Homedale's Ensley goes to work at Wyoming JC

The wrestling mat has been a constant in Jeremy Ensley's life for as long as he can remember.

That won't change even now that the four-time state champion has graduated from Homedale High School.

Ensley begins practice with the Northwest College wrestling program in Powell, Wyo., this week. The season begins with the Powell Open on Nov. 4.

"Jeremy has the skills not just to compete in college, but to excel as a college athlete," Homedale wrestling coach Toby Johnson said.

"I hope he takes full advantage of that opportunity."

Ensley will be wrestling at 125 pounds for veteran Northwest coach Jim Ziegler, who guided the Trappers to the National Junior College Athletic Association national championship in 2004.

Marsing's star running back to concentrate on defense at BSU

Marsing High School senior football player Shea McClellin has committed to Boise State University and changing positions.

McClellin, the 6-foot-3, 225-pound linebacker for the Huskies, said he gave a verbal commitment to Broncos coach Chris Petersen on Sept. 17, and his mother told The Owyhee Avalanche before the Sept. 22 game against Cole Valley

Trojans face arch-nemesis Weiser for inside track to state playoffs

It might be next to impossible to overstate the importance of Friday's 3A Snake River Valley conference football showdown between Homedale and Weiser high schools.

And, just in case someone is curious exactly how crucial this game is for the Trojans, take a listen to coach Thomas Thomas.

"We just know that they're a tough SRV team, and if we win, we'll get the higher seed in the state playoffs," the fourth-year coach said.

That's right. Second game of the conference season, and Thomas is talking like it's crunch time.

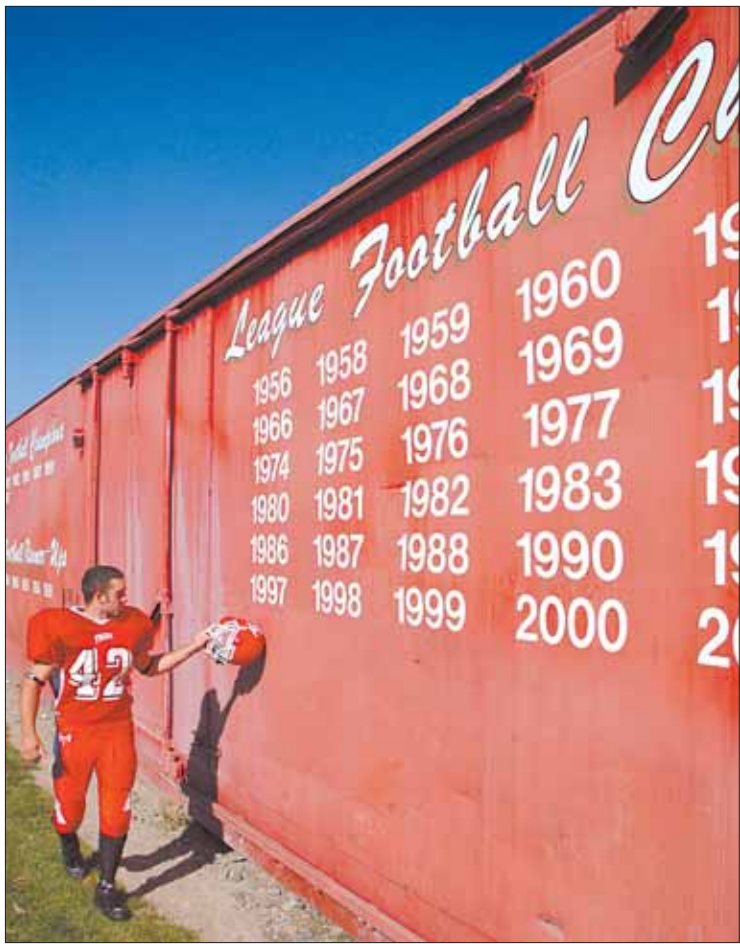

"The next three weeks will dictate what position we get in the playoffs," the coach said.

That's the way things go when you're in a five-team conference and the top three teams earn tickets to the postseason.

The three teams expected to battle for postseason consideration are Homedale, Fruitland and Weiser — same as last year except that all three probably will reach the playoffs this year. It's just a question of where each will fall in the 3A state bracket.

Fruitland is 2-0 in the SRV after knocking off Weiser and McCall-Donnelly. Weiser is 1-1 (3-3 overall), but could really foul up Homedale's plans with a win at Deward Bell Stadium on Friday.

The Trojans (5-0, 2-0) are off to their best start since the 2000 season when then-coach Greg Asbury led Homedale to nine straight victories before a 13-6 loss in the second round of the

A-3 (now 2A) state playoffs to Kamiah.

It has been nearly as long since Homedale last beat Weiser, which puts an exclamation point on top of all the hype for Friday's 7 p.m. kickoff.

The Wolverines kicked off the Trojans' spiral to the end of the 2005 season with a 57-12 victory in Weiser last year.

But no one is talking about that rout this season.

"I have not brought up anything about it," Thomas said. "This team has a different mindset. I

After gutsy win at Parma, Huskies seek control vs. NP

Call it The Season, Part II.

Marsing High School's football team collected its biggest victory of the season with a 23-16 2A Western Idaho Conference triumph over Parma last Friday.

A hefty dose of senior fullback Shea McClellin (career-high 279 yards rushing with three touchdowns and two interceptions from his linebacker spot) and an ever-evolving defense was the perfect elixir for the banged-up Huskies (3-2 overall, 2-0 2A WIC).

"The season was tonight, especially with the injuries that we had," Marsing coach Don Heller said. "When we get a victory on their field for their Homecoming, that's great.

"This game was bigger than any game all year."

Until, perhaps, this week.

Marsing has a record identical to that of New Plymouth. The Huskies also share the 2A WIC lead with the Pilgrims.

Oh, and New Plymouth visits Marsing for a 7 p.m. game Thursday with sole possession of first place resting squarely on the line.

"We have New Plymouth at home," Heller said. "Having home-field advantage for that is good."

The Huskies have won both games played on Marsing's turf this season. Further bolstering the team is a recent trend of being able to win Homecoming games.

After a long drought, Marsing has won both of the Homecoming games it has played this season — two weeks ago at home against Cole Valley Christian and Friday on the road against Parma.

The rebirth of Marsing's success can be traced to the presence of a hungry bunch of seniors, Heller said.

'They've been building. ... And these kids, they don't give up.'

— Don Heller
Marsing football coach on his seniors

"They've been building," the coach said. "These seniors have all had to start since they were freshmen, and they worked their butts off.

"What hurt us last year is we had some seniors that didn't want to work as hard as those kids. And these kids, they don't give up."

Case in point would be Friday against Parma (1-4, 0-2).

Staked to a 15-0 lead by the barreling ways of Boise State-bound McClellin, the Huskies watched as, in a 54-second span over the second and third quarters, Parma flashed to a 16-15 advantage.

First, Panthers senior wide receiver Cody Gentry beat Marsing's Miguel Quebrado on a slant pattern for a 39-yard touchdown reception with 50 seconds left in the first half.

"In the first half, we called a timeout, and we just didn't pay attention to what we said and they got the long pass on us," Heller said. "That gave them some momentum, and they came right out (in the second half) and jumped on us."

Less than a minute later — after

Raiders volleyball grabs pair of Western Idaho Conference wins

Ellie Cantrell served six aces to account for nearly one-third of her 21 service points for the Raiders (7-4 overall, 6-3 1A WIC) in a match played in Bruneau. Cantrell also had four kills and six digs.

Anna Cantrell registered eight kills and nine blocks, while Jackie Thurman chimed in with four kills and two aces.

Gem State (6-6, 4-4) got four kills from Danielle Lawson and five assists from Katrina Lawson.

Balanced Trojans roar into district soccer tournament

Five different players scored in two games last week as the Homedale High School boys soccer team tuned up for the 3A District III tournament that begins Saturday.

“We had an excellent week,” Homedale coach David Correa said. “Our team has been playing great soccer for the last four games.

“I have seen a gradual improvement in every game we play. I hope we can keep this momentum going as we approach the district tournament.”

The district tournament will be played at the site of the highest seed for each matchup. The Trojans are scheduled to play McCall-Donnelly in the opener Saturday, but the location of the match wasn’t known at press time.

The Trojans and Vandals played their Snake River Valley conference regular-season finale in McCall on Tuesday.

“We are looking forward to the district tournament,” Correa said. “We are going through a good moment in our season.

“The team is showing the skill, determination and strength necessary to beat any team in our conference.”

shared the scoring duties as Homedale drilled the Payette goal with 20 shots.

Ulysses Vargas stopped eight shots from the Pirates.

Vasquez gave the Trojans (5-5 overall, 4-3 SRV at week’s end) a 1-0 lead two minutes into the game against Payette.

Guillermo Machuca rocketed in a penalty kick to put Homedale ahead 2-1 in the 57th minute. Nestor Machuca iced the game with a goal 10 minutes before the final whistle.

Homedale 5, Fruitland 0

Senior Cory Uria carded a hat trick as Homedale drubbed Fruitland in an SRV game played Sept. 26 at Sundance Park.

“We dominated the game from the very beginning,” Correa said.

Uria scored in the eighth and 27th minutes in the first half then gave Homedale a 3-0 lead with a score 9 minutes after the intermission.

Nestor Machuca scored in the 53rd minute, and senior David Liddell capped the offensive outburst with a shot in the 66th minute.

“The team looked strong and always in control of the ball,” Correa said. “The midfield as the key in the victory, anticipating every play from Fruitland and disputing or winning every ball and then supplying the forwards with nice passes.”

Homedale fired 26 shots on the Fruitland goal, while Ulysses Vargas made seven saves for the Trojans.

Crane dings hobbling Antelopes' HDL hopes

Don't look at the final score for the story about Adrian High School's 52-8 High Desert League loss to Crane on Friday.

"It was a little bit better than it sounds by the score," first-year coach Paul Shenk said. "Crane was big, tough and fast, and I didn't have (the Antelopes) ready."

The Mustangs (4-0 overall, 3-0 HDL) settled into a tie with Prairie City (4-0, 3-0) atop the High Desert standings.

Adrian (2-2, 2-1), which has been slapped with a rash of serious injuries in the past two weeks, slipped into a tie for second place with Burnt River (3-1, 2-1). The Bulls visit Adrian at 7 p.m. Friday, and the Antelopes tackle the challenge of Prairie City on the road in a crucial game Oct. 12.

"It does put pressure on us," Shenk said of the loss to Crane. "We have Burnt River this week, and they almost beat Crane. The fact is they should have."

Crane escaped a road game against Burnt River on Sept. 22 with a 28-26 victory.

There would be no such close call against the Antelopes.

Crane scored the game's first four touchdowns as Ed Stevens found the end zone after runs of 23 and 41 yards. Cody Henricks rumbled 51 yards for another score, and quarterback Wes Davies zipped a 13-yard pass to Chris Brower as the Mustangs built a 28-0 third-quarter lead.

"I guess I just didn't have them ready for them mentally," Shenk said. "With all the switches and changes they threw at us, we couldn't get our offense clicking."

Adrian senior Derick Rios returned the kickoff after Henricks' TD 81 yards for the Antelopes' only touchdown. Rios rushed 27 times for 102 yards to lead the Antelopes, who were held to just 191 yards total offense after piling up nearly 1,300 in the two previous games.

"We had opportunities," Shenk said. "We were on the 2-yard line, and they stopped us in the third quarter."

Shenk said the Antelopes drove inside the Crane 20 twice.

But Adrian was fighting more than just one of the HDL's top teams. The injury bug continued to haunt the Antelopes.

"Necks and knees," Shenk said.

One week after tailback Kyle Rogers' season was ended by two cracked vertebrae in his neck, Adrian senior middle linebacker Jake Chisham suffered a similar neck injury Friday while trying to tackle a Crane ball carrier. At Monday's press time, Shenk was awaiting word on the severity of Chisham's injury.

"It was just a freak deal," Shenk said. "He was pursuing the ball and he says he doesn't know whether he tripped or got blocked from behind, but he jammed his facemask into the ground."

Shenk's son, senior lineman Lawrence, also missed the Crane game with a knee injury.

"There was a big residual," Paul Shenk said. "When you're talking 11 kids that are your mainstay and four or five are injured, it's tough."

The coach said at some point injuries begin to perpetuate themselves because of the shallow roster.

"They're serious injuries," Shenk said. "You're always used to dings. But what happens is you put more pressure on the other kids, so you're probably playing them a little too hard. So you create the chance for more injuries."

Jordan Valley picked up its first victory of the season in impressive fashion Friday on the road.

The Mustangs (1-2 overall, 1-2 HDL) routed Huntington-Harper (0-4, 0-3), and will play host to winless Monument-Dayville (0-3, 0-3) at 3 p.m. Friday.

Rimrock to face Mustangs

Rimrock High School's football team takes a sputtering offense on the road Friday to play unbeaten 1A, Division I co-leader Horseshoe Bend.

Kickoff is 7 p.m.

The Raiders (1-5 overall, 0-2 1A Division I) have been outscored 80-18 in their past two games, while the Mustangs (5-0, 3-0) are coming off a 44-16 victory over Idaho City.

Rimrock was shut out until the fourth quarter last week in a 20-8 non-conference loss to Wells, Nev.

Quarterback Nate Hofer scored the Raiders' only touchdown after Wells had mounted a 20-0 lead. Hofer finished with 23 yards on four carries, while he completed 7 of 12 passes for 50 yards and an interception.

Freshman Richardo Araujo led the Raiders on the ground with 58 yards on 12 carries. Sophomore T.J. Snyder added 53 yards on 14 carries but fumbled twice.

Wells limited Rimrock's offense to just 194 total yards.

Hofer also was the mainstay on defense for Rimrock, racking up 13 tackles. Carlos Salinas had seven tackles and a sack to go along with a fumble recovery, while Isaac Steiner added seven stops and Snyder threw in six.

a prolonged halftime because of Homecoming — Parma was in the end zone again when Ian Black's 77-yard scamper on a trap play and a two-point PAT pass from quarterback Rance Portenier to Gentry gave Parma a 16-15 edge.

But Marsing's defense stiffened, ensuring that the Panthers would get no such chance again.

"We got our composure back and started making some hits, and it made a big difference," Heller said.

So did McClellin.

He snagged his second interception of the night on Parma's next possession then — four plays later — cruised into the end zone untouched from eight yards out for what proved to be the winning touchdown.

"The praise goes to our line," Heller said. "There were some massive holes."

And that was without 6-foot-3, 210-pound senior left tackle Johnathon Cossel, who sat out the game with an injury.

Manny Herrera, a 5-8, 202-pound senior, was pressed into duty.

"As a freshman, he was our water boy," Heller said. "He comes out here tonight and starts at tackle and does a great job for us."

McClellin hit pay dirt three times Friday, but nearly every Marsing back who touched the ball tasted success. The Huskies rolled up 376 yards on 62 attempts.

"Every time (the linemen) did their job, and we had holes all night long even with (Parma) blitzing," Heller said. "It was fun."

"I enjoy coaching them because we'd run a couple plays and burn (the Panthers), and they'd overstack and we'd go somewhere else. That's just our offense."

Trojans medal at SRV cross country meet

Three Homedale runners place in top five on tough Rolling Hills layout

Scott Thatcher is a busy guy these days. The Homedale High School senior has been trying to organize a community preparedness fair for his Eagle Scout project and he also runs for the Trojans' cross country team. Last week, he found a way to finish second in the 3A Snake River Valley conference 5-kilometer race on a tough Rolling Hills Golf Course layout in Weiser. And he ran with strep throat, according to Homedale coach, Nick Schamber. Thatcher was runner-up to Weiser's Hank Garrison on a track with even changes in elevation to justify the name of the golf course. Thatcher finished in 19 minutes, 9 seconds, and Trojans teammate Tyler Gibson was fifth in a time of 20:20. Homedale's boys finished third in the team standings behind champion Weiser and McCall-Donnelly. "Teamwise, we placed third ahead of Payette," Schamber said. "We're a few points behind McCall. If we can beat McCall, then our team can qualify for State." Three Trojans medaled. In the girls race in Weiser, Belen Vega was the top finisher for Homedale, bringing home third place behind a pair of Wolverines. Amanda Palmer won the race, and Weiser teammate Becca Wiggins was second as Weiser ran away with the team title, too.

Talkative Adrian gets another win in volleyball

The Adrian High School volleyball cruised to another High Desert League victory Friday behind all-around effort. Sarah McPeak registered 10 kills as the Antelopes beat visiting Crane 25-16, 25-10, 25-17. "I feel like every player is working hard to contribute and make a team effort," Adrian coach Aimee Goss said. "I was pleased with their intensity level tonight, and they are stepping up their communication on the court." Paige Branstiter picked up six kills and three blocks to go with two aces for the Antelopes (13-1 overall, 4-0 HDL). Amanda Simpson continued her stellar performance this season from the service line with six aces. Setter Ryann Bowns added two aces and 10 assists.

Mustangs volleyball on a roll

Jordan Valley High School's varsity volleyball team swept through its action last week to continue its strong season. Angela Larsen dominated at the net with 11 kills Saturday as the Mustangs beat non-league foe Nyssa 25-22, 25-19, 25-13. Bailey Kershner added 20 service points, while Chelicy Payne had three kills. "Nyssa has improved since the last time that we played them, and I felt our girls really stepped up and played ball for the first time," Jordan Valley coach Jacque Naegle said. "They were thinking on the court and placing the ball instead of just hitting, and I really like to see that. "Coach Elsner and myself were really pleased with how the weekend went."

Jordan Valley def. Huntington 25-17, 20-25, 25-9, 25-13 The Mustangs traveled to Harper, Ore., on Friday for a High Desert League tri-meet with Huntington and Harper. Nickie Naegle picked up 24 service points in the first match as Jordan Valley need four games to beat Huntington 25-17, 20-25, 25-9, 25-13. "I had the opportunity to play my younger players against Huntington, and they started out a little slow but stuck with it and really on in the third and fourth games," Jacque Naegle said. Kayla Cuvelier carded eight kills for the Mustangs, with Athena Beckwith chipping in seven. Catie Kershner and Nickie Naegle recorded nine assists each, while Cuvelier, Beckwith and Megan MacKenzie each had one block apiece. Jordan Valley def. Harper 25-22, 25-7, 25-9 Nine kills from Angela Larsen, and eight more from Kelsey Prescott helped the Mustangs pull away in the second and third games against Harper on Friday. "The girls played really well," Jacque Naegle said. "We, again, had to adjust to a different kind of game on defense, and once we got rolling we did well." Naegle said the Hornets' gameplan was hampered when two of their players were injured on the same play. Jordan Valley's Bailey Kershner dished 16 assists, and Breann Hipwell added 11. Prescott and Angela Larsen recorded two blocks each. Prescott and Larsen led the serving heroics, too, with 16 and 14 service points, respectively. Junior varsity Jordan Valley at Nyssa Nickie Naegle served for 13 points, and Kayla Cuvelier and Athena Beckwith turned in five kills apiece as the Mustangs' B team swept Nyssa, 25-14, 25-18, in a non-league match. Naegle led the way with five assists, too. Jordan Valley's C team also won in two straight against the Bulldogs, posting a 25-16, 25-19 victory behind 12 service points and five assists from Ashley Hebison and three kills from Sequoi Trautman. Annie Eiguren had four service points and three assists, while Annie MacKenzie turned in four service points and a kill.

Jordan Valley at Huntington The Jordan Valley junior varsity squad played three games Friday, beating Huntington 25-8 in a one-game match. The Mustangs also knocked off Harper 25-13, 25-10. "The girls played very well. They communicated and moved well on the floor," coach Jacque Naegle said. "They have not had the opportunity to play for a couple of weeks because the other league teams we have played do not have a JV, so I was really proud of the girls they really stepped out and played ball."

Rope and Ride thrills throngs

by Kay Kelly and Jordan Valley Rodeo board

The spirit of the West was alive and kicking at the eighth annual Owyhee Rope and Ride gathering hosted by the Jordan Valley Rodeo Association on Sept. 22-24.

The event, held before an enthusiastic, record crowd, has raised more than $170,000 for the legal defense funds of Owyhee County Cattlemen and Oregon Cattlemen since its inception.

The Stock Dog Trials began Sept. 22 with dogs hailing from Oregon, Idaho, Nevada and California. Finalist Dogs: Will (Bill Boyd) winner of the Open Class. Lucy (Rosey Stoddard) won Rancher Class, and Creasy (Robyn Nuffer) took top honor in the Started Class.

The winning rider of the Stock Saddle Bronc Riding competition was Tim Maher with a combined score of 149.

Pickup Teams, those valuable men and horses who haze the bronc when bucking time has elapsed and aid a dismounting rider, donated their wages right back into the fund.

Asking around to find the origin of the term “muley” proved fruitless.

The Sept. 23 muley (hornless cattle) roping consisted of 84 teams. The team with the fastest time was Robert Crutcher and R.C. Crutcher.

Seventy-seven teams signed up on Sept. 24 to compete in the Last Eighty businesses and individuals donated money, prizes or supplies for the concession stand. Wally Blossom and Terry Russell supplied the horses for the Stock Saddle Bronc Riding and the Sept. 24 horse roping. The lively cattle, donated by Agri Beef for the muley roping, proved to be healthy elusive runners.

Sponsors included agribusiness, ranchers and private individuals and supporting enterprises from the eastern Oregon-western Idaho Owyhee River region.

Jordan Valley Rodeo Board president Vern Kershner said a special thanks also goes out to Connie Brando and her secretary crew of Kenny and Sylvia Bahem who ran the silent auction.

Buckles were donated by Mackenzie Ranches, 06 Livestock, Forest Fretwell, Doug Burgess, Harrell-Mackenzie Quarter Horses and Dee and Robert Miller.

Additional happenings: An Arock community made quilt, a 4-wheeler and a cowboy teepee were among the raffle prizes. A silent auction included 40 items pledged or on display. Bids were taken throughout the weekend.

Injury report: Somehow Patrick Stanford (right-handed roper), rope singing around the horn, managed to entangle his left thumb in his dallies enough tear part of the thumb from his hand.

Injury Update: At last report, announcer Pat Stanford was at home, sitting up, eating chocolate pudding and was heard talking on the telephone with a call-in radio show.

Two of the three Marsing Lions Optimist Youth Football teams began the season unbeaten after three games recently.

The Marsing Hardware Raptors' defense didn't give up a score through the team's first three games in the 9- to 10-year-old tackle bracket. The Raptors edged Meridian Gold 6-0 before crushing Meridian Blue, 40-0, and Meridian Maroon, 30-0.

The Marsing Lions, an 11-12 tackle squad, was 1-1-1 after three games. They beat Thornton Oliver 8-6 in their opener, but since have played CM Company to a 6-6 tie and lost 20-0 to the Boise Police. CM Company tied the game with a touchdown in the final seconds.

Marsing's flag football team, the Kendall Electric Tigers, are off to a 3-0 start after beating Ziblit, Outback and Les Schwab. The Tigers entered Saturday's games on a 10-game winning streak dating to the beginning of the 2005 season.

The action continues Saturday at Marsing High School with a 9 a.m. RST fund-raiser for the Marsing Lions, a 10:30 a.m. game against Remington Carter for the Raptors, and a noon game against ReMax Advantage for the Tigers.

Pepsi PPK sectional visits Marsing later this month

The Marsing Lions Optimist Football program will sponsor the Sectional NFL Pepsi Punt Pass and Kick competition at 2 p.m. Oct. 21 at the football field in Marsing.

Winners from local competitions in Caldwell, Boise, Fruitland, Payette, Nampa, Marsing and many other communities will be competing for top honors from both genders in age divisions ranging from 8 to 15 years old.

Owyhee athletes take shot at ICA Finals

Some of the state's top cowboys and cowgirls, including several from the Owyhee region, are expected to compete Friday and Saturday at the Idaho Cowboys Association Finals in Nampa.

Performances will be held at 7 each night at the Idaho Center Horse Park.

Admission is $10 for adults and $5 for children and seniors. Tickets are available at ictickets.com or by calling (208) 442-3232.

An awards show and ICA Crisis Fund silent auction will be held after Saturday's performance.

Several athletes with Owyhee County ties are in the running for season championships this year.

Former Owyhee County resident Rob Black of Meridian leads the all around by more than 120 points over Homedale's Luke Jeffries.

Black also leads the tie down roping competition, and Jeffries chimes in at fourth place.

Jeffries also is second in steer wrestling.

Jordan Valley's Mark Gage heads up the saddle bronc standings with Homedale High School senior Bryan Martinat sitting in third in his rookie season.

Homedale's Karen Ewy sits in second in barrel racing.

GFA's Owyhee runners continue to excel

The past two weeks have been productive for the Owyhee County athletes competing for the Greenleaf Friends Academy cross country team.

On Sept. 26 at the Melba Invitational, Marsing's Ciara Law finished seventh with a time of 24 minutes, 47 seconds. Another Marsing product, BrieJoy Bermudez-Koch, was 10th in 25:36 as the Grizzlies girls placed second.

Brandt Graber, a Homedale resident who is the son of GFA coach Sonja Graber, ran a 24:11 in Melba.

Law achieved a personal-best time running for the Grizzlies in last month's Bob Firman Invitational cross country meet.

Law finished 32nd out of a field 108 in the varsity division 2 girls 5-kilometer race Sept. 23 at Eagle Island State Park. She was clocked at 23:04.

Brandt Graber also pulled down a personal record, running a 22:48 in the division 2 boys race.

Greenleaf's high school and middle school teams compete Thursday in a meet at C.J. Strike Reservoir near Rimrock High School.

At the middle school level, Homedale's Kendra Graber captured the championship of Thursday's Middleton Invitational. She ran the 3-kilometer course in 14:02.

On the boys side at Middleton, J.B. Bermudez-Koch of Marsing was 10th as the Grizzlies team finished third.

In the Firman middle school meet, Graber ran the best 3 kilometers of her life, finishing seventh in a time of 12:48.

Huskies volleyball still searching for win

Senior setter Kortni Scott averaged 6.5 assists per match last week, but the Marsing High School volleyball team's season-opening losing streak stretch to 12 outings.

Scott had a kill and six assists, and teammate Amanda Staudenmier added two kills and two blocks in the Huskies' 25-14, 25-17, 25-15 2A Western Idaho Conference loss on the road to Parma on Thursday.

Erica Cox recorded 11 kills for the Panthers.

Marsing (0-11 overall, 0-6 2A WIC at week's end) began last week with a four-set loss to visiting New Plymouth that may have given Huskies coach Loma Bittick a glimpse of what could be.

Kaitie Kent dished four assists and had a kill, and Staudenmier carded five kills, two blocks and five service points. The Huskies picked up a narrow victory in the first game, but eventually fell to the Pilgrims 21-25, 25-12, 25-7, 25-15.

CC Zanardi added five blocks and two kills, while Scott recorded seven assists.

Setter Alisha Shipman piloted the Pilgrims' offense with 16 assists and seven aces. Teammate Macee Cole racked up 14 digs and eight kills.

Frank Church to visit in county

Frank Church, Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate, will spend Thursday, October 11, in Owyhee County, starting with a tour at Bruneau in the morning and ending at Homedale that evening, according to Bill Harder, Grand View, Owyhee County chairman of the Democratic committee.

Mr. Harder and Wayne Grammer, Murphy, committee secretary, were in Homedale Tuesday evening to make plans for the tour.

Plans call for Frank Church to join Owyhee County officials and candidates at Bruneau Thursday morning. The get-acquainted tour will move on to Grand View at noon for a luncheon sponsored by the Grand View Civic Club.

The tour will continue through Oreana and Murphy to Marsing where a coffee hour will be held at Rosehaven.

A dinner will be held at the El Gavilan at Homedale Thursday evening, followed by a talk and get-together at the American Legion hall.

Mr. Harder expressed hope that many Owyhee County people would make an effort to meet Frank Church and county officials and candidates during the tour.

“Mr. Church is a man Idaho will be proud of in the United Sates Senate,” he said.

A limited number of tickets will be available for the dinner at the El Gavilan, due to limited facilities, but it is expected that the Legion hall will accommodate everyone who wants to hear and meet Frank Church in Homedale.

‘Pat’ Muller named county Grassman of the Year

M. G. (Pat) Muller, rancher and cattlemen from the Wilson community, was recently chosen Owyhee County Grassman of the Year and will compete in the state grassman contest, according to John K. Noyes, Marsing, of the soil conservation service. A write-up of his ranching operations is being prepared for submission in the state contest.

Winner of the state contest who is judged to have the best soil conservation practices and pasture management will compete in the Northwest regional contest.

Idaho’s winner two years ago was Milton Branch of Cambridge who went on to win the Northwest Grassman title. Last year, Don Swan represented Owyhee County in the state contest and won third.

Muller is a careful manager and keeps complete records on all phases of the operation of his 800-acre ranch, which is planted entirely to pasture, ensilage and alfalfa. All construction and improvements on the place are carried out personally by Muller.

Yearly programs of conservation practices, including land leveling, reseeding and other necessary work keep the property in top condition.

The Muller ranch is unique in Owyhee County due to the fact that “Pat” runs all of his cattle on his own land the year around, taking advantage of no grazing rights. His statistics prove that this is a profitable way of raising cattle in the county, due greatly to the generally poor public range conditions throughout the county, Noyes said.

The pastures, all of which are planted with improved varieties of grasses, are watered from a private reservoir maintained by Muller to store and distribute his own irrigation water.

In addition to his ranching duties, he is chairman of the Farmers Home Administration, Marsing.

High school will hold carnival Saturday, Oct. 13

The Homedale high school will sponsor a carnival in the high school gymnasium from 7:30 until midnight on Saturday, October 13.

Bingo, darts, fish pond, spook tunnel, cake walk, and ring toss are just a few of the exciting attractions that will be sponsored by either a class or organization.

The profits from each booth will be divided equally among its sponsor, the athletic department, and the yearbook fund. The class whose candidates are chosen king and queen will get one-third of the proceeds from that project.

LOCATION OF CLAIMS. Again we refer to this subject. The law is faulty, but until near the assembling of the Legislature, an extended review of its defects would be next to useless. The work required to hold a claim under the present law must be performed within one year from the date of recording and shall be one hundred dollars worth of work for each and every claim of two hundred feet of said lead or lode; said work to consist of the following: The stripping of the lead or lode, sinking of shafts, excavating of tunnels, obtaining machinery, and preparing material for working said lead or lode in good faith. At a careless glance, the bad effects of such law are apparent. If instead, the law were plain and required a man who wished to hold a ledge show by actual labor that he had discovered a well defined mineral bearing vein, every miner would know just what must be done, and every prospector could see such ledge, and that any subsequent claim upon it would be willful jumping. Under the present law, a piece of ground may be held for mining purposes without even striking a pick in the ground or removing a shovelful of earth. It only requires an expenditure of $100 — either in stripping, sinking, excavating, obtaining machinery, or preparing material. Now, a hundred dollars spent in obtaining machinery, or preparing material, or in both, or a portion of it expended in stripping &c., may be just the correct modus operandi of establishing title to a mining claim, but it will be difficult to so convince reasonable men. Under the present law, claims may be held as real estate and forever, too, without any evidence on the ground so claimed — except stakes and notice. Real, earnest miners will do what the law should, but does not, compel then to do, viz: Open and show that a real vein of mineral rock exists in the ground claimed. In discoveries, nothing less than this should constitute a title; in extensions, men might and often do expend more labor that the discoverers, without finding the ledge. In such cases, a reasonable amount of well directed labor should establish title for a limited period; but a law that gives fee simple to land for mining purposes, upon which there is no visible evidence of mineral, is neither just to prospectors nor conducive to mineral development. It discourages the former and retards the latter. The converse of this proposition will be difficult to establish; but should it be done, we will own our error.

CURRENT SLANG. In view of the all-prevalent use of slang phrases, we would suggest that some of our enterprising publishers would do well to publish a comprehensive dictionary of out of the way expressions. Our young men and maidens indulge in language today which would have astonished and disgusted their grandparents. The fast young man, when he would drink, (and that’s always) asks for a “wash.” When he would smoke he demands a “torch.” When he is drunk he is “swipsey.” When he gambles he “slings the pasteboards.” When he sleeps he “goes through somebody.” His friends are “gay ducks,” “no slouches,” “bully boys,” and “bricks.” His enemies are “hits” and “suckers.” A good writer “slings a nasty quill.” A dancer “throws herself into a dangling attitude.” A man is “nibs,” and a woman a “hen.”

in the penal sum of $2,000 with A. E. Woodson and Alfred Owens as sureties, was approved and ordered placed on file.

The bond of Louis F. Alpey, as Coroner of Owyhee County, in the penal sum of $500 with Fred Grete, Geo. Slagel and Charles Hanson as sureties, was received and approved.

The report of P. H. Brown, on Streets, in Silver City, north of Long Gulch, was received and ordered filed.

O. A. Palmer and R. S. Miles are appointed to assess damages, if any, that may inure to H. R. Maize and Alexander Cameron in running cross street on the property of said Maize and Cameron, and report to this board at their earliest convenience. Report was made on Tuesday and rejected.

Ordered that the Sheriff of Owyhee County be instructed to provide ways and means to remove O’Bryan and from the bounds of Owyhee County, and present bill to the Treasurer for payment.

C. Davis and R. E. Hallock were appointed and instructed to lay out a cross street from Washington to Jordan Street, and across said street, in Silver City, north of Long Gulch, commencing at the northwest corner of the property of H. B. Maize, and extending across Jordan Street 1,000 feet in an easterly direction; said street to be not less than 30 feet wide; and, also, to report the damages that any party or parties may sustain by reason thereof; and to report to this Court on the third Monday in October next. Said Commissioners are given desertion to make the location of said street on any of the adjacent grounds they may deem best.

The Road Supervisor for Road District No. 2 is instructed to clear all obstructions on Second Street, in Silver City, commencing on Jordan Street and remove all obstructions on said Second Street easterly to Jordan Creek and to use the whole power of the County to assist in doing so, if necessary.

Ordered that the Collector of promiscuous licenses be and he is hereby required to report the names of each and every party or parties to whom any license may issue; also, the date of said license and time when issued.

Adjourned on the 25th until the third Monday in October.

R. H. Brown’s report to the County Commissioners on the street question on Maize’s Point is in substance: Possibly $200 damages would result to A. Cameron by running said street; none to Maize on account of the increased value that would inure to his property; and none to Goodrich & Abbott. The street should be opened but no contributions from citizens could be obtained to purchase ground for it, except to identify Cameron, as Administrator of the estate of Geo. Hastie; but that liberal contributions could be had for building a bridge across Jordan Creek to connect with the N.Y. & O. road, and eventually with the one to Ruby.

FREIGHT. We have been shown freight bills just received in Silver, via Portland. The freight was shipped at San Francisco August 2d fifty-nine days ago, and none of it is yet received. The amount is twelve and one-half tons, and the bills show that it costs the shipper sixteen and one-half cents per pound. The same firm is receiving goods from San Francisco via Sacramento at a fraction less than twelve cents per pound — including every species of charges and in many days less time in transit. John R. Foster — forwarder at Umatilla charges the modes little sum of $60 30 commissions on twelve and one-half tons of freight; and aside from this, when the goods were received at Umatilla, freight from that point to this was reported to be seven cents per pound, and he kept it on hand till it is now fourteen cents — as per late advices. The river bills show a part of the same lot of freight to have been shipped from Portland to Umatilla for $30 and a part for $60 per ton. Freight is coming via Sacramento quicker, and 4½ cents lower than via the ocean and river routes. Comment would be superfluous.

Cattle feeders: Then and now

This summer, within 30 days of each other, I was at the Idaho Old Timers Feedlot Reunion where the average age of attendees was close to 70 years old, and the Adams County, Iowa, Cattle Feeders and Farm Bureau BBQ where the average age of attendees was under 40.

My generation is the one in between those two. I worked for the old timers when they were in their prime, and I am still able to serve as a somewhat slow but occasionally useful advisor to the younger set. There are glaring differences between the old-time feeders and the new ones. Technology is the most obvious. In the '60s and early '70s, most data collection was done by hand or with primitive punch card automation. Feed truck drivers carried clipboards with load weights, average daily gain (ADG) was calculated at the end of 120 days when the heavy end of the pen sold, and cutbacks were lumped together to go into oblivion.

In the Midwest, feed was mixed like cement — five scoops of corn per bucket load of silage and a cup full of supplement sprinkled on top. Packing house buyers sorted fat cattle in the alley favoring blacks and black ballys simply because they matured quicker and assumed they would grade higher. Charlais were discriminated against and considered an exotic breed.

The old-timers were the first to be forced to deal with the Environmental Protection Agency. It took many years for these individualist, stubborn cattle feeders to acknowledge that the EPA was not going away.

Today, the modern feedlot functions like many other 21st century businesses. It is a highly computerized business, allowing commodity inventories to be monitored, ADG to be estimated, costs to be projected. Safety and quality control are priority. Environmental protections are in place and officially approved.

Today, the paperwork nightmare has been replaced by an efficient, readily available electronic database that serves as a management tool as well as a feeding history.

Yet there is one factor that has remained consistent from the old-timers in Idaho down through the young lions in Iowa ... the risk. That same “gambler’s urge” that has driven people who feed cattle to hang it all out, to bet their knowledge and experience and borrowed money on a fickle, explosive, unpredictable market. It’s the thrill of the chase.

Granted, you can hedge your cattle, you can feed ’em to gain, meet all the EPA’s requirements, use every product that promises production, but time has taught us that nothing is a sure-fire guarantee.

As one ol’ timer told me, no matter how much technology modern man can create ... it’s hard to break even if ya don’t buy ’em right!

Train-stopping

When I see a long lines of vehicles stopped because a train is blocking a railroad crossing, I remember a day, 40 years ago, that the tables were turned.

In June 1965, our National Guard unit was moving out for north Idaho for two weeks of training. The unit had a number of new members (including yours truly). Because of our lack of formal military skills, they made us “road guards.” Road guards, race ahead of the main convoy and stop cross traffic at intersections so the convoy won’t have to stop.

The young lieutenant in charge of the detail gave three of us newcomers a Jeep and sent us off ahead of the convoy. Our first assignment was at the intersection of Highway 30 and Star Road, near the present site of the Idaho Center, on the outskirts of Nampa. Before taking our post, Smith (I can’t remember his real name) and I dropped off Orcutt (again, I not sure of the name) at the railroad crossing about a half-mile beyond the intersection. My assumption was that if a train showed up, Orcutt’s job would be to stop the convoy.

A short time later we spotted the lights of the approaching convoy. Smith and I were getting into our positions when we heard the horn.

The westbound train appeared to be the “Portland Rose,” the Union Pacific passenger train that came through the valley daily. The Rose usually clipped along at better than 60 miles per hour. Since the convoy on was only going about 35 mph, I assumed the train would be clear of the Star Road crossing long before the first vehicle got there.

As we waited for the convoy to reach our intersection, Smith remarked that the train engineer seemed to be using his horn more than usual and the bright yellow diesel locomotive appeared to be slowing. We looked toward the crossing. Orcutt was standing between the rails, facing the train, with his hand up in a “halt” signal.

“Jeez!” said Smith. “I think Orcutt’s trying to stop the freaking Portland Rose! I don’t think we are supposed to stop the Portland Rose!”

I agreed with his assessment.

The lead vehicle of the convoy, a Jeep containing the company commander, passed our position. The captain was staring ahead toward the railroad crossing. He had a funny look on his face. I followed his gaze. Orcutt was still standing on the tracks, his hand raised. The Portland Rose had come to a stop about 100 feet down the tracks. The engineer was still blowing the horn.

“Jeez!” said Smith. “Orcutt stopped the freaking Portland Rose!”

After the last vehicle of the convoy passed our post, we hopped in our Jeep and drove to the rail crossing. Orcutt surrendered his spot on the tracks and jumped in the back seat. As we pulled away, the train was already moving again, gathering speed.

We suggested to Orcutt that stopping “traffic” for the convoy didn’t include stopping trains. He insisted he only was following orders.

It is my understanding that later the general in command of the Idaho Army National Guard was called to the governor’s office to explain why one of his soldiers had stopped Union Pacific’s crack streamliner to give a convoy the right-of-way. The general called the colonel in charge of our Engineer Battalion and asked the same question. The colonel had a talk with the captain in charge of our company. The captain asked the lieutenant in charge of the road guard detail why someone had stopped the freaking Portland Rose. In the military, “stuff” rolls downhill. I don’t think Orcutt ever got more than a “Don’t EVER do that again!” advisory, since he was, after all, just a dumb recruit.

There sometimes are advantages to being the lowest element of a food chain.

From Washington Wildfire prevention is a constant task

by Sen. Mike Crapo

In early August, I toured active fire sites in Idaho. Even then, before increased fire activity late in the month, it was easy to predict what September would look like: the fires multiplied and continued to burn through the month. These disasters reinforce the fact that responsible forest management must happen before and after the fires.

Idaho and the West are experiencing the worst fire season on record. Idaho’s rainfall is at a record low. At one point last month, more than 82,000 wildfires had consumed more than 8.8 million acres nationwide; Idaho ranks third this year in number of acres burned. We all know the tragic outcome of unplanned wildland fire: destroyed property, degraded air quality, fish and wildlife habitat damage and safety threats to lives and communities.

Fire plays a valuable role in our ecosystem; however, in many cases we aren’t talking about normal, healthy, ecosystems. Fires resulting from unnatural fuel loads do tremendous damage to our forests. With the current state of our forests, this happens all too often.

In 2004, Congress enacted the Healthy Forests Restoration Act (HFRA) to improve forest management. HFRA provides federal land managers with tools necessary to focus forest health improvements on sensitive rural-urban interface areas, near municipal water sources, in threatened and endangered species habitat, and where disease or insect infestations threaten adjacent private lands. Progress is being made to limit risk on federal lands. Unfortunately, the process of treating forests for fuels reduction is lengthy and often stymied by lawsuits.

While the critical work of HFRA is implemented, additional storms, fires and other natural events are contributing to the backlog of more than 1 million acres of national forests in need of reforestation. We have a situation that applies not just to fires, but to the aftermath of other catastrophic natural disasters, such as the tornado that tore through Idaho’s Payette National Forest in June ruining nearly 5,000 acres of public and private forested land. Catastrophic destruction can happen slowly as well: insect infestation is all too evident in the tell-tale dead and dying timber peppering our forests. The forested acres affected by these events will remain in danger even after the flames are extinguished.

On Aug. 2, I held a hearing on the Forest Emergency Recovery and Research Act of 2006 (FERRA). Federal officials, local and state leaders, scientists, foresters, the environmental community and private interest groups testified at the hearing, and I’m convinced that the tools in FERRA are needed to address this crisis in our woods.

FERRA looks toward restoration by providing federal

Irate plane passenger reveals angry Left’s dangerous side

By Roger Aronoff

Just days after the announcement in England that 24 people were detained in connection with a plot to blow up American-bound jets, a possibly related news story was breaking. A flight from London to Washington Dulles was being diverted to Boston because of the erratic behavior of one of its passengers, who turned out to be an angry leftist.

The woman, Catherine Mayo, 59, was from a city named Braintree in Vermont. She was carrying a screwdriver, certain liquids and matches, and urinated on the floor of the plane. She spoke of putting something together that the flight crew interpreted as a bomb. She mumbled two words, an apparent reference to al-Qaida.

She was certainly troubled, as admitted by her lawyer. But she was political as well, possibly driven to her mental state by reading too many left-wing blogs. She has a background as a “peace activist” and claimed to be an anti-war journalist. In short, she appears to be the spawn of the anti-Bush political left.

In an affidavit, one of the flight attendants described her as “biting her fingers, rubbing her feet and in a constant state of movement. She appeared very agitated.” According to the Washington Post, she wrote a note to a flight attendant that she had been in a country illegally, and that she had pictures of Pakistan. The Boston Globe reported that her ex-husband said they had been divorced for four years, and that she had had emotional problems. A passenger on the flight said that Mayo described herself as a reporter, returning from Pakistan, and trying to test airline security to see what she could sneak onto the plane.

She tested these procedures by pulling down her pants and urinating right on the floor of the plane. That is when the captain ordered her to be restrained, and they put her in plastic handcuffs. She has been charged with interfering with a flight crew, punishable by a possible $250,000 fine and 20 years in jail. According to the Post, “federal officials have said they have no indication that Mayo had any links to terrorism.”

Officially, that seems to be true. But both the Post and Times made reference to the fact that her son described her as a peace activist, and said she had traveled “often” to Pakistan since she established a pen pal there in 2001. According to an Associated Press article, she said that the pen pal was a boyfriend.

The New York Times said that she wrote columns for The Daily Times of Pakistan “criticizing the war and American policy.” The Times quoted a March 18, 2003, column: “I am an American child of the 1960s. We defied the standards of our parents and declared that a war was unjust. And we were heard.” She added, “The folk songs of the 1960s will never be written again because of President George Bush. He has hampered the liberties of my country in the name of Sept. 11.”

To his credit, James Taranto of the Wall Street Journal’s Opinion Journal.com dug deeper. He found five of her columns on that site, and came up with even more revealing quotes from one of her columns:

“I think the U.S. people have forgotten that President Bush didn’t win the election. He only got the job because they couldn’t decide what to do with pregnant chads in Florida. ... When President Bush announced that God was telling him to bomb Iraq, my stomach turned over. He has no right to include God in his State of the Union address. It is forbidden by law; the church and state are completely separate in the United States. No politically elected person can use religion for his own ends.”

“The government of the U.S. has changed in the last few months, and the citizens of the country haven’t noticed yet. It has become an oligarchy. Its leaders rule with a wave of their hands, laughing into their sleeves. They can create any truth they want, and then create proof that it is real. They are accountable to no one. ... ”

“The people of the U.S. don’t have power anymore. That’s what the Muslim world needs to understand. When President Bush says that he is God, the ordinary people go out and shovel the snow out of their driveways. There is nothing else they can do.”

Mayo certainly sounded lucid in her writing. And very left-wing. She had definite feelings about the war in Iraq. In July of 2003 she wrote that, “Never in history has the U.S. made such a bad mistake.”

Demonstrating contempt for Bush, she said:

“America is the leader of the world. It is in charge of human rights around the world. It is in charge of the ecology of the globe so that a good life can be lived by future generations. It is in charge of the intellectual advances of the human race. Its goal is freedom for all, the freedom of each individual to live the way he chooses inside the universal moral standards of humankind.”

We don’t really know what drove Catherine Mayo to the brink of madness that day in August on the flight from London. It could be another case of the malady Bush-Induced-Madness (BIM), which has previously infected the likes of George Soros, Howard Dean, Michael Moore, Cindy Sheehan and The Dixie Chicks. The symptoms include walking around aimlessly, muttering unintelligibly, and now urinating on the floor.

land managers with tools to respond immediately following forest disaster, limiting the negative effects on neighboring communities. This forward planning means disaster recovery plans that contain pre-approved management practices.

Additionally, FERRA requires forest health partnerships with colleges and universities when establishing post-catastrophe research projects and requires development of independent, third-party peer-reviewed research protocols.

FERRA recognizes that without responsible and responsive recovery efforts in the immediate aftermath of disaster, a forest becomes more susceptible to additional fire and pest outbreaks that threaten families and wildlife that live in and around our natural resources.

As we work to rebuild after the worst forest fire season in years, we need to take stock of what is working and what isn’t. We must continue to implement the good work that HFRA directs, and we must complete the cycle of responsible forest management with effective post-disaster recovery that reduces the risk of devastation in the future.

This recovery must begin when the last flame dies out, not a moment later.

ATTENTION: RESIDENTS OF GRAND VIEW IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR DRINKING WATER:

Effective January 1, 2006 the US Environmental Protection Agency reduced the drinking water standard for Arsenic from 50 parts per billion (ppb) to 10 ppb. The two Well’s supplying water to the City of Grand View was tested on September 5, 2006 and has an Arsenic concentration of 22 ppb, which exceeds the Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL) set forth by the EPA. This is considered a violation of the federal drinking water standard. Although this is not an emergency, you have a right to know what is happening, what you should do and what your water company is doing to correct this situation. The City of Grand View is required to provide quarterly public notice of this excess EPA standard Arsenic level. Until such time as Idaho Department of Environmental Quality (IDEQ) notifies the City that this notice is no longer required you will continue to receive this notice every quarter.

What happened? Arsenic is a natural deposit occurring element thought to enter the water source from contact with natural rock formations.

What health effects? Arsenic can cause adverse health effects, including cardiovascular disease, diabetes mellitus, skin changes, nervous system damage, and various forms of cancer.

What is being done? The City of Grand View is taking action with City Engineering Firm – Holladay Engineering Co. with an engineering study to create a plan for removing the arsenic from the City Well’s in the form of a possible Arsenic Removal Plant. Planning Grants have been applied for and one accepted and one pending.

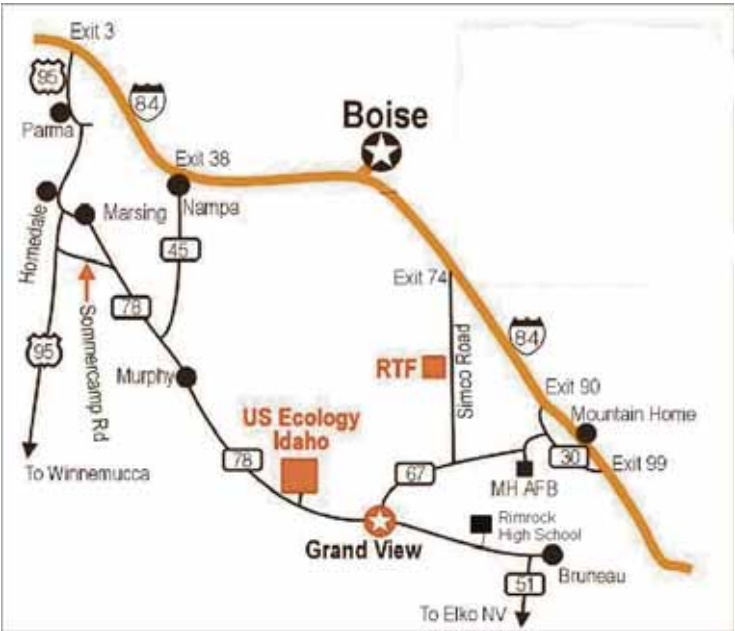

What should I do? It will be each citizen’s choice to use alternative drinking water (e.g., bottled) or drink City of Grand View water. However, if you have specific health concerns, consult your Doctor.

For more information, please contact Grand View City Hall - Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday from 8:00am to 5:00pm, lunch 12:30 to 1:30 Closed all major holidays or call (208) 834-2700 or you may contact Tiffany Floyd or Steve Staufer at the Boise DEQ office 373-0550.

Please share this information with all the other people who drink this water, especially those who may not have received this notice directly. The City of Grand View has notified owners of properties to supply copies to their residence. (For example, people in apartments, manufactured home parks, businesses and schools) You can do this by posting this notice in a public place or distributing copies by hand or mail.

OCTOBER 2, 2006 – 4TH QUARTER
TO: CITY OF MARSING RESIDENTS
FROM: CITY OF MARSING RE: WATER QUALITY IN THE CITY
Dear City of Marsing Resident,
Effective January 26, 2006, the US Environmental Protection Agency reduced the drinking water standard for arsenic from 50 parts per billion (ppb) to 10 ppb. One well supplying water to the City of Marsing, Well #3, has an arsenic concentration of 11 ppb, which exceeds the Maximum Contaminant Level set forth by the EPA. The City of Marsing is required to provide quarterly public notice of this exceedence. You will continue to receive this notice every quarter until such time as the City if notified by IDEQ the notice is no longer required.

Arsenic is a naturally occurring element thought to enter the water source from contact with natural rock formations. Arsenic can cause adverse health effects, including cardiovascular disease, diabetes mellitus, skin changes, nervous system damage, and various forms of cancer.
The City of Marsing is taking action to remove the well as a source of water for the water system. As you may be aware, the City is in the process of upgrading the municipal water system, and a new well to serve the system, and replace Well #3, will be first item completed for water system upgrade project.
