Late rally lifts Trojans past state champs

Eye on the ball

Jessica Hansen zeroes in on a pitch during Homedale High School's dominating doubleheader sweep of non-conference opponent Parma at Sundance Park on March 21. The Trojans' shortstop was 4-for-7 with five RBIs and two doubles in two five-inning victories over the Panthers.

Homedale pummels Parma

Strong first impressions are good, but the Homedale High School softball team would rather present strong first innings.

The Trojans blasted Parma 13-3 and 22-6 in a pair of non-conference games halted by the 10-run mercy rule on March 21, and Homedale scored 15 first-inning runs in the doubleheader.

Homedale ripped 27 hits in 10 innings at Sundance Park against the Panthers from the 2A Western Idaho Conference. Freshman left fielder Kendall Rupp was 5-for-5 with six runs scored and five RBIs in the two games, while senior Jenny George drove in five runs in a 13-3 victory in the opener.

"We just knew we had hitting going through the lineup," Homedale coach Larry Corta said. "And Jenny did step up and hit the ball well for us, and so did Kendall.

"When we had people on the bases, they came through for us."

Corta said Parma played without its top pitcher, but the Trojans punished her backup, Hailey Constantine, incessantly throughout the afternoon.

With two outs in the third

If he's going to get results like Friday's victory against two-time defending state champion Middleton High School, Homedale softball coach Larry Corta won't think twice about bribery.

After Thursday's practice, Corta promised the Trojans if they could knock off the Vikings in both teams' Snake River Valley conference opener at Sundance Park.

Homedale's decisive 7-2 victory sent the third-year coach scurrying for the phonebook in search of pizza joints.

"We tried to think of anything to get them going, and they seem to think pizza is a good thing," said Corta, who called the victory the biggest moment in his three seasons at Homedale. "If they go error-free in games, we buy them milkshakes."

"They got one error (against Middleton), but we'll probably give them milkshakes, too."

It's a small price to pay for historic results.

"The win (Friday) is a big milestone for them because now they know they can compete at the top," Corta said of his Trojans. "They may have been doubting themselves, but today showed they can compete. Their goal is to go to State."

That's not such a lofty dream after the way Homedale handled Middleton pitching ace Donnae Carrell, whom Corta classifies as the top 3A hurler in Idaho.

It took a while, but Homedale found the answer against the senior in the bottom of the sixth inning, and part of the equation was a rocky Vikings defense.

Facing a 2-0 deficit, the Trojans scored all seven of their runs in the sixth. Taryn Corta helped lighten her dad's pocketbook with a key

Rimrock track keeps fingers crossed for meet this week

To say the Rimrock High School track and field team is champing at the bit might be an understatement.

Mother Nature and miscommunication has left the Raiders three weeks into the season without a meet.

That should change Thursday when coach Kermit Tate takes some of his athletes to Canyon County for a meet at Nampa Christian.

Even that could be an unusual situation because many Raiders are planning to attend the Family, Career, Community Leaders of America state convention that day.

"Their convention is in Boise, which makes it a bit tough to get the kids from there to Nampa in time to compete," Tate said.

As of the beginning of the week, the plan was for the Rimrock track and softball teams to travel together to Nampa. Coach Mike Chandler's softball team is scheduled to meet Nampa Christian in non-conference action.

But don't be surprised if Tate is calling in all his cosmic favors to get this meet in.

The season opener in Weiser on March 10 was snowed out.

On March 17, Rimrock was scheduled to appear in Parma for a meet, but the event was scuttled when the majority of teams signed up opted to compete in Homedale on March 16.

Tate said he found out about the cancellation the same day as the Homedale meet and didn't have time to put together transportation to Deward Bell Stadium.

Vikes hurler baffles Trojans

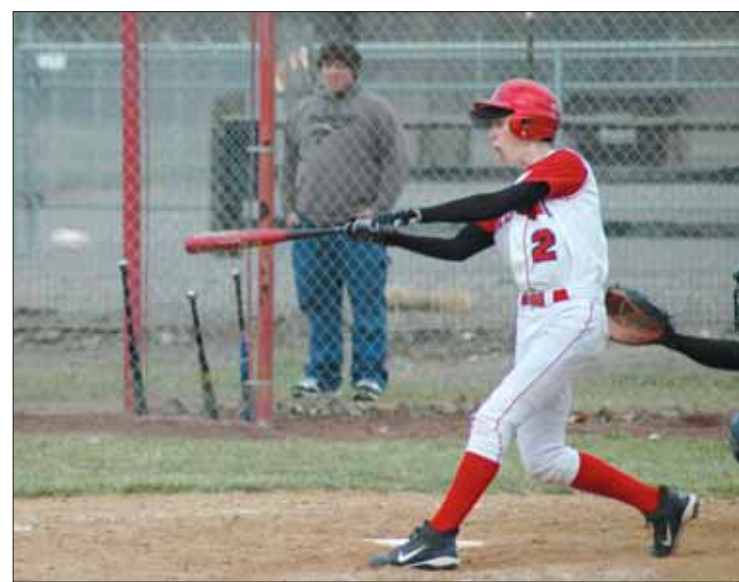

Homedale High School couldn't find its bearings at the start of the Snake River Valley conference baseball season Friday. The Trojans were caught off-guard by a junk-baller in a 6-1 loss to visiting Middleton.

The Vikings' Coby Cantrell used his curveball to fan 12 batters and limit the Trojans to just four hits in the league opener for both squads.

"He had a good curveball and just threw us off," Homedale coach Tim Fulwood said. "He kept us off-balance with the curve and mixing it in with the fastball, and we could never get our timing at the plate."

Leadoff hitter David Liddell scored Homedale's only run. The junior center fielder began the

Homedale thrives with Liddell leading off

Call him the reluctant catalyst. David Liddell has blazing speed and a keen eye at the plate, but the Homedale High School junior had told baseball coach Tim Fulwood earlier this season he didn't like the idea of batting leadoff for the Trojans.

That situation — and perhaps Liddell's outlook on the responsibility — changed on March 21 in a decisive doubleheader sweep of Parma.

Liddell went 5-for-7 and scored six runs as Homedale pummeled Parma 16-0 and 14-4 in a pair of non-conference games that were halted after five innings because of the 10-run mercy rule.

"For Parma, I wanted to try an additional bit of spark and speed at the top of the lineup," Fulwood said.

"David doesn't like to hit lead-off, but he has the speed and tools to hit leadoff and as long as he's mentally prepared, he can get the job done for us."

Liddell entered the day hitting .250 (3-for-12). After the Parma conquest, the center fielder had raised his batting average to .421 (8-for-19) with 11 runs scored and six stolen bases.

Liddell's five hits were only the tip of the iceberg for the Trojans' titantiic display against Parma.

Homedale's hitters collected 27 hits in 10 innings, including 16 in the 16-0 cakewalk in the opener.

"Hitting is contagious," Fulwood said. "In the first game, we came out and scored five runs and had five straight base hits to start the game off."

The first game of the doubleheader was a makeup for a March 10 season opener in Parma that was postponed because of snow.

Homedale was tabbed as the visitor in that first game, and it was the worst way to start for the Panthers from the 2A Western Idaho Conference.

Josh Jolley crushed a two-run triple to bring in Liddell and Brandt Graber with the game's first runs. Graber finished the first game 3-for-5 with three RBIs, and went 6-for-8 and knocked in four runs in the twin bill.

Meanwhile, Ross DeWitt, a transfer from Washington state, was 4-for-6 on the day with four stolen bases in the first game and two RBIs in the finale.

"I hope it catches on," Fulwood said of his team's hitting. "We've been working hard in practice on developing consistency and putting the ball in play and making the other teams make plays on us."

The Panthers, who slipped to 0-4, committed four errors in the two games, fueling five unearned runs.

"Parma's a better team than what they showed," Fulwood said. "That was the best we played all year."

Claudio Garcia continued his strong start for the Trojans in the opener. He struck out seven and allowed only three baserunners in five innings, running his record to 3-0.

Garcia has been the workhorse for Homedale, which carried a 4-2 record into Friday's 3A Snake River Valley conference season opener at home against Middleton. But Fulwood is looking for another pitcher to step from the shadows and take some of the load off the righthander.

The coach thought he had found the answer when Garrett Sweet assumed that role in the second game against Parma. The senior righthander overcame a rocky start in which he hit the game's first two batters to get the victory. Sweet, who was pitching for the first time since eighth grade, allowed one hit and two walks in four innings.

"I was very pleased with what Garrett did on the mound," Fulwood said. "He was very nervous, but that was understandable."

Sweet fielded his position flawlessly, igniting a home-to-first double play after he loaded the bases in the first inning. Sweet had three assists on putouts in the first two frames.

Alas, Fulwood is looking for another backup hurler after Sweet decided to pack his glove away and concentrate on reaching the boys golf state tournament for a fourth consecutive season.

"We're really looking for Ross DeWitt to step up and fill that spot for us," Fulwood said of the hunt for the No. 2 starter. "His arm is an issue now. Inflammation of the shoulder and tendonitis has limited his pitch count."

DeWitt throws no more than 40 pitches in a game, but he struck out six in a three-inning start against Nampa Christian on March 20.

Homedale's defense fell apart in the fifth inning in Nampa as the host club scored nine unearned runs to secure a 14-4 victory shortened by the 10-run rule. Homedale committed five errors during the rally.

Kyle Miyasako led the Homedale hitting with a 2-for-2 outing that included two stolen bases and a two-run single to drive home DeWitt and Ryan Johnson and tied the game 4-4 in the fourth inning.

Antelopes open softball season with exciting win

The Adrian High School softball team has developed a taste for the dramatic.

For starters, it wasn't even certain until the 11th hour whether the school would field a softball team this season.

Thursday, the Antelopes won their season opener in eight innings, beating non-conference foe Horseshoe Bend 4-3.

With the scored knotted 3-3 and the international tiebreaker in effect, Adrian started the top of the eighth inning with pitcher Paige Branstiter standing on second base. Branstiter scored the go-ahead run from third when Horseshoe Bend catcher Kelly Kennedy mishandled a third strike to Adrian's YaYa Dominguez. Andrea Garner had bunted Branstiter to third to set up the scoring opportunity.

"The girls were able to manufacture enough runs to get the win by doing the little things and getting runners in scoring position," Adrian co-head coach Jay Gomeza said.

The Mustangs, who slipped to 0-4, loaded the bases with no outs in the bottom of the eighth as Branstiter gave up two walks on eight pitches.

Gomeza said he called a timeout after the second walk, but didn't speak directly to Branstiter during a conference with the infielders at the pitching circle.

She still got the message, though.

The 6-foot sophomore, who has a ferocious delivery, struck out the next three batters to end the game.

"She's a dominant pitcher when she's on," Gomeza said. "She throws as hard as any girl you want out there."

It was the first victory for the Antelopes under the head-coaching tandem of Gomeza and Megan Price. "I told them that I think they handled the first game better than I did," Gomeza said.

Price coached Adrian a year ago, but Gomeza signed on this spring, bringing a fiery attitude and demanding style from his gig as a longtime wrestling coach at Nyssa.

Branstiter fit right into the mold Thursday. She recorded 17 of the Mustangs' 24 outs by strikeout and played a part in three other putouts. She allowed only four hits and dodged seven walks and two fifth-inning errors by her infielders.

Gomez praised his team's ability to play small ball. With junior pitcher Trista Procter firing BBs for Horseshoe Bend, station-to-station was the only realistic way the Antelopes were going to score. Procter fanned 14 and walked four in her eight innings.

Paige Branstiter

Jay Gomeza

But the Antelopes were able to reach her for seven hits.

Adrian took a 3-2 lead in the top of the sixth when Amanda Simpson led off the inning with a base hit, swiped a couple bases and scored on Dominguez's single.

Ryann Bowns uncorked a clutch two-out single in the fourth inning to chase home Garner for a 2-1 lead.

Kat Sillonis led off the game with a walk, stole second and eventually scored for an early 1-0 Antelopes advantage. She was 2-for-3 on the day.

"It was nice to get a win under their belts in March and get a little momentum going into Spring Break," Gomeza said.

The Antelopes are scheduled to play their next games on the road April 15 in the Oregon Special District 8 season-opening doubleheader against a co-op team from Enterprise and Joseph high schools. But Gomeza still is trying to scare up some competition before then.

Adrian has eight open dates, and the co-coach urges any prospective opponents to call Adrian athletic director Aimee Goss at (541) 372-2335 for information on scheduling a game.

double as Homedale needed only three hits in the rally. Carrell walked one batter and committed an error to help the rally continue. Jessica Hansen had an RBI single in her second at-bat in the inning.

"I'm very, very happy with the way the team is playing right now," Larry Corta said. "It's not just one player. All 12 can go in anywhere we want them to and succeed."

And at any given moment, any player can contribute to a victory. Corey Hall pitched another strong game for the Trojans, striking seven and scattering four hits. But it was freshman catcher Hannah Johnson who slammed the door on the Vikings by throwing out a would-be base stealer for the game's final out.

Middleton, which is moving to the 4A ranks next year, has won the past two 3A state championships. But Corta said the Vikings were playing without three of their best players, who are taking Spring Break vacations.

Then again, with the way Homedale's defense performed Friday, who knows if the Vikings would have fared any differently at full strength? The Trojans pulled off double plays in each of the first two innings.

The second of the twin killings bailed Hall out of a jam created partially by her error. First baseman Jessica Mooney fielded a grounder and fired to third baseman Mikal Mackenzie for the tag and the first out. Mackenzie then relayed to second base, where Brennan Rodriguez put the tag on Hannah Lyons to end the inning.

"We had runners on first and second, and we end up getting a double play to get us out of the inning," Corta said. "It was just a good heads-up play by all the players."

inning of the first game, Hailey Hall and Rupp pounded back-to-back doubles to rekindle a rally. The doubles were part of five consecutive hits for the Trojans. Jenny George ripped a two-run double to bring home Hall and Rupp in the frame.

George also tripled to clear the bases in the first inning of Game 1. Corey Hall, Hailey Hall and Rupp scored on that blast.

Rupp had a first-inning triple in the 22-6 victory in Game 2, driving in Shaunna Vaughan and Hailey Hall. Jessica Hansen started the scoring in the second game with a two-run double to plate Hannah Johnson and Taryn Corta.

It was part of a three-RBI game for Hansen.

"The team started to come together," Larry Corta said of the victories. "They played good defense and good offense and forced (the Panthers) to make a lot of plays that they couldn't make."

The name of the program was Going Musicrazy in Rime-Time, a three act musical comedy with the mixed chorus and glee club singing popular and semi-popular songs.

Mixes Chorus Songs

Act 1, scene 1 was the living room of Annette's home, with five musical numbers; "Round Medley," arranged by Hollis Selders, was sung by the mixed chorus with directors Lyle Taggart and Colleen Tolmie. "The Little Shoemaker," by R. Revl, arranged by Hollis Selders, was a second number of the mixed chorus with soloist Rosemary Jesenko. "Paw Paw Patch," arranged by H.R. Wilson was sung by the glee club with soloist Francis Mrak. Patty Bergeson and Lyle Taggart along with the mixed chorus sang "Love and Marriage," by J. Van Heusen, arranged by A. Reed.

In Form of Tryout

Red Cross drive comes to close

The Red Cross drive will come to a close at the end of this month. To date, contributions have been a good deal less in some sections because of the difficulty in contacting all residents, according to Harry Townsend, drive chairman.

Those who have not been contacted by solicitors may send their contributions directly to Mr. Townsend.

Cancer School attracts 50 workers to luncheon and all-day study session

R. George Wolff, Homedale medical doctor, spoke on cancer, its causes, the seven danger signals, and modern methods of diagnosis and treatment at the Owyhee county cancer training school held at Homedale Tuesday.

"Cancer is the biggest problem facing us today. Modern medicine has not yet found a cure for cancer but 50 per cent of the people who are getting cancer could now be saved by early diagnosis and proper treatment," he stressed.

Following his talk, Dr. Wolff answered questions from the floor.

Convened Early

The cancer training school, with 45 volunteer workers in attendance, convened at 10 a.m. at El Gavilan. Mrs. Helen Buck, Homedale commander, welcomed the group before turning the morning meeting over to Mrs. DeEtte Coate, Marsing, Owyhee county commander.

THE WAR ON THE MOUNTAIN— Last week we stated that the Ida Elmore and Golden Chariot Companies were strongly fortified and closely watching each other, which state of things continued until about noon on Wednesday last when it appears that the Golden Chariot party underground stormed the works of their opponent, forced them back to the main hoisting shaft of the Ida Elmore and within ten feet of which they hastily made a breastwork of gunny sacks filled with sand, which commands the shaft so that no one can go down or u, but still leaving as a means of ingress and egress to the Ida Elmore party the New York shaft, four or five hundred feet further north. Desperate fighting ensued during the charge, at the time of which or immediately after, John C. Holgate, an owner and disarmed. Two more were penned up in a slope and refused to give up their arms, but we understand they were allowed to come out before dark. Shooting was kept up at interval during the night and the next morning a man named Meyer Frank, who was fighting on the Ida Elmore side, was brought down to town mortally wounded, a bullet from a Spencer or a Henry rifle haring passed through his intestines producing a fatal wound. The unfortunate man died about two o'clock in the afternoon. A short time after noon on the same day another Ida Elmore man, named Jils Howard, was brought down with his right arm broken—a large bullet did the work. The bone is horribly splintered and smashed up between the elbow and shoulder. It is thought that it will have to be amputated and fears are entertained that it will prove fatal. Some others have received slight wounds, but up to the time of going to press nothing serious has occurred. The Golden Chariot party will hold the ground which they seized on Wednesday. Consequently the Ida Elmore party has been compelled to suspend work although we are told that the former are taking out more one than ever. As yet there has been no fighting outside of the mine, but it is for real that peace will not long be kept as both parties have secured compelling positions and furthered them within very hot of the two mines and as there are at least fifty men armed to the teeth on each side. We are prepared at any time to hear of a bloody battle.

THE DEAN— John C. Holgate who was killed in the fatal war last Wednesday was a native of Ohio and came to Oregon at an early day. Prevent to the discovery of fold in California and he is identified with the early history of Oregon and Washington Territories and was one of the first pioneers in Idaho. In 1863 he was in Boise homes and came over in Owyhee the next spring where he resided up the time of his unfortunate death. While here the almighty geology study and became interested ion quarts mines. Some of which are in great value. We learn that he and his brother and sister residing at Seattle on beagle sound besides other relatives in the state. He was buried on Thursday night at 3 o'clock. A large number of people followed his remains to the grave. Professional of many virtues he was fearless of what he considered right and justice and his death has cast a gloom over a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

Myer Frak who died on Thursday, was a Jew, and was buried yesterday according to Jewish custom. We learn that the came to this coast to mobile Alabama. He served five years in the confederate army during the late war. He has only been in camp a few weeks and previous to taking sides in the affair in which he lost his life he worked in the Miner Hill. His funeral was largely attended and his death has added another shade of gloom to our community. We are informed that his parents reside at Portland Oregon in very reduced circumstances and that the one was earning money to send them.

SHERIFF'S DUTY— In connection with the deplorable state of affairs on the mountain, much has been said in revolution to sheriff Springer's duty in the promises. Many of out citizens blame Mr. Springer and the Idaho Statesman is rampant because he does not make peace between the parties. We are aware, and so is the Sheriff, that is his duty to keep the public peace: but cannot those people. Who pretend to know so much about the Sheriff's duties distinguish any difference between the affair in question and a public disturbance of the peace. For the state of illustration. The case may by states thus: Two parties claim a certain place of valuable mining ground. Every one has a legal right to defend his property—precisely what each of the opposing parties claim they are doing,—and in what manner can the Sheriff prevent them? Arrest them! Arrest them! Many cry out. Yes, there it is a requirable fact of those who loaded in the of the Sheriff for not going to a mine and arresting a hundred men , do not make a single movement towards that end. If such a person take such interest in the matter why do they not swear on a written documented is in the Sheriff's hands and then if he should shrink from his duty go after him for it.

We can truly say for Mr. Springer that he has been a to do all in his power to terminate the unfortunate affair. Judge Curtis, District Attorney has also come over from Boise City, and goes up to the scene of the disturbance today to try what he can do to prevent further bloodshed.

NEW BUILDINGS—Building is briskly going on. Nearly all the depopulated houses have been moved up from Ruby and every available foot of lumber is being appropriated. We will deny bad put up an elegant building twenty by forty feet on Jordan Street. Lobenstien has purchased a lot on Jordan Street adjoining Machine Hall and will immediately put up a building for a store. E.G Hult is erecting a building twenty five by forty feet. Over his large fire proof cellar on Washington street. The house next door aboard Webb and Myrick's bank is being fitted up for a Post office- Mr. Bradly will remove thither next week. The present post office convention will be converted into a tip-top saloon by Poorman Pete. Everything looks lively. Saw-mill men hurry up—a large amount of lumber is needed right away for timbering mines and building purposes.

LAST WEEK we stated that the same day Mr. Jarvis was killed in the canon on Reynold's Creek. Chinaman was also supposed to have been killed or captured. We learned from parties who have learned to follow on the trail a couple of days afterward that the Indians camped on Reynold's Creek after night. About two miles from the scene of murder. Apparently they had a great feast on eggs and potatoes taken from the wagon of Mr. Jarvis. The missing chinaman was tracked to the place on the creek, but there all trace of him was lost. It is not known whether he was killed and thrown into the creek or taken captive away. From the sigh it appears that only four Indians were concerned in the affair. The place where they crossed Reynold's Creek is said to be the only practicable crossing for a distance of several miles each way up and down the creek.

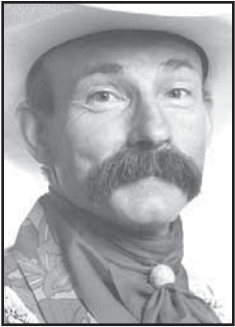

THE ORO FINE COMPANY have struck another chimney of rich one in their lower drift between the south and middle shafts. The ledge is about four feet wide where this new strike was made. The one is of a dark brown color in many places tinged with green and in almost any of it gold can be seen sticking out. It Is thought that this chimney will yield a larger quantity of rich one than was ever before found in one place in the mine. The quartz is being hauled to the webfoot mill. Which is pounding away night and day.

RETURNED—Henry Human, of the firm of Human and Reihenberg was just returned from San Francisco, where he has purchases a large stock of dry goods and groceries for this market. Looks as if he has a good time during the Winter. He journeyed several weeks in Portland Oregon, then went down to the Bay. Says that Owyhee attracts considerable attention and that people are beginning to find out that it is the richest mining camp in the world.

Salmon mousse

The scene at the emergency room was right out of E.R.! But it was not a four-car pileup, a Metamucil overdose, or a hippopotamus attack, no. Six women, aged 41 to 62, were admitted with food poisoning.

The woman in charge, who had also been the hostess of the Women's Bridge Luncheon Party, had sent out invitations. She planned on serving a salmon mousse, vinaigrette salad, cold asparagus spears a la Miracle Whip, with Kit Kats and coffee for dessert.

Lunch had gone well. All the guests had eaten their salmon mousse. The hostess had been worried since the salmon was farm raised, but it was three times cheaper.

She had used the good tablecloth because the luncheon protocol prescribed dresses. After the entrée, the hostess cleared the table and went into the kitchen to prepare the Kit Kat cup and coffee. There was the cat up on the counter eating the salmon. Three seconds later the furball was pitched out the screen door.

After dessert, our hostess took the dessert bowls into the kitchen. Glancing out on the porch she saw the cat. It was flat, eyes glazed and tongue lolling. It was dead, poor thing. She panicked! Oh no, the salmon was tainted! It killed the cat!

She gathered up the ladies, their purses, hats and gloves. They loaded in two cars and raced to the hospital! She even remembered to take the suspect salmon for lab tests. Six ladies sat around the emergency room with buckets between their legs and were given emetics orally. In a few moments, they were nauseous, gagging and vomiting the masticated mousse, acidic salad, gnawed up asparagus and Kit Kats.

The trip home was dismal. Eventually all the guests were dispersed, and our hostess walked into the kitchen. She was still queasy, her hair a mess and she was mortified.

Her neighbor knocked on the screen door. "I'm sorry," he said, "but you were in the middle of your luncheon and I didn't want to disturb you, so I laid your cat here on the step. As I backed out to go to work, I ran over him!"

Not important ... but possibly of interest

Dear Dr. Phil:

I am writing you in regard to the e-mails you have been sending us on an almost daily basis. At least it says it is from you, and the Web dating service that you endorse.

One day, we get a list of men supposedly within 50 miles who are looking for soul mates. The next day we get a list of women in the same area allegedly looking for lifelong companions. Sometimes it is a mixture of the two.

Dr. Phil, I have tried several times to contact you through the dating site to tell you to quit sending us the material that we never requested. But in order quit, I am told I must fill in a bunch of personal information and get a user name — otherwise you refuse to accept my message.

It seem to me to be a little strange to have to get a user name and become a member of your group before I can tell you to quit sending me something we didn't request in the first place.

Dr. Phil, when you first appeared on TV a few years back, some of your advice seemed to be pretty down to Earth and made sense. You talked about loyalty to one's mate, family values and stuff like that. But it seems to have evolved into the standard talk show, featuring "I'm really stupid and want the whole country to know it" guests.

Here's the thing, Dr. Phil. I have been married to the same woman for the past 39 years. We both came from families that included both a mother and a father who stayed together until parted by death. All our children were born several years after we got married. Like almost all couples, we've had our ups and downs. But we always have been able to sort out our difficulties without going on national TV. If you ask our grown daughters, they will tell you they can't remember a time when they were growing up when their mother and me had a real argument within their hearing. And I can tell you that during almost four decades, I have never raised a hand in anger to my partner in life, nor she to me.

Given the above facts, I question why you are sending us unsolicited e-mail messages designed to get us to register for your Web site. The very nature of the site might encourage some people with commitments to stray from the marital straight and narrow.

Given your connection with this online dating service, it seems to me, Dr. Phil, that you have gone from being a legitimate doctor, trying to help people, to a money-hungry snake oil salesman trying to make a buck off the loneliness and sadness of socially dysfunctional Americans.

So, here's the deal, Dr. Phil: It seems to me we shouldn't have to jump through a bunch of hoops to try to get rid of something we never wanted. So quit spamming us and stay the hell out of our lives.

Sincerely yours,

Wayne Cornell

From Washington Social Security must be secured now

by Sen. Mike Crapo

During the recent debate in the Senate over the federal budget, Sen. Jim DeMint (R-S.C.) and I introduced an amendment that would stop the United States government from raiding the so-called Social Security Trust Fund. I highlight the term "Trust Fund" because it's misleading.

Every year, the federal government uses the surplus deposited into the Old Age Survivors and Disability Income (OASDI), more commonly referred to as Social Security, to cover expenses incurred in other government programs. Now, instead of money there is an ever-increasing pile of IOUs issued by the government to all taxpayers. With the number of workers paying for retirees steadily declining — 40 workers paid for one retiree in the 1940s, three pay for one right now, and 2.2 will pay for one in about 20 years — you can likely guess what those IOUs are worth and where the system is headed. To the detriment of future taxpayers, the amendment was defeated by a vote of 53-46.

Because of the way Social Security is set up, Congress can cut benefits at any time, change the structure of the program, or raise taxes even further. These are not unlikely scenarios — Congress will face tough choices in coming years because the government has not set aside any money to pay out future benefits. Considering the outcome of the failed vote on the amendment, the majority of the Senate seems predictably intent upon placing current budget priorities ahead of the sober reality of much higher tax rates for our children and grandchildren. These rates will be necessary to raise enough revenue to fund Social Security in 20 or 30 years.

The DeMint-Crapo amendment would have:

1) Stopped Social Security surpluses from being spent

Sen. Mike Crapo

on other government programs;

2) Ensured Social Security surpluses were only used for Social Security benefits;

3) Provided a voluntary option for younger Americans to obtain legally binding ownership of a portion of their benefits;

4) Made no changes to the benefits of those Americans born before Jan. 1, 1950.

When we consider the questionable future of Social Security solvency, it is good to bear in mind the original intent of the program. A recent Washington Post article said it best: "The point of Social Security was to subsidize those who couldn't work, not those who could. The program's founding document said it would support old people who were 'dependent,' 'beyond the productive period' and 'without means of self-support.' " Even though the system was designed to be a safety net, we need to make sure that it is a viable one that fulfills its important obligation to seniors.

I, for one, do not want to saddle my children and grandchildren with sky-high taxes. Furthermore, I believe that individuals have the right to make decisions about their own money. Many 20- and 30-year-olds today have doubts about whether there will be any Social Security when they retire. This begs the question: do we fix the system now, when we can make incremental changes, or do we leave the burden for coming generations to bear when it becomes a catastrophic financial crisis? The choice is truly ours to make. Allowing the federal government to continue to cut benefits, raise taxes or both is a risky proposition. Setting aside personal benefits now is a concrete solution.

— Mike Crapo is a Republican U.S. senator from Idaho.

Survey says: Young farmers optimistic
about the future

Results of a yearly survey of young farmers and ranchers ages 18 to 35 conducted by the American Farm Bureau Federation revealed that 95 percent of respondents hope their children follow in their footsteps. The only time this percentage was higher was in 1996, when nearly 96 percent of respondents said they want to see their children earn a living on the farm.

A total of 330 young farmers and ranchers responded to the survey conducted during the AFBF Young Farmer and Rancher annual conference in Des Moines, Iowa. Eight young farmers from Idaho attended the conference this year.

Optimism also ran high among the farmers when they were asked whether they are better off today than they were last year and whether they expect to be farmers or ranchers their entire life. Among the group, 94 percent said they are better off today, and 91 percent said they expect to be lifetime farmers.

For the second consecutive year, availability of land and facilities was a top challenge listed by respondents. There were 21 percent that listed this as the top concern this year. Concerns about ongoing farm profitability were the second-biggest concern listed by the group with loss of farm land to urbanization listed third.

Energy policy and strengthening private property rights were two other political issues listed as high priorities for the group. Sixteen percent of the respondents said they would like to see energy policy that includes a bigger role for renewable fuels. They also want the government to strengthen private property rights, which reflects a common rural America sentiment for state legislators to outlaw use of eminent domain for economic development projects.

Of this year's group, 29 percent started farming on their own as a career decision, while 15 percent married into farming or ranching. About 12 percent inherited a portion of their operation, and 44 percent said they started as partners in a family farm or ranch. Last year, 53 percent, or 9 percent more respondents than last year, started as partners and only 23 percent started on their own.

This year, 33 percent of respondents said they use futures and options as marketing tools for crops and livestock compared with 22 percent last year. In 2000, the survey showed 50 percent of respondents were using futures and options as marketing tools. Two other management tools used by at least 30 percent of the group were accounting services (38 percent) and crop advisors (34 percent). Last year, these two services were also the top outside services used.

Fewer husbands but more wives among the 2006 respondents are working off the farm compared to last year and in 2004. The totals for this year show 8 percent of husbands and 43 percent of wives are working off the farm to earn additional income. In 25 percent of the farm households, both husband and wife work off the farm. As expected, the reason listed for working off the farm was to obtain health insurance for the family.

Farm Bureau Young Farmers and Ranchers are entrepreneurs and are adapting with new strategies to earn a living in agriculture. These young people are proving to be top-notch stewards of our nation's most important asset — its land.

Accuracy in Media
UN may reform, but secrecy will persist

by Cliff Kincaid

The United Nations has launched another effort at "reform," designed to convince American taxpayers that things are changing for the better at an institution known for corrupt practices. The public face of this effort is an American, Christopher Burnham, the new U.N. Under-Secretary-General for Management, who recently spoke to the Heritage Foundation about affirming "the highest ethical standards" at the world body and making sure the U.N. is more open and accountable. Unfortunately for him, he agreed to take questions, one of which — about U.N. Secretary-General Kofi Annan getting a $500,000 personal gift from a foreign government — he didn't want to answer. His other answers indicate that it's mostly business as usual at the U.N.

Burnham said that he didn't know how much reform would cost because, "There has not been a PBI, a budget implication document, produced yet." He added, "So I would not use any figure right now as an absolute figure for what these reforms are going to cost." Yet Annan has put the cost at $510 million. That includes paying some employees to leave the U.N. through $100,000-per-person "buyouts."

Burnham described these employees as "no longer contributing to the United Nations" but still on the payroll. He said they "lack the passion" for the U.N. mission and "are marking time in the parade of life waiting for retirement to roll around." He didn't explain why they couldn't be fired or why the buyouts couldn't be lower. Through the buyouts, he indicated, the U.N. would "help you reach that point where you can go into those golden years." They are golden in more ways than one. These staffers would presumably still be able to draw from the U.N. pension fund, which has assets of $29 billion. It's a nice parade, if you can get a ticket.

So in order to get some better employees, U.S. taxpayers are being asked to pay the bad ones to leave. But where will the new ones come from? Burnham did not effectively dispute the notion, offered by a member of the audience, that new employees will be nominated by the same old governments that nominated the old ones.

Burnham, who has an impressive background in financial affairs, said the U.N. needs $200 million worth of new computer software to make the organization more open and transparent. But he didn't know if that cost was part of the $510 million or not. So the cost of U.N. reform could go higher than $510 million. Burnham said the $510 million figure shouldn't be etched into marble just yet. They use marble, not stone, at the U.N.

Burnham highlighted the new financial-disclosure policy, saying disclosure forms will be "far more expanded and meaningful." He said the form to be filed by various U.N. officials "is stronger than the one we have in the federal government we have in Washington, D.C."

But he admitted that the forms will NOT be available to the public. By contrast, federal disclosure forms by high-ranking officials, including members of all branches of government, are disclosed publicly.

Burnham insisted secrecy is necessary for security reasons, because some U.N. employees are refugees from despotic regimes. He said he came into contact with some Iraqi doctors working for the U.N.'s World Health Organization in Jordan during the time of the Saddam Hussein regime who could not go back to Iraq because they might be killed. Burnham said if these people released disclosure forms and they were posted on the World Wide Web, Saddam's intelligence services could have looked at them. "This is an inter-governmental international organization, and you can't have what you would expect here in the United States and perhaps other governments to do that," he said.

That was a passionate plea, but he didn't explain why disclosing possible financial conflicts-of-interest involving the U.N. might jeopardize someone's life. If there are some U.N. employees who legitimately fear the disclosure of personal financial information, because it could somehow threaten their lives, why can't those cases be dealt with as exceptions to the rule of making it public? An official in the audience countered that the Iraqi doctors were not of a high-enough level at the U.N. to have been required to file the forms anyway. But when he asked why disclosure forms of higher-ranking U.N. officials should not be made available to the public, Burnham said "we can't have two different levels" or a "two-tiered system." Burnham said the U.N. would have an outside entity, perhaps a law firm, review the forms. Of course, this process won't be open to the public.

On the matter of financial disclosure, the U.N. says that "Under the new financial disclosure system, the value of gifts that UN officials will be required to report will drop from $10,000 to $250, and financial disclosure forms will be required from a far broader spectrum of officials than the current range of assistant secretary-general and up."

Can you imagine a system under which officials could receive $10,000 gifts? That was the state of affairs at the U.N., and it's supposed to be a great step forward to lower this to $250. If you didn't know the figure was this high to begin with, that's probably because the pro-U.N. press corps didn't find it newsworthy. But Kofi Annan received a gift worth $500,000, and Burnham said that he would have nothing to say about it. Claudia Rosett disclosed the gift, an environmental award from Dubai's ruler, Sheik Mohammed bin-Rashid al-Maktoum, in a Feb. 27 "Cash-for-Kofi" article in The Weekly Standard.

"I won't comment on the gift to the secretary-general," Burnham said at the Heritage event. But why? How is a no-comment consistent with being more open and accountable? Burnham made the point that he is now an international civil servant, which helps to explain his no-comment and why he was so gung-ho about Annan's "bold" U.N. reform plan. He used to work for the U.S. State Department, but now he works for the U.N. — and Annan.

New York Sun reporter Benny Avni, who covers the world body, has explained how Annan managed to accept a $500,000 gift. He reports that, according to the U.N. charter, "staff rules do not apply to the secretary-general. So instead of leading by example, Mr. Annan is now half-a-million dollars richer. And if Dubai does anything wrong around the world, he will wisely refrain from criticizing it."

Such a "gift" demonstrates that perceived corruption is still a problem at the world body, and Burnham's no-comment suggests he has no ability or intention to get to the bottom of it. If his performance at the Heritage Foundation is any indication, reform of the U.N. is shaping up as a very expensive fraud.

Letter to the editor
Explanation of county's political structure would be welcome

As a newcomer to Owyhee County, I particularly enjoyed reading the reports of political activity in the pages of the Avalanche. The listings on page 5A of all the filed candidates was of especial interest.

However, noticeable by their absence was any reporting of the various political party structures, viz., county chairpersons, assistants, secretaries, etc. With the exception of seven persons named as candidates for precinct committeemen (are there only seven precincts in Owyhee County?), there is no mention made of the structure of any of the parties, e.g., Republican, Democrat, Libertarian, etc. Also it was not clear if all of the seven were Republicans or if any of them were Democrats, Libertarian, etc.

Also of interest would be an advance notice of where and when the county conventions for the various political parties are going to be held.

I read your paper with interest.

CITY OF HOMEDALE
STATE OF IDAHO
ORDINANCE #359

AN ORDINANCE REPEALING CHAPTER 8.16, HOMEDALE MUNICIPAL CODE, AND ORDINANCE NUMBERS 81, 255, 315, 329 AND 331; AND PROVIDING FOR A DEFINITION OF A PUBLIC NUISANCE, AUTHORIZING A VIOLATION FEE, CIVIL OR CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS, ESTABLISHING A PROCEDURE FOR A CIVIL ABATEMENT OF NUISANCES, DEFINING VIOLATIONS AND ESTABLISHING PENALTIES FOR VIOLATORS.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE HOMEDALE CITY COUNCIL, OWYHEE COUNTY, STATE OF IDAHO:

SECTION 1: Short Title, Repeal of prior Ordinances, and Savings Clause. This Ordinance is entitled, “Homedale City Public Nuisance Ordinance”. Ordinance numbers 81, 255, 315, 329 and 331 are hereby repealed upon the effective date of this Ordinance. Initiated violations that are pending under the ordinances in effect prior to this repeal may be prosecuted in the same manner and with the same effect as if the prior ordinances had not been repealed and this Ordinance had not been enacted. The provisions of this Ordinance are applicable only to complaints made or initiated pursuant to this Ordinance.

SECTION 2: Authority and Purpose.

This Ordinance is enacted pursuant to authority conferred by Idaho Code, Section 50-317. Its purpose is to provide for, and further, the health, safety and welfare of the public by providing a procedure for abating public nuisances which can create traffic safety hazards, fire hazards, health hazards including those caused by rodent infestation, and other problems which may have a harmful effect upon the health, safety, and welfare of the public.

SECTION 3: Public Nuisance Declared Unlawful. It is unlawful for any person to create, cause, maintain or knowingly allow to exist for more than ten (10) calendar days a public nuisance on any premises or real property which the person owns, leases, occupies, manages or has charge or possession of.

SECTION 4: Public Nuisance Defined.

A. The term “public nuisance” means a condition or use of property which is harmful or injurious to, or creates a danger of harm or injury to the health, safety, or welfare of the neighborhood, community, or members of the public, or which is so offensive to the senses or such an obstruction of the free use of property as to interfere with the comfortable enjoyment of life and property by the neighborhood, community, or members of the public.

B. The term “public nuisance” is further defined so as to include, by way of example, but not to be limited to the following:

- a. A condition or use of premises or property which creates a fire hazard or any traffic or safety hazard to members of the public;
- b. A condition or use of premises or property which creates a health hazard by permitting, allowing, or fostering the harboring or nesting of rodents, vermin and/or insects or unattended animals, or which creates any other type of health hazard to members of the public;

c. A condition or use or premises or property which allows the open storage, deposit, or scattering of scrap lumber or wood, waste petroleum products, scrap or waste paper, trash, garbage, junk, boxes or debris of any type;

d. A condition or use of premises or property which allows the open storage, deposit, or scattering of scrap, abandoned, discarded, or unused objects such as furniture, stoves, refrigerators, freezers, cans, containers, tires, tools or mechanical parts;

e. A condition or use of premises or property which allows the growth of weeds, grasses, bushes, shrubs, trees, or other plant life to such a size and in such a condition as to cause, or reasonably threaten to cause a fire hazard because of their dried and un-kept condition, or a traffic or safety hazard because they obstruct sight, applying the measurements and the standards contained in Idaho Code, Section 49-221, as amended, at intersections or other points at which driveways, lanes, or highways come together, or a health hazard because they provide nesting areas for rodents, vermin, insects or unattended animals, or the growth of weeds to such a size or in such a condition as to interfere with the free and comfortable use of adjacent and neighboring premises and property. “Weeds” are defined as undesirable or objectionable and non-useful plant growth but shall not include noxious weeds as defined by Title 22, Chapter 24, Idaho Code, as amended.

f. A condition or use of premises or property which allows dead, defaced, broken, dangerous, diseased or untrimmed trees within any public right-of-way, including alley ways, which has or may become a traffic hazard, impede traffic or create a hazard to adjoining property.

C) No “public nuisance” shall exist if the items and materials set forth in Section 4, subsection (B) 3 and 4, are stored, placed, or parked on private property in connection with the lawful business operation of a licensed dismantler, salvage yard or junk dealer, when such storage, placement and parking are necessary to the operation of the business, provided first that such private placement and parking are necessary to the operation of the business, provided first that such private property where the items are stored, placed or parked is located within a zone in which the business or commercial enterprise is allowed or permitted under the Homedale City Zoning Ordinance, as amended, and provided further that storing, placement and parking does not create either a health or safety hazard to members of the public, and does not violate any other county, state, or federal law or regulation.

SECTION 5: Enforcement Procedure.

(A) The Homedale City Police Department, Homedale City Mayor, or any Homedale City Official, shall be responsible for investigating any violations of this Ordinance. Upon completion of investigation and determination in a finding of reasonable cause to believe that a public nuisance exists, enforcement proceedings shall be pursued as follows:

1 NOTICE OF OFFENCE:

a. Written notice of the existence of nuisance by City Hall and the commencement of the ten (10) calendar day period herein referred to in Section 3, shall be by certified mail, return receipt requested, addressed to the last known address of the owner and/or occupier, and or/person in charge of the premises or property. Should service by certified mail fail to be obtained, then said written notice shall be affixed to the building, prominent fixture or other place on the premises or property so conspicuous that any person occupying, possessing, or using the premises or property would be reasonably expected to see said notice;

b. Said notice shall constitute service of notice to the owner and/or occupant of the real property;

c. The written notice referred to above shall describe the nuisance, state the violation fee assessed by the City of Homedale (found in Section 6, B, No. 1) , advise that the nuisance must be abated within ten (10) calendar days from the date of the ‘service’, advise that either civil or criminal proceedings may be initiated if the nuisance is not abated, advise the costs of civil court proceedings and attorney fees may be assessed, that the nuisance may be summarily abated by the City of Homedale, that the costs of the abatement may be assessed to the owner, occupier, person in charge of the premises or property, and advise the procedure by which such person may request a hearing.

2 REQUEST FOR ADMINISTRATIVE HEARING:

a. The owner, occupier, or person in charge of the possession of the premises or property may request a hearing before the Homedale City Council by filing a written request for such hearing with the Homedale City Clerk within ten (10) days from the day the notice was served;

b. When a written request for hearing is filed with the City Clerk, the Clerk shall schedule a hearing with the City Council at a regularly scheduled Council meeting no less than fifteen (15) days or more than thirty (30) days from the date the request for hearing was filed. At the hearing, the person identified in Section 5, subsection a. who conducted the investigation shall present a summary of the investigation, and the person who requested the hearing may respond with evidence relevant to the question whether a nuisance exists or to the question of how much time should be allowed for abatement of the nuisance;

c. Within ten (10) working days upon completion of the hearing, the City Council shall issue a written decision as to whether a nuisance exists. The decision shall be filed with the City clerk and shall be sent certified mail, return receipt requested, to the person who requested the hearing;

d. From the date a request for hearing is filed with the City Clerk, the running of the ten (10) calendar day period referred to in Section 3 of this Ordinance shall be tolled, but the remainder of the ten (10) calendar day period shall commence to run five (5) calendar days following the date of service of the written decision by the city Council that a nuisance exists.

e. If the then (10) day period referred to in Section 3 has run and the nuisance has not be abated, then a uniform citation may be issued pursuant to Section 5 (3) of this Ordinance.

3 CRIMINAL ENFORCEMENT PROCEEDINGS:

In the event that the nuisance is not abated and violation fee not paid within the 10 days allotted, enforcement may be by uniform citation issued pursuant Idaho Code 18-113A, signed by a Homedale Police Officer. Upon Issuance of a uniform citation for violation of this ordinance, criminal enforcement proceedings shall continue pursuant to the Idaho Code 18-113A

4 CIVIL ENFORCEMENT PROCEEDINGS:

After the ten (10) day period referred to in Section 3 has run, the City Council, in lieu of a uniform citation being issued, may request that the City Prosecuting Attorney initiate civil enforcement proceedings to abate a public nuisance. The city Prosecuting Attorney also has the discretion to recommend to the City Council that civil instead of criminal abatement proceedings should be pursued. The city Prosecuting Attorney may elect to dismiss a criminal enforcement proceeding and recommend civil enforcement proceedings. If the City Prosecuting Attorney decides to recommend a civil enforcement proceedings, he shall file that recommendation with the City Council. The City Council shall review the case and inform the City Prosecuting Attorney of its decision. If the City Council determines that civil enforcement should be pursued, it shall direct the City Prosecuting Attorney to initiate civil abatement proceedings in the appropriate court.

5 THE CITY MAY CAUSE THE CLEAN-UP, DISSIPATION OR ABATEMENT OF A PUBLIC NUISANCE AND ASSESS THE COSTS OR CHARGES.

The City Council, after ten (10) calendar days notice, may cause the removal, disposal and/or dissipation of refuse, materials and conditions constituting a public nuisance as defined in Section 4 of this Ordinance as often as necessary on lots, lands, or premises not in compliance with this Ordinance. The expense of such work shall be billed to and paid by the property owner(s) involved and if not paid within thirty (30) calendar days the City may proceed to collect the expense in any manner authorized by law.

6 EMPLOYMENT OF LABOR.

The City Council shall employ such labor or contractor as is necessary to carry out the provisions of the Ordinance and allow the bills therefore, with the owner(s) of said property billed for such.

SECTION 6: Abatement and Penalties:

A. ABATEMENT PROCEDURES:

1) If a hearing is requested before the City Council as provided in Section 5 (2) (a) of this Ordinance and the hearing results in a determination that a nuisance exists and/or the nuisance has not been abated after the ten (10) calendar day period referred to in Section 3 of this Ordinance has expired, then the Homedale City Police may issue the owner, occupier, or person in charge of the premises or property a uniform citation pursuant to Section 3 (A) of this Ordinance.

2) This Ordinance may be enforced through either civil or criminal abatement proceedings. The City Prosecuting Attorney has the discretion to pursue criminal abatement on the uniform citation or to recommend that the City council pursue civil abatement pursuant to this Ordinance. If civil abatement is pursued, the expense of civil abatement proceedings shall be charged to the owner, occupant, or person in charge of possession of the premises or property upon which the nuisance exists. The City Prosecuting Attorney shall seek recovery of those expenses in civil proceedings.

B. PENALTY:

1) Any person owning, in charge of, or occupying any lots, lands or premises within Homedale City limits who has been served a written violation notice from the City of Homedale per Section 5, A-1-a, shall be permitted to pay a written violation fee per the following schedule:

The Homedale City Police shall have the authority to issue a uniform citation to violators of this Ordinance.

3) In addition to the above criminal penalties, should the City, pursuant to Section 5 of this Ordinance, cause removal, disposal or dissipation of refuse, materials or conditions constituting a public nuisance as often as necessary in lots, lands, or premises not in compliance, such work shall be billed to and paid by the property owner involved. The Court shall permit payment to the City of the above costs as a condition of any probation granted in a criminal proceeding.

4) Each and every day after the ten (10) calendar day period from the date the notice of violation is given by a law enforcement officer to any such person mentioned and described herein who fails, refuses or neglects to comply with the provisions of this Ordinance shall constitute a separate and distinct offense against the provisions of this Ordinance and each of such separate offenses shall be punishable as provided by the provisions listed above.

SECTION 7: Interference With Authorized Person:

A) It shall be unlawful, and shall be a misdemeanor to interfere with any law enforcement officer in the performance of duties connected with enforcement of this Ordinance. NOTICE

Representatives from the Assessor’s office will be at the senior citizens centers to help anyone fill out their applications for the Property Tax Reduction Program (Circuit Breaker.) We will be in Homedale on April 10 from 9:30 to 12:00. In Marsing on April 3 at 10:00 to 12:00. We will also be available to make home visits to those citizens unable to get to any of the mentioned locations. Please call at 495-2817 to make arrangements. Owyhee County is experiencing growth. Ownership of property is changing hands on regular basis. Causing property values to go up. As written in Idaho State Code the County must be at market value. This means assessed property values will also be going up. Property assessment notices received in June will reflect any changes. On March 11, 2002 the County Commissioners signed Ordinance No. 02-01 The Uniform Addressing Ordinance. It provided a chance for residences that live on a private road that meets one or more of the three requirements, to name their roads, or in the case of a mobile home park, the owner of the park. It also states that signs must be erected and maintained by the residents on the roadway. Signs must be between 5.5 feet and 6.5 feet above the ground and must be visible and readable from both sides. Signs will be blue in color. This ordinance was passed to facilitate a quicker, more efficient response of emergency vehicles and personnel to the citizens of Owyhee County. Signs will also help facilitate more efficient public utility responses and service. Violation of this ordinance shall be considered an infraction punishable in accordance with Idaho Law. Owyhee County Assessor Brett Endicott.

Vance, Chadez collect track and field wins

Mark Vance was up to his old tricks again Thursday in the first scoring meet of the year for the Homedale High School track and field team.

But while the junior captured the triple jump with an effort of 41 feet, 9 inches, the Trojans got another dose of the behemoth that is Middleton.

The Vikings swept the boys and girls team titles at the meet in Parma. Middleton, which has nearly 100 athletes on its squad, piled up enough points to lap the field in the boys competition. The Vikings scored 157 points, while second-place Homedale scored 77.

The Homedale girls team finished third behind Middleton and Weiser. Marsing was fourth.

On the girls side, former high jump state champion Breanna Chadez returned to top form with a victory. She cleared 5 feet, 4 inches.

Homedale's Taryn Corta also brought home gold, beating Chadez in the long jump with a try of 14-4 1/2. The Huskies' CC Zanardi, a sophomore, was fourth in the event.

Terence Thomas, the sophomore son of first-year Homedale track coach Thomas Thomas, finished third in both the shot put and discus with teammate Daniel Valadez grabbing fourth in the shot put.

Marsing coach Don Heller continued to witness consistency in the boys sprints. Two Huskies finished in the top six of the 200 (Aaron Salvas was second and Perry Gibson grabbed sixth)

Chris Covey from Marsing finished second in the 800 meters, and Homedale's Scott Thatcher came in sixth.

In the 1,600-meter sprint medley, Marsing and Homedale relay teams finished second and third, respectively, behind — who else? — Middleton. The Trojans were second to the Vikings in both the 4x200 and 4x100 relays, while Marsing finished fourth in both races.

Homedale also placed athletes in the top six for the hurdle events. Chris Anders crossed the line in third in the 300 intermediate hurdles, while Joe Mac Hernandez grabbed fifth in the 110 high hurdles.

Corta and Chadez finished second and third, respectively, in the triple jump. Corta's teammate, Annamaria Salas, finished fifth, and Marsing sophomore Amanda Staudenmier was sixth.

Staudenmier also placed third in the 400.

Homedale senior Cheyanne Andrade placed in both the shot put (second) and the discus (third), while sophomore Holly Heller from Marsing was fifth in the discus.

Marsing was bolstered by a strong showing in the running events, too. Sophomore Elisa Moreno was second in the 100 dash and sixth in the 200.

Homedale's Belen Vega picked up a pair of second-place showings in the 1,600 and 3,200 runs.

The was no pole vault event for state champion MJ Usabel, but the Marsing senior still got her kicks in. She finished second in the 100 hurdles and was just behind Homedale's Chalsea Hicks in the 300 hurdles. Hicks finished third, and Usabel brought home fourth.

Marsing and Homedale seemingly ran in tandem in some of the girls relay events, too. The Huskies and Trojans finished second and third, respectively, in the 4x100 and went 3-4 in the 800 sprint medley. A Homedale team also finished fourth in the 4x200.
