Homedale meth lab busted

Homedale man arrested at
Main Street motel

A Homedale man is behind bars after being arrested for attempted manufacture of methamphetamine after he was found in a clandestine drug lab at a local motel room last week.

Ronald Kristan Sumstad, 37, was found in a room at the Sunnysdale Motel on Main Street in Homedale at about 9 p.m. April 18 after an Owyhee County Sheriff's deputy received a tip that Sumstad was cooking meth in the room. Homedale Police and Owyhee County Sheriff's deputies converged on the room and found Sumstad nearly unconscious on a bed and many ingredients used in the manufacturing of methamphetamine in the room.

It is unclear how long Sumstad had rented the room or how long he was attempted to make the drug there.

State officials from the Idaho State Police Clan Lab (short for clandestine drug lab) team and the regional hazardous materials team arrived at the scene and began the lengthy task of removing objects and taking fingerprints for evidence.

Homedale Police Chief Jeff Eidemiller said evidence in the room included raw material that had been separated as well as several bottles of drain cleaner, medication with ephedrine or pseudoephedrine ingredients and

Owyhee County law agencies help in search for baby

Child was sleeping in back of SUV when it was stolen in Nampa

Law enforcement officers from three counties and state deputies banded together last week in search of a sport utility vehicle stolen from Nampa with an 11-month-old girl in it.

Deputies from the Owyhee County Sheriff's Office, Homedale Police officers, Idaho State Police, volunteers and posse members gathered at every entrance to the county from Homedale to Walter's Ferry after Nampa Police reported the vehicle may be headed to the Marsing area.

The baby was sleeping in the back seat of the vehicle April 17 when the Ford Explorer was stolen by two men from the parking lot of the Claremont Apartments in Nampa. The two men fled the area and later abandoned the vehicle. As of Monday, the suspects were still at-large.

Witnesses said two Hispanic men found the SUV unlocked and running and stole it. The child's mother returned to the spot where she had parked just moments later and was horrified to find it and the infant gone.

Caldwell Police reported the vehicle located about two hours later in the 1400 block of Cherry Street. A resident reported that the suspects got out of the SUV and fled the scene. The resident found the child, Cedella Goss, unharmed.

Nampa Police is continuing its investigation, but officials say they have good leads on the suspects.

The suspects, believed to be between 18 and 22, both are described as 5 feet, 6 inches tall and weighing 160 to 180 pounds.

"I always have realized that we pull together when we need to in this county," Owyhee County Sheriff Gary Aman said. "But this case really literally brought out everyone."

"We had every entrance into the county from Canyon County covered. We had volunteers, deputies, officers and posse members who drove every street in Marsing and Homedale looking for this SUV. If they had come here, they would have been caught. It was heart-warming to see everyone pull together to help find this little girl. Luckily, she was eventually found safe and our services were not needed, but we were prepared if we were needed."

Canyon County, Nampa and Caldwell law enforcement officials are working on the case. Anyone with information can call 465-2257 or local authorities.

Police believe the suspects did not know the baby was in the vehicle.

Water worries force fishing derby postponement

The boat ramp and the dock at Marsing Island Park have been closed to the public because of flooding from the Snake River. Water levels on the river are expected to remain at or near flood stage for the next 30 days. The high water near the Marsing park's pond also forced officials to postpone the annual LeRoy Breshears Fishing Derby for children until June.

High water postpones annual youth fishing derby in Marsing

The annual LeRoy Breshears Fishing Derby, originally scheduled for Saturday in Marsing, has been postponed until June because of high water levels on the Snake River.

The event will be held either June 3 or June 10, depending on water levels. The definitive date will be announced in May.

Owyhee County Sheriff's Chief Deputy Dick Freund, who is coordinating this year's event, said last week that officials were concerned with the water levels. He said because of the number of children who attend the derby, organizers were worried about the potential for injury.

"We just don't want that many children around that much water," Freund said Wednesday. "We felt it would not be a safe experience and would rather postpone it."

The Owyhee County Sheriff's Office, the Idaho Department of Fish and Game, Owyhee County Sheriff's Posse and several community members organize the event, which was started after the death of longtime hunter education instructor LeRoy Breshears. Breshears passed away in Marsing on April 7, 1999.

'We felt it would not be a safe experience and would rather postpone it.'

fishing derby coordinator

"He was a guide and inspiration to beginning hunters in both Marsing and Homedale for nearly 20 years," Freund said in the past. "He was certified by the Idaho Department of Fish and Game as a hunter education instructor in May 1979 and over the years he taught 43 classes and graduated 838 hunter education students in the area."

For the derby, the Marsing pond is opened to Owyhee County children from kindergarten through sixth grade and stocked with approximately 1,500 trout. Law enforcement volunteers hold fishing clinics to teach children how to cast, catch and clean fish. The first event attracted approximately 400 children, and attendance nearly doubled for the second year.

Hot dogs, chips and soda pop will be available, and many Fish and Game officers will be on hand to answer questions and help children learn to fish.

"We really appreciate the support of the community over the years for financial and personal support," Freund said. "They have given the children the opportunity to learn how and to be able to fish. It gives them something to do during the summer and throughout their lives that is a wholesome activity. They can continue this activity as adults and pass it down to their children and their grandchildren."

"All of the communities in Owyhee County and in surrounding communities have given tremendous support to the event."

Freund said parents will need to bring their own tackle and poles and can fish after 2 p.m. with their children. Children without fishing supplies will be able to borrow poles and tackle at the event.

GV student pleads guilty to setting girl's hair on fire

A 15-year-old student from Grand View pled guilty last week after he was accused of setting a young girl's hair on fire on the school bus.

Owyhee County Prosecuting Attorney Matthew Faulks said Tommy Denton pled guilty to battery charges. Faulks said the case was set for disposition on May 8.

"Witness statements showed that the accused had set the girl's hair on fire in December," Faulks said Wednesday. "He pled guilty today to the charge of battery."

Owyhee County Sheriff's Office reports state that deputies were dispatched to the Rimrock High School on Dec. 16, 2005, to take a report of the teen lighting the victim's hair on fire on a school bus.

"It is a very serious incident," Faulks said. "(The fire) got put out before anyone was injured, but it was a very dangerous act."

Kay Seegrist, the bus driver, reported that she smelled burning hair. Other witnesses reported that Denton had singed the victim's hair in the past.

"In this instance the victim did not have a lot of hair-care products on her hair, or it could have been much worse," Faulks said. "But it is still serious enough."

Faulks said last week he was unsure what sentencing Denton would receive.

Homedale resident Jesse Cardenas, 28, right, is detained while Homedale Police Chief Jeff Eidemiller and Cpl. Ian Takashige investigate a disturbance on the 500 block of West Nevada Friday afternoon. Takashige said Cardenas was placed on a mental hold and charges could be filed. He said Cardenas threatened a juvenile at the scene with a knife. Owyhee County Posse Joe Aman detains another individual at the scene in the background.

Baby sitter classes offered

Teens can receive a course in baby-sitting techniques at the Owyhee County Extension office in Marsing.

Classes will be held from 3:15 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday and May 8.

"Babysitting is an excellent 'first-time' job, but being responsible for a child does not come naturally," Extension educator Marsha Lockard said in a release submitted last week.

The University of Idaho Extension System is offering the 5-hour course that emphasizes the physical safety and security of the child and points out important needs such as friendship, companionship, understanding and patience.

Students will learn about children of different ages, how to relate to them, how to handle crisis situations, and how to avoid some of the pitfalls that often accompany childcare.

Participants also have the option to enroll in the 4-H childcare project. Many of the requirements for the project will be completed by the end of the course.

The University of Idaho Family and Consumer Science educators, Lockard and Judith McShane, who is also the Owyhee County 4-H coordinator, will teach the class.

To register, call the Marsing Resource Center at (208) 896-5185 or the extension office at (208) 896-4104.

month, city council members approved leasing the land to Holton for a term of 50 years at $100 per month.

Homedale city attorney Kathy Edwards said the lease has been written, but the council would have to approve its contents and sign it during the next meeting, which is Thursday.

Holton told the council during the April 12 meeting that he planned to move the business, which currently is located on Industrial Road outside of town, to the new location inside city limits.

Homedale Mayor Paul Fink said he was excited that the ground would be utilized.

Councilman Steve Schultz has been working on obtaining the property since last year and said last week that although the city will not receive property taxes on the business, it will be an important addition as the city continues to grow.

Schultz did say that the city will obtain revenue by taxing any buildings erected on the land.

“We bought it to improve the airport and to provide an industrial park,” Schultz said.

“We would own it, but offer it to businesses to lease. It is federal property, and private individuals can’t obtain it. It has to be sold to a government entity or to a city municipality. It is a prime piece of real estate, and it is an opportunity for the city to give incentives for economic development.”

The Idaho Air National Guard originally owned the property and they intended to build an armory at the site many years ago, but the armory eventually was built in Wilder.

“We wanted to obtain it, and we asked them to give it to us, which they had offered before, but the city turned it down,” Schultz said. “The land is exempt to property tax, but the building and additions will be taxed.

“A structure that is expected to be built there, would have a life expectancy of more than 25 years. We wanted some kind of agreement that would be binding so their investment into that building and that location would last the life of the building and be renewable.”

Schultz said any contracts other than Snake River Lumber would have to be re-negotiated in the future. He said the city is putting together an agreement that would be in the best interest of the taxpayers in the city.

“Snake River Lumber is a growing business that is willing to invest a large amount of money into a facility,” Schultz said. “That will provide employment and has growth potential. Holton also has intentions to expand in the future. Those payroll dollars is important to the city. To have those payroll dollars turnover in the city is what really gives us our economic development.”

Holton was not available for comment.

Voters urged to register for primary early

With a Friday deadline to register to vote in the May 23 primary election, Owyhee County Clerk Charlotte Sherburn is getting out the vote.

Sherburn is urging all new county residents and anyone not yet registered for the election to register early even though registration will be available at the polls on Election Day, too.

Eligible voters must be at least 18 years of age and have been a resident of Owyhee County for 30 days. Voter registration is available at any city hall in the county or at the Owyhee County Courthouse in Murphy.

Sherburn also said that voters in the mail ballot precincts of Three Creek, Riddle and Pleasant Valley will receive their ballots sometime after Friday.

Mail-in ballots must be received in the clerk’s office by 8 p.m. on the day of the May 23 primary.

“Please make sure to follow the instructions provided and mail the ballots back as early as possible to avoid the ballot not getting to the county courthouse in time to be counted,” Sherburn said.

For information on registrars throughout the county, voters can call the clerk’s office at (208) 495-2421 or (208) 337-5522.

Registration forms and voting maps are also available online at www.owyheecounty.net. Click on the www.idahovotes.gov link, download the form and mail it to Owyhee County Clerk, P.O. Box 128 Murphy, ID 83650.

Coordinators said the forum would be a time to hear the candidates’ views, ask questions and just get acquainted. Most of Owyhee County’s candidates have confirmed they will attend the forum as well as several First Congressional District candidates and many others, according to organizers.

The Owyhee County Employee’s Association (OCEA) will play host to a meet the candidates program at 5:30 p.m. May 9 at the Owyhee County Courthouse in Murphy. All county candidates in the May 23 primary election have been invited to attend.

For more information, call Aron Streibel (208) 896-5326.

The county GOP meeting takes place at 7:30 p.m. on May 9 at the courthouse. In addition to the introduction of candidates, regular committee business will be conducted, including a report on the Lincoln Day Banquet and a legislative report.

filters with traces of the drug. Eidemiller said no finished drug was found.

State regulations require the closure of the motel room, which may now contain harmful residue of the drug.

Eidemiller said a series of requirements would have to be met before it can be re-opened to the public.

“The owner of the motel will be notified of what needs to be done to the room to make it habitable again,” Eidemiller said. “Until then, it is closed off and cannot be accessed.”

Ronald Sumstad

The chief said witnesses stated that Sumstad was scheduled to appear in Oregon on a marijuana possession charge the day after his arrest.

“This was a very minor lab, comparatively speaking,” Eidemiller said.

“But even a minor lab is significant. Every one we can catch, is just that much more meth that is not being produced and is not being distributed.”

The lab is the first dismantled in the city this year.

Authorities say several precautions must be followed when a meth lab is discovered, including contacting law enforcement immediately. Anyone coming upon a suspected meth lab should not touch anything. Officials also warn against turning electrical power switches on or off. They also say do not eat or drink in or around the lab, do not open or move containers with chemicals or suspected chemicals, do not smoke and do not sniff any containers.

Look into solid mutual funds to build endowment

Dear Dave,

I'd like to start a scholarship fund at our church to help families afford a Christian education for their kids. We have a large number of wealthy people at this church, in addition to several families with small children who cannot afford a Christian college education. I'd like to bring these groups together.

— Chip via e-mail

Dear Chip,

You're talking about an endowment fund here, a set-up where you deposit a large amount of money into an investment and let the interest generated from the investment enable your cause.

I would suggest first getting with a good mutual fund broker, like one of our Endorsed Local Providers. The broker can help you get the investment portion of this plan set up, and recommend a good attorney to help you establish the endowment fund and educate you on the legal aspects of this kind of fund.

I always recommend leaving money in a mutual fund for at least five years, Chip. Because the beneficiaries of this fund are still small children, that gives you plenty of time to educate yourself, set up the fund and let it grow for several years. Mutual funds have a great track record, and by the time these kids are ready, you should have a nice chunk of money sitting there to help them make their college dreams come true.

— Dave

Dear Dave,

I hate the house we live in — the floor plan, age, the location — everything. When we bought the house, my husband — Mr. Economics Degree — made all the decisions, and I felt like my opinions didn't matter. I really want to move, but I can't convince him. I know we can afford to move, because we have about $200,000 in savings besides our retirement fund. We owe about $100,000 on the house we're in, and could get $180,000 for it. What can I do?

— Kim

Dear Kim,

If you really hate the house you're in that much, I'd suggest going on a fact-finding tour and present him with solid reasons for a house you like and why it's a good idea to move. This way, you're giving him a concrete example, not just a concept.

I'm sensing, too, from the tone in your letter, that there's a lot more going on with this relationship than just the issue of where you live. It sounds like you're getting tired of having things like this dictated to you and feeling that you're somebody's maid. Moving to a new house isn't going to change that. You're going to have to change your HOME or the house will not make you happy.

Try sitting down with your husband and explaining how it makes you feel when he treats you this way. You two might even think about talking to a good pastor or marriage counselor — a situation where your input is just as meaningful as his and not discounted.

When you guys were married you weren't pronounced boss and employee. You became husband and wife — as one. And that's how these kinds of decisions should be made, not BY one, but together AS one.

— Dave

Dear Dave,

My wife and I have two homes. One we built just after we were married, and we owe about $100,000 on that one. The other belonged to my grandmother, and we're living in it now. I recently found an opportunity to sell the first house on contract to a young couple who can make a $4,000 down payment then buy the house in about a year. What's the best way to go about this?

— James

Dear James,

I wouldn't do a land contract in this situation. I'd make it a lease with an option to purchase, letting the $4,000 apply to the purchase price.

Now, make sure documentation states if they're in default on the lease that the option is void. That way, if they don't pay, you only have to evict them, not foreclose on them. The young couple you're talking about will get the same benefits, but it puts you in a much better position.

A land contract could cause you all kinds of nightmares, because in some states you'd have to foreclose on them.

Afghanistan vet shares experiences with Adrian High

Guardsman presents video, talk to students

by Adrian High School journalism staff

Through the media, you may become very confused of why America is in Afghanistan and Iraq. Is it for economic purposes, national security or democracy?

The Adrian High School student body had the opportunity of viewing a presentation by SSgt. Lance Albert.

Albert recently returned from an 18-month tour of duty in Afghanistan.

Albert was originally scheduled as a guest speaker in Geary Johnson's government class, but school staff members determined it would be of interest for all students of Adrian High.

Albert discussed the reasons for a U.S. military presence in Afghanistan.

He began his presentation with a short video.

He spoke about the people, culture and the lifestyle of the Afghan people.

His presentation also included information and pictures of the landscape, equipment used by both the U.S. armed forces and the "enemy," and the progress that has been made within the country, including the development of highways, bridges and schools.

After his presentation, Albert fielded several questions from students during a question-and-answer forum.

Albert was raised in Eastern Oregon and graduated from Vale High School. He enlisted with the U.S. Marine Corps and, after completing his commitment, joined the National Guard.

Albert is married and has four young children, the youngest of which was 4 months old when he left for his most recent tour in Afghanistan.

Adrian's staff and students appreciate Albert for his service to our country and for taking the time to enlighten students with first-hand knowledge of the Middle East.

Joint board votes to reduce storage at reservoir

The Joint Board of the Owyhee Project approved reducing the storage in the Owyhee Reservoir to 660,000 acre-feet, about 50,000 acre-feet below full capacity, early last week.

By Monday, inflows into the reservoir had dropped to a point that allowed water managers to lower the discharge from the reservoir to nearly 3,000 cubic feet per second (cfs) below flood stage.

Friday, inflows into the reservoir had dropped to about 8,000 cfs, but officials plan to keep discharge from the reservoir above that level to create a bigger cushion against the possibility of high runoff from snow melt or spring storms.

On April 18, storage in the reservoir was nearly 671,882 acre-feet. By Friday, it had dropped to 660,491 acre-feet. Inflows and outflows were about even Tuesday night, between 10,000 cfs and 11,000 cfs.

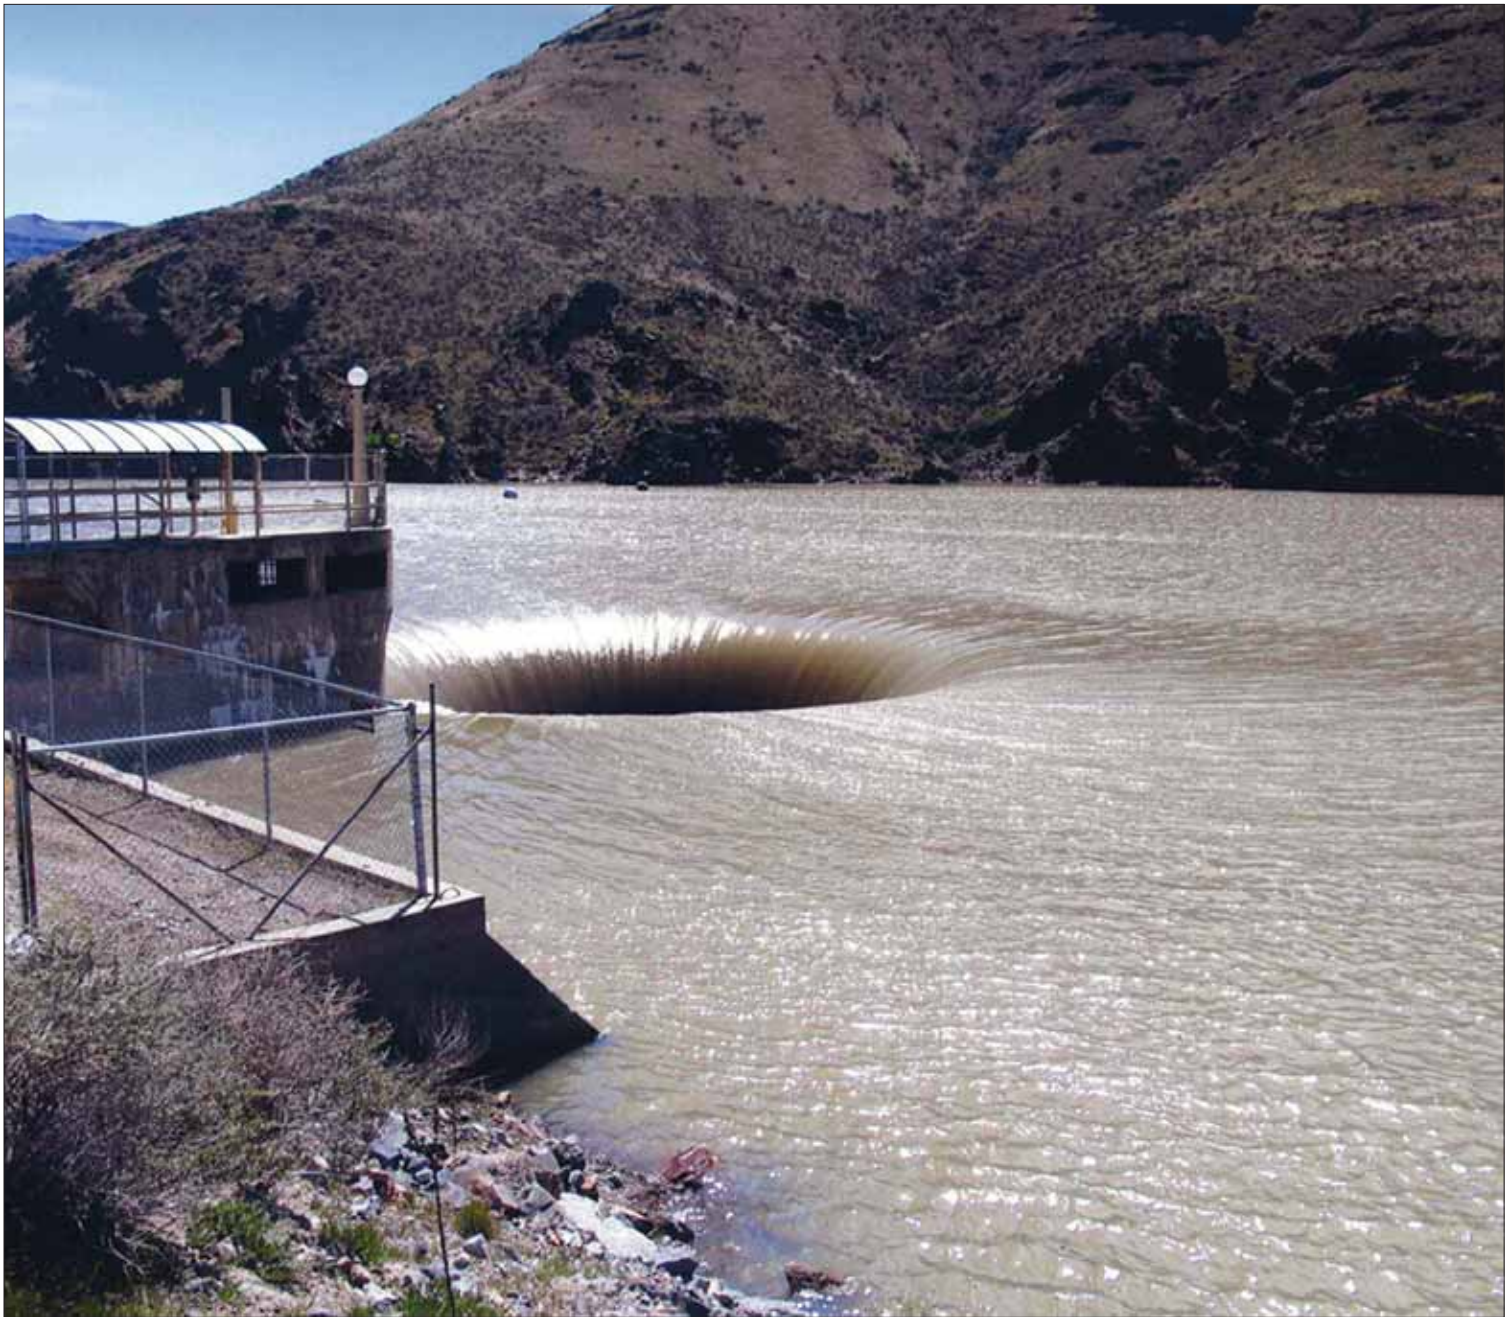

The joint board already has released about 750,000 acre-feet of water from the reservoir.

South Board of Control Manager Rex Barrie said the Natural Resource Conservation Service is estimating about 850,000 acre-feet of water still in the local drainages.

He said a fast runoff, which is what the districts normally want, could cause more flooding in the months to come.

Mud Flat, a source of water for the Owyhee River, has received 19.7 inches of precipitation so far this year. On April 17, 13.9 inches of snow had been recorded at the SNOTEL (Snowpack Telemetry) automatic gauge. By Friday, it had dropped to 8.4 inches of snow.

45.7 inches of snow was recorded on Monday, but by Friday it had also dropped — to 41.3 inches. South Mountain has received 38.3 inches of precipitation year-to-date.

Fields are still flooded along the lower end of the Owyhee River, from near Mitchell Butte to the Snake River, and water surrounds some buildings.

Friday, 7,857 cfs was running into the reservoir at Rome, Ore., while the reservoir held 660,471 acre-feet and was at 92 percent of full. Outflow from the dam was registered at 9,973 cfs.

Owyhee Reservoir was at 92 percent full on Monday with 655,678 acre-feet of water. Water was entering the reservoir at Rome at the rate of 7,447 cfs, and 5,706 cfs was being released at Owyhee Dam. The reservoir is 4.75 feet from full and is at 108 percent of a 30-year average.

Great snowpack means superb rec opportunities

From the Natural Resources Conservation Service

Visitors to Owyhee County waterways can expect superb recreation opportunities — just like the rest of the state — because of an above average snowpack. Colder temperatures and a moist storm track over the past month steadily added to the snowpack in all basins. The Bruneau and Owyhee basins are at 156 percent of average. The welcomed snowpack means awesome spring skiing, rip-roaring whitewater and a long boating season statewide. “What a difference a year can make,” said Ron Abramovich, water supply specialist for the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS). “Last year at this time, we were experiencing below average snowpack. Now, the entire state is above average — the first time since 1997.” The Panhandle and Clearwater regions have the lowest snowpack but still reached 100 percent by April 1. Meanwhile, the Weiser, South Fork Boise, Big Wood, Little Wood and Big Lost are all at 130 to 140 percent. Camas Creek (Fairfield) is at 160 percent, Willow Creek (Ririe) 145 percent, Oakley and Salmon Falls are at 138-144 percent and other areas are 110-130 percent of average. This means one of the best whitewater seasons in 10 years. Also, reservoirs will remain full later into the summer for water skiing, boating and fishing. Overall, stream-flow forecasts are well above average. The Owyhee River near Rome, Ore., is forecast at 130-150 percent of average, as are the Middle Fork Salmon and Payette. The Bruneau River and Salmon Falls Creek are expected to have stream-flows at 170-180 percent of average. River runners can expect a prolonged season — beginning with early desert canyon streams, then mid-season high water runs, prolonged above average flows through late summer on the main Salmon, and then early fall in the Payette and South Fork Snake rivers. “River running opportunities will be outstanding this year,” Abramovich said. “However, river runners should use caution. Water levels could be very high during the peak flow period and also carry debris from recent forest fires.”

Homedale FFA news

The Homedale FFA chapter is doing its part to make spring beautiful in the area.

Homedale FFA advisor Lori Harrison said a touch of color could be added to local homes during the chapter’s flower and plant sale from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday in the FFA greenhouse behind the Ag shop at the high school.

“Don’t miss out on your chance to support the Homedale FFA chapter and to purchase beautiful, locally grown flowers and vegetables,” Harrison said.

On April 10, the Homedale FFA chapter helped make Idaho beautiful by cleaning three miles of Idaho 19 near Wilder, as the club’s community service project. The chapter adopted this stretch of highway this year.

The chapter banquet will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday at the high school cafeteria. FFA members will receive awards, FFA degrees and new chapter officers will be elected. There also will be a potluck dinner and guest speaker.

Earlier this month, during the 75th Idaho FFA State Leadership convention held in Twin Falls, the Homedale chapter started its state career development events with a bang.

The group left on April 5 and spent the first evening in Twin Falls with a trip to the NazzKart go-kart racing.

Mandy Gibbs competed in the Beef Ambassador contest, while former ambassador Jessica Hansen summarized her previous year and the experiences she had. Hansen also met with the new candidates and discussed the Beef Ambassador Program.

On Thursday morning, the horse judging team, consisting of Kortney Bahem, Rye Hyer, Sarah Black, and Jessica Eubanks, evaluated horses at the College of Southern Idaho expo center.

The horse judging classes consisted of three performance classes, four halter classes and two oral reasons classes on one performance class and one halter class.

The Homedale chapter was honored with the state championship in horse judging, beating a field that included nearly 40 teams. Homedale FFA will represent Idaho at the National FFA Horse Judging Contest in Indianapolis in October.

Bahem took first place individually and won a Presidential Scholarship of $1,000 for the College of Southern Idaho’s equine program, and Hyer placed fifth individually out of nearly 150 participants.

“This is an amazing accomplishment for an FFA chapter in its second year of operation,” Idaho State FFA Advisor Dr. Dick Ledington said. “The horse judging career development event (CDE) is one of the largest and most popular competitive events that Idaho FFA Association conducts annually. Congratulations to Miss Harrison, Homedale FFA advisor, and Homedale FFA team on this significant achievement.”

The chapter also competed in the Farm Business Management CDE. The CDE is a test on terms and mathematical problems that concern Ag economics, including record books and cash-flow statements. Income statements were also completed based on an example farmer.

Homedale’s team, which finished eighth in the state competition, included Jessica Hansen, Matthew Hansen, Ryan Rupp and Jacob McRae.

The chapters’ nursery and landscape CDE team of Rachelle Christoffersen, Heath Phelps, Kendall Rupp and Mandy Gibbs finished sixth in the state. This CDE consisted of recognizing many different species of plants, plant pruning and proper planting, and team members had to complete a written test pertaining to concepts of landscaping.

Ulysses Vargas and Austin Emry worked at completing a National Chapter award to present to the state. The award recognizes the most efficient and successful chapters in the state and the steps taken to accomplish goals and leadership activities. The Homedale chapter was ranked 10th out of more than 80 chapters in the state.

Some of Homedale FFA’s younger members were involved, too.

Megan Harper, eighth grade, and Mitch Quintana, ninth grade, served as chapter delegates during the FFA business sessions. During the meetings, delegates approved the 2006-07 budget and new rules regarding official dress.

“Besides just competing in contests, the chapter also went to leadership sessions where they watched state qualifiers present their finely tuned speeches, the previous years’ state officers give their retiring addresses, and they witnessed as the new 2006-2007 Idaho State FFA officers were elected to lead the Idaho FFA into another great year,” Harrison said.

“As all of the Homedale FFA members will agree, the trip to the 75th annual Idaho FFA convention will be one that will forever be etched in all of the members’ minds. Many thanks go out to everyone who has helped make this possible.”

USDA Marsing branch, others have openings for 40-somethings

The USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) is advertising new job openings for applicants 40 and older in Marsing and 15 other locations across Idaho. As part of a new pilot program called Agricultural Conservation Enrollees/Seniors (ACES), NRCS is recruiting experienced workers to fill a variety of administrative and conservation program-related positions. The salary payments for the temporary positions do not impact existing retirement annuity income participants may receive. The applicants may also qualify for health insurance and other benefits. "This is a great opportunity to recruit part-time experienced workers for NRCS offices that are struggling to keep up with workload," said Susan Tharp, assistant state conservationist for management in Boise. "We are very busy helping private landowners implement conservation practices and we could really use the assistance." The NRCS offices with openings are: Marsing, Boise, Emmett, Weiser, Bonners Ferry, Coeur d'Alene, Twin Falls, Burley, Driggs, St. Anthony, Moscow, Orofino, Nez Perce, Rigby, Montpelier and Blackfoot. Interested applicants can contact the local NRCS office. The Owyhee County office is located at 19 Reich St., in Marsing. The phone number is (208) 896-4544.

Jason Carter, DDS, provided free dental exams for children ages 12 and younger and pre-registration for the Head Start program was available.

We Encourage The Entire Family To Welcome Its Newest Member

When you have your baby at West Valley Medical Center, you'll be cared for by some of the most highly skilled OB nurses and physicians in the Treasure Valley. And you'll stay in the same room from labor through delivery and recovery. All of our OB nurses are ACLS- and NRP-trained with additional OB/GYN training.

And we're proud to announce that West Valley Medical Center will be the first hospital in Idaho to premiere a nationwide program in April, called Boot Camp For New Dads, to give our expectant fathers the training and confidence to care for their newborn. It's all part of our commitment to the needs of you and your family; just what you'd expect from Caldwell's community hospital.

Register for Parenting and Childbirth Classes

- Childbirth Preparation – Cost, $40; one-day class or four-part evening series
- Breastfeeding – Cost, $10; free class to participants that attended childbirth class
- Boot Camp For New Dads – Cost, $10; one-day class for expectant fathers

To pre-register for these classes, call West Valley Medical Center at 455-3881.

To take a personal tour of the Labor & Delivery Women's Unit, call Women's Wellness Services at 455-3760.

FREE DIAPERS! When you register for a class, mention this ad to Kelly Brooks in our Education Department and you'll receive a free package of diapers.

FAMILY FEATURES

Invite familia and amigos together to share in the authentic Mexican holiday Cinco de Mayo! Celebrating with red, white and green flair, Cinco de Mayo celebrates the Battle of Puebla’s historic victory over the French on May 5, 1862. While Cinco de Mayo is not Mexico’s traditional Independence Day, it remains a festive holiday steeped in pride and tradition.

This fifth of May, what better way to embrace the mouthwatering, tempting tastes and textures of authentic Mexican meals than with Ortega? For over 150 years, Ortega has offered a full line of authentic, great tasting Mexican food products. Use these to create memorable recipes with their warm, melted salsa and cheese, crunchy corn tacos, soft tortillas, aromatic seasonings, zesty salsas and diced green chiles. Bring these “las favoritas” recipes to life — and to your dinner table — to celebrate the country’s authentic flavors. Ortega helps make your meals distinct and delicious, easy and irresistible!

Mexican Steak Tacos

Makes 2 servings

- 1 (3 1/2-ounce) bag boil-in-bag long grain rice
- 2 teaspoons ground cumin
- 1 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1 teaspoon Ortega Taco Sauce
- 1 tablespoon Ortega Salsa, any variety
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 pound sirloin steak
- 1 (15-ounce) can diced tomatoes
- 1 (4-ounce) can Ortega Diced Green Chiles
- 4 Ortega Taco Shells
- 4 lime wedges
- Sour cream (optional)

COOK rice. Meanwhile, combine cumin, garlic powder, taco sauce, salsa and salt, and rub over both sides of steak. SPRAY broiler pan with cooking spray. Place steak on pan. Broil 4 minutes on each side or until desired degree of doneness. Cut steak into thin slices. COMBINE rice, tomatoes and chiles. Place mixture in shells. TOP rice mixture with beef slices. Squeeze juice from limes over beef. Top with sour cream, if desired.

Mexican Hash Brown Bake

Makes 12 servings (1 cup each)

- 1 (13-ounce) container Ortega Salsa & Cheese
- 1 1/2 cups sour cream
- 1 (4-ounce) can Ortega Diced Green Chiles or Diced Jalapeños
- 1 (30-ounce) package frozen shredded hash brown potatoes
- 2 Ortega taco shells, coarsely crushed

HEAT oven to 350°F. Spray 13 x 9-inch baking dish with cooking spray. COMBINE salsa & cheese, sour cream and chiles or peppers in large bowl; stir until blended. Gently stir in hash browns. Spoon mixture into baking dish. SPRINKLE with crushed taco shells. BAKE 45 to 50 minutes or until bubbly around edges. Let stand 5 minutes before serving. Tip: Make extra special by adding 2 sliced green onions or 2 slices crisp, crumbled bacon. Use light or reduced-fat sour cream if preferred.

Mexican Pasta Salad

Makes 8 servings (3/4 cup each)

- 3 cups (8 ounces) rotini pasta
- 1 (1.25-ounce) package Ortega Taco Seasoning Mix
- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 tablespoon white vinegar
- 1 cup cherry tomato halves
- 1 (4-ounce) can Ortega Diced Green Chiles
- 1/2 cup diced green bell pepper
- 1 (2.25-ounce) can sliced ripe olives, drained
- 2 green onions, sliced
- 2 Ortega Taco Shells, coarsely crushed
- 1/2 cup Ortega Thick & Chunky Salsa
- 1/2 cup (2 ounces) shredded Cheddar cheese

COOK rotini according to package directions (do not overcook); drain. Rinse with cold water until cooled; drain. STIR together taco seasoning mix, sour cream, water and vinegar in large bowl until blended. Stir in rotini, cherry tomatoes, green chiles, bell pepper, olives and green onions. MICROWAVE crushed taco shells on HIGH 30 to 45 seconds. PLACE pasta in serving bowl. Top with salsa, crushed taco shells and cheese just before serving.

Tip: Taste salad before adding toppings. Stir in a little water for creamier texture. Use light or reduced-fat sour cream if preferred.

How to Host a
Cinco de Mayo Party

Set the Scene ... Shop around for inexpensive piñatas, strings of cactus or chile pepper lights, maracas, serapes and sombreros to give any room or patio a fiesta flair.

Pass the Antojitos! ... Add zesty Mexican flavor to appetizers and other easy-to-make party foods with taco sauce, salsa, diced green chiles and salsa and cheese dips.

Take It Easy ... If preparing a large spread seems overwhelming, consider a grande taco night buffet. Convenient prewashed lettuce and veggies, shredded cheeses, taco dinner kits and jarred salsas may be your ticket to success!

Focus on Fun ... Make the kids’ table the best seat in the house! Take an instant photo of little guests as they arrive, place it by their plate and invite them to decorate the edges with crayons and stickers. Add a splash of color with a piñata, streamers, confetti and balloons. Offer a fun kid-size menu, such tacos and simple cheese-a-dillas.
