13 arrested, 1 cited in Tuesday's drug bust

Seven agencies consisting of 73 officers hit 5 homes simultaneously

Seven law enforcement agencies and nearly 75 officers gathered in a location near Homedale Tuesday morning, July 1, to coordinate what is being called Owyhee County's largest drug bust in history. Joining the Owyhee County Sheriff's Department and posse were Homedale Police Department, Canyon County Sheriff's Department, Caldwell and Nampa SWAT teams, Idaho State Police, DEA, and INS. The Bureau of Land Management donated the use of hand held radios for each of the officers.

Five search warrants and 18 grand jury indictments netted 13 arrests and one misdemeanor citation to a juvenile for possession, in a continued effort to take a "bite out of crime" by the Owyhee County Sheriff's Office.

Rebecca Frazier, 21 of Marsing, Rudy Garcia, 55 of Homedale, Gilberto Mascaro, 42 of Marsing, Sherre Carr, 29 of Marsing, Raul Gonzalez, 40 of Homedale, Bryan Day, 47

of Homedale, Donna Kobow, 43 of Homedale. Deborah Grammer, 34 of Homedale, Javier Gonzalez, 39 of Homedale, Jerry Hance, 19 of Marsing, Lori Moe, 43 of Marsing, Donald Stockdale, 40 of Marsing and Joann Faye Redburn, 43 of Homedale were arrested on several drug charges.

Three homes were raided in Homedale, one in Marsing and one in the county nearly simultaneously at approximately 6 a.m. Tuesday morning in which officers seized homes, vehicles, cash, weapons, drugs and drug paraphernalia. An additional home was searched after the owner gave his consent to search when officers arrived with a warrant for his arrest in Marsing.

Homedale drinking water passes contaminants tests

The annual quality water reports are in at Homedale City Hall and City Engineer Bob Walker said the city has again passed the federal and state requirements for drinking water in the city. A copy of the Consumer Confidence Report may be obtained from city hall.

"Our goal at the City of Homedale is to provide you with water that meets or surpasses all the standards for safe drinking water," Walker said. "These health and safety standards are set by the United States Environmental Protection Agency

(EPA) and the Idaho Department of Environmental Quality (IDEQ).

"To ensure the safety of your water, we monitor before, during and after the treatment process. All of our sources and supply are monitored and tested every year. We also sample and test water directly from the distribution system on a regular basis. We're proud to let you know that your water met all safety standards in 2002. Test results are on file for your review with the City of Homedale and IDEQ, the agency that monitors and regulates drinking water quality in our state.

"This Water Quality Report provides important information about your drinking water. Both the EPA and the IDEQ require water suppliers to mail a Water Quality Report (Consumer Confidence Report) to customers on an annual basis. It shows how your drinking water measured up to government standards during 2002."

Nearly 80 contaminants are tested for including Microbiological, Inorganic, Synthetic Organic,

Emmett man wins 2003 annual derby

Imperials finish in top three spots

An Emmett man took first place in the final heat of last weekend's 21st annual Lion's Club Demolition Derby on Friday night after winning first place in the first heat. Three Chrysler Imperials took to top three spots in the competition; a car drivers say can not be stopped.

Leonard "Dead Shot" Hurd drove car 61, a 1966 Imperial with a 440 engine in his fourth derby. He said he found the car "along the Boise River."

Hurd was pitted against Bryan "Basquo Fiasco" Badiola and Troy "Tall Boy" Tiddens in the final heat in which Badiola finished in second and Tiddens placed in third. Badiola drove a 1973 Imperial with a 400 engine and Tiddens drove a 1966 Imperial with a 440 engine. Tiddens said his car was used by "Evil Kneivel to hurdle the Tango in 1969." The race was Badiola's third and Tiddens' fourth.

Tiddens also received a trophy for the most aggressive driver along with Jake Volk of Homedale and he was given the award for best looking car voted on by the crowd. John Henry received the Lion's choice of best looking car. Antone Badiola won the hardest hit award.

Duane "Igor" Eoff took home $800 for winning the consolation round in which 18 drivers entered. Eoff's 1970 Plymouth Fury was the final car running.

Eoff was pitted against Cody Garrett,

√ Drug bust

Law enforcement seized approximately two pounds of marijuana and nearly two ounces of methamphetamine. A home on Selway in Homedale was raided along with a home on Oregon and Washington Avenues near the Homedale Elementary School. Those arrested at the homes near the school were charged with conspiracy to deliver and delivery of a controlled substance within 1,000 feet of the school and could receive a much stiffer sentence.

In Marsing, officers raided a home on 13th Avenue West and on Pascoe Road in the county. A home on 2nd Avenue West was also searched when the owner gave permission to officers to search.

Sheriff Gary Aman said he was "extremely pleased" with the outcome of the raid. He said nearly $3,300 in cash was seized as well as the drugs and additional drug-related items. He said the county might also seize several homes.

"With the items that we seize, we can add it to our resources to continue to make drug raids in the county," Aman explained. "We are not stopping here. We have a very serious drug problem in the county. We found that nearly every one of our arrests were in connection with drugs. The burglaries, petit thefts, assaults, nearly every one of them were in connection with drugs."

In May, law enforcement agencies gathered to raid a house on Main Street in Marsing. Two adults were arrested and are still being held in the county jail on drug charges. In Dec. 2002, Aman and several other law enforcement agencies gathered to raid a home only two houses from a home raided Tuesday morning.

Several shotguns, rifles, and other weapons were seized during the early morning drug raid Tuesday. Several vehicles were also seized and impounded.

Approximately 16 people were eventually arrested in connection with the December raid which is being handled by the U.S. Attorney's office and most have been convicted. Heather Redburn, daughter of Joann Redburn was also arrested in that raid. Hundreds of grams of methamphetamine and several firearms were confiscated in the raid and subsequent investigation, according to a federal indictment.

"I would really like to thank our investigator Jim Bish and Jim Christensen from Idaho State Police for their long hours and hard work on the case," Aman said. "The raid was accomplished due to the officers, agencies and volunteers involved. We even had the wife of one of our posse members bring out sandwiches for us. It all came together perfectly.

Seven-year-old wins Doodle-bug race

A seven year old Marsing girl is $500 richer this week after her "doodle-bug" crossed the finish line first during the annual Marsing Chamber of Commerce's doodle-bug race last Thursday night. Kimber Bowman, daughter of Tammy and Lynn Bowman of Marsing was the first place winner followed by Leona Prall in second place and Essence of Life were the third place winners.

Chamber president Bill O'Conner said the grand prize money was donated by the chamber and the second place winnings of $250 was donated by the Lion's Club. One hundred dollars was donated for the third place winner by the City of Marsing.

The Lion's Club held a barbecue dinner before the race and several hundred people enjoyed barbecued beef, salads, and desserts. A fireworks show was put on by the Marsing Volunteer Firemen at dark and people filled Island Park for the evening.

O'Conner said people were in the fields across the river and lined up along the road for the show. He said although the sales of the doodle-bug tickets was not what the chamber had hoped for, he said next year the chamber would look at was to sell the tickets more aggressively or hold additional fundraisers for the fireworks display.

Bob Malmberg of Marsing pulls a rack of barbecue beef from a grill to be served during last week's 4th of July dinner hosted by the Lion's Club.

✓ Water

which includes pesticides and herbicides, and Volatile organic contaminants.

Those interested may review the report at Homedale City Hall or call Walker with any questions at 337-4641.

"If you want to learn more, people may attend any of our regularly scheduled City Council meetings which are held at 7:00 P.M. on the second Wednesday and the fourth Thursday of every month," Walker said.

The source of the City of Homedale's drinking water is wells that tap underground water aquifers. As water travels through these underground water aquifers, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals, and, in some cases, radioactive material, and/or substances resulting from the presence of animals or human activity. Contaminants that may be present in source water includes:

Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operation, and wildlife.

Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining or farming.

Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban stormwater runoff, and residential uses.

Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are byproducts of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff, and septic systems.

Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

Several changes for the enhancement of the quality and quantity of water supplied to the City of Homedale Water System were enabled last year.

Walker said a new well source was completed in Canyon County and connected to the City distribution system in June of 2002. The well, referred to as the Ustick Well No. 6, has both an improved quality and better supply capability (1,000 gallons per minute) than any of the previous City well sources. We were able to eliminate most of the quality problems such as hydrogen sulfide, ammonia, iron and manganese that were prevalent in the previous low production City wells. The Ustick Well was equipped with a pump capable of producing 450 gallons per minute and has enough reserve capacity to meet the need of the citizens of Homedale for many years to come.

"Due to the addition of the Ustick Well, the old City Hall wells have been turned off and will be abandoned during 2003. The other three remaining previous well sources have been placed in a standby mode and will only be utilized in an emergency. This has definitely improved the quality of water being supplied to the citizens of Homedale.

"The city began engineering design to replace the old Water System reservoir with a new 400,000-gallon reservoir which will enhance system pressures and improve fire protection to the residents of Homedale. This project will be completed in 2003. In addition, many of the old smaller diameter ductile iron distribution mains within the City of Homedale will be replaced during 2003 which will have a positive effect on water quality and fire protection capability."

Marsing Clean-up Days set for Friday, Saturday

The annual City of Marsing Clean-up Day will be held on July 11 and 12 with several activities planned.

City employees and volunteers will be available to pick up lumber, leaves, branches, couches, chairs, metal and non-hazardous materials.

The event is sponsored by the city and a spokesman said they would like to have residents call City Hall to schedule pick-ups. Volunteers will not be able to remove batteries, refrigerators, air conditioners, tires, car parts, hazardous materials, household garbage, oil, or paint.

For more information or to schedule a pick-up contact City Hall at 896-4122.

Like most of the northwest, Owyhee County is drying out and forecasters are not predicting any moisture for the area for at least the next 10-20 days. With temperatures rising into the 90s to 100-degree marks, any moisture that is in the ground is quickly evaporating.

South Board of Control Manager Rex Barrie said the Joint Irrigation Committee met on Tuesday, but results of that meeting were not available at press time. Barrie said Monday that the committee would be taking a long hard look at the irrigation situation.

"Nothing has changed at this point until we meet with the Joint Committee again," Barrie said. "We are going to take a hard look at it and see if there is any more water up there."

On July 3, Owyhee Reservoir was at 22 percent of full with 153 CFS at Rome and 148 CFS at the Owyhee River. The reservoir was holding 160,457-acre feet of water on Thursday, but was down to 151,000-acre feet by Monday morning. Monday the inflow at Rome was running at 136

CFS. Barrie said any measurable snow in the mountains is now gone.

"The last allotment was set at 2.2 acre feet and it will remain there until the joint board meeting, if they change it," Barrie said. "We have pressure from both sides to increase and we have pressure to leave it where it is to make the season go as long as possible. It will be a tough decision that is made by the joint directors and when they make that decision the respective managers on both side will do what they need to."

A report from the Natural Resources Conservation Service said as of June 26 the snowpack had melted for the season in the area. Precipitation was essential zero again for the past week, but isolated storms brought precipitation to the southwest.

Based on mountain data from NRCS SNOTEL sites as of Thursday, the Bruneau Basin is recording 82 percent of average total precipitation and the Owyhee Basin recorded 84 percent of total precipitation.

City Council meeting agenda announced

The Homedale City Council will meet this evening (Wednesday) for a regularly schedule meeting at 7 p.m. The meeting will be held in the district courtroom located in City Hall.

This evening's agenda includes approving the agenda and the minutes of the June 26 meeting.

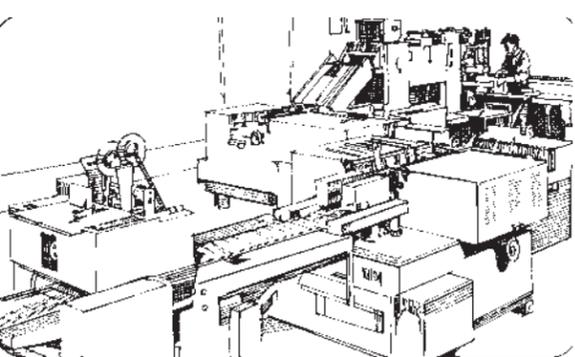

Old business will include discussions on the courtroom project with councilman Kevin Barlow, a vote on ordinance number 345, Intermountain Gas franchise ordinance, and Jamie Austin status update from Homedale Police Chief Jeff Eidemiller

City Engineer Bob Walker will update the council on the sewer lagoon chlorninator, Sunset Village meter installation, water storage site, and a review of the city's consumer confidence report.

Eidemiller will give a police department report followed by Walker's public works report and a written report review by city clerk Pam Dugger.

The council has scheduled an executive session followed by mayor/council reports. In closing the council will pay bills and discuss any further business.

City curfew laws

By Mike Spagnola, Homedale City Police

Summer is here and school is out. With daylight saving time, it gets dark around 8:30 to 9 p.m. As the summer gets into full swing, it won't get dark until almost 10 p.m. The City of Homedale as all other cities, has a curfew ordinance.

The Idaho State Criminal and Traffic Law Code also has a section designated for curfew laws. Let's examine the why of curfew. The laws and codes are not intended to spoil young people's fun. They are designed to help keep them safe. I know that we are a small community, but there is still potential for danger for young people, who are out after dark and unsupervised. The size of a town is not a barometer for safety. Children can and have turned up missing in small towns as well as larger cities.

The curfew ordinance in Homedale is as follows: children under 16 years of age must be off the streets from 11 p.m. until 5 a.m. unless the child is accompanied by a parent or guardian, or other adult having custody of the child, such as a family member. If the young person under 16 is on his or her way home from work or coming home from a social activity such as a church meeting or school function, the curfew ordinance will not apply. This does not mean that the young person can loiter or dally in getting home.

Children from 16-17 years old are required to be off the streets between the hours of midnight and 5 a.m. The same rules apply with being with a parent or adult guardian or coming home from work or social function. If your child is late in getting home from whatever reason, don't panic. Call Owyhee County Dispatch at 337-4222 to alert the officer on duty to be on the look out for your young person. Sometimes young folks forget about the time and if that's the case, the officers of Homedale would be happy to return the child home with nothing more than a lecture.

If your child is missing or you suspect that he or she has some other motive for not being home after hours, here are some things to remember that will help law enforcement locate your child: always ask where your child is going and who he/she will be with. Try to have a telephone number where they will be, and if you do not know the people at that number, call them before your child leaves to confirm that is where he/she will be staying.

Have an idea what your child is wearing and if driving, vehicle information such as license plate, make and model. Get to know your child's circle of friends and don't be shy about asking questions. Remember, it only takes a few moments and these few things to remember to help keep your child safe.

Rob McIntyre presents Miner Melodies during OCHS meeting

Rob McIntyre, presently of Athena, Oregon, will be presenting his program on Miner Melodies: Pioneer Music of the Boise Basin and Silver City during a July 18 Owyhee County Historical Society meeting.

The gold rush attracted people to the region from virtually every walk of life. Included in this population were a number of professional musicians who had toured the east coast. Amateur musicians were also participants in the musical culture of the community during the height of the rush, and after the professionals had moved on, the amateurs kept this same culture alive.

McIntyre is a native of southwestern Idaho. After graduating from Northwest Nazarene College in 1987, he spent four years teaching choral and instrumental music in the public schools of Oregon and Idaho. He received his M.A. in music from the University of Idaho in May of 1993 and is currently pursuing postgraduate work at the University of Idaho while teaching in Athena, Or. He has published articles concerning Idaho's pioneer musical heritage in Idaho Yesterdays and Idaho Music Notes.

"How we do appreciate the support of the Idaho Humanities Council and the Boise Cascade Corporation for their support in making this outstanding speaker available," Rosemary Kunkel said.

McIntyre will present his slide show at 7 p.m. at the court house jury room in Murphy. All members and friends are invited. A short business meeting will open the meeting, followed by McIntyre's presentation. Pie and ice cream refreshments will be furnished by the society.

Homedale class of 1968 to hold reunion

The Homedale High School class of 1968 will hold its 25-year class reunion on July 19 and 20 and all alumni of the school are invited to attend.

The festivities will begin on Saturday evening with an outdoor lawn party and dance at 9 p.m. at the covered pavilion at the fairgrounds north of the Homedale Armory. Music will be provided by Freestyle in which alumni graduate Alfred Koenig is a singer. Admission is $10 and food and drinks will be available.

On Sunday a picnic lunch will be served from 1-2:30 p.m. at Riverside Park, followed by volleyball and softball games. The reunion planning committee is challenging picnickers to an entertaining softball tournament. Admission is $10 for adults and $5 for kids.

The class of 1968 reunion planning committee is Louis Uranga, Rob Townsend, Donna Batt, Colleen Lowder, Cathy Phelps, Ann Ordorica, and Eloise Van Slyke. For more information contact Lowder at 337-4503.

Jordan Valley adds Homedale's tanker to fire fleet

Jordan Valley Fire added another fire truck to its recently formed department last week after they purchased a tanker truck from Homedale Fire Department. Homedale sold the truck to the local department after it recently added a new 2003 tanker truck to its fleet.

Jim Schmidt and Jim Davis traveled to Homedale last week to pick up its "new to you" truck and said the Jordan Valley department now has three fire trucks for its department. Jordan Valley, up until recently, only had fire coverage from a fire truck stationed in the city, but nearly a year ago members of the community pulled together to form a membership fire department.

Homedale purchased its new tanker truck from a present levy and had no need for the 1983 tanker truck built by Owyhee Motor Sales of Homedale. But fire officials from Jordan Valley said the addition would be a great help to them.

Homedale purchased a 2003

Kenworth diesel automatic with a 3,000-gallon water tank and took possession of it earlier this month. The older truck holds 2,700 gallons of water and was sold to the Jordan Valley department for under $5,000. Homedale's new truck pumps approximately 500 gallons of water a minute and the old truck is estimated to pump approximately 200 gallons a minute.

Jordan Valley Fire covers approximately 5,000 square miles and now has three trucks stationed in several locations in the area. The department covers homeowners by membership. To be covered by the Jordan Valley Fire department homeowners pay $100 per house per year. Schmidt said the coverage also includes out buildings and property.

Mike Quintero has been named the fire chief and five board members now make the department's decisions.

Schmidt said the truck was purchased with money from a grant the department was awarded. He said the department hopes to station a truck in Rome, Jordan Valley, Pleasant Valley and Arock. He said the department is currently working to acquire another truck later this year.

MRW Fire Dist. receives BLM fire engine

Thursday afternoon, representatives from the Lower Snake River District Bureau of Land Management handed Owyhee County Commissioner Hal Tolmie the keys to a wildland fire engine, which was sold to the Murphy-Reynolds Wilson Fire District in Murphy.

Shawn Sanders from U.S. Senator Larry Craig's office, Jake Ball from Senator Mike Crapo's office and Josh Tewalt from Congressman Butch Otter's office, Tolmie, Dave McClintock, Yellowpine Fire Chief and Kenneth Good, MRW Fire Chief were on hand for the official release of two fire trucks purchased through the Rural Fire Assistance Program, an element of the National Fire Plan. Both departments received $20,000 in equipment dollars, enough to purchase BLM surplus wildland fire engines.

A representative from the BLM said the 1990 and 1991 International wildland fire engines would enhance the wildfire response capabilities in both the Yellowpine and Murphy-Reynolds-Wilson areas. BLM will provide both departments with the necessary training to ensure safe, efficient and effective fire suppression operations.

The Rural Fire Assistance Program is one element of the National Fire Plan. It is designed to provide funding to small community and rural fire departments that will enhance these departments's ability to effectively respond to wildland fires, particularly in wildlandurban interface areas within their jurisdiction.

Departments participating in this program must meet a set of criteria including the following: they must have an assistance agreement in place with the BLM or IDL, they must operate in a jurisdiction serving a population base of no more than 10,000, they can only apply for up to $20,000 per year and the funding must be used for training, equipment, and/or prevention and education activities.

The spokesman said that the training, equipment, and public education provided by the program not only creates and strengthens partnerships between the small fire departments and the BLM, but it enhances safety and improves the protection of life, property, and natural resources. The trucks are this year's final two surplus wildland engines to be acquired by local or community fire departments.

CHIROPRACTIC CORNER

Chiropractic and Sports Injuries

A common question in our office is "Do you only treat injuries to the spine (neck & back) or can you treat other joints that are injured"? Chiropractic has traditionally treated the vertebra of the spine and the related muscles. In our office we also enjoy treating what is termed "the extremities". An extremity is defined in chiropractic terms as a non-spinal area of the body.

In May of 2000 I had the privilege of attending a seven-seminar series given by Dr. Kevin Heron, a nationally renowned lecturer on extremities. The course covered evaluation, diagnosis, adjustment, stabilization and rehabilitation of extremity injuries. The areas of the body included were ribs, jaw, shoulder, elbow, wrist, hand, hip, knee, ankle and foot.

An extensive amount of time was also given to the analysis of foot and gait problems and the construction of custom foot orthotics. These orthotics not only help with painful foot conditions but can also help knee, hip and back problems. Quite a long answer to what seemed to be an easy question. The short answer is "Yes, we treat almost every joint in the Body". And we really enjoy treating extremity joint and muscle problems.

A reminder to students and parents. We are quickly approaching football and volleyball season and we just wanted to let you know that we are doing sports physicals in our office. We evaluate not only sports physicals, but all sports injuries. The charge for a sports physical is $20.00. If you would like to schedule an appointment with Dr. Perkins at Homedale Chiropractic Center, or if you have any question, please call our office at (208) 337-4900.

The inside scoop on summer sweets

Dear Betty,
There are so many different ice creams to choose from! What's the difference between them?
South Lake Tahoe, Calif.

Let's start with what they have in common, they're all scrumptious! Where they differ is in their ingredients, fat content and texture. (The fat grams here are based on a one-half cup serving.)

Premium ice cream. Made with cream, sugar and flavorings, premium ice cream contains 18 grams of fat and is very creamy.

Ice cream. Made with the same ingredients as premium, regular ice cream contains more air and fewer grams of fat.

Gelato. Gelato, the Italian word for ice cream, is made with cream, sugar and flavorings. It's more dense than American ice cream. The fat content ranges from 7 to 12 grams.

Sherbet. Usually made with sweetened fruit juice, water, milk, egg whites and/or gelatin, sherbet weights in with 1.5 fat grams. It's light than ice cream.

Sorbet. Sorbet is just sweetened fruit juice and water, so it's fat free and slightly softer than sherbet.

Now that you know the inside scoop on these summertime sweets, share what you've learned with a fun and easy ice cream tasting party. Here's how:

Buy a pint of the same flavor of several frozen desserts: premium ice cream, ice cream, sherbet, sorbet and gelato.

Wrap each container in foil so no one can read the label. Spoon a little of each into small festive paper cups. Let your guests taste their samples, then guess which frozen treat is which. Bring out the fixings for sundaes and let everyone create an ice cream masterpiece.

Dear Betty,
Can I make an ice cream pie at home?
Parker, Ariz.

This refreshing summer treat is as easy to make at home as pie! For a "two-layer" ice cream pie:

The easiest way is to start with a purchased graham cracker or cookie crumb crust, or make your own.

Soften two pints of your favorite ice cream, sherbet or sorbet in the microwave for 15 to 30 seconds.

Spread one pint of ice cream in the crust.

Sprinkle this layer with chopped cookies or candy bars, coconut, chocolate chips, nuts, fresh berries. Cover and freeze for about an hour.

Spread the second pint of ice cream over the filling. Pop in the freezer for at least three hours.

Let stand at room temperature for about 10 minutes before serving. Drizzle with your favorite topping or top with crushed berries.

Out with the old, in with the new

Construction workers remove the awning from the Tango Lounge on Idaho Avenue last week. Donna Calzacorta, manager of the lounge said the awning was about 50 years old or more. She said the back part of the building had been built in approximately 1940 or 1950. She said the front part of the building had been built in the very early 1910s. A new awning will be built in the next few months.

Rafter 4 farm and ranch store opens near Homedale

A new feed, livestock supply store opened Monday near Homedale and will feature a full line of provisions and supplies for the domestic pet to the large livestock animals.

Sandy McClintic and Pat Battles both of Homedale and formerly from Montana, team together for over 50 years of animal experience to offer feed and supplies for cattle, horses, dogs, cats, goats, rabbits, wild birds or any other pet or farm animal.

The store, Rafter 4 Feed Company, will carry a full line of hay, straw, livestock panels and gates, fencing materials, vaccines, tack and saddles, portable buildings, feeders and more. The store is located on the corner of Highway 95 and Homedale Road and will be open from Monday through Saturday from 7:30 a.m. until 6 p.m.

A line of saddles, halters, and horse supplies will be offered on the shelves. For feed Battles said he would be able to provide any quantity from one pound to over 5,000 pounds of top grade livestock or pet food. He said he has spent the last 35 years in the livestock industry and moved to the Homedale area about 11 years ago. McClintic has been in the are for about a year and said she has grown up in the horse industry.

“Mostly we have a large variety of just about everything the huge livestock companies would need to feed Mrs. Brown across the street with the parakeets would need,” Battles laughed. “We have made a deal with Rangen Feed out of Buhl to supply our feed for us. They are a nationwide feed company. They will handle anything from game birds and agriculture to aquaculture and wild bird feed.”

“We want to get in and sell them feed,” McClintic said. “We want to carry enough for the big livestock and dairy producers to the small home pets.”

Raft 4 Feed will also carry a full line of pharmaceutical items for large livestock to small house pets. Battles said they would not offer vet service, but they can help with the everyday shots and medical needs.

Domestic and livestock supplies

Sandy McClintic and Pat Battles stand in their new store among a large line of pet and livestock medication and vaccines. The store opened Monday and the couple is planning a grand opening soon.

Seven carloads of folks from the Owyhee County Historical Society came to Three Creek June 21st. They met with Chet and Kim Brackett and Mearl Row and Bob Ramsey among others. Later they went to Bert and Paula Brackett where they learned of their activities.

A potluck super was held at the school. Jessica and Amanda Elsner done some hoe down fiddling for them.

Next day they visited Rolly Patrick at his ranch and then on to the ranch of Maurice and Marlene Guerry on Little House Creek where the history of the ranches were recalled. Earl and Mary Grace Elsner who spearheaded the adventures were please that it turned out so well.

Three Creeks newest addition Zane Bert Brackett got in a hurry to be born so made his appearance 2 miles east of the Salmon Dam on June 16, 2003. His mom and dad, Kim and Ira Norris Brackett, sent out cute announcements that they had picked him up by the side of the road. He weighed 6 lbs. 3 oz. and was 20 inches long. His proud brother Cade thinks maybe he will let him stay around. Kim's mother, Carolyn Burton from Evanston, Wyoming has been helping out.

Our former long time neighboring ranchers, Bill and Sue Clark are moving from Jerome to Boise to be near three of their children.

David Long of Murphy's Hot Springs has went to Wisconsin to attend the funeral of a relative.

Earnie Ashford who hauled many truckloads of hay for us passed away at Magic Valley Regional Medical Center in Twin Falls recently. On Saturday June 21 his family and friends took his ashes to Wilkin's Island and scattered them in the country he loved.

Summary judgement

Environmentalists and the natural gas crisis

by William Perry Pendley, President
Mountain States Legal Foundation

"In recent months "prices of natural gas have increased sharply". In mid-June, the price of gas for delivery in July closed at $6.31 per million Btu. That contract sold for as low as $2.55 in July 2000 and for $3.65 a year ago". The peak price could exceed $7.50 per million Btu". There are still numerous unexploited sources of natural gas production in the United States, but their development is hampered by a decades-old struggle to reach consensus on environmental and energy concerns". This lack of a consistent policy means more debilitating spikes in price."

This congressional testimony, delivered last month, does not come from someone environmental groups could dismiss quickly as "one of the usual suspects," that is, someone responsible for exploring for, locating, developing, and delivering energy resources. Instead, it packs a wallop because it comes from Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan. But what Greenspan said is not "news."

Three years ago this month, an independent petroleum geologist from Connecticut, for the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, gave similar congressional testimony. He too predicted a natural gas price spike of over $7.50 per million Btus as a result of which "residential gas consumers can expect a $200 to $300 increase in their winter gas-heating bills, which some can ill afford." He too stated that America "has abundant natural gas resources to fuel the country well into the 21st Century." He too declared that, despite abundant supplies of clear-burning natural gas, "the public has not had the will to permit access to the huge gas potential of its undeveloped public lands."

The onshore public land to which the Connecticut geologist referred lies within the Rocky Mountains and contains nearly 140 trillion cubic feet of natural gas. In fact, the United States admits, in a January 2003 report to Congress, that 40 percent of that land is off-limits to gas development. Sixty percent availability might not be bad if development could actually occur there, but the report considered only whether the lands could, theoretically, be leased. Yet, even those lands must pass through the statutory, regulatory, and litigation gauntlet that is federal land use planning and environmental review, which take years to yield a decision, which is, in turn, subjected to years of appeals and litigation.

However, the assault on natural gas development begins in earnest only after a lease is issued. One leader of a major environmental group threatened to sue anyone who "bids on a lease on public land." No need; the opposition of environmental groups to federal energy development is well known. What is not well known is the impact of these tactics. That may change. Just as the media and the public is aware, with fires in Arizona, Oregon, and California, of the cost of environmental road blocks to forest health, both may learn soon of the cost of similar barriers to gas development.

The ability of environmental groups to thwart gas development is not limited to their appeals and litigation. There are stacks of environmental statutes, regulations, and judicial rulings—most generated through the lobbying and litigating by these groups—that impose severe restrictions on the ability of operators to do their jobs. The chief culprits involve protected species and archeological sites.

One Wyoming operator has fought for two years for a drilling permit on a barren plot in Sweetwater County's windswept desert. After submitting an $80,000 study, which yielded a "finding of no significant environmental impact," the operator was denied its drilling permits because a federal employee had discovered, belatedly, a pile of loose stones, a "cairn." The employee says the "cairn" is an active religious site that will be disturbed by any drilling visible from the "cairn."

Maybe Greenspan is right. Maybe there is no consensus regarding the question of the proper balance between cairns in Wyoming and the cost of gas in Wisconsin. Maybe we should wait until winter to ask for an answer.

Fall down and be somebody

There he was on the radio again, another backslider who had written a book about his sordid past and was now cashing in on it.

I've always felt a little queasy when some infamous star whose life has been a trail of ex-wives, broken homes, maladjusted children and publicly displayed unfaithfulness, steps on to the stage and announces, "I've been free of alcohol and drugs for two weeks now!" and the fawning crowd gives the dirt bag a standing ovation.

It is not unusual, making a saint of Ivan the Terrible.

The pocket philosopher Pinto Bennett captured it best when he said, "Fall Down and Be Somebody!" "Are you an athlete who has corked your bat, pumped your steroids, cut your corners, bet against your teammates, drugged your horses and stuffed your sleeve with aces? You can make millions! Just Fall Down and Be Somebody! Can't write? We'll do it for you, no one will know. You could have your own sports talk radio show!

Or...

"Didn't major in P.E., so you went into politics and became the poster child for "Power and Corruption," a life of junkets, side deals, interns, favors for campaign contributions, till finally your violations of the public trust are exposed for all to see? Don't worry, Fall Down and Be Somebody! We can turn your shame into dollars! The juicier the dish, the bigger the book advance!"

Or...

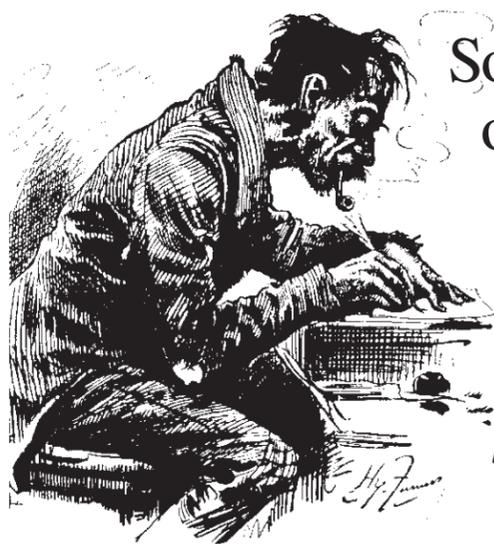

"Hey lowlife, get caught with your hand in the till? Insider trading, tax evasion, cooking the books, cleaning out your investors, facing indictment? Not to worry! Fall Down and Be Somebody! The sleazier you are the bigger the profits! Remember greed is a marketable asset."

Or...

"Grow up watching Superman but idolized Jimmy Olsen? Went into TV reporting but couldn't spell integrity, didn't know the difference between news and news analysis. Desperate for face time, you began replacing fact with fables, truth with spin, news with illusion, but your enemies slandered you by exposing your shoddy work and deception, and ruined your chance at a Pulitzer? Don't worry, Fall Down and Be Somebody! Yer a writer, make something up! It'll sell and you can parlay it into your own cable channel talk show called...Fall Down and Be Somebody!

You'll never have a shortage of guests."

More water needed for Homedale

An estimated 25 concerned citizens turned out last Tuesday at Homedale City Hall to discuss, promote, and ask questions about the proposed $900,000 plus city water supply system.

Boise-based J.U.B. engineers explained the reasons behind initiating the proposal to renovate and compliment the existing system which they termed "inadequate" for Homedale's current and predicted needs. The engineers assured that normal water use bills would escalate from $4 to around $8, or double the norm if the plan was instigated.

Paul Simon, city superintendent, is one proponent of the change in Homedale's current water system. In the case of a fire in the downtown district Simon estimated "twenty minutes of water at the most," not nearly enough to properly protect the growing township.

And Simon, who also reigns as fire chief, said rates would surely increase soon anyway, even without a new system of pipes, pumping facilities, and a storage tower. "Rates have been the same for at least 26 years, or as long as I've been here," he said, adding that an addition to the city sewer system over ten years ago was the most recent renovation Homedale has witnessed in its utilities that he could remember.

Emeline Nettleton reigns as Cowbelle Queen

Miss Emeline Nettleton was crowned queen last Saturday at a luncheon at the Knight Congregational Community Church in Grand View of the Cattlemen's 100 year Centennial Anniversary Celebration.

The theme for the event is "100 Years in the Saddle" and the new reigning queen will be the guest of honor at the celebration July 29 and 30 at Silver City, Idaho.

Miss Nettleton was crowned by the Owyhee County Cowbells who have sponsored the contest. Mrs. Valerie Dines of Marsing was chairman of the event. First runner-up was Margaret Duval who was previously a school teacher at Oreana and is presently living in Boise. Other contestants were: Mildretta Adams, Elizabeth Walker, Evelyn Cummings, Nellie Larson, Phyllis Malmberg and Helen Nettleton.

The new queen was previously from Sinker Creek in Owyhee County and spent better than 50 of her 80 years in Owyhee County. She was born in September 16, 1898, moved to Boise in 1945, and later sold her interest in the ranch to her brother Hubert. In 1948 she moved to Nampa where she is living at the present time. She owns a home located above the Masonic Hall on Jordan Creek in Silver City.

Lions install officers

Also accepting offices in the club were Bob Malmberg, first vice president, Dave Kuenaman, second vice president, Dennis Neilson, third vice president, secretary, Mike Percifield, treasurer, Jerry Bowman, taitwister, Harold Moeries, assistant taitwister, Mike Van Wassenhove. ### County Commissioners tie down proposed road funds

At a meeting of the county board of commissioners at Murphy last Monday, the commissioners tied down the funds proposed to be raised by a bond issue in order to assure Owyhee county residents that the Marsing-Indian Cove road would be completed before any funds are committed to any other use.

In calling for the special road bond election, to be held Tuesday, July 28th, the commissioners stated the funds would be used for "construction and repair of roads and bridges within Owyhee County." Some question has been raised throughout the county whether or not this would leave the gate open for the proposed funds to escape through various "pet" projects and thereby undercut the proposed Marsing-Indian Cove road so that it could not be completed.

The commissioners stated that according to the federal and state matching fund program, the monies from the state and federal sources can be used only on secondary highways approved by the federal bureau of highways and cannot be used for any purpose other than those approved. In Owyhee County there are very few approved secondary roads, the proposed county-long highway being one of them. It is for the construction and surfacing of this 81.2 miles of highway that the bond election has been called.

Homedale merchants plan TV set give-away contest

Homedale merchants today announced a program whereby they will give away five television sets within the next six weeks to lucky customers shopping in Homedale stores. The sets, all 21-inch table models, have been purchased from local TV distributors, including Homedale Tractor and Equipment Company, Homedale TV and Appliance Center, Homedale Supply, Western Auto Supply and Willis Electric.

Homecoming services at Friend Church July 19

A homecoming and special dedication services will be held at the Homedale Friends Community church on Sunday, July 19, to observe the completion of new improvements recently added to the church.

A number of new improvements have been added to the church during recent months including a new west wing which has four new classrooms and can be used for an overflow room.

The building has recently been redecorated and was completed two weeks ago when a new oak floor was laid and new upholstered pews were installed.

Cattlemen's conv. set for July 25-26

Directors of the Owyhee County Cattlemen's Assn. will meet at Murphy tomorrow to make final plans for the annual convention to be held at Silver City on Saturday and Sunday, July 25 and 26, according to Kenneth Downing, secretary of the group.

A highlight in the activities of Owyhee County, the convention promises to give a lot of enjoyment to thousands of people who annually trek to the historical landmark for the convention.

Dick Gabica of Marsing is president of the association.

Hotshots defeat Emmett 10 to 1

Homedale Hotshots stood second place with 8 wins and 2 losses in the first half of the Border League schedule by winning over Emmett Friday night at the Emmett field, with a score of 10-1. Payette is holding top place with 10 wins and no losses. Newbill struck out 19, walked 2, and allowed 3 hits.

GEOLOGICAL. Mr. John Hunter from Castle Creek has shown us a fragment of oolitic formations, of which there is an abundance in that locality. This oolite is a variety of limestone composed of small round grains, resembling the roe of fishes, and belongs to the Mesozoic age in geology, between the chalk and limes formation. The Mesozoic period in which the oolite limestone is found constitutes the middle ages in geological history and includes what is known as the Reptilian age. On Sinker, Castle and Catharine Creeks fossils of the latter age abound, among which are found a large variety of bones of animals now extinct, and shells of singular beauty. We are of no reason why the oolite of that locality cannot be converted into lime. It would not require a costly experiment to give it a trial, and if successful would subserve a valuable purpose for building.

THE FOURTH IN SILVER CITY passed off very quietly, and as far as we know general jollity prevailed. At sunrise our mountains were made to echo with the firing of salutes, and the noble old star spangled banner was seen on every flagstaff. Mr. J. L. Hall read the Declaration of Independence at two P.M. at the Court House and Mr. Henry Martin delivered a really excellent oration. Large quantities of firecrackers and whisky were consumed during the day, and the sun went down amid the booming of cannon-anvils. A more fitting celebration might have been gotten up for the occasion, but everybody is just as well satisfied now, and had it not been for the strenuous efforts of a very few of our citizens there would have been no celebration at all.

THE FOURTH AT WAGONTOWN. The various livery stables turned out their best rigs on the occasion, and all of our citizens who could procure a buggy or saddle horses gobbled up all the women and girls in town and went down to the picnic and races at Wagontown. The day was fine and all are unanimous in saying they has a splendid time. Tom Walls spared no exertion to make everyone feel at home and comfortable. The only mean trick we heard of on the occasion was that in a certain play, in which nearly all were engaged, several big masculine boobies wouldn't allow the girls to kiss them. Alas—wonder what young men are going to?

SHOOTING AFFRAY. At Ruby City, between eight and nine o'clock on Monday evening last, a serious, if not fatal shooting affray occurred between Andy Schrader and Jake Wesenfelter. A woman appears to have been the cause of the trouble. Schrader received a blow over the head with a six-shooter and Westenfelter was shot in the left hip, and in the back, ranging upwards under the shoulder blade. The wounded man is still alive but in a very precarious condition. Schrader delivered himself up and was set at liberty on $1,000 bonds to appear for examination on Monday next, after which we will give more particulars.

THE IDAHO HOTEL. Public attention is directed to the remodeled advertisement of the Idaho Hotel, which has been thoroughly refitted and large additions made thereto in the way of sleeping apartments, comfortable bath-rooms, &c. This house is not unexcelled by any in the Territory in its accommodations for the comfort and convenience of transient and permanent patrons.
