by Michelle Elsner, JVHS

After fighting through six games at state, the Jordan Valley High School volleyball team brought home the second-place trophy from the Oregon 1A state tournament in Springfield, Ore., last week.

"We came together as a team, and I was proud that we made it as far as we did," senior Cassia Trautman said.

In the best two-out-of-three state title match, Jordan Valley dropped a close 25-23, 27-25 decision to Dufur, which defended its state title.

The last time Jordan Valley had reached the state tournament, the Mustangs lost the 1999 title match to Ione 15-8, 15-11.

The loss to Dufur snapped the Mustangs' 20-match winning streak, and Jordan Valley finished the season 20-1. Dufur entered the tournament as the District 3 champion.

"We were having some problems getting our offense rolling and getting hits on our third touch," Jordan Valley coach

Jacque Naegle said. "I'm proud of our girls. We might have ended our season with one loss at the end of the state championships, but I think Dufur was relieved that it was best two-out-of-three and they didn't have to play us again."

Mustang hitter Lauren Cuvelier made first team all-tournament at State, and Angela Larsen made second team.

Cuvelier led the Mustangs' charge in the title match with five kills, followed by three for Michelle Baltzor, two for Larsen 2 and one for Trautman.

Cuvelier had four blocks and Larsen added two. Bailey Kershner and Breann Hipwell each contributed seven assists in the state final.

At the end of the day, the Mustangs were happy it was

Adrian bows on State stage

The Adrian High School volleyball team came within a few points of transferring into Saturday's bracket play at the Oregon 1A state tournament in Springfield, Ore.

After winning the first game of their final pool-play match on Friday, the Antelopes dropped a 16-25, 25-22, 15-13 decision to Damascus Christian, the No. 2 seed from District 1.

"I was pleased with our performance at State, (but) disappointed that we didn't finish against Damascus when we had the chance though to make it into the tournament on Saturday," Adrian coach Aimee Goss said.

The loss shut Adrian out of the second day of the tournament in the Antelopes' first trip to State since 2000.

Meanwhile, the Adrian football team's first trip to the 1A state

Huskies handle Trojans in girls hoops opener

Marsing High School chipped the ice off its offense late Saturday night. Unfortunately, Homedale's girls basketball team entered a deep freeze at the same time.

The Huskies ended their hibernation with a flurry of second-half layups to collect a 52-39 non-conference victory on the Trojans' home floor.

"Once we get in better shape, we'll be pretty good," Marsing coach Don Heller said. "I got a rotation down there pretty good in the second half."

The barrage of gimmes began when Angela Martinez stole the ball from Homedale's Cheyanne Andrade and snapped a 29-29 stalemate. The Huskies, who were opening their season, were in the midst of an 8-0 run that grew into a 14-2 sprint to the 2-minute, 50-second mark of the third quarter.

Then the lights went out for both teams.

"We were getting looks, but we weren't focusing on opportunities," Homedale coach Mike Greeley said.

"We had opportunities, but we were blowing it. We weren't focusing on the white box. We had three or four that I can think of inside the paint, and we missed them. And they were gimmes."

The lack of focus resulted in a scoring drought of more than 10

Good treats, better cause

Homedale Middle School students seem overwhelmed by the amount of baked goods available during Friday's benefit for sixth-grade teacher Lesa Folwell.

Folwell floored by HMS support

Students raise money for Trojans coach

When Homedale High School girls soccer coach and Homedale Middle School teacher Lesa Folwell undergoes surgery today, she'll be bolstered by the knowledge that so many people in the community care for her.

Folwell, who has taught at the middle school for two years, is having surgery today at the University of Utah Medical Center in Salt Lake City to repair a lung disorder that has kept her from fully enjoying her time with the Trojans and her sixth-grade students.

Folwell suffers from something called spontaneous pneumothorax. The disorder causes air to escape the lungs, and the building pressure collapses the top part of Folwell's lung.

"It happened the first time about 2 1/2 years ago," she said. "I had surgery two years ago which supposedly fixed it."

Even with the limitations the

ailment has created, Folwell found out Friday just what kind of impact she has had when students at the middle school rallied to raise money to cover her travel expenses with a bake sale during the school's two lunch periods.

"I'm totally surprised by the whole thing," Folwell said Friday afternoon. "It is just totally amazing, and I can't believe how they got so many people involved."

JoAnn Morris, a fifth-grade teacher at HMS, said that the bake sale and other donations from the school's faculty helped raise about $500 for Folwell. When the bake sale began during the first lunch all over and proud of their accomplishments. After a hard weekend of volleyball they celebrated with ice cream and well-deserved sleep.

The weekend included the Mustangs traveling 18 hours and 20 minutes on the bus overall. On the way to Springfield, the Jordan Valley players stopped for a short practice at Sisters High School. The long trip was worth it to get so far as they did at state.

The Mustangs played in a pool the first day of the state tournament.

Jordan Valley beat District 5 No. 3 seed Crow in the first game 23-25, 25-16, 15-8.

Cuvelier led with 13 kills, followed by four from Trautman and three each from Baltzor and Larsen.

Bailey Kershner had 13 assists, and Hipwell added 10.

Cuvelier recorded four blocks.

After a break, Jordan Valley thrashed South Wasco in two games, 25-10, 25-12, as Cuvelier came through with eight kills. South Wasco was the third seed from District 3.

Trautman and Baltzor each had three kills. Trautman and Larsen registered two blocks, with Baltzor adding one.

Kershner had a dozen assists, and Hipwell added seven.

The Mustangs, champions of District 4, wrapped up Friday's pool play with an 18-25, 25-14, 15-9 victory over Umpqua Valley Christian, the No. 2 seed from District 2.

Cuvelier had five kills, while Trautman (four), Larsen (three) and Baltzor (two) backed her up in that category.

Larsen had two blocks, and Cuvelier, Baltzor and Trautman had one each.

Kershner got her customary 12 assists, and Hipwell chipped in nine.

Bracket play began Saturday morning with the Mustangs smashing District 1 No. 2 seed Damascus Christian, 25-15, 25-15. Cuvelier exploded with 10 kills, while Larsen had six and Baltzor and Trautman added four each.

Larsen had two blocks, with Cuvelier and Baltzor each picking up one.

Kershner and Hipwell were electric from the setter position, collecting 16 and 15 assists, respectively.

In the state semifinals, Cuvelier collected 11 kills as Jordan Valley swept District 1 No. 3 seed Perrydale 25-14, 26-24.

Kershner had another 16 assists, and Hipwell added 15.

Baltzor, Trautman and Larsen registered four kills each, while Cuvelier had five blocks.

playoffs in 15 years ended abruptly with a 64-14 loss to South Wasco County on the road in Maupin. No other information was provided. Coach Gene Mills' football team ended the season 6-4 after losing four of its final five games.

The tournament draw for the Adrian volleyball team proved to be just as difficult. The Antelopes faced defending state champion Dufur in pool play on Friday, losing 27-25, 25-20.

"We played a great match against Dufur in our second match," Goss said. "I really feel like we played as well as any other team did against Dufur, who ended up winning the whole tournament, and our scores show that."

Sophomore Paige Branstiter, who was named to the all-tournament first team, collected eight kills and seven digs in a great all-around game against Dufur. She also served an ace and had block kill.

"Paige Branstiter was named to the first team all-tournament, which is pretty impressive because she was the only sophomore on the team and the only one to make it on the teams who's team didn't make it to the second day," Goss said.

Branstiter finished the three-match pool play with 10 aces, 28 kills and 22 digs.

Other contributors in the loss to Dufur included Kat Sillonis with seven assists and three digs. Amanda Simpson served four aces and dug six balls, while Sarah McPeak had an ace, five kills and six digs.

Andrea Garner had four kills and a block kill, while Kirsten Phillips served four aces, recorded two kills and had five digs. Ryann Bowns had three assists.

Sillonis had 10 assists and a dig in the tournament-ending loss to Damascus Christian. Branstiter had her best match of the tournament in the finale with 15 kills, two aces, eight digs and two block kills.

McPeak added seven kills and amassed 18 digs. Amanda Simpson had 11 digs and an ace.

Andrea Garner racked up three kills and three digs, while Stephenie Hutchings had four kills and two digs.

Bowns had seven assists and two digs, while Phillips chipped in an ace, a kill and six digs.

"We came out strong against Damascus, but lost some momentum in the second game when we should have finished the match," Goss said. "In the third game, we battled but lost steam at the very end."

Adrian opened the tournament Friday morning with an impressive 25-19, 25-5 victory over Alsea as Branstiter led a serving barrage with seven aces. She also had five kills, seven digs and an assist.

Sillonis, McPeak and Bowns all served an ace, with McPeak throwing in five kills and seven digs.

Sillonis had four assists and three digs to go with a kill, while Bowns also had eight assists.

"This year's experience at State and all season long should help us come out very strong next year, so we are very positive about the future in volleyball," Goss said.

Rimrock well-represented on Shrine roster

The team may have won only one of its eight games, but Rimrock High School's football squad will be sending three representatives to the Shrine All-Star Game next week in Boise.

Wes Aquiso and Anthony Hofer will represent the Raiders in the senior all-star game on Nov. 25 at Bishop Kelly High School in Boise.

First-year coach Jim Clark will serve as defensive coordinator for the Western Idaho Conference team against the Long Pin Conference all-stars.

This is the first time that athletes from the eight-man brand of football have had their own game in the Shrine classic. They'll play at 11:30 a.m., prior to the 11-man

Anthony Hofer

game for District III all-stars

Aquiso led Rimrock with 740 yards and seven touchdowns on 106 carries on his way to an all-star selection. Hofer struggled at quarterback for most of the season, but started to come around late in the year to finish with 432 yards and a touchdown on 31-for-78 passing. He was the team's second-leading rusher, picking up 282 yards on 107 carries.

Both Aquiso and Hofer were contributors on defense, too.

Homedale volleyball puts a wrap on its 2005 season

The Homedale High School volleyball team held its year-end banquet Wednesday night to say good bye to the team’s seniors and celebrate the achievements of the program during the 2005 season. The Trojans (6-13 overall) finished fourth in the 3A District III Tournament in Middleton last month.

“I learned a lot during my first year of coaching,” Homedale coach Maleta Henry said. “I couldn’t have asked for any better athletes.

Seniors Hailee Garrett, Hailey Hall and Faith Brasher wrapped up their high school careers with nominations to the All-Snake River Valley conference team.

Garrett, a 5-foot-5 setter and off-side hitter, was named to the first team. Garrett was a team captain who collected 73 assists for kills, registered five kills and served 20 aces.

Hall, a 5-11 outside hitter, landed on the second team. Hall served 32 aces and racked up 92 kills this season. She also had 30 blocks Brasher, a 5-10 outside hitter, was an honorable mention. A team captain, Brasher recorded 75 kills and served 19 aces during the season.

Garrett and Hall also were selected for the District III all-star team, which played its exhibition game Nov. 7 in Fruitland.

Henry also handed out scholar awards at last week’s banquet.

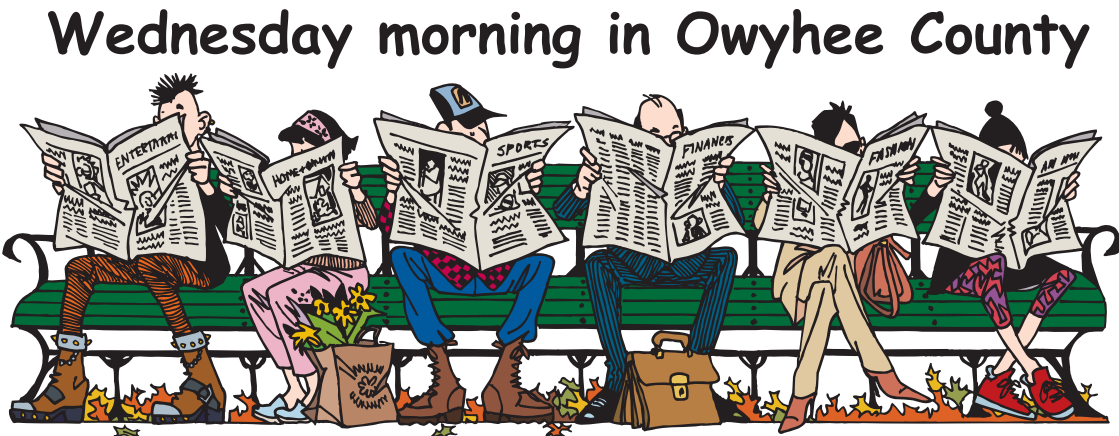

Seniors Faith Brasher and Jenny George and sophomore Mandy Brasher, all varsity players, earned 4.0 grade-point averages during the season. Senior Jessica Mooney earned a 3.85, and Garrett carried a 3.71. Rachel Wheeler, a sophomore on the Trojans’ junior varsity team, was cited for her 3.71 GPA.

The seniors who wrapped up their careers with Homedale included Garrett, George, Hall, Mooney and Faith Brasher.

“I’m going to miss my seven seniors,” Henry said. “Anytime you lose that many varsity players it hurts you, but since I am no longer the new coach I know the talent of who is available to move up and am excited to work with these girls during the off-season.”

Homedale was 3-7 during the SRV season, earning the No. 5 seed in the district tournament. The Trojans beat Payette in the first round, then lost to eventual state champion Middleton in the quarterfinals and finished the tournament with a 2-2 record.

The Trojans bounced back to beat McCall-Donnelly in an elimination game at the tournament before falling to Weiser in the consolation bracket final.

Pilgrims pound Trojans in opener

New Plymouth High School's 5-foot-9 senior point guard BreAnn Jones poured in 27 points Friday as the Pilgrims sent Homedale to defeat 67-42 in its girls basketball season opener.

New Plymouth rolled out to a 21-7 lead after the first quarter in Mike Greeley's debut as the Trojans' coach.

Cheyenne Andrade scored seven of her team-high 15 points in the second quarter as Homedale battled back to within five points, 29-24, at halftime.

But the Pilgrims' Jones showed off her touch from the outside in the third quarter, knocking down a pair of 3-point goals to spark a 21-8 run with 12 points. She finished with three baskets from behind the arc.

Faith Brasher scored nine points for the Trojans against the 2A Pilgrims. She and fellow senior Hailey Hall led Homedale's rebounders with five boards each.

The Trojans continue the season Thursday with a non-league game at home against Melba. The action starts at 4:45 p.m. with the freshman game.

minutes over the second half.

The Trojans, who slipped to 0-2, finally broke through on Hailey Hall's layup with 8.3 seconds left. By then, Marsing had clicked off 15 unanswered points. And that was after going the final 2:50 of the third without a basket.

"Our offense is our defense, and like I said, as soon as we get in good enough shape where we can keep right in their face that is going to be the difference," Heller said.

Marsing's suffocating man-to-man defense forced Homedale to give the ball away 16 times in the final 16 minutes of the game.

"Our biggest factor is we have no wheel speed, and when Hailee Garrett's out of the game, nobody's going to be able to get back in time to shut anything down," Greeley said.

A senior point guard, Garrett fouled out with 6½ minutes to go and Marsing leading 38-36.

The Huskies outscored Homedale 14-2 the rest of the way.

"It went from a four-point ball-game to a 10 because we didn't have anybody who could get back," Greeley said.

Homedale rallied from early ball-handling woes with a 19-5 streak to end the first half. Garrett's three-point play gave the Trojans a 29-23 lead in the second quarter. The steal that set up the opportunity was one of 13 first-half turnovers by the Huskies.

But senior MJ Usabel took over on the backboards — she finished with 10 rebounds, including seven on Homedale's end. She and Martinez scored nine of their team's 10 points in the third quarter.

Usabel had 10 points, and Martinez led all scorers with 16. Despite playing the bulk of the game with three fouls, Hall paced Homedale with 14 points, including a couple 3-point goals.

Marsing's next game is Tuesday at home against Homedale. The freshman game starts at 4:45 p.m.

√ Folwell

period Friday at the school, there were four tables of goodies. Most items sold for 50 cents each.

Morris said whatever baked products weren't sold at the school were taken to Paul's Market on Wyoming Avenue later Friday.

"The faculty is kind of like a family, and we all care about each other and help each other out," Morris said.

Morris said the children took the lead on the fund-raiser and brought popcorn balls, cupcakes, brownies, cookies, homemade pretzels and muffins to sell.

The bulk of the food was bought by children on their lunch breaks, but Morris said the ensuing sugar rush didn't disrupt studies much.

"They were really good because they were excited that they had done so well," Morris said.

"The kids love her."

Folwell has taken a leave of absence until Jan. 4. She'll recover at the University of Utah Medical Center for about a week before moving in with family members in the Salt Lake area until she is well enough to travel home.

Her husband, Jeff, who is a computer programmer with Albertsons, will be with her in Salt Lake because the Boise-based grocery chain has set up an office for him in Utah. The couple's three children will stay with family in the Marsing area.

The procedure Lesa Folwell undergoes today entails thoracic surgeons opening her chest and going through the ribs to find the leak in her lungs. The invasive surgery will include repairing any tears causing the leaks.

And, hopefully, this will be the last time Folwell will have to deal with the problem, which affects about 9,000 Americans each year, according to the American Lung Association's Web site.

"I went through a series where every week it was happening," she said. "It has become chronic."

Folwell missed preseason practice with the Trojans. Her lung collapsed again three or four times during the season, but she never missed a game.

Folwell, who has been the only coach for the two-year-old soccer program, is focused on getting better and getting back to teaching at the middle school.

And students and the faculty, no doubt, eagerly await her return.

"This is only my second year at the school," Folwell said. "It is amazing the outpouring from this community."

Raiders girls raring to go

The old adage is familiarity breeds contempt. But playing together for six years has spawned no disdain among the Rimrock High School girls basketball players. Well, except maybe for a strong dislike for losing.

“They were 22-4 last year. Most people would be happy about that,” Rimrock coach Bob Delle said. “You go talk to any one of them, and they’re all devastated. They thought it was the world’s worst year in the history of basketball.”

The Raiders open the season Saturday afternoon on the road in Dietrich as winners of 73 of their last 78 games. That includes consecutive 1A state titles in 2002-03 and 2003-04 and a 50-game winning streak that ended with a 52-44 loss to Glenns Ferry in the season opener last year.

“The expectations are high, and they’re high again this year,” said Delle, who has coached the Raiders for nine years. “These girls expect to win the league and they expect to the district and they expect to win the state.

“Whether they can get it done remains to be seen.”

It would be a good bet. Rimrock has made six consecutive appearances in the final four of the 16-team 1A state tournament.

And seven seniors return to the team for one last go-round with Delle. He has said this will be his final season at Rimrock, and that’s only because he promised the current crop of seniors he would stick around after he contemplated retirement when they were sophomores.

The top six scorers from last year’s squad, which lost in the quarterfinals of the state tournament, are back in the fold this season.

In that bunch are two players who were named to last year’s 1A All-State team as juniors. Emily Chandler, a 5-foot-8 guard, was a first-teamer, and 5-10 post-guard Robynn Ridley was placed on the second team.

“What we have in the cupboard is plenty adequate to get done what we’ve got to do,” Delle said. “Our problem is: Can we stay focused and keep our heads on straight and get the road to get it done?”

Delle admits that focus is one of the few areas where the Raiders need some work. But who can blame them with the recent history of the program? After all, half of last year’s four defeats came at the hands of larger schools.

“These girls, basically, their whole season rides on the last two days (Feb. 17-18),” Delle said, referring to final two days of the 1A Real Dairy Shootout state tournament. “So how do you keep them motivated all the way to (Feb. 17-18), because that’s what they’re motivated for.”

Chances are the seniors have been together long enough to find motivation from their history.

It’s all speculation, though, because not even Delle has an answer for the drive exhibited by the Rimrock players.

“I don’t know,” the coach said. “I hope it’s that they like to compete and they like to do well and collectively they feed on each other.

“And hopefully some of it comes from myself and my assistants.”

Or it could be that once the first game of the season rolls around that the Raiders are so tired of running fundamental drills that they are just happy to play an opponent.

Delle said that Rimrock scrimmages maybe 10 minutes during a two-hour practice. The rest of the time, it’s all about the drills. But once the Raiders start playing, expect to see an up-tempo game and a emphasis on man-to-man defense.

“We have not been in a big hurry to do anything other than getting their legs back under them and working on some shooting,” Delle said at the Marsing Jamboree on Nov. 8. “They’ll be a lot better in two weeks.”

Two senior first-teamers lead Homedale All-SRV contingent

A strong start to the Snake River Valley conference season translated into a good showing on the all-conference football team for Homedale High School.

And it doesn’t look too bad for the future of the Trojans’ program, either.

A total of 10 players were placed on the three levels of the all-league team in voting by coaches, including two seniors on the first team.

Wide receiver Garrett Sweet landed on the first team after leading the league in receiving yardage. The 6-foot-5, 185-pound senior caught 23 balls for 437 yards and a team-high seven touchdowns. Sweet had more than half of his team’s total receiving yards.

Tyler Christofferson was selected as a first-team linebacker. Christofferson’s performance was a key to the early success of defensive coordinator Dave Hart’s 3-5 scheme.

Christofferson and Sweet will join Kyle Carson, a second-team all-league selection, as Homedale’s representatives at the Shrine Game, the senior all-star showcase that will be held Nov. 25 at Bishop Kelly High School in Boise.

Homedale’s second-team selections had a young feel to them, which bolsters the coaching staff’s assertion that things will only get better for the Trojans, who finished 4-5 this year after a season-ending three-game losing streak.

Josh Jolley, a 6-foot-2, 225-pound junior, was picked as a lineman on both sides of the ball. Jolley had some flashes of brilliance during the season. He had a sack and a fumble recovery in the Trojans’ watershed 11-6 non-conference win over New Plymouth.

Junior Bryan Martinat, a second-team all-league pick at linebacker, also emerged as a threat as the defense clicked against the Pilgrims on Sept. 16. The speedy 6-0, 155-pound defensive back exploded with three quarterback sacks, two forced fumbles and four tackles behind the line of scrimmage in Homedale’s homecoming game.

Another underclassman selected to the second team was giant 6-8, 265-pound sophomore Terence Thomas. The coach’s son was selected as an offensive lineman.

Ricco Gonzalez, a 6-foot, 170-pounder who finished his senior season with three interceptions, was picked as a second-team defensive back.

Two linemen and the Trojans’ starting running back corps made the honorable mention list.

Ryan Johnson, a 5-8, 165-pound junior, rushed for a team-high 459 yards and was tied for the team lead with four rushing TDs. He averaged 4.4 yards a carry. Johnson was also honored for his kicking ability, which included 11 PATs and two field goals. His 34-yard boot late in the first half accounted for the first points of the game in the 11-6 win over New Plymouth.

Johnson’s backfield mate, the 5-9, 165-pound senior Carson, bulled his way to 430 yards rushing and a spot on the honorable mention team.

Opening holes for Carson and Johnson was senior Humberto Obregon (5-6, 205), who was an honorable mention All-SRV offensive lineman.

Jaime Uriate, who at 6-1 and 273 pounds is another young gun to watch down the road, was named an honorable mention defensive lineman as a sophomore.
