 2002, Frist issued a statement at a congressional hearing on West Nile Virus in which he acknowledged that DDT “was initially used with great effect to combat malaria, typhus, and the other insect-borne human diseases” but was “banned by the FDA when the director at that time determined that the continued massive use of DDT posed unacceptable risks to the environment and potential harm to human health.”

In fact, DDT was banned not by the director of the FDA but the EPA. William Ruckelshaus, the EPA administrator in the Nixon administration, disregarded the scientific evidence and banned DDT for political reasons. Frist said that, “Since that time, we have not developed a replacement for DDT. We have become complacent, assuming that there would be no need to continue reducing the insect population. We can no longer be complacent.” Frist and others have been complacent for decades as tens of millions have died. The New York Times, in a recent editorial, conceded that DDT has to be brought back to save lives.

The Frist response was to join with liberal Senator John Kerry (D-Mass.) in sponsoring a bill to spend more money on an anti-malaria vaccine. This is laudable, but such a vaccine has been in development over the last 15 years and the Malaria Vaccine Initiative concedes that there has “never been a vaccine developed against a complex multi-cellular parasite” such as the organism causing malaria.

Frist, who also wants to fight AIDS, toured Africa with rock singer Bono and praised U.N. Secretary-General Kofi Annan’s call for a global multibillion dollar fund to fight the disease. I informed Frist in a letter more than one year ago that the U.N. now admits (after covering it up for years) that U.N. “peacekeepers” spread AIDS to Africa and Asia, and that new HIV infections are said to be disproportionately heavy in African countries where the U.N. is conducting several peacekeeping operations. U.N. soldiers are blamed in a Danish documentary, “And the U.N. Came,” for creating an AIDS epidemic in Cambodia, which has the highest rate of AIDS in Asia. Annan, who was director of peacekeeping at the time, is now presiding over the U.N. “solution”—a condom-a-day for U.N. soldiers. Some experts say the anti-AIDS drugs being sought by Annan for mass distribution in Africa could actually mutate the HIV virus, make an AIDS vaccine ineffective, and spread the disease further.

Frist, who has written a book on bioterrorism, is recognized as an “expert” on health issues, but he failed to research the reasons for the ban on DDT, which was based on “junk” science. He also has yet to answer the serious questions about the U.N. role in the spread of AIDS.

Road names sought

Owyhee County is presently in a project of preparing to place signs on county roads, commission chairman Howard Bergeson said Wednesday.

Two men are now contacting rural residents to learn road names, Bergeson said. Once the names of the roads are determined, signs will be prepared and installed “Many rural streets have names, dating back years ago, but we (the board) are not aware of them,” he explained.

Kiwanis Have Career Day Wed.

The Kiwanis Club of Homedale sponsored a Career Day for the Juniors and Seniors of Homedale in which students listened to speakers of several different occupations. The opening address was given by Sid Newton on the civic duty of the students.

Some of the other occupations were banking, insurance, civil service overseas, waitress, the FBI, business college and several branches of the armed services and the National Guard. All the students enjoyed the speakers and several have made up their minds as to what they are going to do when they graduate.

The FHA prepared and served the luncheon to the members of the Kiwanis and the guest speakers in the Home Ec room.

Senior Class Chooses Play

The Senior class had chosen its class play, “Feudin’ Over Yonder,” which they finally selected after much debate as there were many good plays presented from which they chose.

It will be presented at the high school February 20 with an afternoon matinee and an evening performance. The cast will be chosen within the next two weeks.

Our Washington Letter

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24, 1870. EDITOR OF AVALANCHE:

CONGRESS has adjourned and nearly all our law makers have left the city for their happy homes; the Supreme Court and the court of claims have also adjourned and to-day the Capitol is entirely deserted. Most of the heads of the different executive departments have also left the city for home to-day, the departments were closed at 12 o’clock m., and will remain closed until Tuesday next at 9 o’clock a. m. The President and family will spend their Christmas in our city.

NEW STATES.-During the present session two new States will be added to our flag.

A bill has been prepared by Senator Nye of Nevada, and was by unanimous consent introduced into the Senate, enabling the people of Colorado Territory to form a Constitution and State Government and for the admission of said State into the Union on an equal footing with the original States. The bill was read in open session twice by its title and referred to the Committee on Territories for their examination. The bill will be taken up by the committee after the holidays, and in the early part of January next no doubt the bill will be reported favorably to the Senate when it will in all probability pass and then sent to the House for its concurrence.

I understand that there is also being drafted a bill for the admission of New Mexico into the union upon the same terms as Colorado. This bill will be presented to Congress about the end of January next.

The question of the admission of these States was before both houses of Congress for consideration during last session, but was not acted upon on account of the adjournment thus delaying action until the present session.

FRANKING PRIVILEGE-In the House of few days ago, this nuisance was totally abolished by a vote of one hundred and three yeas to forty-six nays. The law abolishing the same goes into effect at the end of July next. During the consideration of this question many efforts were made to allow members of Congress compensation for the postage they would be compelled to pay in transacting business connected with their positions, but in every instance such propositions were immediately voted down, the only deviation form the total abolishment was extended to the press, they have the same privileges that has heretofore been accorded to them, in regard to furnishing regular subscribers in the county in which each paper is published.

Whether the bill in its present form will pass he Senate I am unable to say, but think that it will meet with a strong opposition in this body, as a great many of our prominent Senators have already signified their intention of opposing the measure even in the mildest form.

EDUCATION.-During the last session an effort was made by Congress to provide for a national system of education, but through some unavoidable cause the subject was never brought squarely before the House. A few days ago a motion was made in the House of Representatives by Mr. Hoar of Massachusetts to have the subject debated on the third Tuesday in January next, the motion was carried. This subject will be discussed from day to day until disposed of. Education has been sadly neglected in the South and some parts of the West, and it is to be hoped that a bill will pass during the present session, making it almost compulsory upon the rising generation to attend school and become educated.

IDAHO
10:00 AM

Present at the meeting were Commissioner Hal Tolmie, Commissioner Dick Reynolds, Commissioner Chris Salove, Clerk Cynthia Eaton, Treasurer Barbara Wright, Assessor Ernie Bahem, Sheriff Gary Aman, Jim Desmond, Charlotte Sherburn, and Fred Grant.

The Board amended the agenda to include tax cancellations, opening bid for Sheriff’s vehicles, discussion of landfill, discussion of Johnstone Road, and lane name requests.

The Board approved name requests for Isaac May of Bonanza Lane and for Connie Yarbrough of Black Dog Lane. The Sheriff requested that all lane name changes be directed to him so he can schedule them with the Geo-Com segment maps.

The Board approved cancellation of solid waste fees on two homeowners because new homes had been placed after the prepaid solid waste fees had been collected. The Board approved cancellation of RPA09000020140A and RP01S03W143243A.

The Board accepted the Dan Wiebold bid for two sheriff’s vehicles at $49,442.

The Board tentatively set the public input meeting for February 3, 2003.

The Board heard a report by Jim Desmond on the OCNRC. The Board approved 1360 acres as the number of acres for the land purchase from the BLM and authorized Fred Grant to write a letter to the BLM detailing the Board’s desire in the matter. The Board approved documentation ratifying the Owyhee County position and comments to the DEQ on the Draft Upper Owyhee Watershed Sub-basin Assessment and TMDL and questions the Appendix of the documentation date November 22, 2002.

The Board approved payment of the county bills as presented. The Board approved the expenditure of $48,827 out of the Hazmat trust for payment of Intermountain Communications for the update on the Sheriff’s dispatch console because the upgrade was an essential step in preparing for 911 and will improve the efficiency and safety of responding to a potential hazard.

Indigent and Charity, Case 02-42 notice of hearing on February 24, 2003; 02-31 and 02-34 Board approved release of lien. The Board renewed two liquor licenses from Grandview.

The Board moved into Executive Session concerning a personnel matter and upon moving back into the Regular Session approved that no action would be taken at this time.

The Board moved into Executive Session to receive information concerning a potential matter of litigation and upon moving back into Regular Session approved that no action would be taken at this time.

The Board approved rescheduling a hearing concerning Poison Creek Road from January 27, 2003 to February 3, 2003.

There being no further business, the Board adjourned.

RUDY A. ANDERSON,
Plaintiff,
vs.
TARA P. ANDERSON,
Defendant.
NOTICE: YOU HAVE BEEN SUED BY THE ABOVE NAMED
PLAINTIFF. THE COURT MAY ENTER JUDGMENT AGAINST YOU WITHOUT FURTHER
NOTICE UNLESS YOU
RESPOND WITHIN TWENTY
(20) DAYS. READ THE INFORMATION BELOW.

TO: Defendant. Tara P. Anderson
YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED that in order to defend this lawsuit an appropriate written response must be filed with the above-designated Court within twenty (20) days after service of this Summons on you. If you fail to respond the Court may enter judgment against you as demanded by the plaintiff in the complaint.
The nature of the claim against you is to secure a decree of divorce.
For further particulars, you are hereby referred to the verified
Complaint on file herein.

A copy of the complaint is served with this Summons. If you wish to seek the advice or representation by an attorney in this matter, you should do so promptly so that your written response, if any, may e filed in time and other legal rights protected.

An appropriate written response requires compliance with Rule 10
(a) (1) and other
Idaho Rules of Civil Procedure and shall also include:

1. The title and number of this case.
2. If your response is an Answer to the Compliant, it must contain admissions or denials of the separate allegations of the Complaint and other defenses you may claim.
3. Your signature, mailing address and telephone number, or the signature, mailing address and telephone number of your attorney.
4. Proof of mailing or delivery of a copy of your response to plaintiff's attorney, as designated above.

To determine whether you must pay a filing fee with your response, contact the Clerk of the above named Court.
Dated this 4th day of November, 2002.
