Pass rush holds foes at bay until offense clicks

Tyler Maxwell brought the hammer down on Nampa Christian High School on Friday night at Deward Bell Stadium.

But, with apologies to the Beatles, Maxwell's hammer wasn't silver. It was golden and helped forge Homedale's 18-6 non-conference victory to cap Homecoming.

"He made some good reads tonight," Homedale defensive coordinator Dave Hart said. "He didn't play much last year. But he's worked hard, and he's developing into a good football player."

Tyler Maxwell

A 5-foot-10, 155-pound defensive back, Maxwell thrived in the scheme Hart cooked up to simmer down the pass-happy Nampa Christian offense.

The senior seemed to spend more time in Nampa Christian's offensive backfield than the visitors from Canyon County's sophomore quarterback, Vinnie Angelos. But maybe it just seemed that way because Maxwell racked up 1½ sacks in the game and posted consecutive tackles for losses early in the third quarter.

Then again, Maxwell could have seemed everywhere at once because of the number of blitzes Hart called.

"We planned on doing a lot of it because we knew Nampa Christian passed a lot and their line wasn't as strong," Maxwell said of the blitzes.

The strategy paid off. With Maxwell and junior linebacker

Mike Wilhelm leading the charge with 1½ sacks apiece, Homedale blitzers tossed Angelos to the turf six times throughout the night.

The havoc Maxwell wreaked on the Nampa Christian offensive line was most evident late in the third quarter when Wilhelm and Amador Cortinas sacked Angelos on a 3rd-and-12 play. While Wilhelm and Cortinas were on their jailbreak, Maxwell was fighting his way around the end. But Maxwell never made it into the backfield because Nampa Christian's offensive left tackle rode him to the ground in a desperate attempt to stem the tide. No penalty was called.

"We stunted him inside a lot," Hart said of Maxwell. "You have

Raiders RB stings Owyhee in debut

Freshman running back Ricardo Araujo made a big return from a scary illness Friday night for the Rimrock High School football team.

Left weak from a bout with West Nile Virus, the 5-foot-8, 140-pounder got well against non-conference foe Owyhee, Nev., rushing for 182 yards and two touchdowns in the Raiders' 22-0 shutout victory in Bru-neau.

Jim Clark

Araujo also caught two point-after-touchdown passes from quarterback Nate Hofer.

"The kids in the first half did not play so well, and in the second half they played a lot better," second-year Rimrock coach Jim Clark said.

"They started executing things a lot better and played all-around better football. 'Hopefully we can take that into (this) week.'"

The first win of the season couldn't come at a better time for the Raiders (1-1 overall), who open the 1A, Division I league season on the road Friday night against a tough Council team.

New coach wants to take same path with Adrian

After three years under Gene Mills, the Adrian High School football team will open its season Friday night with a new head coach.

But Paul Shenk is no stranger to the Antelopes.

The Adrian farmer and Adrian School Board member served as defensive coordinator during all three years of Mills' tenure. One son, Quinten, played for the Antelopes earlier in the decade, and another son, Lawrence, is a senior lineman for Adrian this year.

"It's one of those things," Paul Shenk said of taking over for

Paul Shenk

Mills. "You look at it and say, 'I can do that.' But until you do it, you won't know how much is involved."

Although Mills has stepped away from head-coaching duties to focus more time on his administrative role in the Adrian School District, he didn't leave Shenk high and dry one year after leading the Antelopes to a rare appearance in the 1A Oregon state playoffs.

"He said he would help, and he has been a very big help," Shenk said. "I just hope we can keep it

Trojans exhausted after busy week

Homedale High School's volleyball team came out of the gates on the run last week, playing four matches in three days.

The Trojans (2-2 overall) got a little break this week, playing Marsing at home Tuesday before entertaining Parma on Thursday.

"Hopefully the girls have recovered from the four games last week and Homecoming week," Homedale coach Maleta Henry said.

After beating Marsing in straight sets on Aug. 29, Home-dale traveled to Parma and pulled out a marathon victory after dropping the second and third games.

Maleta Henry

Rachel Wheeler had six blocks and five kills as the Trojans downed the Panthers, 25-20, 19-25, 27-29, 25-18, 15-11, to give Henry a win over her old high school coach, Dan Kurtz.

"That makes you feel good when you can beat the person who taught you the game of volleyball," Henry said.

Vanessa Brown added a block and three kills, and Mikal Mackenzie had five kills.

Logan Smyser and Kallie Roche paced Parma with seven kills each.

"The girls were exhausted after this game," Henry said.

Alas, the Trojans still had two matches on their plate for the week — both on Thursday and both of which they lost.

Host Cole Valley posted a 25-13, 25-17 victory despite six blocks from Mandy Brasher.

"With Homecoming and the previous Parma game, their bodies aren't as conditioned as they should be for this game," Henry said.

In the second half of the tri-meet in Boise, the Trojans sleepwalked through a three-set lost to Weiser. Wheeler racked up seven blocks and two kills.

"My girls' enthusiasm was not there," Henry said.

"I believe their heart was in it, but their bodies count not follow."

Trojans win clash of rivals

Homedale High School's Mandy Brasher tries to swat the volleyball back over the net as teammate Mikal Mackenzie and Marsing players Jessica Elsberry (20) and Kortni Scott (5) look on last week in the Huskies' gym.

Homedale volleyball keeps its cool, defeats Marsing in opener

Homedale High School's volleyball team survived a sauna on Aug. 29 to begin its season with a 25-21, 25-16, 25-20 non-conference victory over host Marsing

"The gym was miserably hot, and the game seemed to linger on," Homedale coach Maleta Henry said.

Mandy Brasher led the Trojans' 11-block performance by stuffing five shots from the Huskies. Rachel Wheeler added three, and Corey Hall had two.

"We were consistent with hits, but only had a few kills," Henry said. "Missed serves were killing us, so hopefully we can eliminate that early in the season."

Kortni Scott dished six assists and served an ace for Marsing. Teammate Taryn registered three kills.

"The team is working hard, and I expect to see them settle into their roles in the new few games," Marsing coach Loma Bittick said.

Huskies' all-out effort doesn't net win

Marsing's Taryn Chenoweth turns her back on the net while trying to dig a ball last week in a non-conference loss to visiting Homedale.

Huskies can't stop Nyssa in opener

Oregon state champions roll up 400-plus yards

The Marsing High School football team learned first-hand Friday night how Nyssa, Ore., has won 14 straight games and a 2A Oregon state championship. Bulldogs quarterbacks threw for more than 300 yards, and receiver Anthony Holcomb caught a dozen balls for 289 yards and four touchdowns as the host club beat Marsing, 40-14. The non-conference game was the season opener for both. Huskies senior fullback Shea McClellin rushed 19 times for 146 yards, but was unable to cross the plane of the goal line as Nyssa scored the game's first 40 points. Marsing's scores came in the fourth quarter with senior quarterback Miguel Quebrado's 35-yard scoring strike to Francisco Martinez and a 4-yard run by senior Troy Dines. Holcomb scored on four lengthy plays, including a 50-yarder and a 58-yarder. Three of his TDs came on connections with starting quarterback Mark Jensen, who completed 15 of 24 throws for 276 yards. Marsing's defense surrendered more than 400 yards total offense to the Bulldogs, who knocked off Vale in last year's 2A Oregon state championship game at Autzen Stadium in Eugene. Nyssa moved up to the 3A ranks this season. Marsing (0-1) opens the home portion of its schedule at 7 p.m. Friday against 3A Snake River Valley conference member Payette. Payette rolled over winless Melba in the Pirates' opener Friday. But Payette lost quarterback Kyle Tschirgi and running back Nick Klitch to injury during its 21-6 non-conference win over the host Mustangs.

✓ Raiders

Council went 4-4 and lost a three-way playoff for a trip to the state playoffs a year ago. The season the Lumberjacks (1-1) started the season with a 69-20 shellacking of Lewis County before losing, 56-38, to Salmon River on Friday night. "They're huge, and they're fast," Clark said of Council. "We're going to have to play mistake-free football." And maybe get the type of defensive effort the Raiders posted Friday against the Braves, who boasted four players from Owyhee County, including junior running back/linebacker Steven Jim and sophomores Daxton Jim and KC Catches (RB/LB) and lineman J.J. Kelly. Snyder spearheaded Rimrock's defense against Owyhee from the cornerback spot. "He was just flying around the field and playing hard," Clark said. Snyder also got Rimrock on the scoreboard in the second quarter with an 11-yard scoring run.

✓ Defense

to credit the defensive line for doing their job." The defensive line's job helped Homedale shake off another lackluster first half to improve to 2-0. The boys up front also stymied Nampa Christian (0-2) offensively, holding the squad to 41 total yards. Nampa Christian gained just five first downs in 24 minutes and averaging only 1.2 yards per rush (34 yards on 29 carries). The visitors only collected 19 total yards after the break as Homedale turned it on to snap a 6-6 halftime stalemate. "(Nampa Christian) used a lot of multiple sets against us, and I can't think of one time where (Homedale's defenders) didn't adjust properly," Homedale head coach Thomas Thomas said. Homedale's defensive output countered the offensive unit's second consecutive poor showing.

Defense stops Nampa Christian cold

Quarterback Trevor Krzesnik, who fired his second touchdown pass of the season to Mat Hansen in the first quarter (the year's first TD went to Zach Tolmie in the Aug. 25 opener), was intercepted twice Friday. Nampa Christian's Michael Siegersma returned the senior's first pick 57 yards at the end of the first quarter to tie the game 6-6. Homedale also lost two fumbles, including a muffed punt by Bryan Martinat. But the home team's defense seemingly always had an answer. "They take the pressure off the offense because (the offensive players are) not performing as they should," Thomas said. A play before his ill-advised attempt to pick up the rolling ball on the tail-end of a punt, Martinat showed his blazing speed to catch up with a pass from Angelos, batting it away from receiver

Corey Johnson at the last possible second. A few plays after Martinat's muff, senior linebacker Daniel Valadez drilled a scrambling Angelos with the biggest hit thus far this season. The sophomore quarterback managed to hang on to the pigskin through the thunderous tackle, but two plays later Cortinas and Josh Jolley broke through to partially block a punt by Joshua Bollinger. After Homedale's Claudio Vargas uncorked a 7-yard punt early after his team's first possession of the second half, Jolley got his mitts on a punt after a high snap screwed up Bollinger's routine. Homedale gave the ball back on the next play with a fumbled handoff, but Maxwell and Co. threw Nampa Christian for a combined 13-yard loss on the ensuing series. Mark Vance made Nampa Christian pay four plays later with a 44-yard touchdown run to snap the 6-6 tie. The senior speedster rolled up 124 yards and two touchdowns on 14 carries for his first 100-yard game of the season. Perhaps performance was a tip of the hat to the defense for bailing out the offense. "We're playing as a team, and that's probably the biggest thing for us right now," Hart said. "They pick each other up." — JPB

Coach expects scoring from JV squad

More athletes, new quarterback, new league greet 2006 Mustangs

by Koehl Trautman, JVHS

Last year wasn't exactly the best year for the Jordan Valley High School football team, considering the lack in players. The Mustangs' 3-5 record comfortably found them spot at home during the 1A Oregon state playoffs.

However, in 2006 the Mustangs have lost only three seniors and have gained six upcoming freshmen, leaving Jordan Valley with 14 players, the largest number of athletes the program has had in recent years.

"Offensively, we will be a much different team than last season, when we struggled to find the end zone," Jordan Valley coach Jeremy Chamberlain said. "Our strength in 2006 will be our offensive line, which will average nearly 200 pounds.

"We have moved a number of last season's starters to new positions in order to better utilize our talents."

One of the Mustangs' seniors, Jerry Wroten, will switch from fullback to center. At 6 feet, 220 pounds, Wroten is not only a leader but also one of the Mustangs' most massive players.

Returning guards Quirt Cornett and Koehl Trautman will be a blocking force to be reckoned with.

Last year's quarterback, Alek Quintero, will be the Mustang's featured running back.

"Our change in offense will accomplish more scoring throughout the year," he said.

Junior returner Tim Eiguren will assume duties under center from Quintero. The 5-foot-11 Eiguren played tight end a year ago. Fellow junior Carlen Hipwell will see time at tight end, as will sophomore Zac Fillmore.

This year, the Mustangs bring six freshmen on board.

"They are an athletic bunch that will give the returning players a run for their money to attain their positions," Quintero said.

Chamberlain admits that there will be a learning process with so many young players.

"As the learning curve progresses, so will our young players," the coach said. "We have a lot of potential talent in the freshmen class.

"It will just be a matter of time before they are making huge contributions on both sides of the ball."

One newcomer, 6-foot-2 Dusty Easterday, will start the season as a running back, as will Bryce Kershner.

Tad Jones, Elias Cline, and Sonny Mackenzie will fill in as ends. Brandan Mackenzie is recovering from a hip injury, but will be playing toward the second half of the season.

The 2006 season will showcase a Josh Terry, a 6-0, 180-pound senior who is playing his first year of football.

Chamberlain has an optimistic outlook on the season.

"We have both speed and power in the backfield and are starting to throw and catch much better," the coach said. "As the year progresses, we should be able to air the ball out and open the game up with the passing game."

Chamberlain anticipates being in the thick of the race for a postseason berth as the season in the new High Desert League progresses.

"We are determined to be in the hunt for a playoff spot when November rolls around," Chamberlain said. "Our league will be well balanced this season so we will have our work cut out for us. It should be very competitive for only two play-off spots.

"Late-season injuries and the ability to win on the road will be the biggest factors for all teams this season."

Jordan Valley only has seven games scheduled this season, and four of the last five are on the road, including at Oct. 20 date at Adrian that rekindles a rivalry recreated when the Oregon School Activities Association realigned the state's schools.

The Mustangs open their season against fellow High Desert League member Burnt River at 2 p.m. on Sept. 15 in Jordan Valley.

River Bend women golfers crown annual invitational champions

Boise golfer Karen Darrington ran away with the championship Aug. 25 at the fifth annual River Bend Women's Golf Association Invitational in Wilder.

Darrington won the gross championship with a 1-under-par 71 at River Bend Golf Course. Nancy Bastida was second with an 84.

Joanne Odiaga and Paula Faulkner finished tied for first in the championship flight net division after each fired a 66.

In the first flight, Laura Rieker shot an 89 to post a four-shot win over Gale Dechambeau in the gross division. Vicki Luna carded a 69 and edged Rosie Pinkela by one stroke for the net championship.

Gayle Lydston recorded a 97 for a five-stroke victory in the second flight's gross division. Barbara Belknap was second.

Pat Huter and Barbara Anderson both scored 72s to tie for the net championship.

The following players won closest to the pin competitions during the tournament:

Mustangs volleyball ready to build on 2005 state finals

The Mustangs finished 20-1 a year ago, with their only loss coming in the state championship match in which they lost each game by two points apiece against Dufur.

This year, Jordan Valley has 25 athletes out for volleyball, including 19 returning players and six newcomers. Four of the first-year players are freshmen.

There are 11 seniors, including 2005 all-state tournament second-teamer Angela Larsen, Bailey Kershner, Lacey Kershner, Chelicy Payne, Breann Hipwell, Michelle Elsner, Megan Mackenzie, Sequio Trautman, Luisa Lowry, Shantel Gleason and Tina Stanford.

There are five juniors: Kelsey Prescott, Jessie White, Athe-

"We did have a little bit of a change in our league this year," the coach said. "Adrian came over to High Desert, and Mt. Bachelor Academy from up around Prineville, will be in the league.

"I look for our league to be strong. Adrian was at State last year and played really well. They are returning most of their players for this year, so they are going to be tough. They aren't going to be the only tough ones in our league; all the other teams have as much heart and drive as we do, so we can't overlook anyone."

Jordan Valley began its season Sept. 1-2 with the Nyssa Volleyball Jamboree. The Mustangs' regular season begins at 4:45 p.m. Thursday on the road against Nyssa.

"I think our team has gotten off to a very good start with all our practices," front row hitter/blocker Chelicy Payne said.

"We will be competitive like last year. I hope to win our first couple games for a little uplifting spirit."

Trojans runners surge into only home meet

As Homedale High School’s cross country team faces its only home meet of the season this week, coach Nick Schamber is excited about the prospects of the 2006 season.

The Homedale Invitational begins at 4 p.m. Thursday on a course designed around Homedale Middle School.

“The course is going to be hard and flat,” Schamber said. “That should make for some fast times.”

While the Trojans girls didn’t have enough competitors to place in the New Plymouth Invitational last week, the boys finished fifth in a field that included two 3A Snake River Valley conference foes.

“Overall, I felt we did a great job,” Schamber said of the New Plymouth excursion. “We placed fifth out of seven schools (and) one of the schools we beat was last year’s runner-up in the SRV, Payette.”

The other SRV team at New Plymouth — Weiser — posted dominating victories in both the boys and girls competitions, but Schamber takes solace in the fact that two teams from the SRV will qualify for the state meet.

And Homedale sent notice that it could be one of the stronger teams by defeating Payette.

“We’ve proven we can beat Payette,” Schamber said. “If we can beat McCall, then our team will make it to State.”

Schamber said the Vandals enter the season without former top gun Ian Farrout, who graduated last spring.

“Without him, I think we’ll match up with them pretty well,” the coach said.

Homedale will find out this week when McCall-Donnelly visits for the Homedale Invitational.

Junior Belen Vega, a state meet qualifier a year ago, finished second in the 5-kilometer girls race last week in New Plymouth. Amanda Palmer of Weiser won the race in 20 minutes, 31 seconds — 1:20 faster than Vega.

“Belen is coming off of some leg injuries from last spring’s track season,” Schamber said. “I felt she ran a pretty strong race.”

Senior first-year runner Kayla Bertagnolli finished 33rd in her high school debut. She ran a 32:47.

On the boys side, Homedale finished fifth in a race won by Weiser. Senior Scott Thatcher ran a 19:14 5K to finish third. Hank Garrison of Weiser won the race in 18:13, and Payette sophomore Zach Waynetska claimed second in 18:40.

Sophomore Tyler Gibson was the other Trojan to crack the top 10, finishing sixth and only 1 minute out of second place.

Senior Levi Jones was 46th at 24:34, John Howes was 49th at 24:52 and Drew Farwell was 52nd in 25:29.

New Plymouth also hosted a middle school race last week, with Weiser seventh-grader Marquita Palmer grabbing the top spot in the girls 3K race at 11:25. The Wolverines placed four runners in the top six and appear poised to assume the mantle from Middleton, which moved into the 4A ranks.

Vale’s Paul Spivey won the boys run in 12:11.

Homedale also trotted out four middle-schoolers for the meet — sixth-graders Reed Maggard (11th place), Corby Schamber (17th) and Alfonso Barbosa (18th) and eighth-grader Jarod Armenta, who finished 15th.

Homedale, Weiser and Vale will clash again Thursday at the Homedale Invitational.

Schamber said that boys and girls races will be held for middle school and high school divisions. Middle school activities director Luci Asumendi-Mereness said that sixth-grader Gabrielle Nash will compete with the other middle-schoolers during Thursday’s home meet.

“Our next race will be decent size,” Nick Schamber said.

The coach said teams that have committed to try out a new course include Boise, Timberline, Weiser, Vale, Nyssa, Parma, Payette, Parma, Cole Valley, Greenleaf Friends Academy, McCall-Donnelly, Melba, Ontario and Horseshoe Bend.

The middle school race starts the action at 4 p.m., followed by a junior varsity race at 4:30 p.m., the varsity girls competition at 5 p.m. and the varsity boys race at 5:30 p.m.

“Boise will be the strong favorite, but Parma — which just re-introduced cross country — has a strong boys and girls team,” Schamber said.

Marsing youth football starts season Saturday

The Marsing Lions Optimist Football and Cheerleading League begins its 2006 season Saturday with games at the Marsing High School football stadium.

The Marsing Lions, a tackle team for 11- to 12-year-olds, will start the day with a 9 a.m. game.

The Marsing Hardware Raptors, 9-10 tackle, play at 10:30 a.m.

The Kendall Electric Tigers flag football squad finishes the day with a noon kickoff.

“We have had over 90 boys and girls turn out for the football and cheerleading program this year,” Marsing league commissioner Aaron Bennion said. “We encourage the community to come out and support the kids.”

The Marsing Lions Optimist teams will play every date on their eight-game schedule at Marsing High School. The program is associated with the Boise Optimist Football program, which includes Boise, Meridian, Eagle, Star, Kuna, Nampa, Mountain Home, McCall, Emmett, Horseshoe Bend, Wood River and Glenns Ferry.

The season started for Marsing and other Boise Optimistic Football teams with the Optimist Jamboree Aug. 26 at Bronco Stadium on the Boise State University campus.

going down the path he started.”

The Antelopes will start down that path at 7 p.m. Friday in North Powder, Ore., against Powder Valley without several key seniors from the 2005 state playoff season. Adrian was 4-4 last year after its third first-round playoff loss since 1998.

Center Harley Gordon, who represented Adrian in the Oregon Shrine all-star game in Baker City last month, running back Brett Buchholz and defensive end Chris Schumacher are the most notable absences from camp this season. But gone also are hard-nosed, oft-injured running back Bobby Phillips and sharp quarterback Logan Branstiter.

“We’re looking at kids that are going to have to step up to take their place,” Shenk said. “I think the holes that are going to hardest to fill is defensive end. With Chris, we never had to worry about that side.”

Defensive end is a vital assignment in eight-man football. But the most important assignment in any form of the game is leadership.

Shenk, though, carries the demeanor of a chap who knows there is light at the end of the tunnel. And the tunnel may not be all that long.

“Anytime you lose a group of seniors like that, you don’t know what to expect the next year,” Shenk said. “But I’m really optimistic that this bunch of kids can really step up.

“I’ve never been with a better bunch. They have the best attitude I’ve ever seen.”

It helps when you have a quarterback like Kade Thomas returning for a full season as the starter. Last year, he was thrust into the role unexpectedly w h e n Branstiter had difficulty recovering after injuring his hand in a water-skiing mishap.

“Kade stepped in there between injuries and everything else and did a good job starting last year,” Shenk said. “His best quality is just being tough. In eight-man football, the quarterback sometimes takes a pounding.”

Thomas’ top target could be Joseph Witty, another of Adrian’s seven returning upperclassmen. But Shenk says that Witty could be one of the most versatile players on the roster.

“He started at offensive end last year, and he’ll be playing cornerback,” the coach said.

Joseph Witty

“Joseph is just a smart kid and can play anywhere you want him to.”

Junior fullback and lineman Levi Trotter is another jack-of-all-trades.

“He’s going to be one of those guys with a big ‘V’ on him,” Shenk said. “He’ll be very versatile and play wherever we need him.”

Jorge Michel is a senior who returns to the team after a year away. He’ll split time on defense between cornerback and middle linebacker.

“Jorge is one of these kids that just works hard, and he’ll do what you ask of him and won’t expect nothing but the best from himself,” Shenk said.

While the Antelopes lost their offensive line’s anchor with Gordon’s graduation, Shenk says he has two linemen who can step in and help out immediately in seniors Josh Mitchell and Jake Chisham, who will try to trace Gordon’s cleat-marks from the center position.

“He’s going to be our center, and he might play a little defensive end,” Shenk said. “He’s just one of those kids. He really works hard. He’s out there giving 100 percent all the time.”

Morgan Shira and Lawrence Shenk also will see time on the defensive line. Shenk is recovering from a dislocated kneecap suffered in Adrian’s game against Huntington-Harper last year.

“(Shira) is probably our stoutest kid,” Paul Shenk said. “He’ll just be strong both on offense and defense. And he might even get a chance to run the ball.”

But not before senior fullback Derick Rios and junior tailback Kyle Rogers take their shots.

“(Rios is) just fast and strong,” Shenk said. “Kyle probably weighs 150, but he’s pretty good and he has some wheels under him.

“He can run, especially when someone is chasing him.”

Jordan Valley ropers win in Baker

The Jordan Valley roping team of Ryan Bruce and Matt Grenke racked up $1,500 in prize money Aug. 19-20 at the OV Cattle Co. Saddle Roping in Baker City, Ore. More than $24,000 in total purse money was awarded during the two-day event at the Mackenzie Ranch Arena. Bruce and Grenke benefited from drawing a Gentry Steer, which carried an added-on rollover prize furnished by the Gentry Motors auto dealership. The Gentry Challenge put $500 on a steer in each round. If the steer wasn't roped, that cash carried over to the next round. Charley Crawford and Joe Painter, a team in the Open roping division, won the first $500 pot on Aug. 19, and Bruce and Grenke won in the #12 division. Kelsey Bengoa of McDermitt, Nev. (#6 and over) and Spokane, Wash.'s Justin Marcus (#5 and under) won saddles in the competition. Charly Crawford and Boogie Ray had a combined time of 44.18 seconds to win the open championship and $720. Rusty Bengoa and Travis Woodard were second and took home a $80 prize. Crawford and Painter had the fast time in the open division's first go at 5.84 seconds.

Orville Vance and Ronald Robinson were elected to the school board Tuesday when 43 votes were cast at the annual school meeting of Joint Class A school district No. 370, Owyhee and Canyon counties.

Mr. Vance, a write-in for trustee from district No. 5, was elected with 11 votes for a three-year term. Elmer Frank, present member, received 8 votes and another write-in, Kenneth Painter, one vote. Two ballots cast in this district were void.

Mr. Robinson, candidate for trustee from district No. 1, was elected with 17 votes. Vachel Hinton received four votes.

Mrs. Dora Upton was clerk of the election board and Mrs. Vella Taggart and Mrs. Wanda Matteson judges.

School enrollment slightly below 1st day a year ago

A total of 704 students are enrolled in the grade school and high school this year, according to Charles Zollinger, superintendent of schools.

This year’s enrollment shows a slight decrease from last year’s first day of school when 720 students enrolled.

Mr. Zollinger says he expects another 25 or 30 students to enroll in the schools, which would bring enrollment above last year.

PACIFIC RAILROAD. As this great work is progressing westward and eastward with encouraging vigor, the interior communities can but feel a deep interest in the route selected. It is the eastward work from California that particularly interests Idaho. We remember distinctly the burlesque map made of this great commercial artery by Doesticks in his Plu-ri-bustah, in which he made it pass through every city, town and hamlet between the Lakes and Gulf west of the Missouri. While the exactions of many would require it to do so or meet their strongest opposition, it must be admitted as a proposition of truth that the road should be constructed over the route which will prove the most remunerative to the company — hence be of service to the greatest population. The questions arise, will the company’s interests be best subserved by adapting their line to the wants of a small burg or two? Or to secure the trade of two large and extensively rich gold and silver producing Territories? The mines in and about Austin, Nevada, would be much more valuable and the mining interest greatly promoted by more rapid, cheap and pleasant communication, but the Railroad Company should seriously inquire whether it would not be much more wise in it to secure the bulk of the trade of Idaho and Montana than to bend the line to the doors of a place comparatively insignificant, to nearly a total avoidance and loss of this immense northern trade. The road should be extended as far north as possible not to take it too far out of a direct line to Salt Lake. For many years we expect no railroad at our doors but a palpable matter of interest to the company dictates its construction at least as near to us as via the Humboldt route. As will be seen by an extract in this paper from the Humboldt Register, the Engineer Corps have examined and report most favorable on this route. By adopting it, the road would not only secure the entire trade and travel of Idaho south of the Salmon River Range but nearly all of the Territory of Montana. This route would accommodate the prospectively rich district of Black Rock; would bring this section of Idaho with in thirty hours of railroad facilities; would attract all the southern trade with or without a branch road that it would get by passing every burn with the main line, and from the best and latest information be the most eligible route for rapid and cheap construction. The studied silence of California metropolitan journals regarding the extent, population, and unsurpassed mineral wealth of Idaho and Montana Territories, has prevented the company from seeking its own interests — dollars and cents — intelligently. There is little doubt but the recent Humboldt survey was made solely with a view to secure more favorable country for construction; while, if adopted, the trade of the road will be, immediately, millions more annually. The company should send a number up this way to see the report of the prize they will secure by adopting this route and will miss by its rejection. We propose to note this subject, in another issue, in greater detail.

PROSPECTING MADE EASY. Prospecting preceded actual mining. It is attended with much hard work and expense, and more exposure than mining. Genius has done much to reduce the expense and lighten the labor of mining, while it has neglected prospecting, which is still carried on in the same old style. Many surface appearances lead the prospector to sink shafts and run tunnels, and as experience is extended the more accurately is labor applied. Many thoughtful people agree that labor expended at points which practical observation teaches us to believe a vein exists, is the only true method of finding a mine; but a “genius” has applied a cheaper process which he holds to be infallible. He was seen in Long Gulch this week. He has wholly discarded the pick, shovel, sledge, drill, powder and fuse, and has substituted a forked stick. Whether the stick possesses any charmed or supernatural properties known to the operator only, we do not know; but if it don’t then all we have to do when we want a mine is to get a forked stick, take a prong in each hand with the united end upwards, and take a stroll over the hills, and when a vein is crossed the upper end will turn down in spite of the most powerful efforts to the contrary.

The “genius” under consideration says he was blindfolded and in this condition wandered over War Eagle and in doing so crossed the Poorman, and the stick turned with such force that four yoke of cattle could not have prevented its inversion. We would suggest that some speculative cuss go round to cut and secure all the forked sticks in the country and monopolize the business of supplying prospectors. As they are pronounced unfailing guides to ledges of great value, we expect to see our mountains thronged with honest miners and forked sticks instead of old played out utensils. The “genius” now traveling with one should be caged and sent to P. T. Barnum. He would sell for more money than most ledge taken East and be a more profitable investment. The prospecting millennium be come.

NEW SILVER DISTRICT DISCOVERED. Mr. Lobeneau, Mining Engineer and Assayer, who came by the last Chico stage to Silver City — in the employ of Mr. Blake, assayer — reports that the miners now working at the Pueblo copper mines have just discovered a silver ledge five feet wide, which he pronounces a sulphite of silver — containing 85 per cent of pure sliver. This is quite equal to the Poorman. The Pueblo mines are located on the Chico stage route, and about 150 miles from Silver City. It is on the stage range of the Black Rock, in Forrest District and where the ores have been successfully worked by the mills at Virginia City and Washoe. Wood and water are in close proximity to this ledge, and in ample quantities for mining purposes. This discovery will be interesting to miners who intend returning from Idaho to California. We are indebted to Capt. Mullan for the above statement.

WATER MEETING. Pursuant to notice, an aqueous body of men convened on last Saturday evening. No organization was effected. Other business prevented our presence, and as the meeting had no Secretary, we are obliged to report it from hearsay. The principal features of the meeting were speeches by A, B, C, and D, a synopsis of which, a gentleman present informs us, is in substance as follows:

- A. I understand this meeting contemplates supplying this town with water, and I wish to notify it that myself and others claim a certain spring to the rear of the city. We expect to run a tunnel into the mountain at a nominal cost of about $4,000, and supply a few families who eschew water as a beverage and rarely perform an ablution. This statement being the object of my presence, I retire.
- B. I simply arise to remark that I have no heart in this project, and my means shall neither promote the work nor aid it when completed. My reasons are satisfactory to myself.
- C. This gentleman heartily endorsed B’s remarks. (We discredit the accusation that B and C are in the lumber and carpenter business. ED.)
- D. My observation leads me to observe that there is less demand for water in Silver than in any place I’ve resided. I’ve kept it on hand constantly, and can only make it profitable by adulterating it with whisky. I have sometimes to even go as far as to palm the mixture off for whisky — or it would spoil on my hands. The difficulty I’ve experienced in disposing of small quantities admonishes me not to aid any organization having for its object a greater supply. My experience leads me to believe that a small boy could be hired for $25 per month to supply this city with all the water it needs except in case of fire. And if everything is like my customers, fire in Silver will make slow progress in the work of destruction. I, therefore, move an indefinite adjournment of this meeting.
- E. This motion was carried instantly, and the speakers retired enthusiastically singing —

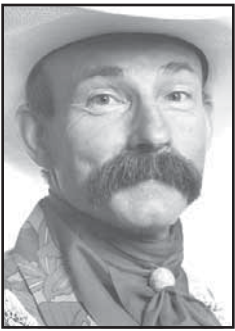

John Barleycorn was a hero bold, of noble enterprise; For if you do but taste his blood, Twill make your courage rise. Twill make a man forget his woe; Twill heighten all his joy; Twill make the widow’s heart to sing, Tho’ the tear was in her eye.

Naked dedication

It was a case of naked dedication. Dick had been to the state meeting. His committee had run late, and it was after midnight when he got back to the ranch. They were practicing fall calving in his part of the Umpqua Valley of western Oregon. Rains had been making things mucky. As he mounted the steps, he stopped in his tracks! There in a pile, under the harsh porch light were his wife’s clothes. Right down to the dainties. He looked around ... he wasn’t sure why he looked around, he just did. Earlier that evening at twilight, Mo — short for Maureen, his wife — had made the heifer check. She found none in the process of calving and was about to go to the house when she heard a plaintive bawl down by the pond. Working her way through the fresh cow pies and mud — shuck, she called it — she saw a 2-day-old black bally calf. He was standing elbow deep in the dark water.

Mo looked down at her tennis shoes, looked up at the drizzling rain, gritted her teeth and stepped into the shallow end. The sucking mud pulled at her shoes as she grabbed the calf’s tail. He tried to go forward, deeper into the pool, so she pulled back. His tailbones cracked like someone shuffling cards!

Unable to move the calf with brute force she used her female brain. Mo straddled the calf and by lifting his legs one step at a time, she backed him the 10 feet to the water’s edge. Along the way, he pulled her down to her knees more than once, but eventually quit struggling. The calf’s legs, neck and belly were coated with thick mud, as were Mo’s extremities. They looked like chocolate figurines you’d find in the Easter basket.

As the cold, little calf wriggled and shook, Mo did her best with her hands to scrape the thick muck from their bodies. It was not without the occasional slip, slap, splash and drag. Using a water hose she got him clean enough, to where she hoped his mama would recognize him. Lifeguard duties over, soaked to the skin and shivering, she unpeeled on the porch, washing each barnyard-stained garment inside and out with the hose, and left them in a pile.

At daylight the next morning, the hired man showed up early. He came to the house to talk to Dick. Standing on the porch he noticed the sodden pile of clothing. Women’s clothing, he observed.

He looked around. He wasn’t sure why he looked around, he just did.

The cruise back to the real world

Our ship docked at Victoria, British Columbia, at dusk. Victoria, located on the southern tip of Vancouver Island, was the last scheduled stop on our seven-day cruise. Because we had arrived an hour late, we would have about three hours on shore. We were scheduled to leave at 11:30 p.m. and dock in Seattle early Saturday morning. At 4 p.m. Saturday, the Dawn Princess would depart Seattle on the same seven-day route, with 2,000 new passengers.

It was raining as we climbed on buses for the short ride downtown. The city obviously is geared to cruise ship schedules. Although it was nearly 10 p.m., most of the shops were open for business. A band was playing on the sidewalk in the center of the business district, protected from the rain by a canvas shelter.

Our foursome browsed through some of the souvenir shops. I was somewhat distracted because I really needed to find a rest room. The first shop didn’t have one, nor did the second. Finally, I spotted a sign in the third business pointing the way to the facilities. I walked down a long hall and was confronted with a another sign stating that the rest rooms close at 5 p.m. Apparently, Canadians do not pee in the evening, an observation I made in a fairly loud voice when I returned to the store. If that made me an “Ugly American,” so be it.

Eventually, we found a little coffee shop with a rest room — the only one open in downtown Victoria, judging from line of people waiting. The young lady behind the counter seemed accustomed to dealing with the situation as she cheerfully offered us free snacks to take our minds off the wait.

Leaving the coffee shop, we made a quick circuit of downtown before returning to the ship. By the time we got back to the dock, it was doing some serious raining and we were getting seriously wet.

Back aboard, we agreed to go to our cabins, dry off, then meet in the 24-hour buffet on Deck 14 for a snack. It was almost midnight when the ship edged away from the dock very quietly — as if Captain Bob didn’t want to disturb the 10,000 seagulls roosting on the roof of the adjacent warehouse. We watched the operation while dipping breaded shrimp in cocktail sauce, savoring the final hours of our holiday.

As the lights of Victoria faded from view, we had to come to grips with the cruel fact that by the following night we would be back in the real world where people have to cook their own meals — where there are lawns to mow and dishes to wash and carpets to vacuum. We would be back in the world where we would have to go back to work to pay for the idyllic, decadent week spent on the Inside Passage.

I am writing this on a Wednesday, three months removed from our voyage to Alaska. And as has happened almost every day since our return, I catch myself thinking, “Today the ship is moving up Tracy’s Arm. It is late enough in the season that it will be able to go all the way to the glacier. And tomorrow it will be in Ketchikan and the salmon are probably really biting.”

I wish we would win the lottery. The first thing I would do is call Al and Cindy. I would tell them to drop whatever they are doing and pack their bags because we will be leaving on the next cruise ship bound for Alaska or Australia or the Baltic Sea or the Mediterranean or wherever. I would tell them to pack a lot of clothes because there are a lot of cruises and maybe we will just get off one ship and get on another for a couple of years. I suppose there is a slight possibility we could get tired of cruising but I doubt it.

It sure was fun.

Paul’s Market family, employees, customers have been wonderful throughout the years

On Sept. 9, I will be retiring from sales in the Homedale area. For over 45 years, I have had the privilege of serving this community. It began in my parents’ grocery store, candling eggs and pouring vinegar from a 50-gallon barrel into quart jars brought from home. Bread was 10 cents a loaf and cigarettes were 25 cents a pack.

What a journey it has been to reach my 30th year in a modern Paul’s Market. I am excited about the future and sorry my health is slowing me down.

To Paul, Stan and Steve Zatica and their families: Thank you. Because of you, I had a clean, decent place to work to support my family. You have stood by me through the hard times. Through all our ups and downs, you have shown me respect and kindness. I am exceedingly grateful to each of you and wish you well with the remodel.

To the seven managers and hundreds of employees I have worked with through the years: It was amazing. What fun it was learning from each of you, and I have been excited and proud to see so many of you succeed in life. Many of you are friends for life, and I will carry you always in my heart.

To the customers: I have struggled to find the words for you. We have laughed, cried, grew and prayed together. In my times of happiness and loss, you not only wrapped me in your arms, but you supported me emotionally and financially. Each of you has been a uniquely special gift.

You have shared so much of yourselves with me that I often wonder how you had any left to give elsewhere.

Thank you for the jokes, the recipes, the jewelry, the cards and gifts, the smiles, the patience, the lessons in honesty and trust, the caring and all the hugs.

You have made my journey bearable and worthwhile.

Accuracy In Media

Incomplete story showcases media, not federal, incompetence

by Roger Aronoff

Bashing the feds over the handling of natural disasters and terror threats is a popular media sport. We all snickered when it was reported that the federal government considered a petting zoo and an Amish popcorn factory to be targets for terrorists. Now we have learned that the media got that story wrong, too.

When it was first reported that the Department of Homeland Security's (DHS) spending priorities meant less money for New York and Washington, and more for places like Nebraska and Wisconsin, the media and a lot of politicians roared with contempt. When DHS responded that the new figures represented a combination of the smaller amount appropriated by Congress, the quality of the applications by the various locales, risk assessments and the fact that places like New York and Washington had been front-loaded with infrastructure in the previous years of the program, it made little difference. The editorial decision had been made to discredit DHS.

The contempt became ridicule when, in early July, a DHS inspector general's report was made public that described a "critical targets" list that included a petting zoo in Alabama, a Mule Day parade in Tennessee, and an Amish popcorn factory in Indiana as critical infrastructure that DHS planned to protect. At the same time, according to early reports, such icons as the Empire State Building and the Brooklyn Bridge were left off the list. This was considered by the media to be the second DHS misstep in just two months. The Bush administration was on the defensive.

The Washington Post reported that the DHS list had grown to more 77,000 targets, including "bean festivals, car dealerships, small-town parades and check-cashing stores." The media and the late-night talk shows had a field day.

Deep in the story, however, the Post had a comment from Robert Stephan, the assistant DHS secretary for infrastructure protection, who said that the 77,000-item database is "only as an information source for more refined analyses of critical targets." This put the controversy in a very different perspective.

Stephan had more to say on the subject, and he wrote a guest column for USA Today the following week. In it he explained that they had sought input from local, state and federal officials, and that the list of 77,000 represented a "phonebook" of items from around the country that then was narrowed down to a classified list of some 600 potential targets nationwide. They included the leading financial centers, nuclear power plants, major seaports and airports, dams and petrochemical plants.

Stephan, a retired Air Force colonel, criticized the DHS inspector general for not having interviewed him for the report, and having "missed the purpose of the database entirely ... [he] focused on raw, unfiltered data to create national hype. That's akin to looking at what's left on the cutting room floor rather than at the movie, then giving it a half-star rating."

He added, "That does a huge disservice to the department's dedicated men and women and to the American people, whom they have served so ably for the past three years."

The media thought they had another story of federal incompetence. But what we have discovered is that it's really a case of media incompetence. The media did not take the time to look into the real facts. They wanted a quick laugh at the expense of federal officials who were doing their jobs. But journalists became the joke.

Viability of rural communities vital to Idaho's growth must be protected

by Sen. Larry Craig

"The more things change, the more they stay the same." This old saying makes a lot of sense, especially when I look at the people and communities of Idaho.

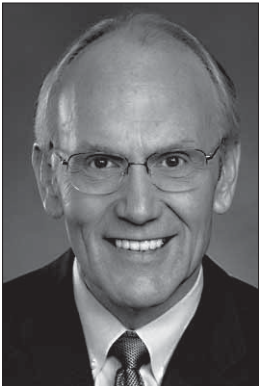

Don't be fooled. Although our state has grown a lot over the past 20 years, Idaho's rural communities are still a very important part of our state's culture and values. While the state's bigger cities may get most of the attention in the papers or on the evening newscast, Idahoans' character and past can easily be traced to a small town. Having grown up in a small Idaho community, I am determined to make sure that rural Idaho does not fade into memory, but remains vibrant, and that rural Idahoans have every tool they need to be successful.

One of the most important tools to success is a high-quality education. Too often, Idaho's schools suffer from a lack of financial resources because the economic base of many counties in which these schools are located is severely limited. Limited by what? A high percentage of federally owned lands. Some counties, like Custer County and several others, are more than 90 percent federally owned. County Assessor Brett Endicott said the amount of federal land in Owyhee County is comparable to Custer County.

This might be nice for recreationists, but — at the moment — Idaho's schools are largely funded by property taxes, and the federal government is exempted from paying those.

So in counties like these, the limited supply of private land means economic activity is limited too, and therefore, so are the property tax revenues available to these counties and their school districts.

Recognizing this problem, Congress, in the early part of the 20th Century, reached a solution. The federal government would send 25 percent of the annual federal timber receipts harvested in a particular county to the coffers of that county's government. For generations, this arrangement worked fairly well, until timber harvests began to dwindle on public lands in the 1980s and 1990s.

Sen. Larry Craig

As a consequence, the timber dollars coming into county coffers did, too.

So in 2001, I teamed up with Sen. Ron Wyden (D-Ore.) and a number of other colleagues on both sides of the aisle to craft a temporary fix. What became known as the "Craig-Wyden" bill (the Secure Rural Schools and Community Self-Determination Act) set a floor on the amount of federal funds rural counties would receive. The program was intended to help begin an economic transition for counties that were heavily dependent on timber to a broader-based economy, and it has helped do that in many places. And while it always was intended to be a temporary program, the time has not yet come to end it.

The difficult question that faces us today is how to pay for the Craig-Wyden program. The Bush administration suggested selling off parcels of public land to raise the necessary funds, which was soundly rejected by most Westerners, myself included. Others have suggested expanding federal income tax withholdings on private contractors, which I also cannot accept.

At the same time, Congress and President Bush are working hard to eliminate wasteful spending and reduce the federal budget deficit. It pleases me to report that the Office of Management and Budget estimates that by 2008, we will have cut the deficit in half — one year earlier than President Bush's target date of 2009. But the question remains: How do we raise more than half a billion dollars at a time when Congress and the president are aggressively squeezing the budget (an action I strongly endorse)?

We may have to pass a one-year extension of the program to buy a little more time to find a longer-term solution.

I admit, we have not found an answer yet, but let me assure you, we are looking for one. This is turning out to be a tough nut to crack, but I didn't come to the Senate to only solve the easy problems. Don't be fooled — we're not done with this one just yet.

— Larry Craig is a Republican U.S. senator from Idaho.

CITY OF HOMEDALE
STATE OF IDAHO
ORDINANCE # 365

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING ORDINANCE 265 PERTAINING TO WATERWORKS;AMENDING HOMEDALE MUNICIPAL CODE, TITLE 13, CHAPTER 13.04, ITEM 070 DELINQUENT BILLS.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND THE CITY COUNCIL OF HOMEDALE, OWYHEE COUNTY, IDAHO:

SECTION 1: SHORT TITLE

Delinquent water bills for real property located within the City of Homedale will be the ultimate financial responsibility of the property owner.

SECTION 2: PURPOSES AND AUTHORITY

Whereas, information has been laid before the City Council of the City of Homedale tending to show that current system of collection of delinquent water bills from the water consumer is inadequate and that the financial well-being of the citizens of the City is required to be protected and controls need to be in-place. This article is intended to help solve the problems caused by the current high rate of default on water bills by water consumers within the city limits of the City of Homedale, Idaho .

SECTION 3: DEFINITION OF PROPERTY OWNER

The "property owner" is defined as the listed owner of the real property where water services are received as listed in the records of the City of Homedale and the County of Owyhee.

SECTION 4: CHANGES TO

CODE 13.04.070:
13.04.070 Delinquent bills.

A. All water bills shall become due and payable on the first day following meter reading and billing periods hereinafter described, for which the city water was used or was available for use.

B. If bills are not paid by the fifteenth day of the month the same becomes delinquent and water service will be terminated on the sixteenth day of the month. A $25.00 per occurrence reconnect fee will be charged at the time the City turns the water off. Prior to the consumer's water being turned back on, both the delinquent bill and the reconnect fee must be paid in full. In the event the bill is not paid in full by a renter, the property owner will be notified of the amount owing and service will not be reconnected to the residence until the amount due is paid in full by the property owner. The city council shall have authority from time to time to raise or lower the assessment charged for 'turn-on' and 'turn-off' fees by a majority vote of the city council, rather than by ordinance.

C. 1. All applicants for water service within the city of Homedale shall pay awater deposit.

2. The water deposit shall be the sum of seventy-five dollars ($75.00) for residential users, and seventy-five dollars ($75.00) for commercial business users.

3. The city council shall have the authority to increase or decrease the water deposit charge by a majority vote of the city council, rather than by city ordinance.

4. The water deposit shall be refundable to a user who does not own the premises to which water service is supplied within thirty (30) days from the date of user's written notice to the city that he is terminating the water service. Said refund shall be returned to the user within said thirty (30) days provided the user's account is paid in full. In the event the user's account is delinquent, the deposit shall be applied toward such delinquency and any remaining balance shall be refunded to the user.

5. The water deposit shall be refundable to a user who owns or is purchasing the premises to which water service is supplied after twelve (12) months of continuous use when it is determined by the city clerk that the user's account has been paid in a timely manner throughout said twelve (12) months. In the event it is determined by the city clerk that the user's account has not been paid in a timely manner, the question of whether the user should receive a refund shall be determined by the city council. If such refund is not returned to the user at the end of one (1) year because of the user's failure to pay his account in a timely manner, the user's deposit shall be held by the city until such time as the service is terminated in which event the user's deposit shall be applied toward any unpaid amounts owing on user's account and any remaining balance shall be refunded to the user. After one (1) year of continuous service, the user may petition the city council for a refund of the user's deposit in the event it has been determined by the city clerk that such refund shall not be paid because of untimely payments, and the city council shall determine if such refund shall be paid to the user.

D. The city shall then, if it so desires, collect a deposit equal to an estimated billing for two (2) peak billing periods of the delinquent customer at the then current rates. This may be collected in one (1) or two (2) installments to be determined by the city. This deposit will then be held for a period of twelve (12) months when a review of the account will be made. If the account is determined to be in good standing, it will then be refunded. (Ord. 265 1, 1987; Ord. 250 1, 1985; Ord. 217 17, 1980).
