Seven turnovers sink Trojans' perfection

Deward Bell Stadium was as quiet as the Owyhee Desert at night Friday as Homedale High School fans watched Weiser trample their Trojans' perfect 2006 football season.

The Wolverines capitalized on seven Homedale turnovers and raced out of town with a 34-0 3A Snake River Valley conference victory.

Even with the devastating loss, though, Homedale coach Thomas Thomas called Friday a learning experience for a team he fully expects to lead into the 3A state playoffs.

"They've seen what it takes," Thomas said. "We're taking these guys to the playoffs."

"We just need to win one of the next two games, and we'd be there."

Homedale's road doesn't get any easier this week. The Trojans play host to conference-leading Fruitland for a 7 p.m. kickoff Friday.

"Fruitland is a similar team, physically (to Weiser)," Thomas said. "They'll probably use more misdirection. I think we can match up with them physically, but we have to watch what we're doing ourselves."

"And quite being our worst enemy. It's like we're not only going against one team, but ourselves, too."

Friday's mistake-filled game marked the fifth consecutive year that Weiser has beaten Homedale in football. This is the

Pilgrims' late field goal denies scrappy Huskies important win

Playing with its quarterback of the future, the Marsing High School football team showcased its drive for success right now during Friday's loss to New Plymouth.

The Pilgrims ended the Huskies' charge to the top of the league standings with a 17-15 victory triggered by a 22-yard field goal by Asterio Mira with 2 minutes, 11 seconds left in a showdown of this year's top two 2A Western Idaho Conference squads.

"The knew coming in tonight, whether we won or lost, we're still going to the playoffs right now," Marsing coach Don Heller said.

"And we told them we just played our hearts out. New Plymouth has been there, we haven't. They just played their hearts out."

The Huskies (3-3 overall, 2-1 2A WIC) had a shot at sending the fans home happy even after Mira — a foreign exchange student who had missed three field goals earlier in the contest — nailed his game-winner.

Freshman quarterback Tyson Heller, the son of the head coach, turned the key on the Huskies' hurry-up offense immediately after Mira's kick.

In less than a minute, the strong-armed freshman ran five plays to gobble up 43 yards and put

Marsing youth football rolling into PPK event

Another perfect Saturday has the three teams from the Marsing Lions Optimist youth football program sitting pretty in the latter stages of the season.

The Raptors, a tackle team for 9- to 10-year-olds, kept its unbeaten season intact with a 22-12 victory over Remington Carter.

The Raptors are 5-0 heading into a 10:30 a.m. game Saturday in Marsing against Silverhawk Realty. They also beat Domino's 24-8 on Sept. 30.

Marsing's flag football team, the Tigers, moved to 5-0 Saturday with a hard-fought 14-12 victory over Rexman Advantage. The Tigers shut out HCS Construction 30-0 on Sept. 30.

The Tigers take on Nampa Paving at noon Saturday in Marsing.

In the 11-12 tackle division, the Marsing Lions are 3-1-1 after beating RST 14-8 on Saturday. The Lions edged Commercial Tire 6-0 on Sept. 30.

PPK held this weekend

Marsing Lions Optimist spokesman Jim Briggs said that the league incorrectly announced the date of the NFL Pepsi Punt, Pass and Kick Sectional contest.

The PPK event will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at Marsing High School.

Raiders lose to HSB with fumbles of doom

Horseshoe Bend High School had to turn on the afterburners to defeat an upstart Rimrock football team Friday.

The Mustangs scored 32 unanswered points over the third and fourth quarters to pull out 50-14 1A, Division I conference victory at home against the Raiders.

“We played a very tough game, probably our best game,” Rimrock coach Jim Clark said.

Rimrock was within two touchdowns, 28-14, with five minutes left in the third quarter.

Freshman Ricardo Araujo rushed for 69 yards and a touchdown on 13 carries for the Raiders. He also caught a touchdown pass.

Sam Richardson also hauled in a 35-yard touchdown pass from TJ Snyder for Rimrock.

Rimrock was bitten by seven fumbles, though, including four from Araujo and two from Snyder.

“We had a bunch of fumbles once again that led to our defeat, but the kids are improving leaps and bounds every week and hope to finish out the season with three wins,” Clark said.

The task won’t get any easier this week when Rimrock plays host to Wilder for Homecoming. Kickoff is 7 p.m. Friday.

Athletics are popular at Homedale Middle School

The Homedale Middle School fall sports program hit the postseason this week.

The volleyball teams compete in the District III playoffs Saturday with the eighth-grade teams traveling to Payette Lakes Middle School in McCall and the seventh-graders hitting the road for Ontario, Ore.

Admission for playoff games is $2.50 for adults and $1 for students.

Luci Asumendi-Mereness, the activities director at HMS, reports that the Trojans’ volleyball teams are competing strong in the Snake River Valley conference this season. She credits the tutelage of eighth-grade coach Brenda Reay and seventh-grade skipper Wayne Skeen, who have been focusing on ratcheting up their athletes’ skills, especially with the overhand serve.

“They both believe that it makes a big difference in a game, and so much more speed can be generated by serving overhand,” Asumendi-Mereness told The Owyhee Avalanche in an e-mail.

“Several girls who couldn’t serve overhand at the beginning of the season have gained more confidence and more accuracy and are beginning to improve in this area.”

The team has competed in the Homedale Invitational and took a shot at the recent Bob Firman Invitational at Eagle Island State Park, which attracted teams from New York, Florida and California.

Gabby Nash completed the 3-kilometer race in 17 minutes, 26.02 seconds for the HMS girls.

On the boys side, sixth-grader Reed Maggard was the Trojans’ top finisher, completing the 3K in 16:12.06. Corby Schamber, sixth grade, Michael Vigil, seventh grade, and Alfonso Barbosa, sixth grade, finished together in a pack. Schamber ran a 17:11.70, followed by Vigil’s 17:40.31 and Barbosa at 17:43.56.

Football

Four games into the season, the new-look Trojans seventh- and eighth-grade football squads both owned 2-2 records. Homedale wrapped up the regular season Tuesday at home against Ontario. Scores from those games weren’t available at press time.

The Trojans program features three new coaches and 53 athletes. Doug Anders is the lone returning coach, and is in his third season with the Trojans. Mark Weekes, a teacher at the high school and the high school’s tennis coach, former Homedale High School football player Cole Cooper and Anthony Cortinas round out the coaching staff.

“The coaches have done a good job of getting to know each other, getting to know the kids and incorporating a new offense and defense,” Asumendi-Mereness said.

Both teams will tackle playoff assignments Tuesday, but the location of the contests and the Trojans’ opponents haven’t been determined.

The cross country District III meet is Thursday in Ontario, Ore.

Spirit squad

With 46 percent of the student participating in extra-curricular activities at HMS (a total of 132 students), one would think that spirit is pretty high.

Even so, school officials are trying to punch the spirit even higher by resuming the Spirit Squad program.

Asumendi-Mereness said that the cheerleading squad was eliminated a few years ago, but Barbie and Lacey Vander Boegh have been enlisted to teach interested seventh- and eighth-grade girls cheers and dance routines.

“We’re excited about having this group as part of our student body and an integral part of building our school spirit,” Asumendi-Mereness said.

The cheers and dances will be performed at halftime of the girls and boys basketball games once the winter sports season begins.

Asumendi-Mereness reminds fans that admission to HMS home games is free.

“(The HMS athletes) do a great job, and having someone watching them makes a huge difference,” Asumendi-Mereness said.

Cross country

The second year of this program under coach Nick Schamber has seen a dozen sixth-, seventh- and eighth-graders come out for the squad.

Tight on-the-ball battle

Road trips aren't kind to Trojans boys soccer

A road trip to McCall is not how the Homedale High School boys soccer team wanted to start the 3A District III tournament, especially after the Trojans had to end the regular season with a trip to the resort town.

But coach David Correa's team were unable to beat McCall-Donnelly in a showdown for second place early last week, and that forced Homedale to open the district tournament on the Vandals' home pitch Saturday.

McCall held Homedale's striking offense in check and posted a 3-0 victory to end the Trojans' hopes of a district championship.

"Having to go twice in a week to McCall definitely put some strain on the team," Correa said.

Even with the loss Saturday, the Trojans earned a home game in the second round of the district tournament. That game was played Tuesday, and results weren't available at press time.

"We are disappointed our aspirations for a district championship vanished," Correa said.

"The team has learned a lot from (Saturday's loss)."

Homedale missed its shot at finishing second in the SRV — and earning a first-round home game in the tournament — when the Trojans played McCall to a 1-1 on Oct. 3. Sophomore Nestor Machuca put Homedale out front in the second half by beating two defenders and depositing a crossing shot in the back of the net.

McCall tied the game 1-1 with

Homedale finished the game with only 10 players on the field after Efrain Cortez received a red card for what Correa said was a questionable dangerous play call while battling the Vandals' goalkeeper for control of the ball.

"The keeper was struggling to keep possession of the ball when Efrain followed his instinct and tried to win the ball," Correa said. "No one had possession of the ball."

Homedale managed 15 shots on goal in the regular-season finale against McCall. Ulysses Vargas recorded seven saves in goal.

Homedale finished the week with a 5-1-6 overall record. The Trojans were 4-1-3 during the SRV season.

Marsing into a first down position at the Pilgrims' 28-yard line.

But New Plymouth's ball-hawking defense spoiled Heller's would-be heroics when linebacker Miguel Garcia tipped a pass, and Pilgrims teammate Micah McMurry hauled it in for his second interception of the night with 1:15 remaining to seal the win for New Plymouth (4-2, 3-0).

"We've been practicing our 2-minute drill. We worked hard on it (Thursday)," Don Heller said. "(The final interception was) just a mis-read. That's a freshman mistake.

"The rest of the game, he hung in there and made a couple mistakes, but you're going to do that as a freshman."

New Plymouth defenders intercepted Tyson Heller passes four times Friday night, but coach and Dad took solace in the way his club (1-8 a year ago) played against a Pilgrims team that beat the Huskies 37-0 last season.

"I told them that this team that they just played, they only had like four or five seniors last year, so it was the same team we played last year," Don Heller said. "So who's done the growth? Who's done the improvement? We did.

"We're looking forward to getting to play them down the road."

Marsing can grab one of its league's two state playoff berths by winning its final two games — Friday at Nampa Christian and Oct. 20 at home against Melba.

Marsing held a 15-8 advantage with 2:20 seconds to go in the third quarter against New Plymouth after senior fullback Shea McClellin broke free for a 51-yard touchdown run.

"He comes prepared to play every game," Heller said. "So do all our kids. He plays hard, and he makes the rest of the kids play hard."

The Boise State-bound senior didn't have a McClellin-like rushing night (135 yards and two touchdowns on 21 carries), but he did find his way into the end zone yet again when New Plymouth quarterback Erick Poole made a mistake with his first pass of the night.

With both teams trudging through a scoreless game in the second quarter but New Plymouth threatening at the Marsing 13, McClellin exploded to the ball, snagged Poole's attempt at a screen pass and raced 88 yards for the first touchdown of the contest.

McClellin's fifth interception of the season — and third touchdown return — showcased how the Huskies' defense came to the rescue time after time Friday.

- Marsing's game-opening drive deep into New Plymouth territory ended when Kyle Harmon intercepted Tyson Heller at the Pilgrims' 5-yard line. On the next play, Marsing's Daniel Ineck stepped in front of Poole's pass to give the Huskies the ball again.

- New Plymouth drove inside the Marsing 10 on its next possession, but the drive stalled under pressure from McClellin and defensive lineman Don Galligan. Mira would miss a 24-yard field goal attempt.

- The Huskies stopped quarterback Easton Foust on a 4th-and-1 keeper attempt at the Marsing 21 on the fourth play of the second quarter.

- One play after New Plymouth's Cody Johnson picked off another Heller pass at midfield, Foust fumbled while being sacked and Marsing's Johnathan Cossel pounced on the turnover.

- Senior defensive lineman Michael Tuckness forced the Pilgrims to punt when he stopped Poole for a 3-yard loss on a third-down option play.

"The defense is getting better every game," Don Heller said. "They kept us in there and gave us a chance all night long."

And with that chance comes the opportunity to chase a playoff spot, something the Marsing fans that crammed into the stands Friday aren't too accustomed to seeing. It has been nine years since the Huskies won the A-4 WIC 11-man championship in 1997.

"They played with more heart tonight than any team I've ever been around here in 16 years," Heller said of Friday's performance. "They just battled."

Defense tries to save the day

second straight season that the Wolverines have put a dent in the Trojans' conference championship dreams.

Last year, the Wolverines knocked Homedale out of first place with a 57-12 victory in Weiser. Thomas said Friday's loss was dissimilar to 2005, although the effect may be the similar.

"Tonight, they had to earn what they were getting here, plus we gave them free gifts," the coach said. "But it's disappointing.

"We're 5-0 and we wanted to see if we could fight with the big dogs and compete with them. We didn't do that tonight."

The Trojans (5-1 overall, 1-1 3A SRV) never had a chance to see what they could do against the Wolverines.

Homedale's first two possessions ended with turnovers — an interception thrown by senior quarterback Trevor Krzesnik at the Weiser 40 and a Ryan Johnson fumble on the Trojans' own 41.

The drive that Weiser put together after Johnson's fumble in the first quarter seemed like a microcosm of the Trojans' difficulties this season — only this time it was the defense, not the offense making the mistakes.

Homedale impeded the Wolverines' progress down the field briefly, but two offside penalties sandwiched around a facemask infraction refueled Weiser's drive.

Then Wolverines quarterback Brandon Richins zipped a 34-yard touchdown pass across the middle of the field to a wide-open Jake Scharbrough to start the landslide.

One play later, the Wolverines had the ball again after Mark Vance coughed up the ball. It would be one of five fumbles

Maxwell brings down the hammer

Homedale would lose. A couple of the balls on the ground resulted in poor exchanges between Krzesnik and his center.

"I think the story of the game was having seven turnovers," Thomas said. "I think we just need to hold on to the ball better and have cleaner exchanges."

After uncorking two halfback option passes within three plays on the same drive, Weiser was back in the end zone just four minutes into the second quarter on Richins' short option keeper.

Two plays later, the Wolverines had the ball again, capitalizing on Michael Bergquist's interception of Krzesnik on Scharbrough's 35-yard scoring run up the gut of the Trojans' defense.

By then, the Homedale sideline had the feel of a morgue and it would have been quite easy to hear a pin hit the aluminum bleachers if dropped on the home side of Deward Bell Stadium.

Even so, Thomas said he felt his players never lost their intensity.

"I think we were fired up, actually," he said. "I thought we were every bit as physical as them if not more."

Later in the game, however, Scharbrough would pick apart the Trojans' defense and finish 144 yards and two touchdowns on 19 carries. On a few occasions, the seemed to be the only athlete left standing when he hit the line of scrimmage as the Weiser offensive line dictated the game.

The Wolverines (2-1, 4-3) racked up 356 yards of total offense, including 259 yards on 48 rushes.

Homedale was held to just five yards passing and 147 total yards.

The Trojans played without Bryan Martinat or running back Daniel Valadez. Martinat started the game, but left with a hip flexor that Thomas said has been nagging him for a couple weeks.

"He went out early, and it changed the dynamic of our game," Thomas said. "He's a big-play guy for us."

Cantrells burn bright as Raiders earn split

Junior Ellie Cantrell served five aces, and Jackie Thurman added four on Oct. 4 to pull the Rimrock High School volleyball team to victory in Nampa.

On Wednesday, Cantrell fired another five aces but the Raiders dropped a non-conference marathon to Owyhee, Nev., 23-25, 25-13, 22-25, 25-17, 15-7.

Against Liberty Charter, Cantrell, Thurman and BreAnne Merrick (two aces) anchored the fierce service game Rimrock used to shake off a slow start and sweep Liberty Charter 25-23, 25-17, 25-20 in a 1A Western Idaho Conference road match.

The Raiders (8-5 overall, 7-3 1A WIC at week's end) couldn't find a rhythm in the first game, falling behind 22-15.

"We really seemed to struggle with our passing in the first game, which completely threw off our opportunity to run an offense," Rimrock coach Lonni Smith said. "It's awfully difficult to make things happen when you continually free-ball the ball over the net and give the other team an opportunity to pound it at you."

Smith said her team's offense only had 12 hit attempts in the first game, and the Raiders converted just three for kills.

But with junior utility player Cantrell at the service line, the Raiders stormed back to within a point, 22-21, in the first game.

Liberty was unable to handle the service of Cantrell or Merrick, a senior. Long hits and flubbed digs by the Patriots allowed Rimrock to close out the first game on a 10-1 run.

"Our serving pulled us through in that game," Smith said.

Cantrell served for 14 points in the match and came up with six digs.

Antelopes lose as High Desert gauntlet continues

The teeth of its schedule hasn't been very kind to the Adrian High School football team, and the Antelopes haven't finished the test yet.

"I don't think it would have been a problem but for the injuries," Antelopes first-year coach Paul Shenk said. "It has been tough. We've got kids banged up and trying to heal them up and still trying to win the game."

Last week, Adrian fell 42-12 at home to High Desert League foe Burnt River. This week, the Antelopes hit the road to face Prairie City. Prairie City and Burnt River are tied for second place in the HDL behind unbeaten Crane.

The top two teams in the HDL will qualify for the 1A Oregon playoffs, making Friday's road game a make-or-break affair for Adrian.

"This is it. This is what she comes down to now," Shenk said of the game. "We've got ourselves into a position where we have to win."

On Friday, visiting Burnt River (4-1 overall, 3-1 HDL) built a 22-0 lead at halftime lead against Adrian on the strength of a pair of Craig Kezerle touchdown passes and a 33-yard scoring jaunt by Andy Walker.

The Antelopes (2-3, 2-2), who have lost their past two games and face Prairie City on Friday, got within 10 points quickly in the third quarter behind TDs by David Meyer.

Meyer returned a Kezerle interception 93 yards for the first score. It was one of four turnovers by Burnt River, but Adrian lost the ball four of the five times its ball carriers fumbled.

Meyer, the Antelopes' 5-foot-8, 145-pound junior, was back in the end zone shortly thereafter, hauling in a 16-yard pass from sophomore quarterback Blake Ishida. The touchdown capped a drive to capitalize on a Burnt River fumble.

"Our defense is doing well for the amount of time it has to spend on the field," Shenk said.

Ishida completed half of the 12 passes he threw for 62 yards, and senior Joseph Witty was his favorite target with 36 yards on three grabs.

Derick Rios led the Antelopes' rushing attack with 84 yards on 17 carries. But the Antelopes' high-powered offense was limited to just 293 yards by the Bulls. But the running game took another hit when running back Levi Trotter was lost to a broken ankle.

"We got some good momentum and came back and got within 10 points of them, and (the injury) happened, and that stalled (Adrian) again," Shenk said.

Rios, who is nursing a sore shoulder, also led the defense with eight tackles.

Burnt River shook off Adrian's sudden scoring burst and scored three more touchdowns, including Kezerle's third TD toss of the game.

The senior threw a 24-yard scoring pass to David Ribeiro then capped the scoring with his own 4-yard quarterback keeper.

Tired Mustangs reach deep for gutsy volleyball victories

The volleyball team from Jordan Valley High School may have been emotionally and physically drained last week, but at least the Mustangs had a couple wins to show for it.

“It not only was Homecoming, but this is our last regular football home game so we introduced our seniors and their parents,” Jordan Valley coach Jacque Naegle said of Friday’s contest against Dayville-Monument.

“We have 11 senior girls this year, and they are all going to be greatly missed. They are truly role models for the underclassmen, so it was very emotional having to tell them goodbye, even for me”

The Mustangs wiped away whatever tears may have fallen and dropped Dayville-Monument 25-15, 25-11, 25-17 in a High Desert League contest.

Jordan Valley moved to 4-0 in the HDL behind 10 kills from Angela Larsen, 11 assists from Bailey Kershner and 16 service points from Michelle Elsner.

“ ‘When we got right down to the game, they played with a lot of passion.’ That was a quote from one of our parents, and it really fit what was happening on the court,” Naegle said,

“They all were just terrific, not only the seniors but every member of our team.”

Jordan Valley def. GFA 25-20, 19-25, 25-23, 27-25

A few hours after wrapping up Homecoming late Friday night,

Jordan Valley was in Idaho for a 10 a.m. non-league match against Greenleaf Friends Academy.

Elsner and Kelsey Prescott had eight kills apiece, while Kershner and Breann Hipwell piloted the offense with 19 and 13 assists, respectively.

“We knew that this would be a tough day for us just because of all of the Homecoming activities and a dance the night before,” Naegle said. “We had a lot of very tired girls on the bus going down. There was hardly any noise at all, which is very unusual.”

Elsner served for 19 points, and Angela Larsen tallied 11 kills.

“For us, the varsity game was just mind over matter,” Naegle said. “We made a lot of errors that we don’t normally make and, again, I feel that a lot of that had to do with the week before.

“I am really proud of all the girls because they knew how tough it was going to be to play on Saturday, and they just pushed through and worked hard to make up for the errors that we were making. In the end, they held together worked hard and made it happen as a team, and I think that says a lot about what they are all about as people not just athletes.”

Junior varsity
GFA def. Jordan Valley 22-25, 25-14,15-13

Naegle saw improvement from the younger Mustangs in their second go against the Grizzlies, but the coach speculated that fatigue contributed to some crucial mistakes in the loss.

“The girls played hard and took them to three games, and when we played them in Jordan Valley we lost in two games, so I think we did give them a harder time this go around,” Naegle said.

Sequoi Trautman led the way with seven service points and three kills. Nickie Naegle kicked in four assists, and Luisa Lowry and Annie Mackenzie had two kills apiece.

Jordan Valley def. Dayville-Monument 25-8, 25-22

The Mustangs showed off their depth Friday in an HDL victory over Dayville-Monument.

Kayla Cuvelier, Athena Beckwith, Trautman, Mattie Wroten, Tina Stanford and Shantel Gleason had two kills each.

“We have enough girls to play two teams, and that was what we did on Friday,” coach Jacque Naegle said.

“The first team went out and played really well right after our warm-up. The second team took a little time to get rolling after having to sit on the bench for one whole game. But once they got warmed up they did a great job.”

Nickie Naegle had eight assists, and Catie Kershner chipped in five.

Elisa Eiguren led the serving game with seven points.

Records fall over Rimrock’s really ugly course

The course may not be the most popular among cross country athletes, but Rimrock High School’s Rusty Fender Classic has provided plenty of drama in its first two years of existence.

Last week’s meet, subtitled “3.1 Really Ugly Miles” and held on the north bank of the Snake River near C.J. Strike Dam, featured meet records and a scary moment that turned into an inspiration.

Four races were held (5-kilometer meets for high school boys and girls and 3K jaunts for middle-schoolers), and three records fell. Ten schools were represented in the meet last week.

“This thing kind of exploded on me this year,” Rimrock coach Kermit Tate said. “Last year, there were about three schools competing.”

But the biggest headline of the day occurred when Greenleaf Friends Academy’s Matthew Choate fell while leading the high school boys race 250 meters from the finish line. Choate collapsed and had to be treated for dehydration by Grand View Ambulance volunteers Donna Bennett and Chris Collett.

After recovering, Choate insisted on finishing the race after getting clearance from his parents and Grizzlies coach Sonja Graber.

“He walked the remaining portion of the course and crossed the finish line under his own power,” Tate said.

“This young man may have been the last person to finish, but he was not beaten.”

Paul Moughamian of Idaho City won the boys race in 19 minutes, 23.18 seconds, shattering the meet record of 20:49 set by Horseshoe Bend’s Jeric Vinson in 2005. Vinson beat his time from last year with a 20:33.66, but finished fifth.

Vinson’s slip from the summit to fifth place in one year may be a testament to the difficulty of the Rusty Fender course, which features several elevation changes and has been the stitch in the side of many a Rimrock runner during practice.

“The name of the race, ‘Rusty Fender Classic: 3.1 Really Ugly Miles,’ was created by my team in the fall of 2004,” Tate said before the event. “We did some training runs on the hill road. ... The origin of the ‘3.1 Really Ugly Miles’ will be self-evident to all the runners.”

Tate said the “Rusty Fender” aspect of the meet’s name is derived from a weather-beaten fender off a 1930s- or 1940s-era vehicle that sits on the side of the road at the bottom of the biggest hill on the course.

“My runners started calling that point of the road ‘the rusty fender corner,’ “ Tate said. “The name spread to the whole race course last season.”

Vale, Ore., swept the boys and girls high school team titles.

Rimrock’s top-finishing boy was Stephen Campbell, who was 19th at 22:40.56. Brian Meyers was 28th, and Alan Draper finished 37th. Another Owyhee County athlete, Homedale’s Brandt Graver, finished 35th for Greenleaf.

Mountain Home’s Jessica Furst set a record at 22:22.31 to win the high school girls race. Two Marsing-area residents, Ciara Law and BrieJoy Bermudez-Koch, finished in the top 10 for Greenleaf. Law as seventh in 25:12.66, and Bermudez-Koch finished 10th at 26:05.91.

In the middle school meet, Kendra Graber, a Homedale resident, set the course record while winning the girls race in 11:52.50. She was more than a minute faster than second-place Kacee Cameron of Mountain Home. The Grizzlies’ girls won the team title.

On the boys side, GFA won the team title behind Morgan Choate’s record-setting win in 1:24.53. Marsing’s JB Bermudez-Koch was sixth in 12:14.72.

Trojans rap Marsing 21-0, spoil Husky Homecoming

Unbeaten Homedale scored early and staved off several Marsing threats at Marsing Friday afternoon to whip the Huskies 21-0 in a Snake River Valley “B” contest. It was the first league loss for Marsing.

Homedale’s Trojans bunched their three touchdowns almost within one quarter. The first one came just before the first quarter ended on a 62-yard pass from Bill Carson to Junior Uranga. Chuck Dunn tallied the extra point.

The second touchdown early in the second period was made by Carson from about 16 yards out and Dunn again converted to give Homedale a 14-0 advantage. Just before the half ended, Dunn went over from four yards out and Vic Landa made the conversion to sew up the game for the Trojans.

Neither team managed to score in the second half, but Marsing went to the four-yard line in the third quarter only to be stopped. The Huskies played the second half without co-captain John Stewart who bruised a shoulder in the first part of the game. Marsing also was without fullback Dud Mausling, who tore a leg cartilage Thursday in practice.

High school gets ready carnival Saturday, Oct. 13

High school students have been very busy this week preparing for their carnival Saturday night, October 13. It begins at 7:30 p.m. and continues until midnight. All are urged to help make it a success.

Many fine prizes will be given away during the evening, which include a Westinghouse fry-pan and coffeemaker, two gallons of anti-freeze, two gallons of paint, portable cooler, school sweater, slide preview, coffee warmer, two-record album, harmonicas, flashlights and the grand prize, a 14-inch portable G.E. television set.

Firemen called to extinguish truck fire

The gas tank on a truck that was being wrecked near the Orville Vance building (old armory building) caught on fire Thursday morning. The Homedale volunteer firemen extinguished the blaze. There was no damage.

School board takes care of variety of business

The regular meeting of the Homedale school board was held Monday evening with all members present.

Bills totaling $3,272.02 for September were paid from the general fund and $2,365.17 from the building fund.

Orville Soper advised the board that the city agreed to install a street light on the dead end street at the grade school grounds where the board specifies, with the charges the same as the other installations made two years ago.

Prices were received on the proposed steel fence to be installed on the north side of the grade school grounds. Bids will be asked for this fencing.

A motion was passed asking the city to tile the open ditch at the northeast corner of the grade school, with the school district furnishing the tile.

Superintendent Charles Zollinger was instructed to advise Welch Bros. to install a curbing on Oregon Avenue north side of the grade school plant according to the City of Homedale specifications for street curbs.

Mr. Zollinger was also instructed to contact Verner Swenson and have him stucco the exposed fire wall at the Lincoln school building with green color mixed in the stucco and also stucco other open ends which are above the roof. Workmen are to use planks on the roof to guard it from damage.

The clerk of the board was instructed to write letters to all teachers requesting their appearance at least one school board meeting during the school year.

PRIZE FIGHTING. Conforming to the custom of secular journals, we publish a full report of the prize-fight which occurred on Sunday last in Owyhee; and not that in any degree we either commend the conduct of the participants in this or any other fight. In the human make-up, there are distinct brute “croppings,” and this fact is amply sustained by men agreeing to hammer one another into a state of helplessness for a consideration. Previous to a fight, the combatants subject themselves to weeks of laborious training; not that they may become better men in the true sense of the term, but that they may be able to give and endure more beating. The time that many pugilists spend in putting themselves in fighting trim would be sufficient, if spent with half the desire for success, to make the most illiterate quite an intelligent citizen. But speculations as to what might be done by this class are useless. Point out a true and sure way for them to acquire social, mental and public respectability, and they will spurn it for brutal notoriety. Therefore, while nothing can be said that would add perceptive decency to the sports (?) of the ring, inveighing against it will never abolish the practice; and as one of the phrases in which man will exhibit himself, the witnessing of it is not — in our opinion — a reproachful action. We are confirmed in our belief — specially since Sunday last — that the sight of a prize-fight does not tend to make a man sorry that he studied law, medicine, divinity, mechanics &c., instead of pugilism. We acknowledge to a limited understanding of the reflections of a defeated professor of the “manly art of self-defense, but presume Patsy Foy has recently thought he embraced the wrong profession — one that has “blows to take as well as to give;” on the other hand, we fear than Jimmy Dwyer is elated with his prowess, which will most likely insure him a rough life and many painful maulings. We confess to feelings of total indifference as to the knocks either may live to give or take, and we doubt not that the parties themselves will read this expression with greater satisfaction than the pious ones we might indite. Neither the laws of God nor man have entirely humanized man.

No matter what pugilists might think and say, we can assure Foy and Dwyer that an abandonment of “the ring” and steady pursuit of civil occupations will soon secure to them respect and valuable credit among all good citizens. The very fact of their having been professional bruisers and seeing, acknowledging and abandoning their former folly and brutal occupation will rebound to their credit with those who are able and willing to help them to a respectable standing among men.

BOISE COUNTY. From the Idaho Times of the 28th ult: Mr. Kirkpatrick, and old mountaineer, has lately returned from a prospecting tour to the head-waters of the Payette and Salmon Rivers. He reports having found prospects of from one to two cents to the pan, and would have investigated further had the snow not driven him out of the mountains. His trip was a pleasant one, as small game and fish were obtained in abundance in and about the lakes on the Upper Payette. No signs of Indians were seen in that locality. Judge Hough, Indian Agent, will have a pow-wow with the Breneau Shoshone tribe at the mouth of the Breneau River on the 22d of next month. Some miners have organized another tunnel company on East Hill, to be commenced above Butler & Co’s. mill, on Moore’s Creek. Messrs. Channel & Co. are extending the old original Elk and Deer Creek ditch along the summit of the divide between Grimes and Elk Creeks, to a point about three miles below Centerville. This will, when completed, be the longest ditch in Boise County. One flume, of 1,900 feet in length, will accessorially have to be constructed.

WIND RIVER. The party gone to prospect the Wind River country embraces many acquaintances in Owyhee, and their progress is a matter of much interest to many of our readers. The latest from there is contained in the annexed from the Idaho Statesman of the 2d: Mr. Jessie Bradford, of Placerville, who arrived on the stage last Sunday night direct from Virginia City, Montana, brings the following: He reports that a man arrived at Virginia just before he left, direct from Green River, bringing the intelligence that all three of the prospecting parties — the one under Capt. Patterson, the one under Jeff Standerffer, and the one headed by Capt. Bledsoe — had accidentally met on Green River a few days before. They consolidated their forces, now numbering over seven hundred, and moved on toward the head waters of the Big Horn. No mention is made of any Indian fight, or other accident having happened.

CURRENCY. What more can we say on this subject? The public know that the creek dust in circulation now is not worth an average of $8 per ounce, and Bannock not over $10. It is equally well known that it is assign for $12 and $16. There are respectable men who know men who are engaged in the manufacture and adulteration of this dust, but through fear or policy decline to name them. This community has been outraged with spurious dust. It falls most heavily upon the laboring man, and many good ones are leaving for places where money is paid for labor. Men who apparently have a respectable standing in business are charged with being either principals or agents in the nefarious practice of making or passing the spurious stuff. It is no more our business to make specific charges than it is of any other members of the community. The continuance of a dust currency will, as it ought, drive every prudent laborer out of the country. We advise them to quit work in a body or demand and have money for their labor. From and after this date (Oct. 6th) our bills will be made upon a greenback basis. A liberal discount will be given for coin and dust — if taken at all — same as greenbacks.

CHIMNEYS, PIPES &C. It is the duty of all citizens to exercise every possible precaution to prevent fires; but as many fail to do so, either from carelessness or neglect, it is right that the citizens should call a meeting and appoint a committee to make an inspection of all flues, stove-pipes and chimneys. This action is taken in many places, and no good citizen can reasonably object to it in Owyhee. There are so many Chinese dens dance-houses and other she-bangs in town that it will be a wonder if a fire does not break out in some of them. An inspection of them by a committee duly appointed by the citizens would be of two-fold value: that of impressing everyone with the importance of watching to prevent fire, and of immediately mending any defects about chimneys that might be discovered.

We present these remarks for the consideration of our readers, and respectfully urge that a public meeting be held for the appointment of such committee; and, in the meantime, that everybody will look well to their pipes and chimneys.

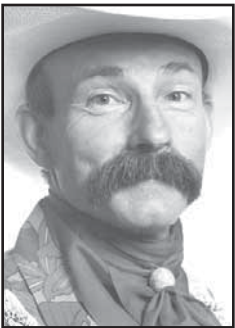

THE LECTURE by Rev. Wm. Roberts in the Church, last Saturday evening, was well patronized. The lecturer handles his subject with fair though not masterly ability. However, he gave every attentive listener and thinker a full dollar’s worth — and the music can be counted upon as clear profit. There are few ministers that can give an entertaining lecture — even though they are eminent divines. Pulpit oratory is in place in the pulpit — but out of place in the lecture room. The “gospel sound” is sweet on the Sabbath as it falls from the lips of the sincere divine, but it is erroneous to embellish a lecture with it. “Music’s voluptuous swell” in the ball-room; in the church choir, its awe-inspiring, heavenly tones. The “gospel sound” for the pulpit, but none from the rostrum.

SOLD. J. H. Johnson, of Flint district, tells us that he has sold the “Tom Sturgis” quartz vein to J. P. Hopkins of New York; also, that Mr. H. is connected with the broker firm of J. W. Hussey & Co., 185 Broadway, New York. This firm operates in mining stocks in Idaho — not elsewhere. Parties wishing sales of mining property East, might do well to consult with them or entrust them with negotiations. They should advertise their business, terms, &c., &c.

On the edge of common sense

The farmer and his wife

Farming is a partnership. Man and wife engaged in the centuries-old “business” of raising livestock and coaxing a crop from the ground.

And, yes, there really are moments that inspire the romantic images poets and artists portray; the couple sitting on the porch swing — watching the sun set over a dark green field of soybeans, or mom in her apron holding a steaming platter of biscuits as hubby and the haying crew look up from the breakfast table smiling, or the wife chatting pleasantly as she explains to the implement dealer exactly what part her husband sent her to town for, or the joy on her face as she stands ankle deep in mud next to her stuck pickup holding her dead cell phone, waiting for hubby to arrive. Yes, these are the ties that bind.

Children, neighbors and friends give their lives flavor and satisfaction, but the strength of the whole operation depends on the bond between farmer and wife. It is a mutual dependency that stems from knowing that each will do their part to make it work.

This does not mean there are not complications. There are times when each is forced to assist in tasks for which they are not as well-suited. It is on these occasions when bedrock relationships are tested and lines drawn in the sand.

George asked Polly to help him sort some big steers.

“Where’s Carlos?” she asked.

“Nobody’s here,” George said, agitated, “and I’ve got to sort ’em this afternoon.”

Polly was put on the sorting gate. The alley was slick, the clouds were low, the wind was blowing. It was 42 degrees outside.

“In!” and “By!” came the shouts as George orchestrated the train wreck. Cattle got passed, got cut the wrong way, the sorting gate got bent. George’s instructions got louder and more pointed. Finally he chased one clear to the end of the alley, cussing all the way.

He turned his frustrations on Polly and griped ’til he was blue. “These cattle had to be worked, he couldn’t do it alone. Why is it always like this, she’s making a muck of everything! Why can’t she do it right?”

Polly stood, covered with green shrapnel, her rubber boots balled with mud, and her hair stuck to the side of her head. She waited ’till George ran out of oxygen.

“So,” she said, cutting him no slack, “Does this mean I’m fired?”

Not important ... but possibly of interest

It takes a town ...

We were on our way home from Boise, on a Sunday afternoon, when Sara suggested we take a detour and visit Mom and Dad.

Even the road leading to the town where I grew up has changed. The highway was two lanes wide in the old days (it was gravel when I was a little kid), and a car might pass our farm every 15 minutes on a heavy day. Now it’s four lanes of continuous traffic.

When I was growing up, our farm was about a mile outside the city limit sign that listed the population at 534. Now the sign is about three miles beyond where we lived, and says there are 16,000 inhabitants —probably a conservative estimate. The farmhouse where I grew up now is surrounded by mini-mansions. The building on Main Street where my parents published their weekly newspaper has been a bar for more than 30 years. The high school I attended is a vacant lot. The cemetery, once “out in the country,” is surrounded by subdivisions.

We wandered among the tombstones to the plot where Mom and Dad rest — Dad since 1978, Mom since ’86. They are surrounded by family, friends and neighbors. I identified the parents of many of my school classmates — Johnstons, Douthit, Welch, Kelsey, Reynold, Brown, Caskey ...

Before returning to the car, we explored the older section of the cemetery. Mister Grebe is there. He was the only practicing attorney in the community when I was growing up. He had an office in the back of a small frame building next to the newspaper. Mister Ward’s insurance agency was in the front part of the building. Mister Grebe was a very tall, thin, quiet man who always wore a hat and walked with a slight stoop. I thought he looked a lot like pictures of Abraham Lincoln (but with a smaller hat). The tombstone lists Mr. Grebe’s year of birth as 1884. That means he was 83 years old when he drew up an escrow document so I could buy my first house in 1967. I think he charged $25. I meant to find out Mr. Grebe’s first name while at his grave but forgot. When I was a kid, adults were always Mr. or Mrs., plus a last name.

Everywhere were family names I remember from my youth — Gregory, Fiss, German, Ward, Miller, Stills, Teed, Bird. Many of these people were members of the founding families of the community — born in the 1870s ‘80s and ‘90s but still around when I was old enough to form lasting memories of them and how they conducted themselves. And most of the examples provided by them, and my parents’ generation, were positive.

Maybe it’s because I have reached an age where one tends to be more reflective. But as we walked back to the car, it occurred to me that Mother and Father are not the only people in the cemetery of importance to me. A person’s character isn’t just shaped by his or her parents. Everyone you meet as a youth contributes directly or indirectly to who you are. The examples they set are guides we use in making decisions as we travel the Road of Life.

Fifty years ago, in Small Town America, where everybody knew everybody, a child really was raised by the community. Although yours truly is far from perfect, I believe the folks who now reside in that cemetery did a fairly decent job of raising me.

I wish I could thank them.

It’s time to talk about domestic violence

by Sen. Mike Crapo

As many know, I’ve taken a strong stand against family violence in my capacity as United States senator. My visit to a safe home in Idaho eight years ago brought a terrifying and graphic reality to my intellectual knowledge of the breadth and depth of the problem.

In 2000, after the tragic death of an Idaho teen, I was able to work to include dating violence as a definition of domestic violence under federal law. The last of these provisions, known collectively as “Cassie’s Law” in Idaho, became federal law in 2004. Congress has declared October 2006 National Domestic Violence Awareness Month. It’s a time to become involved in your community in raising awareness of the pervasive and devastating crime of domestic and dating violence that exists across Idaho.

In 1994, groundbreaking national domestic violence legislation was implemented. Since then, Violence Against Women Act funding has helped support domestic violence intervention, awareness and prevention programs and encouraged new methods and treatment tools. National crime statistics reflect positively on these efforts: According to the Bureau of Justice Statistics, rates of violence against women from 1993 to 2005 have declined 58 percent. As hopeful as this seems, the results of the 2005 Idaho Crimes Against Persons report offer a slightly different perspective.

When it comes to crimes that typically fall under the definition of domestic violence — forcible sex offenses, simple and aggravated assault — the majority of offenders in 2005 were intimate partners or family members of the victims. This is nothing short of chilling.

Law enforcement data paints a grim picture:

- Over 30 percent of victims of forcible sex offenses in Idaho were 10 years old or younger.
- Forty-six percent of rape victims were younger than 18.
- Close to half of aggravated assaults in 2005 occurred in a residence; 40 percent of those were committed by an intimate partner or family member.
- Just over half of simple assaults happened at a residence, and 56 percent of those were committed by an intimate partner or family member.

Domestic violence includes, but is not limited to, violence against women. Clearly, victims of domestic violence are children and even men. Additionally, violence done to a woman in her home irrevocably affects the rest of the family.

The cure is multi-faceted. Victims start the healing process simply by gaining the courage to leave the home that has become a waking nightmare.

The cure for a perpetrator starts when he or she stops the hitting, punching, slapping, rape and sexual assault. And a cure is only effective if it reaches the roots of the cancer — the insults, control and demeaning behavior that often precede physical violence and become learned behavior for children.

The cure also begins with the community. Diverse organizations across Idaho, including state domestic violence advocacy organizations, local and regional shelters and organizations that provide multiple victims’

Clinton tells Chris Wallace a whopper about Kosovo

by Cliff Kincaid

Of all the whoppers told by former President Clinton in his Chris Wallace interview, perhaps the most outrageous was his claim that he was involved in “trying to stop a genocide in Kosovo ...” In fact, Clinton’s bombing of the former Yugoslavia killed more people than died in this “genocide.” And his policy benefited Osama bin Laden and the global Jihad.

In the year before the bombing, some 2,000 people had been killed in a civil war in Kosovo. A conservative estimate is that 6,000 were killed by U.S. and NATO bombs.

It’s strange as well that Clinton complained to Wallace about the “neocons” attacking him when many of the same neocons in 1999 supported Clinton’s war on Yugoslavia. The war was never approved by the U.N. or the U.S. Congress, and in fact violated the War Powers Act. The main beneficiary of the intervention was a Muslim terrorist group, the Kosovo Liberation Army (KLA), with links to bin Laden, who had declared war on America in 1996, bombed our embassies in Africa in 1998, and would later, of course, orchestrate 9/11.

When former CIA official Michael Scheuer says that the Clinton administration “had eight to 10 chances” to kill bin Laden and “they refused to try,” he is making a statement that goes far beyond acknowledging Clinton administration incompetence or a lack of will. The fact is that Clinton had a pro-Muslim foreign policy that actually benefited bin Laden and facilitated 9/11. Most Republicans don’t mention this because too many of them were duped into backing Clinton’s misguided policy in Kosovo. President Bush, then a candidate, even backed U.S. military intervention there through NATO.

Scheuer’s CIA also has a lot to answer for. It is noteworthy that the CIA issued a January 2000 report that essentially whitewashed the nature of the KLA and claimed it was pro-American. The only public release of this dubious report came through Rep. Eliot Engel (D-N.Y.) in a posting on the Web site of the National Albanian American Council, which supports an Albanian Muslim takeover of Kosovo.

That report was prepared under CIA Director George Tenet, who on Feb. 2, 1999, gave testimony referring to the Serb “massacre at Raçak,” which provided the pretext for NATO intervention against Serbia but which turned out to be a hoax. Tenet was, of course, kept on by President Bush. Not only were Tenet’s fingerprints all over the failed and deceptive policy in Kosovo, he told Bush that finding weapons of mass destruction in Iraq was a slam dunk.

Interestingly, Al-Jazeera celebrated the fifth anniversary of 9/11 by airing several al-Qaida videos, one of which showed two of the 9/11 hijackers saying their actions were designed to avenge the suffering of Muslims in Bosnia and Chechnya. Nothing demonstrates the bankruptcy of the Clinton policy more than that. Not only did Clinton order the CIA to help the KLA in Kosovo, he approved Iranian arms shipments to the Bosnian Muslims in order to help them establish a Muslim state in Bosnia. Still, that wasn’t good enough for the Jihadists. Nothing appeases them.

The Clinton policy of supporting the same extremist Muslim forces in Europe that subsequently attacked us on 9/11 is far more controversial than the policy of regime change in Iraq, which was officially a policy of Clinton, Bush and the Congress. Kosovo was never a threat to the U.S., and Serbia didn’t even pretend to have weapons of mass destruction.

At least in Iraq, despite some questionable intelligence, the cause is just. The U.S. removed a dictator and is fighting for democracy and against the terrorists. The neocons got it right here. Such a policy may in the short term provoke a strong anti-American reaction, as Al-Jazeera rallies the foreign fighters to Iraq to kill Americans, but it is vastly preferable to the Clinton policy of helping Muslim radicals come to power in places like Bosnia or Kosovo. What’s more, as the National Intelligence Estimate (NIE) acknowledges, in a statement that has been curiously played down by most of the media, a victory in Iraq would deflate the forces of global Jihad.

Our media like to talk about Iraq, because they think the issue will damage Bush, but Kosovo gets no mention, except when Clinton himself or former officials of his administration bring it up and claim it as a foreign policy success. There is no coverage of the anti-Christian Jihad underway there. But seven years after the illegal Kosovo intervention, the Sept. 15 Washington Post reports on a new World Bank study on fragile or failing states that “can breed terrorism.” One of them is listed as Kosovo, which is not a state—not yet. Actually, in the report itself, Kosovo is identified as a “territory,” not a province of Serbia, but the point remains valid. Kosovo is identified as being “outside the control of a recognized and reputable government,” offering “fertile soil on which terrorism could thrive.” Terrorism is thriving there, of course, because it was Clinton’s official policy to support the terrorist KLA and remove Kosovo from Serbian control.

The result was captured by the summer 1999 U.N. Association newsletter, The Interdependent, which showed Clinton Secretary of State Madeleine Albright on the cover with her thumb in the air. The headline was: “Kosovo: The U.N. Takes Charge.”

Seven years later, the U.N. is still in charge.

The growing danger in Kosovo is compounded by the fact that the problem gets almost no attention in our media, which reported the false charges of genocide that provided the pretext for the military intervention in the first place but still refuse to correct the record and hold Clinton, Albright and then-NATO Commander Gen. Wesley Clark responsible for what they have done.

The media blackout is what enables Albright, in a lecture on religion and international affairs at Georgetown University on Sept. 18, to declare, “Of all that we accomplished during my time in office, I’m proudest of what we did in Kosovo because we stopped the killing, and people are back in Kosovo living a free life.”

A free life when Christian Serbs are fleeing and their homes and churches in Kosovo are being destroyed? Albright’s outrageous comments provide the answer in stark terms to the question: Whose side was the Clinton administration on in the clash of civilizations between Islam and the West? All of the “missed opportunities” to kill bin Laden, and the interventions on behalf of Muslims in Bosnia and Kosovo, didn’t give us anything but more anti-American attacks, more terrorism, and finally, 9/11.

Compounding the failure of the Clinton policy in Kosovo, the George Soros-funded International Crisis Group recently released a report saying that the international community “must avoid creating a weak state” and that the territory must have its own army. Left unsaid is that it would be an army dominated by former members of the KLA. That would be the ultimate reward for terrorism. The terrorists would become the official army of Kosovo.

Buried in the report, on page 8, you will find an interesting piece of information. It states that, “A tiny but growing minority is turning to Wahhabi Islam,” the dangerous brand of Sunni Islam underwritten by Saudi Arabia, which is also financing the building of many mosques in Kosovo. But this should come as no surprise. That element was always there, nurtured by the Clinton policy. Now it gathers force again, just as it did before 9/11.

Serbian President Boris Tadic was in the U.S. recently, on the eve of the anniversary of 9/11, but failed to make any public comments about the status of Kosovo in the context of the global war against radical Islam. That was a glaring oversight. He failed to educate the American people about the stakes involved in the proposed dismemberment of the Serbian Republic. His article in the Washington Post, “Justice for Serbia,” was similarly flawed in this respect, focusing on the admittedly important issue of Serbian sovereignty but ignoring the religious dimensions of this conflict.

It won’t be enough to oppose independence for Kosovo. The terrorism problem will remain regardless of whether it is a province, territory or a state. But a U.S. position against independence will at least reflect belated recognition that the Clinton policy of encouraging terrorism in Kosovo has finally come to an end. The Bush administration must side with Serbia in this important chapter in the clash of civilizations.

services, local health and welfare offices, churches, schools, law enforcement, related state agencies and local task forces have forged meaningful, strong collaborative relationships in an effort to erase domestic violence from our homes and communities.

Let’s make this a time to talk about what constitutes healthy family relationships. Recently, a national survey on the civic health of our communities determined that Idaho ranks No. 1 in the nation for families who eat dinner together. Strong family values are our Idaho hallmark.

It’s only natural that we come together to help lift up those in our midst whose homes are not places of the heart, but prisons of terror and hopelessness.

Chenoweth-Hage’s integrity shines in her work for the Owyhees

Two of the greatest Americans have gone home, and I’m sure the good Lord welcomed them with open arms. Former Congressman Helen Chenoweth-Hage and Wayne Hage left a legacy for us to remember. They both participated in the Sagebrush Rebellion, the Jarbidge Shovel Brigade, Bucket Brigade to Klamath Falls, Ore., Log Haul to Northern Idaho, and helped to save the dams and can the salmon.

When Helen went to Washington, D.C., she never lost a battle. They both fought the government bureaucrats for less government and more freedoms for the people, which are guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States of America.

When Helen believed in something, she never backed down from fighting for that cause. She was honest, hard-working, gracious, elegant and kept her promises. She was admired for that.

The greatest compliment I ever received was when Helen asked me for advice. This occurred at a political fund-raiser for her in Owyhee County. She said, “My father is dying and I’m in the middle of this election. What should I do? I want your advice.” I said, “Helen, I don’t know your dad that well, but I think I know what he would say. He’d say, ‘Helen, stay there. Win the election and make me proud. We need you in Washington, D.C.’ ” She gave me a hug with a tear in her eye and said, “Thank you.” She stayed the course and won the election for the seat in Congress. Her father would have been very proud of her and her accomplishments. The states of Idaho and Nevada certainly are.

Antelopes continue their roll

Adrian High School kept pace in the High Desert League volleyball standings Friday with a Homecoming week victory over Burnt River.

Paige Branstiter recorded nine kills to spark the Antelopes' sputtering offense and help dispatch visiting Burnt River, 25-18, 25-15, 25-17.

"We struggled a little offensively, but Burnt River did a good job of returning the ball," Adrian coach Aimee Goss said. "It's Homecoming week, and it was nice to get a home win."

The Antelopes (16-1 overall, 5-0 HDL) also received seven kills from Sarah McPeak and five from Jayna Witty.

Ryann Bowns set 13 assists for Adrian.

On Sept. 30, short-handed Adrian had just one win in pool play and settled for a consolation title at the Tri-Valley Invitational, Branstiter, the 6-foot junior front-liner, had 18 kills and a block in pool play as the Antelopes beat only Notus 25-19 in championship qualifying action. Kat Sillonis added 12 assists during pool play, in which the Antelopes lost to Horseshoe Bend, 27-25, and Tri-Valley, 25-23.

"We were missing four varsity players and played with six players, one being a freshman, and with that I thought we did well," Goss said.

"This was a good chance for some girls to play rotations they don't currently play and get some more experience."

In the afternoon, Adrian battled through the consolation bracket by beating fellow Oregon school Pine Eagle 25-18, 29-27, then knocking off Meadows Valley, 25-18, 25-16.

Branstiter had 19 kills in consolation play, while Kassi Daugherty distributed 10 assists. Amanda Simpson also had eight kills.
