Homedale hires two coaches

Familiar HMS teacher takes over volleyball;
former Washington state coach to lead soccer

With the confirmation of coaches for its volleyball and girls soccer teams, Homedale High School's athletic program is back to full strength.

The Homedale School District Board of Trustees approved the hiring of volleyball coach David Hann and girls soccer coach Kirt Stragey earlier this month, and Trojans athletic director David Hart announced the appointments in a March 20 press release.

A football coach at Homedale Middle School, Hann replaces Maleta Henry, who resigned after two years as Homedale volleyball coach. Hart said Stragey formerly coached three levels of soccer in Wenatchee, Wash. Stragey will succeed Lesa Folwell, who stepped down after three seasons as the only coach the girls program has ever known.

At this point, neither man will be an on-campus coach, although Hann does have a connection to most of the volleyball players through his role as a science teacher at HMS. He has taught in Homedale for 12 years.

Dual threat emerging for Marsing

Pitcher Elly Collet proved last week that she is formidable when she steps out of the pitching circle and into the batter's box. Collet went 5-for-7 with a double, triple and seven RBI on March 20 during a non-conference doubleheader sweep of Wilder.

Huskies sweep Wilder for first softball wins

Marsing shows improvement
as first-year coach gets settled

The Marsing High School softball team may have turned a slight corner under first-year coach Bryan Marquardt.

The Huskies piled up the hits to sweep Wilder in a non-conference doubleheader on March 19 then followed that up with an improved performance in a rematch against host Homedale on March 20.

After losing to the Trojans by nearly 20 runs in the first outing earlier this month, Marsing fell 10-0 in six innings to Homedale. The Trojans scored 11 runs in their first at-bat during the first game on March 15.

Unlike that first game, the Huskies didn't commit an error at Sundance Park last week.

"We were a different team," Marquardt said. "We played really well.

"I was very excited about the improvement that we were making as a team."

Marquardt probably entered the season knowing "improvement" would be a buzzword for his young Huskies.

So would "learning," for both he and his players.

An assistant football coach for the Marsing varsity in the fall, Marquardt has an extensive resume as a junior varsity coach and varsity assistant in football, basketball and baseball. But

Pegram leads Trojans golf's strong finish at Canyon County Classic

Jordan Pegram two-putted on the fourth hole of a playoff Friday to secure fifth place in the individual standings of the Canyon County Classic at River Bend Golf Course in Wilder.

Pegram finished regulation with an 80 to help Homedale High School finish fourth in the 11-team tournament played over 18 holes.

The Trojans were the highest-finishing 3A squad in the field. Skyview of Nampa edged Homedale for third by one stroke, and the Trojans were eight shots behind champion Meridian. Emmett (326) was runner-up.

"I am very pleased with the result today, considering the level of competition and the quality of the larger schools' programs," second-year Homedale coach Dave Thompson said. "Our guys proved they can compete and hold their own."

Homedale heads north to win

Trojans survive
thin pitching
in Orofino

Orofino is a long, long way from the elevation of Denver, but last weekend it seemed that Coors Field was brought to the northwest Idaho town for the Skip Wilson Invitational.

Judging from some of the scores that trickled out of the high school baseball tournament, pitching was at a premium Friday and Saturday despite Orofino being just 1,027 feet above sea level (as opposed to the mile-high Denver, which has the most notorious hitter's ballpark in the universe).

And, thanks to senior workhorse Ryan Johnson, Homedale had just enough arms to get through a tough tournament field with a couple wins.

"Getting two wins, I felt good about it, especially with our pitching situation," Trojans coach Tim Fulwood said.

The Trojans (3-5) held on to beat Joseph, Ore., 8-7, on Friday then rebounded from an 11-1 five-inning loss to Orofino on Saturday before closing the six-team tourney with a wild 18-11 five-inning victory over Kellogg.

Johnson started both of the games that Homedale won, firing the first four innings against Joseph and the opening two frames against Kellogg.

"We were basically out of pitching," Fulwood said of the scenario prior to Saturday afternoon's clash with Kellogg. "I asked Ryan Johnson to step up again."

Johnson was staked to an 11-2 have come through the Homedale School District, I've gotten to know them," Hann said. "I've seen their potential, and it's inspiring to see the quality of students we have in our sports programs."

Hart said Stragey, who coached middle school, junior varsity and varsity teams in Washington, makes home in Boise with his family. He's a graduate of Lane College in Oregon.

Stragey didn't respond to an e-mail request seeking more information on his career and coaching philosophy.

Hann played club volleyball as a middle attacker/blocker and second setter at Utah State University. Last season, he added the role of a junior high school and high school referee to his resume.

This is his first varsity high school coaching job.

his experience at Utah State. "Teamwork, respect, working hard and putting yourself in the best position to make plays."

Hann said the enjoyment he gets playing volleyball became an impetus to apply for the high school job. He said he had mentioned to Hart while officiating a game that he would be interested in coaching volleyball at some point.

The coach said he would like to turn the volleyball team into a contender for the 3A District III and state championships.

Hann's presence on the HMS campus will help in his ultimate goal of unifying the town's volleyball program from seventh grade forward.

"My plans for Homedale High School are to build on their previous years of experience and help the team develop to its full potential," he said. "We have great coaches at the middle school who teach the girls the basics, and we will build on that foundation."

"We are working together to create a unified program from seventh grade to varsity. The girls will know the expectations at each level."

Collision course

Scrappy baserunning sparks Trojans JV

A mental error by New Plymouth High School's junior varsity baseball team sent Homedale into Spring Break above .500 last week.

The Trojans (4-3) scratched out a 7-6 non-conference victory over the visiting Pilgrims on Thursday.

Mitch Quintana scored from third base when Jason Rangel's pop fly was corralled by the Pilgrims' first baseman in foul territory. Both the pitcher and catcher covered the play, leaving home plate uncovered and allowing Mitch Quintana to steam home with the go-ahead run.

Quintana's baserunning capped a three-run rally in the bottom of the sixth inning for Homedale. Joey Cline laced a two-run single with the bases-loaded to tie the game 6-6.

Rangel struck two of the three batters he faced in the top of the seventh inning to clinch the win for coach Mark Thatcher's squad. The Trojans are off until Tuesday, when they visit Weiser to kick off the 3A Snake River Valley conference season.

Cline and Rangel put in all-around games for Homedale. While Rangel grabbed the save and his pop fly triggered Quintana's go-ahead scamper, Cline's two-run hit was just the icing on the cake for the junior. He started and pitched three strong innings, according to Thatcher.

Homedale picked up key hits all afternoon against New Plymouth from the 2A Western Idaho Conference.

Rodrigo Villarreal smacked a ground-rule double over the center-field fence. Alex Mereness and Keith Bayes also collected base hits.

Marsing 15 Homedale 3

Tyler Ford singled and scored two runs for the Trojans on March 20, but the visiting Huskies dominated the day.

Marsing owned an 8-1 lead after 2½ innings.

Tyler Gibson started the game for the Trojans, and was relieved in the third inning by the left-hander Villarreal.

Marsing returned to the field Thursday for a game against Fruitland. Results from that contest weren't provided.

The Huskies open the 2A WIC season Tuesday at home against Melba. First pitch is set for 5 p.m.

Marsing baseball heads into WIC

The 2A Western Idaho Conference baseball season starts Tuesday for Marsing High School after a non-conference season that has seen at least two cancelled games.

Led by fourth-year coach Mark Worley, the Huskies are scheduled to visit Melba on Tuesday for the first conference game of the year. First pitch is 5 p.m.

“We are entering this season with a great work ethic and an optimistic attitude,” Worley said earlier this month. “The returning upperclassmen have improved, matured and learned the game and developed both offensively and defensively.”

Senior outfielder Shea McClellin leads the charge with fellow senior Troy Dines anchoring the infield. Junior Taylor Nielsen is back for another season, and sophomores Martin Galvez (infield), Sean Finley (infield) and Michael Moore (outfield) are playing their second varsity seasons.

Players seeing their first years with Marsing are freshman Ethan Salove, an infielder, and Nick Marmon, a senior infielder who transferred from Notus.

“With this year’s returning talent, the improvement of our younger players and the added abilities of our newcomers, we hope to see the results this season,” Worley said.

The Huskies have had a difficult time getting on the field to see the results. When Wilder disbanded its team, Marsing lost two games on its schedule.

Other games haven’t been reported, so little is known about the team’s fate in its other contests this season.

According to the original schedule released by the school, the Huskies won’t play at home again until an April 9 non-conference game against 3A Payette.

The Huskies’ first home conference game is April 17 against Parma during a stretch of seven straight games in Marsing.

Owyhee rally race starts taking shape

The 2007 Idaho Rally slated for June 16 on paved roads near Bruneau is gathering steam.

Race organizer Jens Schkade, an Owyhee County resident who is a native of Germany, announced last week that a Web site for the rally has been launched at www.idahorally.com.

Also, one company, Rallydrift Inc., will hold a PlayStation2 rally video game competition on June 16, the winner of which will get to ride in a rally car later in the afternoon.

Schkade continues to recruit Owyhee County businesses for a business expo that will be run in conjunction with the inaugural rally. He said sponsorships also are available, and more information is available by calling him at 834-2633.

Rally organizers also are looking for volunteers to help with the safety of the event. Because of safety concerns only two spectator areas will be set up on the racecourse, which will be laid out completely on paved roads.

Schkade said the parking lot at Rimrock High School will be transformed into a pit area for the competitors, and that race fans will have an opportunity to mill through the area before the race.

✓ Huskies: Coach, players both learning

when he took over the softball program from Tanya Hughes, it put Marquardt on a path to make his varsity coaching debut.

“I am enjoying it very much learning what it takes to be a head coach,” he said.

Marquardt has been a head coach on the JV level at a couple stops (five years, baseball, four years, football, and three years, basketball, at Melba; one year, football and basketball, at Marsing).

Perhaps his lack of varsity experience gives him a psychological edge with the youthful Huskies.

“I have three seniors, two juniors, nine sophomores and three freshmen,” he said. “I expect us to improve throughout the year.

“We have a lot of learning to do, and I’m looking forward to see how far we can go this year.”

The coach is well aware of the role his three seniors will play, especially in light of the loss of pitcher Nicole Gelinis, infielder Mollie Nielsen and outfielder Ashley Kirsch, all of whom were seniors a year ago.

But Marquardt has some experience at his disposal. Keshia Stafford is back for a senior season that is two years removed from an appearance in the 2A state tournament.

Another senior, Jessica Elsberry, is returning for another season.

The third senior is Taryn Chenoweth.

The upperclassmen came through with five of the Huskies’ 11 hits on March 19 in an 18-8 first-game shellacking of Wilder from the 1A Western Idaho Conference.

Elsberry and Chenoweth had two singles each, while Stafford scored three runs.

But it was pitcher Elly Collet who sparked an offense that pasted the Wildcats with 14 runs in the fifth inning to force the 10-run rule.

“We were in the middle of a close game when we exploded,” Marquardt said.

Collet, in her first year as the Huskies full-time hurler, was 3-for-3 with a double, triple and five RBIs to get herself and the Huskies in the win column.

The second game of the doubleheader was a little tighter, but the seniors showed up.

Stafford won the game with a bases-clearing double in the seventh inning as Marsing prevailed 10-7. Elsberry also knocked in a pair of runs to tie the game 5-5 in the fifth inning.

“The three seniors are stepping up and taking leadership of the team and showing us how to work to get better each and every day,” Marquardt said.

Collet was 2-for-4 with two RBI, while Cera Jackson went 3-for-4 with three runs scored in Game 2 against Wilder.

“We will struggle at the beginning of the season as I get to know the girls on the team and what they can do,” Marquardt said.

“Also, they will be learning how to play the game, and the more experience we get, the better that we will become.”

New feature: Fish and Game

Community-conscious conservation officer patrols area

by Craig Mickelson
Hello there. Please let me introduce myself. My name is Craig Mickelson, and I am the new Idaho Fish and Game officer for the Marsing/Homedale/Jordan Valley area. I grew up in Boise and graduated in 1996 from the University of Idaho with a Bachelor's of Science degree in Wildlife Resources.

I began my career with Idaho Fish and Game as a biological aide, trapping problem geese in the Treasure Valley and banding geese along the river. I also worked as a wildlife technician on various research projects in Nampa and Gooding, including organizing the drive-netting of mule deer fawns and the monitoring of the fawns through the winter on the Boise Front. During my college days, I also worked as a river guide on the Middle Fork of the Salmon River and the Selway River. I enjoyed flyfishing and teaching others how to flyfish along these two wilderness rivers.

In 2002, I started as an officer with Fish and Game in the Filer area near Twin Falls. I worked there for one year before transferring to the Riggins/White Bird area, where I worked for four years.

I have a wife and two young sons; I look forward to teaching both my sons how to fish this year. I remain an avid hunter and angler and enjoy hunting elk, white-tailed deer, mule deer, pheasants, chukar, quail, ducks and geese. I hope to get my Labrador back into training, retrieving ducks along the river and chukars in the desert. I also enjoy fishing for salmon, steelhead and bass.

Fish and wildlife enforcement comprises about 50 percent of my position as a Fish and Game officer, while information and education comprises another 25 percent.

The remainder of my time is spent assisting wildlife and fisheries staff with fish and wildlife population monitoring.

One of my goals in the Marsing/Homedale area is to become very involved with the Hunter Education program. Hunter Education is a great teaching tool, and the classes have really improved over the years. In the Riggins area, I took some of the top Hunter Education graduates on mentored hunts, including mentored pheasant, turkey and waterfowl hunts.

Another personal goal is to get more kids out fishing. In the Riggins area, I organized and conducted a fishing clinic and fishing trip for first- and second-grade children at Riggins Elementary School, and I would like to do something similar in the Marsing/Homedale area. It was great to see a kid's big grin and hear those words, "I got one!"

I also look forward to making guest presentations at area schools regarding hides, furs, horns, owl biology and gyotaku (fish print art). I also plan to display the Citizen's Against Poaching trailer at community events. Over the past three years, I also coached junior high basketball in Riggins area and look forward to possible coaching opportunities in the Marsing/Homedale area.

Effective fish and wildlife enforcement involves all of us. If you have information on a violation or witness a violation, I can be reached at cmickelson@idfg.idaho.gov or 989-9328. You also may report a violation to the Citizen's Against Poaching (CAP) hotline at (800) 632-5999. Callers may remain anonymous and rewards may be available. If you have general fish and game questions, you can reach the Nampa regional office at 465-8465. I look forward to meeting and visiting with many of you in the field this year.

While Homedale turned in another strong team performance, Pegram's exciting play down the stretch in a four-man sudden-death playoff stole the show and earned the junior a medal.

Pegram beat Skyview's Tanner Markus with a par putt on hole No. 4 — the sloping, treacherous green that runs toward the Snake River and lies in the shadow of the course's landmark silo.

Pegram finished regulation five strokes behind eventual champion Clay Christensen of host school Vallivue and Josh Bork of Emmett.

Christensen beat Bork in a playoff for top honors.

Grant Sweet finished two shots behind Pegram in the Homedale quintet, while Reece Landa and Ryan Garrett each fired 85s. Senior Trevor Krzesnik scored 89.

The Trojans, who have finished strong in all three of their tournaments so far this season, return from Spring Break with a nine-hole Snake River Valley conference match at Rolling Hills Golf Course against host Weiser on Tuesday.

"Our real strength and what is helping us develop is the competition during our qualifying," Thompson said. "We have six or seven players truly vying for five varsity spots, and everyone is being pushed to improve."

Nampa doubles up on Trojans tennis

Joshua Myers kept up his winning ways, but the Homedale High School tennis team dropped an 8-4 non-conference decision to Nampa on March 19.

A senior, Myers pulled away to beat the Bulldogs' No. 1 boys singles player, Shawn Meyers, 7-5, 6-2.

Two of Homedale's other victories came in the tail end of the girls singles ladder.

Second-seeded Shanae Galloway wept Monika Craciunescu, 6-2, 6-3, while Trojans teammate Bonnie Price cruised past Nampa's Neva McConnaughey, 6-2, 6-1.

The second-seeded girls doubles squad of Alejandra Ramos and Blanca Uriarte captured their match, 6-3, 6-3, against Meghan Kalvelage and Celeste Slover.

Two matches went three sets and included tiebreakers, with Nampa squeaking out victories in both instances. In both matches, Homedale had won the first set.

In the third boys singles match, Homedale senior Andrew Bingham dropped a 5-7, 7-6 (7-4), 6-3 decision to Victor Dambi.

Gage Egurrola and Shravan Sriganesh also fell victim to a second-set tiebreaker in their 4-6, 7-6 (7-3), 6-4 defeat at the hands of John Dambi and Brian Dambi.

Late start dooms Raiders in their softball opener

The rust resulting from a late start to the season showed March 20 for the Rimrock High School softball team.

While Shelby Chandler pitched seven effective innings, mental errors doomed the Raiders in a 5-2 non-conference loss to Horseshoe Bend in Bruneau.

“The biggest factor was this was our first game, and we made several mental errors,” Rimrock coach Mike Chandler said.

“We played very well defensively.”

While Shelby Chandler struck out eight and walked just one over seven innings, the Raiders were unable to solve the Mustangs’ pitcher, who fanned 12 and dodged six walks.

“This was Horseshoe Bend’s fourth game, and they came out playing aggressive and looked sharper than we did,” Mike Chandler said.

Shelby Chandler

Shelby Chandler and BreAnne Merrick picked up the only two hits Rimrock would manage.

The Raiders return to action Tuesday with a 4:30 p.m. home game against Wilder.

Although Horseshoe Bend and Wilder are both 1A Western Idaho Conference foes of Rimrock, their first clashes of the year against the Raiders are non-conference affairs.

Coach hopes loss to Emmett is a watershed moment

Once the Homedale High School baseball team settled down against 4A Emmett last week, the Trojans may have had an “A-ha!” moment.

The Huskies piled on the runs in the first three innings March 19 en route to a 9-3 non-conference victory in Homedale. But it was the latter stages of the contest on which Trojans coach Tim Fulwood elected to focus.

“After the third inning, I felt the kids really settled down and played good baseball for the last four innings and competed with them,” he said.

By the time the bottom of the fourth inning rolled around, though, Emmett had constructed a 7-0 lead against starting pitcher Ryan Johnson.

Emmett put its first two batters on base against the senior right-hander, and senior third baseman Chris Elliott cleared the bases with a three-run homer before the first out was recorded.

Two unearned runs followed in the second inning as the Trojans committed three errors, and Emmett scored two more — including another unearned tally — in the third inning.

“I think we were surprised by their team speed and the speed of the game,” Fulwood said. “We weren’t used to playing a 4A team, and I think that affected some of our play.”

Homedale finally broke through against Emmett reliever Mike Rambow in the fourth. Claudio Garcia was plunked with a pitch to start the inning, moved to second on a walk to Josh Jolley and scored when sophomore Ryan Davis laced the first of his three hits.

After striking out against Huskies starter Joe Johnson in the second inning, Davis finished 3-for-4 with a seventh-inning double. He picked up another RBI in the fifth inning, driving home Brandt Graber.

Graber, a senior who plays with the Trojans because his school — Greenleaf Friends Academy — doesn’t offer baseball, collected a one-out single ahead of Garcia’s base hit. Garcia scored on an error by Rambow, who was playing third base at the time.

“We went into the Emmett game playing to win,” Fulwood said. “I think we learned a lot from that game, and the kids saw that they can compete at a higher level.

“I look at it as we got more from the loss because sometimes when you lose to a good squad you gain more than if you played a bad squad and won.”

lead after two innings, but had to leave the game after he was beamed by a pitch while batting in the bottom of the third.

Before he left the game, Johnson racked up two hits and three runs batted in.

Homedale tacked on seven more runs in the third to answer the seven-spot that the Wildcats had notched in the top half of the inning.

“Both teams were out of pitching,” Fulwood said.

Claudio Garcia was 3-for-3 with three RBIs, and Guillermo Machuca knocked in three runs with two hits. Both Garcia and Machuca carded two-run doubles against Kellogg, and both players would hit .500 for the tournament (4-for-8).

Kellogg pitching was hit hard throughout the tournament. The Wildcats were outscored 39-14 in their three games, and had scored just three runs in its pool-play tilts against Kendrick and Genesee.

The Trojans were awarded the win over Kellogg after five innings because of the tournament’s time limit. And, Fulwood figures, Homedale was the third-place team even though no trophies were awarded.

“There were four teams with identical 2-1 records, and Joseph, Ore., was one of them, so technically we were third,” Fulwood said.

Much like the Kellogg finale, Homedale jumped out to a fast start against Joseph on Friday. Senior catcher Josh Jolley clubbed his first home run of the season — a three-run shot — as the Trojans rolled to a 4-0 advantage in the first inning.

“Our bats went kind of dead after that first inning,” Fulwood said. “We came out real focused in that first inning, and Joseph started chipping away and came back there at the end.”

Johnson was lifted after the fourth inning because Fulwood was staring at two more games with a thin pitching staff.

The Trojans’ second game in the Blue Division came against host Orofino on Saturday. And the morning started gloomy for the Trojans as Fulwood learned Garcia would miss another starting assignment on the mound.

“Garcia was scheduled to start, then about 10 minutes before gametime, he said his shoulder was hurting and he couldn’t start,” Fulwood said. “So we had to come up with a new plan and throw some kids with not a lot of mound experience.”

Last year, the coach was forced to nurse Garcia through the year because of a tender elbow. This season, the senior has thrown just four innings because of more arm troubles.

“This is completely different. It’s in the shoulder,” Fulwood said. “It’s kind of a mystery.”

After that, it was all Orofino, which had owned a 1-0 lead on a solo home run hit off Trojans starter Joey Cline with two outs in the bottom of the first inning.

The Maniacs scored 10 runs in the third behind a combination of walks, hit batters, errors and a couple hits, Fulwood said.

The game ended after five innings because of the 10-run rule.

“The team got a lot of experience and got games in against some good teams,” Fulwood said.

The Trojans also made a trip to Lewiston to watch NAIA stalwart Lewis-Clark State College in action.

When Homedale returns from Spring Break, coach Ted Pettet’s Weiser club will be waiting for the Trojans’ 3A Snake River Valley conference opener on Tuesday.

The Wolverines beat Payette in their SRV opener last week and will visit Homedale after smacking a 10-run rule loss on Ontario, Ore., in the weekend’s Commercial Tire tournament in Oregon.

“They’re playing really good ball right now,” Fulwood said.

On the edge of common sense

Forked limbs

As a youth I have done things that I look back on with disbelief. There is a fine line between bravado and foolhardiness, or as some would say, temporary insanity. We would race down gravel roads ahorseback and try to best each other by taking off each other’s bridle or shirt or loosening the cinch, all at a full gallop.

Once Wayne’s mother had made him a new pair of boxer shorts. They had hearts on them and would fit a Percheron mule! They were so big he couldn’t get them all tucked in. Wayne, Conrad and I were loping down the berm of a big drainage ditch. I reached for Wayne and managed to grab the waistband of his new boxers just as he swung over the bank! I stepped on the brakes and faded to the left. To his credit, he stayed in the saddle to the full extent of the elastic. I remember it as 20 or 30 feet, or at least as long as Batman’s cape. He spronged up like a jet pilot ejecting from his flaming F-4F Phantom!

We had another activity that was not officially approved. We called it the Tundra Leap. Leaps could be done as singles, duets or, as we once did, a triple. Along the trail on steep-sided canyons, a rider could actually look down onto the tops of trees. We would stand against the backside, get a good run and dive into the top of a tree! Sometimes we’d stand in the saddle and leap. A flip was incorporated so you would penetrate the limbs and foliage butt-first. Although, depending on the thickness, one could crash through and tumble earthward.

So when Bob told me about how he broke his ankle and scraped his face, I nodded knowingly. He was riding a gentle 2-year-old colt named Jethro. It started to sprinkle, so Bob untied his oilskin duster and pulled on it. Just as he had both arms spread like a preacher at the invitation, Jethro looked back.

One can only guess, but it might have appeared to him that a giant California condor was swooping down to eat him whole! He bucked so high, Bob did a double-gainer off his back! Bob came down in an ironwood tree and hung his boot in the fork of a limb 6 feet off the ground. (Bob is 6-foot-2). His face lit smack in the center of a big prickly pear.

“Yeah,” I said, “I know about those forked limbs.”

Not important ... but possibly of interest

Just cool it on global warming

Man isn’t smart enough or strong enough to cause or stop global warming.

This observation will not endear me to some readers. Nowadays, when anyone questions the claim that man is sending the Earth to hell in a handbasket, they usually are treated like pedophiles (actually pedophiles get more sympathy) or, at the very least, characterized as ignorant oafs.

The basic premise of global warming is that man’s activity is breaking down the atmospheric shield that protects the planet. Because of all the “stuff” man puts in the air, the world is warming up. Eventually, all the glaciers and the polar icecaps will melt, the sea will reclaim much of the land and droughts will kill crops and tens of millions of people.

Is it warmer now than, say, 100 or even 1,000 years ago? Maybe. But the human race has a pretty high opinion of itself to believe it is the main cause. This is a big planet, and a relatively small portion of it is inhabited by people. The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration says worldwide temperatures have been rising for the past ONE THOUSAND YEARS, which considerably predates the internal combustion engine, jet air travel and factory smokestacks. In addition, pollution from automobiles and industry actually has decreased during the past 30 years.

Recent studies done by Danish, Canadian and British scientists concluded the currently used method of determining the global temperature — and any conclusion drawn from it — is more political than scientific.

End-of-the-world advocates claim the carbon dioxide man pumps into the air is breaking down our protective shield. Fact: During the 19th century there were at least two enormous volcanic eruptions that put more carbon dioxide into the air than all the carbon dioxide man has produced since the beginning of time. We’re still here.

The gloom-and-doomers have long cited an alleged atmospheric “hole” over Antarctica caused by human pollution that is melting the icecap. Fact: Recent studies indicate Antarctica actually has had more snowfall and colder temperatures in recent years.

Some global warming fans have even claimed that “flatulence” (gas) from all the cattle we raise is contributing to the environmental calamity. This theory seems most popular with animal rights activists who, if they had their way, would pass laws requiring all of us to eat eggplant and tofu.

So if global warming isn’t as big a threat as the Chicken Littles are claiming, what’s going on?

It’s all about political power.

Look at the ringleaders of the global warming movement. They are the folks who have been pretty much ignored by the vast majority of Americans since voters rejected the ultra-liberal philosophy 30 years ago. So how do you get back in power? You wait until there is a lot of post-911 apprehension about the current government. Then you tell folks that not only are we fighting a bad war, but the whole freaking world is gonna end SOON unless a more “enlightened” group of people is running the government.

And it seems to be working.

Fifty years ago, Joe McCarthy said the government was full of communists and anyone who disagreed with his accusations was shouted down and/or accused of treason. Today, anyone who tries to question global warming is jumped on by the news media, environmentalists, movie stars and every elementary school science teacher in the country.

Even many scientists who agree that worldwide temperatures are rising aren’t willing to say man is the primary reason. But most are afraid to speak for fear of destroying their careers because of their dissenting views.

Everybody take a deep breath. No matter what Oprah or Al Gore says, the sky isn’t falling. Mother Nature is a tough old broad. If things are warming up, it’s because she decided to warm ’em up. Feeding cattle Beano, driving electric cars, grounding airliners and shutting down our industries won’t change that trend. If the world is warming up, it will continue until Nature changes her mind. How do we think we can alter the worldwide climate when we can’t accurately predict the weather three days in advance? We would be better served focusing on how to adapt to the changes.

From Washington Income tax relief must be extended

by Sen. Mike Crapo

As April 17 approaches, some might be scrambling to file 2006 taxes. As liabilities or refunds are calculated, three important tax reform issues bear consideration. Thankfully, Alternative Minimum Tax (AMT) limits and 15 percent rates on capital gains and dividends remain in effect temporarily. But, the future of these important tax reductions is in jeopardy if Congress doesn’t act now to permanently fix the AMT and extend the 15 percent cap on tax rates for capital gains and dividends.

Often, congressional tax debate centers on perceived gain by wealthy taxpayers; all too infrequently, positive effects on middle-class taxpayers make headlines. Statistics indicate that 33 percent of eligible taxpayers don’t incur income tax liability: in 2004, in Idaho, of 205,000 returns with zero tax liability, 199,000 reported an AGI of less than $50,000.

The National Taxpayer Advocate office reported some alarming 2005 Idaho tax statistics:

AMT — 9,798 tax returns were subject to the AMT.

Sen. Mike Crapo

Of these:

- Sixteen reported Adjusted Gross Incomes (AGI) between $20,000 and $30,000;
- Fifty-three had AGIs between $30,000 and $50,000;
- Only 172 taxpayers had an AGI of more than $1 million — the only ones for whom the tax was originally established in 1969;
- 318 taxpayers with AGIs under $75,000 were subject to the AMT and paid a total of $488,000 in AMT taxes.

Capital Gains —114,068 tax returns reported capital gains income:

- 3,450 had an AGI of $0 or less;
- 74,950 had an AGI of less than $75,000.

Dividends —116,963 tax returns reported dividend income:

- 2,422 had an AGI of $0 or less;
- 78,589 had an AGI of less than $75,000.

We’re witnessing exponential AMT growth. In 2006, 3.5 million taxpayers are expected to owe taxes under this

From Washington Bills gives veterans health care choice

by Sen. Larry Craig

By now, most of you probably have heard at least some of the reports about terrible conditions at Building 18 at Walter Reed Army Medical Center. My heart sank when I read these accounts, because these young men and women living there have sacrificed so much for our nation, and they deserve better.

Before I go any further, however, let me clarify just one thing. Because I am the top Republican on the Senate Committee on Veterans' Affairs, many Idahoans have urged me to take swift action to fix the problems at Building 18. But the soldiers receiving care at Walter Reed are still on active duty. Because they have not yet become veterans, oversight of their care falls under the jurisdiction of the Senate Armed Services Committee, not the Veterans' Affairs Committee.

Having said that, I don't believe the VA system is perfect. But VA health care is, in fact, very good, and I'm not the only one who says so. Harvard's Kennedy School of Government, Time Magazine, and the Annals of Internal Medicine have all separately given praise to VA health care. For the seventh year in a row, VA's health care system outscored the private sector in the University of Michigan's Consumer Satisfaction Survey.

In that survey, 91 percent of VA's patients rated VA as having good customer service. VA's inpatient care received 84 percent satisfaction ratings, compared to the private sector's 73 percent. The survey also said 82 percent are satisfied with their outpatient care — again, 11 points better than the private sector.

Those ratings are pretty good, but we should strive for 100 percent satisfaction. Those not satisfied with VA probably have a reason to be so. I'm not going to argue with that. What I am going to do is offer them a choice in health care.

On March 8, I introduced a bill in the Senate that allows veterans with service-connected disabilities to seek their health care wherever they want. No strings. The only condition is that the facility or provider the veteran chooses must qualify for TRICARE or Medicare, and that is simply to assure a level of quality in the care they will receive.

Since I am so confident in the high quality of VA health care, you might ask why I would give veterans a ticket out. Because I believe VA has nothing to fear. I believe most veterans will continue to use the high-quality care VA provides. But if many veterans choose to leave, it will tell me something very valuable: that veterans feel they can get better service outside the VA system. If they stay, we learn that we have something good.

If there are systematic problems with VA, we should fix them, but it may take months or even years for the federal government to study and pinpoint the problems and their solutions. I think the number of veterans who don't trust VA for their care is small. But if they don't trust VA, my bill will allow them to seek another health care provider right away, instead of waiting for the problems to be resolved.

We have all of the objective studies, articles and reviews that say VA health care is good. I believe them, because I've been to a number of VA facilities to see for myself. But we ought to find out what our veterans think, by letting them "vote with their feet." I wouldn't be surprised if most stay right where they are.

— Larry Craig is a Republican U.S. senator from Idaho.

Governor's desk Idaho voices needed on delisting

By Governor C.L. "Butch" Otter

The public hearings are over. But Idahoans who often are drowned out by folks who don't live here can still be heard on removing wolves from the endangered species list.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service extended its public comment period 30 days, until May 9, on the proposed delisting of gray wolves in the Northern Rocky Mountains, including Idaho.

Some of us spend the better part of a lifetime griping about the federal government imposing its will on us or taking us for granted. Here's our chance to make a difference.

Join me in doing more than wishing the feds would get off our backs. Let them hear what you have to say about delisting wolves, loud and clear.

About 240 people attended a March 6 public hearing in Boise on delisting. It was the only hearing held in Idaho, and I understand it was the most heavily attended of the six. That's not surprising because Idaho shares with Wyoming and Montana the distinction as habitat for gray wolves "reintroduced" from Canada in the mid-1990s.

Idaho's federally approved management plan enables the Department of Fish and Game to employ sportsmen or other appropriate tools to protect private property from the pack predators where consistent patterns of chronic livestock depredation are documented and where wolves are damaging elk herds.

My comments supporting state management of a fully recovered, stable and thriving wolf population were submitted in Boise. The capital city, however, is a long way to travel for folks ranching in the Lemhi Valley or looking for elk in the Clearwater country.

My hope now is that Idahoans from Porthill to Preston and Gibbonsville to Grand View offer as much first-hand, factual information as possible to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

The vast majority of comments so far have been value-based. That's fine, as far as it goes. If more are needed, I have hundreds and hundreds of letters and e-mails sent to my office by individuals from New York to California. Not all are fit to print.

But the agency also needs information on the size of wolf habitat in Idaho and whether Wyoming's participation matters to delisting here. That's where you come in.

Comments and documentation on the delisting proposal, identified as RIN number 1018-AU53, can be submitted via:

- Federal e-Rulemaking Portal — <http://www.regulations.gov>
- E-mail — WesternGrayWolf@fws.gov. Include "RIN number 1018-AU53" in the subject line of the message.
- Fax — (406) 449-5339
- Mail, hand delivery or courier — U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Western Gray Wolf Recovery Coordinator, 585 Shepard Way, Helena, MT 59601

If your comments reflect half of what you tell me, the feds will be hard-pressed to ignore it.

— C.L. "Butch" Otter is Idaho's 32nd governor.

School gym floor must be protected during special events

The dining area for the Homedale International Smorgasbord is in a gymnasium. The tables and chairs are set up on the unprotected floor.

I call this fact to the attention of my fellow school patrons because I have attended public functions in gymnasiums at private schools in Idaho that were protected with canvas.

If our school administration does not care about the well-being of the schoolhouse, how can they care about the students in it?

✓ Tax: Lessen AMT burden on U.S. taxpayers

alternative tax structure. In 2007, the AMT could affect 23 million taxpayers. The AMT isn't indexed for inflation and, although it has been "fixed" temporarily, a long-term solution hasn't been implemented. For a number of years, I've co-sponsored legislation to repeal this increasingly onerous and unfair tax. Frankly, I was surprised at the opposition to this in the past, and hope that, as this tax has the effect that has been predicted for some time, opposition to repealing it will fade.

Similarly, legislation I've introduced for two congresses now, calling for permanence in the 2003 rate reductions on capital gains and dividends, only makes sense and must be passed this year. Like the AMT, every year we wait means more revenue off-setting challenges for Congress to solve. In 2006, the 15 percent tax rate on capital gains was extended to 2010, but not beyond. The 15 percent tax rate on dividends only continues through 2008 (5 percent through 2007 and 0 percent from 2008 to 2010 for those in the 15 percent and below tax bracket). Capital gains taxes can discourage saving and investment by businesses and individuals, and dividend taxes are essentially a double tax. Today, middle-income Americans tend to be stockholders — nearly half of all taxpayers with incomes below $50,000 receive dividends or report capital gains. These people benefit from tax relief on these income generators.

Tax relief generates economic growth across all income levels.

Specifically, tax relief from the unfair burden of the AMT, and lower rates on capital gains and dividends will continue to stimulate our economy and help keep financial markets more stable. Effective tax relief must remain in place, not just this year and next, but for years to come.

— Mike Crapo is a Republican U.S. senator from Idaho.

Levy would boost taxes 700% higher than 1981

If the proposed Pleasant Valley School District bond levy passes, it will raise school taxes by 700%. And even if it doesn’t, school taxes will be up by 250%. But that’s not all of the story. County taxes and bond and bridge taxes will also be considerably higher than last year, even if budgets remain the same.

The Pleasant Valley School District patrons will go to the polls April 8 to vote on a $300,000 bond levy. The total amount is to be paid off in one year. A two-thirds majority is needed to pass the levy.

But even if the bond fails, taxpayers of the district – and all of Owyhee County for that matter – will be paying higher taxes, based on the 1982 evaluation.

For a few years now, the county, and especially the Pleasant Valley School District, has had sort of a “windfall” in the monies from the operations of the DeLamar Silver Mine.

Taxes on mining operations are based on two factors: personal property (equipment, buildings, etc.) and net profit. The latter is where the vast change to tax coffers will show up from 1982 assessments.

Last year’s (1981) net profit from the mine was $131,465,799 and personal property valuation was $9,550,223. The total evaluation in the district was $149,698,164, leaving only $8,683,000 valuation for the remainder of the district.

The 1982 net profit from the mine took a nosedive of nearly $91,000,000, for a total of $40,677,000. These figures were just released Monday by Lyle Talbot of Earth Resources, the parent company of DeLamar Silver Mines.

Assuming the valuation of personal property remains the same, total valuation for the mine will be $50,227,223, a long way from 1981’s $141,015,992.

Last year, Earth Resources paid 94% of the school district’s taxes. This year, they will pay 85%. That will leave 15% for the other taxpayers in the district to pay.

If the school levy passes, that 15% of the one year, $300,000 levy will total $45,000, or about 4 ½ times what they paid in school taxes last year. And they will pick up a 250% increase in school maintenance and operation. And they will pay a higher percentage of road and bridge, and other county taxes.

Last year taxpayers, other than the mine, paid a little over $10,200 in school taxes. This year, with the same budget they’ll pay $25,725. And if the levy passes, they’ll pay $70,725. That’s about 700% more than they paid last year.

LaRocco plans to establish ‘team’

“The creation of jobs is one of the best services a Congressman can provide his constituents,” Democratic Congressional candidate Larry La Rocco said last Tuesday during a meeting of the Homedale Chamber of Commerce.

La Rocco said he would establish and “economic development team: within his staff if elected. The economic development team concept is one element of a 10 point economic program La Rocco said he would release in the near future.

“During the 1980’s Idaho needs to establish a more stable economic base and opportunities for jobs for all Idahoans,” La Rocco said. “My goal will be to broaden Idaho’s economic base in the 1980’s.”

The record budget deficit and the correspondingly high interest rates are dealing a crippling blow to Idaho’s timber and agricultural based economy. The ripple effect of the economic downturn reaches all segments of Idaho’s economy.

La Rocco, who has pledged to work one week in each of the 19 counties of the First District, was in Owyhee County last week with his “working for Congress” plan. La Rocco has now worked in 14 counties.

Interview Girls’ State candidates

Girls’ State candidates Karen Marble, Sherry Byington, Anna Moore, Linda Petzoldt and Anita Maher, were interviewed by the Legion auxiliary at a meeting held Wednesday evening at the Legion hall.

Mrs. Dora Upton, chairman of the affair, tuned the meeting over to Shirley Walker, last year’s delegate to Girls’ State, who spoke of her experience last year.

Each candidate told of her activities in school and extra curricular. Each one was given a topic to speak on that was unknown to her in advance.

Topics included “Pros and Cons of Marrying a Millionaire,” “Should Teachers Wages be Raised in Idaho?” “Should Idaho Have a State Sales Tax?” “Are Parents to Blame if Their children are Juvenile Delinquents?” and “Should a Two Party System be used in the Schools for Electing Class Officers?”

Cake, jello and coffee were served by Mrs. Lucille Applegate, Mrs. Leta Burchard and Mrs. Irene Nazworthy.

School board holds 2 special meetings

Special school board meetings of Joint Class A school district No. 370 were held Monday and Tuesday nights with chairman Allen George and board members Orville Soper, Orville Vance, Albert Eidemiller and Ronald Robinson present.

The purpose of the meetings was to go over the proposed budget for the year 1957-58 and also set up a policy on teachers’ salaries.

Teachers were granted a substantial raise according to their experience and college work.

A committee representing the faculty was present. The teachers’ committee suggested that an election be held this year for a 2 mill levy on the school plant facility reserve fund and if this levy carries part of the money could be used for new equipment that at present time is being paid by the general fund. The board decided to take this proposal under advisement.

It was voted to also increase janitors’ salaries effective July 1.

IDAHO MINERS AND MINES IN NEW YORK. A correspondent of the Oregonian, writing from New York, February 1st, ’67, speaks to Idaho men and matters there in this wise:

Oregon and Idaho are largely represented in this city at this time. From Owyhee are Messrs. Walbridge, Robbins, Styles, Pat Bradford, Grenebach, Serimgour, and some others all well, but to be set down in the Poorman list. Preston, Farnham, Benson, and many more represent the Boise Basin and Idaho City district.

Mining matters for Idaho are beginning to attract a large share of public attention but unfortunately there are too many undeveloped and speculating feet in the market, which have more value in the fertile brain and on the voluble tongue of the holder than they have in the lodes and shafts. The day has gone by when a miner, either in person or by attorney, can draw fifty or a hundred thousand dollars from the pockets of the capitalists of the Atlantic States for every extension of the “Golden Buster” lode, or the “Silver Chameleon” true vein. When a really good mine has been discovered and demonstrated, not by assays of little specimens which can be carried in the vest pocket, but by a practical opening of the ledge, and the treatment of many tons of ore, there will be little trouble in finding Eastern capitalists to invest in that time.

Owners of feet desirous of making sales of them East, will find in the above some comfort and more information. Capital can be had readily for valuable mineral bearing veins and the true friends of Idaho do not wish the sale of any other than ledges rich enough to yield profits when rightly worked and managed.

THE WEATHER during the early part of the week was a little stormy with a feeble attempt at snow, but at this writing – Friday PM – the day is clear and the streets quite sloppy with melted snow. Men are standing out in the sunshine with a spring fever look on their countenances. Citizens are encouraged to remove snow banks that have been annoying them, feeling that the work will not have to be repeated ere another winter. Taking a look from our office windows, men and things look as above described.

BILLIARDS. The match to which we made reference last week came off as stated and was witnessed by a crowded house. Large as is the room, all could not get in that desired to witness the sport. The great interest manifested on the occasion was probably caused by its being the first billiard match of not even played in Owyhee. The game was played on a six-pocket table; points, 600 – one of the players receiving 100 points as a starter and then was lacing 106 at the close of the game. From those who witnessed the game and know the players ability in this line, we are informed that neither played was well as usual. The average innings of the winner was 6½ .

By reference to reports of games recently played in Boston and Philadelphia, we learn that the average runs of several matches range from sixteen to twenty-three.

ALTITUDE. We have been often asked the altitude of this vicinity and we’ll now give the best information in possession on the subject. Lieut. Colonel Williamson gives it as 4,664 feet at “Ruby City or Camp Lyon.” Whether he took observations at both points and found the height the same at each as his report indicates, we do not know, but incline to the belief that he made no instrumental measurement at Ruby and that the altitude is greater here than at Camp Lyon. We have no doubt that his report is correct as applied to Camp Lyon and Hall’s Ranch, the two nearest points to this place; the altitude of the former is given at 4,664, and the latter 4,665, from which each one familiar with the country can make an estimate of the height.
