Efficient Rimrock rumbles

Rimrock High School ran only 15 plays Friday night, but that was more than enough to pound Horseshoe Bend 52-0 in a 1A, Div. I football game in Bruneau.

The Raiders (4-2 overall, 2-1 1A, Div. I) averaged nearly 12 yards a carry on the ground and only attempted one pass in a game shortened by the 45-point mercy rule.

Trojans stoke fire through tough road loss

Homedale may have inside track with McCall yet to play Weiser

Something clicked Friday night for the Homedale High School football team.

Despite another loss to Weiser — this time a 26-13 3A Snake River Valley conference decision that was closer than the score — the Trojans seemingly are ready to finally fulfill their perceived potential.

"I'm very proud of them," Homedale coach Rob Kassebaum said. "They've made huge strides."

The fuse has been lit on a possible skyrocket into the 3A state playoffs. Homedale needs to win only one of its remaining two conference contests — Friday on the road against unbeaten state No. 1 Fruitland or Oct. 19 at Deward Bell Stadium against McCall-Donnelly — to claim the SRV's third berth into the playoffs.

McCall and Homedale both are 1-1 thus far in the 3A SRV season, tied for third behind first-place

Fruitland (2-0) and second-place Weiser (2-1).

The Vandals were hammered two Fridays ago, 52-0, by the Grizzlies, and barely squeaked by Payette, 16-13, on Friday. The Trojans (2-4 overall) pounded Payette, 30-0, on Sept. 21. In fact, the Pirates' 13 points against McCall were the first Payette (0-3 3A SRV) has scored in the conference season.

In light of how the SRV season has unfolded, it's not inaccurate to say the Trojans control their destiny, and Kassebaum made that point clear in the postgame breakdown Friday at Walter Johnson Field.

At the same time, the coach is confident that the team won't get complacent knowing that they merely need to bat .500 over the next two weeks to reach the state playoffs.

Owyhee Lanes bowler sets several state records

Jake Ryska, a youth bowler at Owyhee Lanes in Homedale, recently received a U.S. Marine Corps scholarship for a record-setting performance at the youth state championship tournament.

Ryska, whose mother and stepfather, Donna and Mike Marose, own the Homedale bowling center, won the Division 3 boys championship at the Idaho United States Bowling Congress Youth Championship Tournament held in April in Canyon County.

In winning the division title, Ryska had a total handicap all-events pinfall of 2,399, which is one of five records he set.

Rupp's OT kick nicks Weiser

The Kendall Rupp-Hannah Johnson connection paid off again Saturday for the Homedale High School girls soccer team.

Rupp scored on a pass from Johnson, a fellow junior, with two minutes left in sudden-death overtime to push the Trojans to a thrilling 4-3 win over Weiser in the first round of the 3A District III Tournament at Sabala Field in McCall.

Homedale scraped its way into the semifinals by winning the play-in game — and beating Weiser in the district playoffs for the second year in a row.

Possibly exhausted from the intense opener, the Trojans fell to top-seeded Fruitland, 9-0, in a semifinal played later Saturday.

Sluggish Mustangs get past M-D

A slow start punctuated by errors didn't hinder Jordan Valley High School's march to another High Desert League volleyball victory Friday.

Jessie White, Athena Beckwith and Elisa Eiguren registered three kills each in a 25-20, 25-9, 25-20 road victory over Monument-Dayville.

"We started out making some errors on service receive, which is unusual for us," Jordan Valley coach Jacque Naegle said. "We then dug ourselves a little bit of a hole that we had to overcome."

Naegle said it was a matter of the Mustangs (7-2 overall, 5-0 HDL) building momentum to shake away the difficulties and the Tigers.

"There were areas of our play which we seemed to have some problems with during the game, but once we started moving, the girls didn't let down," she said. "Even when things weren't going well, they played together and had confidence in themselves."

Eiguren served for a team-high 12 points. Nickie Naegle led the Mustangs (7-2 overall, 5-0 HDL) with 10 assists and four digs.

Six assists from Ashley Hebison helped the younger Mustangs overcome the absence of one of their setters in a 25-15, 25-6 league victory.

With one setter missing, Naegle moved the team into a 5-1 offensive set.

"We think the girls did a great job adjusting and moving around the floor," Naegle said. "The game was fairly slow-paced, but the girls did a great job of focusing and doing what they needed to do."

Mattie Wroten and Shelly Payne served 13 points apiece. Tessa Matteri chimed in with three digs, and Wroten added two kills.

Freshman helps Adrian to second at Crane tourney

Madison Shira seemingly has arrived just in time for the Adrian High School volleyball team.

The freshman has stepped up into the setter position in the wake of injury, and the Antelopes haven't missed a beat.

She served four aces in four games Friday as Adrian beat Burnt River in Unity, Ore., to remain unbeaten in High Desert League play after six matches.

On Saturday at the Crane Tournament, Shira fired 11 aces and dished 20 assists in nine games. The Antelopes (17-4 overall) settled for second place after getting swept in the championship match, 25-18, 25-12, by HDL foe Crane.

"Against Crane, we faltered defensively, and they found our holes," Adrian coach Aimee Goss said. "You can't hit the ball out 12 times in two games and expect to beat a good team."

Adrian gets its chance at a rematch back at Crane on Friday in an HDL game.

"It was good to see what we can work on to improve as we meet Crane this coming Friday in league play," Goss said.

The Crane Tournament afforded Adrian a peek at quite a few familiar foes.

The Antelopes reached the title match with a 25-7, 25-11 semi-final win over Prairie City, and they began the championship bracket with a 25-23, 25-15 win over Burnt River. All three opponents in the single-elimination championship bracket were HDL neighbors.

Adrian won its pool, beating the Lakeview junior varsity 20-9, HDL foe Harper 20-12 and Northlake 20-11.

Senior standout Paige Branstiter carded six aces and 30 kills in the tournament.

McKenzie Purnell had 25 assists and 12 kills, while Andrea Shenk pounded four aces and netted seven kills.

Adrian def. GFA

The Antelopes were down to quadruple match point against previously unbeaten Greenleaf Friends Academy on Oct. 2 before rallying for a non-league victory.

"We were down 10-14 in the final game and just refused to give up," Goss said.

Jayna Witty displayed fierce concentration and determination, serving five consecutive points and enduring two Greenleaf timeouts to propel Adrian to a 12-25, 24-26, 25-18, 25-17, 16-14 win.

"That is incredibly tough to maintain composure at the service line when one mistake would finish the match," Goss said of Witty's performance.

The Grizzlies (12-1 overall after the match), who are tops in the 1A Western Idaho Conference, used a solid serving display to grab the first two games.

"We started the match out poorly with a lot of passing errors, granted that Greenleaf had some great serves," Goss said.

"The second (game) was better than the first, but I was very pleased with the way that they battled back the last three games."

Witty finished with seven kills and two blocks.

Three players reached double figures in kills, including 6-foot-1 players Paige Branstiter (13 kills) and McKenzie Purnell (11). Andrea Shenk had a co-team-high 13 kills.

Purnell added 18 assists and three blocks, while freshman Madison Shira set 13 points, dug three balls and served an ace.

Terra Rust had a team-high six digs.

"Every player out there and the bench contributed to this win," Goss said.

"I especially liked that we kept attacking the ball right down to the wire, which I think put us in position to win. I love to see them go out swinging, and it's super nice if you leave with a win."

Huskies find little running room against Parma

Marsing running back Sean Finley (8) looks for a crack in the Parma defense as quarterback Tyson Heller (4) looks on. Blocking for Finley for the Huskies are Martin Galvez (69), Logan Glenn (56), T.J. Placencia (59), Carlos Ceballos (70), Ethan Salove (51), and Ethan Sauer (10).

Marsing can't get started at home against Parma

Huskies face must-win task vs. New Plymouth

Parma 34 Marsing 0

The Panthers put a serious dent in the Huskies' post-season hopes with a lopsided victory in Marsing on Friday. Parma quarterback Rance Portnier threw three touchdown passes.

The Marsing Huskies have played less than their best early in games this season. The team has been a strong second-half club, at times dominating opponents in the third and fourth quarters. Against Parma on Thursday, the Huskies were true to form in the first half, but could not pick up the pace after the intermission. Unable to do anything consistently on either side of the ball throughout the game, the Huskies lost big to the Panthers 34-0 in a 2A Western Idaho Conference game played in Marsing. Maybe it was an extended case of the early-game funk. After all, the entire game was played a day earlier than usual. On the other hand, the opposing team had something to do with it, too. Parma defenders were in Marsing's backfield all night, recording two sacks and eight other tackles for loss, while on offense the Panthers ran an effective option attack early and followed it up with a devastating passing game. "We weren't handling their option, and when we took care of that, we couldn't handle their passing," Huskies coach Don Heller said. "They were really getting us with their tight end." The tight end was Randy Riley, who had four catches for 95 yards and two touchdowns. The Huskies (3-3 overall, 1-2 2A WIC) had very few holes to run through when they did make it back to the line of scrimmage. Ethan Sauer gained 13 yards on his first carry, the team's longest run of the night, and the only double-digit run aside from a 10-yard gain by Taylor Nielsen on a fake punt. This from a team that is accustomed to picking up yards on the ground in big chunks. Through the first five games, Sauer averaged almost 10 yards per carry (9.7). The Huskies came into the game averaging 265 yards rushing per contest. Sauer led Marsing's ground attack on Thursday with 25 yards on 17 carries, more than eight yards per carry below his season average, while the rest of the team managed just 20 yards on 17 carries. Quarterback Tyson Heller completed eight of 22 passes for 100 yards, with 89 of those yards picked up in the second half as the Huskies were forced to abandon their ground game. "They were blitzing, and we weren't picking it up," Don Heller said. "We knew what to do, we just didn't do it." Parma (5-1, 2-1), on the other hand, broke a 53-yard run on its first play from scrimmage and rolled up 217 yards of total offense in the first half en route to a 21-0 lead. The Panthers scored on two short Mark Finley runs in the first quarter, and they tacked on a demoralizing 13-yard pass play from Rance Portnier to Jace Greiner with 0.6 seconds on the clock in the second quarter. Marsing kept the game from getting out of hand in the first half by forcing a pair of turnovers, but the Huskies were unable to capitalize on the Parma miscues. The Huskies gave the turnovers back in the second half, snuffing out two drives with lost fumbles as they tried desperately to mount a comeback. The teams battled to a standoff in the third quarter. Riley hauled in both of his touchdown receptions in the fourth before the Panthers threw in the reserves. The Huskies face a must-win game at New Plymouth (1-5, 1-2) at 7 p.m. on Friday. A victory would all but assure Marsing a spot in the class 2A Western Idaho Conference playoffs. A loss against the Pilgrims would put the Huskies in the unenviable position of needing a win against league-leading Nampa Christian (3-0, 6-0), who beat New Plymouth 50-0 on Thursday, to qualify for the playoffs.

Homedale volleyball picking up steam

The Homedale High School volleyball team looks poised to finish the regular season strong. The Trojans (3-3 in the 3A SRV through Monday) visit Payette on Thursday to close out the 3A Snake River Valley conference schedule and prepare for the District III Tournament. The Trojans' junior varsity and freshman teams compete in their district tournaments Saturday. First-year coach Dave Hann's charges played Marsing in a non-conference game Monday and then took on Weiser on Tuesday. Results for both games weren't available at press time. Last week, the Trojans split their conference matches, including a sweep on the road against McCall-Donnelly in which Homedale put together perhaps its best night of the season. Homedale pounded 28 kills in a 25-15, 25-12, 25-7 victory over the Vandals, and Hann said the team had its fewest service errors, five, and most aces, 17, of the season. Kindra Galloway and Nina Bell served five aces apiece. Galloway and Rachel Wheeler carried the Trojans in the first game with serving streaks of six straight points and nine consecutive points, respectively. Homedale closed out the match with a dominant third game. Amanda Andeverde, Galloway, Bri Cornwall and Bell combined for 17 service points in two rotations. Mandy Brasher led the offense with eight kills. "We played loose and relaxed," Hann said. "We were able to work on our offensive plays and get our timing down. I was very pleased with our serving effort." The week started with a 25-14, 25-20, 25-17 loss to Fruitland. Mikal Mackenzie served for eight points, and Corey Hall registered four kills.

Rimrock defeats Wilder 3-0

Led by 14 kills from Anna Cantrell, 21 assists from Shelby Chandler and 12 points each from Jackie Thurman and Ellie Cantrell, Rimrock High School defeated Wilder 25-10, 25-22, 25-10 in a 1A Western Idaho Conference volleyball match on Thursday. The Raiders moved their record to 10-3 overall, 8-3 in 1A WIC. Anna Cantrell also led the Raiders with eight digs and six blocks. Thurman added 10 kills. Bekah Butler led Wilder with 11 points.

pride to do that, and too much confidence,” he said.

In fact, Homedale controlled its destiny even before the opening kickoff in Washington County on Friday. A win against third-ranked Weiser would have boosted the Trojans’ stock considerably.

But even a two-touchdown loss to the Wolverines (6-1 overall) has left Homedale in good spirits, and probably in good standing among the state’s football experts.

The Trojans seemingly never lost their edge or their hunger Friday night before a sparse crowd of commuting Homedale fans.

“The kids did a great job of being focused,” Kassebaum said, “and they did a great job of focusing in through the bye week.”

The Trojans’ performance was made all the more remarkable by the fact that at least two key players were injured. Starting quarterback Eric Engum’s status entering the night was a question mark after he suffered a neck injury against Payette. He never stepped on the field as sophomore Ryan Ryska delivered a crisp performance.

“The plan was to play (Engum), but things were clicking with Ryan,” Kassebaum said.

When asked if Ryska’s play may have won him the starting job, the first-year coach said he wasn’t prepared to make a decision like that before breaking down film.

Running back/defensive end Micheal Wilhelm played with a shoulder injury that at one point forced him out of the game. He held his battered right arm close to his side and didn’t move it as he came off the field later in the contest.

Homedale runners benefit from big night from line

Senior fullback Daniel Valadez roars through one of the large holes opened by the Homedale High School offensive line during the first half Friday night at Walter Johnson Field in Weiser.

But those blemishes on the Trojans’ roster didn’t seem to affect morale or even execution, which has been a thorn in Homedale’s side all season.

Ryska completed an efficient nine of 15 passes in the second half. With plenty of time to throw, he fired timely passes that were caught with equally clutch dexterity by his receiving corps.

The offense seemed to run effortlessly and with fewer mental mistakes.

“I think the biggest key has been the offensive linemen playing better,” Kassebaum said, adding that Engum probably would have benefited in similar fashion with the protection had he had the opportunity to play.

Ryska even completed a pass to Trent Acree to convert a fake punt. Ryska was the up-back, and he received a direct snap while Acree ran a perfect route to the first-down marker.

Ryska also showed his mobility with clutch scrambles. After being harassed and dumped on a couple occasions in the first half, the 5-foot-10, 150-pounder seemed to get his radar in gear after the intermission, leaving the pocket or rolling out just when Weiser defenders were converging.

His final scramble of the night turned into a 3-yard TD with 2 minutes, 2 seconds left in the game.

Even when Weiser scored, it was not for a lack of effort from the Homedale defense, which tightened whenever the Wolverines neared the goal line in the first half.

Weiser managed only a touchdown in a fast-paced first half that was dominated by the run game. Ironically, with both teams picking up big gains on the ground, the Wolverines scored 18 minutes into the game on a 19-yard pass from junior quarterback Gavin Eisenbarth to junior receiver Q Erhard, who out-jumped Mat Hansen for the ball.

Eisenbarth would thread the needle again with a 21-yard third-quarter TD pas to Trent Coleman that gave Weiser a 19-7 advantage. Coleman hauled in the waist-high pass after Homedale junior defensive back Rodrigo Villarreal had the ball sail through his arms. Had Villarreal’s timing been a little sharper, he may have had an interception, and it would have marked the third time in the game that the junior had disrupted an Eisenbarth aerial.

Villarreal jumped high to knock down other passes twice. One pass defense came in the first quarter with Weiser driving toward the end zone. The second deflection highlighted the Trojans’ stand with Weiser in the shadow of its own end zone. Facing a 3rd-and-8 from his own 8-yard line, Eisenbarth uncorked an arcing pass down the middle of the field for Coleman. Villarreal leapt to bat the ball away.

Villarreal also showed the resilience that Kassebaum hopes to see from his entire unit over the next two weeks.

A shifty junior, Villarreal seemed to have an easier time reading blocks and making cuts in the damp turf. He scored on a nifty 14-yard scamper in the third quarter, pulling the Trojans to within five points, 12-7.

The TD came four plays after Villarreal possibly suffered a charley horse when a Weiser defender put his helmet on the junior’s right thigh at the end of a 16-yard run through a huge hole.

The drive that culminated with Villarreal’s TD run was prolonged when tight end Grant Sweet got good air to snag Ryska’s 15-yard bullet on 3rd-and-long from the Weiser 29.

Not to be outdone by Villarreal in the Smacking Eisenbarth Sweepstakes, senior linebacker Daniel Valadez, who missed last year’s season-changing 34-0 loss to the Wolverines, laid a loud, hard hit on the junior to end one of his second-half scrambles. Valadez also broke up an Eisenbarth pass 30 seconds before the half.

“Tonight was a very physically played game,” Kassebaum said.

√ Rimrock: Raiders tune up for Friday road showdown with Wildcats

back for a total loss of 23 yards and forced six turnovers.

Defensive lineman Carlos Salinas, who would boot a couple of PATs, recorded four of the Raiders’ nine quarterback sacks. Sam Richardson added two sacks, six tackles, an interception and a safety to close out the first half.

The Raiders started fast against Horseshoe Bend when TJ Snyder returned the opening kickoff 70 yards for a touchdown to ignite the rout.

Rimrock scored 36 points in the first quarter, and had all of its points by halftime.

Ricardo Araujo rattled off four rushing touchdowns, including a 55-yarder for the second score of the night. The sophomore, who sits 46 yards from 1,000 for the season, also raced 46 yards with a punt return for another score.

Araujo finished with 128 yards on seven rushes.

Rimrock’s defense scored twice.

Before Richardson’s safety, senior Nate Hofer rumbled 20 yards to pay dirt with an interception. He also recovered two fumbles.

Rimrock is a half-game behind second-place Idaho City in the conference standings and one game behind unbeaten conference leader Council. Only the top two teams from the conference qualify for the state playoffs, which begin Nov. 3.

The Raiders continue their quest for a playoff spot Friday with a 7 p.m. kickoff on the road against Wilder. The Wildcats (3-3, 1-2) were trounced by Idaho City 56-6 on Friday.

As it stands right now, Rimrock controls its own destiny in terms of the District III second seed into the playoffs.

If the Raiders get past Wilder, they can secure a state berth by knocking off Tri-Valley on Oct. 19 and Idaho City on Oct. 26 to win the league tiebreakers against both teams.

Homedale creeps by Bulldogs

The following story appeared in the Oct. 3 edition of The Owyhee Avalanche, but because of a design error didn't run in its entirety. Today, readers can find the complete report.

— Ed.

Hannah Johnson recorded a hat trick Sept. 29 to push the Homedale High School girls soccer team to a 3-2 non-conference victory over Nampa.

Johnson snapped a 2-2 tie with about 2 minutes left in the game when she took a long pass from fellow junior Kendall Rupp, beat the defenders and fired a shot past the goalie in a one-on-one situation.

In a game played on the Bulldogs' home field, Johnson was the only player to score in the first half as the Trojans owned a 1-0 halftime lead.

After Nampa scored twice after the intermission to grab a 2-1 lead, Johnson and Rupp hooked up for the first time and tied the game 2-2. Rupp initiated the scoring play with a corner kick.

Payette 7, Homedale 1

The Trojans improved on their first showing against the Pirates, with better team play and passing in a conference loss Sept. 27 at Sundance Park.

Homedale 5, Weiser 2

Homedale rallied from an early deficit to beat the Wolverines in Washington County on Sept. 20.

Rupp was in on the action again, feeding Jessica Eubanks with a corner kick to tie the game,

1-1, a few minutes after Weiser had struck.

Eubanks tied the game, 2-2, later in the first half, then the Trojans poured on the offense in the second half to pull away.

Eubanks completed a hat trick to push Homedale ahead in the second half, and Johnson scored twice to complete the assault.

Sierra Aberasturi had a superb game in goal for the Trojans, while Anna Salas provided defense. Rupp and Ashley Thomson anchored the effort in the midfield.

game Tuesday. Results weren't available at press time.

The Trojans' gutsy performance against Weiser was highlighted by scrappy defense, led by defender

Anna Salas and goalie Sierra Aberasturi.

Johnson beat the Wolverines' goalie on a penalty shot with less than a minute to go in regulation to tie the game and force a 10-minute sudden death period. Johnson's kick sailed high but ducked in under the crossbar.

Rupp scored the game's first goal, but Weiser answered.

Johnson scored on a pass from

Rupp to put the Trojans up 2-1 only to have the Wolverines tie the game.

Homedale played two games and an overtime session with only one substitute Saturday.

Marine Corps by finishing his nine-game state tournament series 74 pins above the average he had submitted when he entered the tourney. That's another record.

USBC Youth Awards coordinator Jude Makinson presented Ryska with a plaque signifying his Marine Corps scholarship during the Idaho Bowling Hall of Fame and Awards Banquet held in Idaho Falls on Sept. 22.

During the state tournament, Ryska also set records with a 622 scratch singles series, an 870 handicap singles series and a 1,784 all-events scratch score.

Ryska, who also competed in the USBC Pepsi State Tournament in Boise, earned a total of $975 in scholarships through youth bowling during the 2006-07 season. He was awarded a $375 scholarship after finishing fourth in the boys handicap 12-and-over competition.

Ball, victory slip past Adrian

Four turnovers helped stifle the mighty Adrian High School offense in Friday's High Desert League loss to Burnt River in Unity, Ore.

Burnt River (2-2 overall, 2-2 HDL) pulled into a tie for third place with the Antelopes by scoring 28 unanswered points in the middle of a 34-12 victory.

The Bulls snapped a 6-6 deadlock on Landon Koontz' second rushing TD of the game 7 seconds into the second quarter.

The Antelopes (2-2, 2-3) never led. Koontz scored on a 26-yard scamper 4½ minutes into the game for Burnt River.

Adrian tied the game less than two minutes later when quarterback Blake Ishida hooked up with David Meyer on a 60-yard scoring strike.

Ishida completed seven of 10 passes for 92 yards as Adrian went to the air more than it had all season. Meyer was Ishida's favorite target. He hauled in three balls for 78 yards.

The Antelopes still ran the ball nearly 50 times, but were limited to 231 yards rushing.

Feature back Kyle Rogers gained 179 yards on 23 carries for the Antelopes. His longest run was 51 yards, but he was held out of the end zone.

Colton Wynn, a transfer from Nampa's Skyview High School, scored Adrian's other touchdown when he fell on a fumble in the end zone less than two minutes into the final quarter.

Wynn spearheaded the defense with 16 1/2 tackles and three assists. Levi Jones had 9 1/2 stops.

Burnt River also received two touchdown runs (30 and 26 yards) from Titus Wilson in the third quarter.

Adrian was hampered by four miscues, including an interception by Ishida and the loss of the ball three of the four times the Antelopes fumbled.

The Antelopes are tied for third place in the HDL. The top three teams in the league will advance to the 1A Oregon state playoffs.

However, there isn't much clarity at this point.

Crane moved out of its first-place tie with Prairie City by beating the Panthers heads-up, 52-14, last week.

Spray-Mitchell beat Harper 48-38 last week to earn a share of second with Prairie City.

Adrian faces its toughest test of the season Friday afternoon when the Antelopes visit Crane, which has won four straight games.

Disaster board distributes funds to needy people

The Homedale Community Disaster Committee has distributed over $13,000 since the present group took over the committee in January of 1980, according to secretary-treasurer Colleen Bahem.

The records show there have been 19 recipients of disaster dollars in that time period of nearly three years.

Bahem said the group has $5,399.94 in the bank, and is preparing for another auction to increase that amount.

The annual Community Disaster Auction will be held Saturday, November 27.

Guide dog being trained at Homedale

Philip Summa, Homedale, has received a three-month-old lab female, "Udine" from Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., San Rafael, Calif., as a member of a 4-H Guide Dog Club to train for the next 12 months.

Charlene Galloway, Caldwell is leader. Meetings are held in the Marsing city park and other area locations. The club consists of 15-20 members with five members training puppies. Philip has the only one in Owyhee County; the other four are in Caldwell and Nampa.

This is the third year the 4-H Guide dog projects have been in operation in Idaho. This year is the first year in the Canyon-Owyhee County area.

Philip has waited two years for his dog. She wears an identification tag on her collar and has her identification number tattooed in her ear. She also wears a green and white (4-H colors) blanket telling that she is a guide dog project.

Trojans chalk up another win

Another win — the fourth — was chalked up last Friday night by the Homedale Trojans as they defeated the New Plymouth Pilgrims 48-7 on Trojan soil. The Tros now stand 4-1, losing only to Weiser in the season opener.

After receiving the kickoff, the Trojans worked their way to the other end of the field to score before the Pilgrims had a chance to feel the ball. That set the pace of the contest, and the Pilgrims were the underdogs the rest of the way.

The first quarter ended 7-0. In the second period, Homedale scored two more touchdowns and one extra point, ending the half at 20-0.

Finally, in the third quarter, the Pilgrims scored with a kickoff run of 80 yards around the Trojans to score their only touchdown. But in the same quarter the home team racked up an additional 21 points, and in the final period, added another seven, for a 48-7 victory.

Owyhee County 4-Hers going to Portland P.I.

Five Owyhee County 4-H members will be leaving for the Pacific International Livestock Exposition in Portland on Friday, October 8.

Those attending are Pat Eidemiller, Teresa Kubosumi, Kevin Kent and Cindy Yamamoto all of Homedale. Also attending from Marsing is David Malmberg.

While at the P.I., these young people will be judging in the Meat Animal Contest. Teams for Idaho, Oregon, Washington, and Nevada will be competing.

Supporting the young people financially are the Owyhee Cattlemen's Association, the Owyhee Cowbelles and Owyhee County Farm Bureau.

Homecoming activities climax with Friday game

Homecoming week activities began Monday at Homedale High School, and the general theme of the five days of activities is "Precious and Few."

Monday was designated as "Nerd Day," and students dressed appropriately. Tuesday's theme was "Hawaii 501" with today's (Wednesday) theme being "Punk Day." Thursday will be "Toga Day," with voting for homecoming queen being held first period, pageant practice fourth period, a snake dance at 8pm and the traditional bonfire at 9pm. "Spirit Day" will be the theme Friday. At 2pm the Homecoming Parade will line up.

Bids to be accepted on new school buildings

Sealed bids will be accepted until 8pm, October 15 by the board of directors of Grand View Joint class "B" school district No. 365 in the gymnasium of the Grand View high school building, for the construction of two new elementary school buildings and teacherages at Grand View and Bruenau.

Work is to be performed under one general contract for both schools, which includes mechanical and electrical work.

Bids will be opened publicly after the deadline time set for October 15 and will be read aloud. Bidders and others interested are invited to be present at the bid opening, according to Mrs. Frances Field, clerk.

Notus wins important grid game from Homedale

Notus won an important 18-7 victory over Homedale Friday. All four touchdowns were on long runs. The Pirates scored on runs of 15, 22 and 20 yards. A 50-yard gallop earned the Trojans their touchdown. One of the major factors in the Pirates' victory was good blocking on end runs.

Council discusses various problems

Bills amounting to $4,455.91 were paid at the regular city council meeting Monday night.

Three representatives of the state health department were present to discuss problems concerning the city dump and ways of making it more sanitary; also the extension of the sewage system and the possibility of obtaining federal aid.

Earl Reynolds, a Boise engineer, discussed various types of sand traps and will test sand in the city well to learn the type most suitable. He will later inform the city on the cost of a sand trap.

14 local students enrolled at C of I

Six students from Homedale are attending the College of Idaho this semester, according to figures recently released by college officials. The students are: Donna Faulks, Ruth Burton, William Dooks, Dennis Regan, David Sharratt, and Glen Turner.

Eight students from Marsing also attending the College of Idaho this semester are: Mary Jane Burman, Rich Maggard, Dan McClintick, Monte Parkins, James Robison, Roger Robison, Agnes Smith, and Dale W. Stone.

Nina Leavitt awarded scholarship to Ricks

A Rexburg chamber of commerce scholarship has been awarded to Nina Leavitt to attend Ricks College during the school year of 1957-58, it was announced today by Dr. Herbert H. Frost, chairman of the scholarship awards committee. Miss Leavitt attended Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, last year.

Tidwells attend wedding of daughter in Nevada

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Tidwell and son Jerry attended the wedding of their daughter Sharon Tidwell and Jess Seibert, Grandview, Wash., at Boulder City, Nev., September 27. On their way to Nevada, they picked up another daughter Martha Tidwell, at Salt Lake City, Utah, who accompanied them to the wedding.

Homedale locals

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Eachus and daughter Kristy were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Marston and family. Mrs. Marston's brother Thomas Yost and his fiancé Carol Melon, Boise, were also guests.

A deer hunting party at Silver City over the weekend was made up of Jack Burke, San Francisco, Calif.; Les Gowing and Terry Roeser, Caldwell; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Downing and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walt Adams and daughter Marilyn and Carmen Landa. The group stayed at the Downing cabin but had no luck at hunting.

INDIAN RESERVATION. The Commissioner of the General Land Office has instructed the Surveyor General of Idaho to lay down upon the connected map of his surveying district and protect from interference, Indian reservations as follows:

1. The reservations for the Coeur d'Alenes and other Indians, situated in the northern part of the Territory, adjoining the western boundary, and containing 250,000 acres.
2. The reservation for the Boise and Bruenau bands of Shoshones, in Southern Idaho, south of the Snake and Blackfoot Rivers, embracing Fort Hall within its limits, and containing about 180,000 acres.

LEGAL TENDERS. Pursuant to call, a meeting was held on Monday evening last for the purpose of regulating the currency in Owyhee. A resolution was adopted and very generally signed by the merchants and other business men of the place, reducing Legal Tenders from 80 cents and fixing their value from and after the first of October at 75 cents. Of course this will not affect debts contracted or bargains made prior to October 1st which will be settled at the former value of Legal Tenders, 80 cents.

INDIAN MASSACRE IN FLINT. One more good man has been murdered, scalped and burned in our midst, and the savage perpetrators escaped unpunished with some booty, such as pistol, blankets, &c.

This fresh atrocity was committed during last Thursday night, within half a mile of Oro and Owyhee Cities, near the road leading between there and here. The unfortunate victim's name is Joseph F. Colwell. He came to this Territory with Messrs. Bloom & Herd in 1865, from Missouri. The late hour yesterday at which we received this unwelcome item, prevented our obtaining further information of the deceased.

MINERS' LEAGUE. On the evening of October 1st, the miners and workmen from several of the mines and mills in and about town, assembled at the Court House hall for the purpose of organizing a Miners League. The movement was characterized as a "strike" for higher wages. These miners have been receiving five dollars per day, and six were demanded. The meeting elected a committee whose duty it was to draft a Constitution of By-Laws, by which to govern the organization and report the next evening at seven o'clock. Accordingly, the Constitution, &c., which we lay before our readers in this paper, was reported and adopted. It is yet impossible to decide how the matter will terminate. Nearly all of the mines have been idle for four days, but as we go to press we understand that some of the mining companies have commenced working again — some at the fixed amount of the League, $5.50 coin, and others at the former rates, $5 — and the "strikers" are holding meetings to determine a course of action. Our limited space forbids further particulars or comment this week.

PROCEEDINGS OF A MINER'S MEETING held in the Court house in Silver City October 1, 1867.

The meeting was called to order by E. Steward.

On motion, Mr. Yarrington was chosen Chairman and J. S. Trask Secretary.

The Chairman briefly stated the object of the meeting, which was to take into consideration the propriety of forming a Miners' League.

Capt. J. A. Palmer was then invited to address the meeting and did so in an able manner, setting forth the advantages to be derived from an association of the kind. Mr. Wilson, Mr. Clark and others followed.

On motion, a committee of one from each mine and mill was appointed to draft resolutions and a code of laws by which the Society should be governed and to report at an adjourned meeting.

Animal caregivers vs. animal activists

To: Directors of Humane Society of the United States, People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals, and the Farm Sanctuary

The first step in engaging an issue is to have the ability to understand your “opponents’ ” point of view. I have watched your criticisms as we in animal agriculture have become more productive.

Your criticisms range from a distaste of raising chickens in cages to promoting a vegan lifestyle and degrees in between. I have visited with each of you on the telephone, and I can’t paint you all with the same brush but I can include you in the same picture.

It appears to me you have a distrust for modern agricultural methods: genetically modified foods, hog confinement sheds, beef feedlots, farmed salmon and chemical fertilizer. You mourn the loss of a bucolic family farm lifestyle that no longer exists. You assume, I guess, that animals were treated more humanely 50 years ago. You abhor growth stimulants, veal barns, hog gestation crates. You use buzzwords like chemicals, factory farming, corporate farms, antibiotics and hormones with the intent to demean. And you spend considerable amounts of money to impede our efforts to produce livestock.

So it behooves me to try and understand how and why you are so prejudiced against what we think of as a noble calling. Four contributing factors:

- 1) You are vegetarians. In itself not a root cause but certainly a bias ... you would be unable to relate to a juicy steak, spareribs, sushi or ice cream.
- 2) You evaluate “animal cruelty” on your feelings of how you think a human would react to a procedure or condition, as opposed to our less subjective methods including egg production, pounds of milk and average daily gain.
- 3) As best I can tell, none of you have any first-hand knowledge or experience making a living in animal agriculture.
- 4) You all favor more expensive, less efficient means of livestock production even though you realize they will not allow us to meet the demands of the majority of consumers.

Reciprocally, it would be nice if you understood why we work in a business that is so physically and financially risky:

- 1) We love it. The animals, the land, the family and the lifestyle are worth all the sacrifice. Obviously, because it is we who are taking care of them, not you.
- 2) We take seriously our responsibility to meet the public’s demand for the essential commodity: FOOD. Thus our continuing search for the right balance of the animal’s well-being and her productivity.
- 3) We do not believe animals have rights, but that man was given dominion over them and is obligated to care for them properly.

In conclusion, you label us as food terrorists, and we call you animal rights lunatics. But I’ll concede we have a few lunatics on our side, too!

A rock chuck isn’t ‘big game’

The banks of Indian Creek behind the business where I work are home for a colony of rock chucks. In the spring, the furry critters like to crawl out of their holes and sun themselves. Sometimes I spend some time during lunch hour shooting pictures of the basking rock chucks with my camera.

There was a time when I wasn’t as smart as I am now. When I was a teenager, there was an area along Indian Creek, west of Kuna, too rocky for farming. A large colony of rock chucks lived there. One Saturday, I decided to take my .22 rifle down to Rock Chuck Town and thin out the population.

It was a sunny day and there were plenty of rock chucks sunning themselves outside the entrances to their burrows. I quickly learned, however, that one .22 bullet would seldom stop one of the varmints in its tracks. If I hit a rock chuck, it still would manage to disappear back down its hole.

The fact that my targets were escaping was disturbing. One might think it bothered me because the victims might be suffering down in their burrows. But one has to remember this was the early 1960s and I was a teenage male. The only reason I was disturbed was because I wasn’t getting positive visual confirmation of my shooting skills.

Then, I came up with what I believed was a solution to the problem. If the rock chucks weren’t going to cooperate by dropping dead where I could see them, I needed heavier artillery. I went home and returned with Dad’s 1917 Enfield 30-06 hunting rifle.

The Enfield originally was a military weapon. My father had purchased it surplus after World War II, fashioning a new sporting stock for the rifle. About 1949, Dad dropped a near-record-sized bull elk with one shot from the rifle.

It is unlikely Dad would approved of me borrowing his custom big game rifle to hunt rock chucks. But I figured it wouldn’t hurt the gun, and I would put it back in the closet at the end of the day with no one being the wiser. When I returned to the rock chuck village, there was a disappointing development. The chucks had apparently decided sunning themselves could be hazardous to their health and had retreated to their burrows. There wasn’t one to be seen anywhere along the creek bank.

I decided I might as well call it a day. I was turning to leave when I saw a flash of movement out of the corner of my eye.

About six or seven feet from where I was standing, a rock chuck the size of a large cat was watching me from his hole. His head filled the entire burrow opening. It wasn’t exactly a challenging shot, but after going to the trouble to get the 30-06, I really wanted to see what it could do.

I very slowing brought the Enfield up to my shoulder. My target remained motionless. I flipped off the safety and sighted carefully. I squeezed the trigger.

The soft-nosed bullet-probably 10 times the mass of a .22 caliber slug, left the muzzle of the rifle at 2,880 feet per second and had maybe three feet to travel before hitting the target. When a soft-nosed bullet strikes anything it is supposed to “mushroom” to several times its normal diameter. The rock chuck may have been such a small target that no mushrooming occurred. But that was immaterial. When a projectile traveling that fast hits something in a confined space, that “something” pretty much explodes. And because the “something” is in a confined space, the path of least resistance for the debris from the explosion is back toward the point of origin of the bullet.

It required considerable elbow grease to get all the rock chuck off of Dad’s rifle and yours truly. Of course, it’s easy for me to say, but I suspect the event was more traumatic for me than for Rocky, who probably never even heard the shot.

I still have Dad’s rifle. But that was the first and last time I went rock chuck hunting with anything but a camera.

Accuracy In Media Newsweek burns the truth with global warming story

by Roger Aronoff

The extremists committed to the man-made global warming theory — that humans are causing the world to get hotter and that we have to drastically raise taxes and/or ration energy in response — are on the run. How else does one explain the sensational Newsweek cover story with the provocative headline, “Global Warming is a Hoax,*” over a photo of a boiling sun?

Newsweek, a Washington Post property, claims to be telling us “The Truth About Denial,” and to make sure everyone gets the point, it uses some form of the word “denial” 20 times, including “denial machine” 14 times.

The article, which is the worst kind of advocacy journalism, is a shoddy attempt to suggest that those skeptical of the theory are like holocaust deniers.

The asterisk in the Newsweek headline leads to a smaller note connecting the “hoax” charge to “well-funded naysayers who still reject the overwhelming evidence of climate change.” Newsweek tells its readers that its cover story is about “the denial machine” — those against the theory.

Smear tactics

The term “denial” is, of course, usually associated with “holocaust denial” — the view that the Nazi destruction of millions of Jews in Europe was exaggerated or did not even occur. As such, the Newsweek story was a deliberate effort to smear opponents of the global warming theory. It is the absolute worst kind of journalism. Perhaps the word “news” should be taken out of Newsweek. The magazine has become a shameless propagandist for one side in this debate.

What is at stake is our standard of living. In fact, while most observers and experts agree that the climate is changing and may even be warming over the long term, the real debate is over whether human activities, such as the burning of fossil fuels, are responsible, and whether we can do anything about it. The critics of the theory cast doubt on that connection, noting the lack of definitive evidence of a cause and effect. There are other explanations for possible warming, such as solar activity.

Newsweek knows that, if the theory is accepted, this

— See Truth, page 11B

Commentary

✓ Truth: Many scientists have changed their minds about climate theory

leads to demands for domestic and even international policies to reduce our standard of living by drastically cutting our access to energy. Those policies, in turn, lead to tax increases or energy rationing, even on a global basis. The United Nations, for example, has suggested a 35 cents-a-gallon gas tax, using the proceeds for increased foreign aid and other global purposes.

The Newsweek story is misleading, even false, in another key aspect. Senate staffer Marc Morano, a longtime conservative journalist and activist, points out that while those skeptical of the man-made global warming theory have received some $19 million, the forces favored by Newsweek have taken in closer to $50 billion, much of it from American taxpayers and channeled through federal and global agencies. This figure, of course, doesn't include the dollar value of all of the media coverage in support of the theory.

Morano works for Oklahoma Sen. James Inhofe, ranking Republican member of the Senate Environment Committee.

It was before this committee that Australian climate scientist Bob Carter testified that "In one of the more expensive ironies of history, the expenditure of more than $50 billion on research into global warming since 1990 has failed to demonstrate any human-caused climate trend, let alone a dangerous one."

But Newsweek won't report that. The facts have taken a back seat to propaganda.

Under President Bush alone, according to the administration's own account, $9 billion has been spent since 2002 on "climate change research" devoted to promoting the controversial theory. The administration boasts that "Multilaterally, the United States is by far the largest financial provider for the activities of the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change and the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change." The latter is the controversial body that has most loudly sounded the alarm.

The well-funded lobby, in truth, is financed by U.S. taxpayers. This is the story Newsweek won't tell.

The tide turns

The notion had been propagated in the media and popular culture that there is a "consensus" among virtually all scientists not funded by oil and gas money that the world is heating up at a rapid pace, and that this is a result of human activity, especially in North America and Europe, where people are consuming too much carbon-based energy.

For example, Dr. Heidi Cullen of The Weather Channel said that "If a meteorologist can't speak to the fundamental science of climate change, then maybe the AMS (the American Meteorological Society) shouldn't give them a seal of approval. Clearly, the AMS doesn't agree that global warming can be blamed on cyclical weather patterns."

Robert F. Kennedy, Jr., spoke at Al Gore's Live Earth event on July 7. Referring to global warming skeptics, he said, "This is treason. And we need to start treating them as traitors." The lynch mob was gathering.

In a previous column, I noted that CBS's Scott Pelley used the Newsweek tactic of comparing the skeptics to Holocaust deniers. When he was asked why, in a "60 Minutes" story on global warming, he ignored the views of the skeptics, he said, "If I do an interview with Elie Wiesel am I required as a journalist to find a Holocaust denier?" This is the mentality among many in the media, and it is reflected in the Newsweek cover story.

But according to one of the believers in the man-made global warming theory, Roger Pielke, Jr. of the University of Colorado's Center for Science and Technology Policy Research, the allusion to so-called "deniers" is "an affront to those who suffered and died in the Holocaust. This allusion has no place in the discourse on climate change."

Newsweek didn't take his admonition seriously.

In fact, the science behind global warming is the subject of a legitimate debate. This is an area in which our media, if reporters were truly devoted to professional journalism and objective coverage, could shine. Instead, they resort to using smear tactics against one side.

If journalists practiced real journalism, in terms of getting access to different sources of information, they would consult and make use of Sen. Inhofe's Web site, where Marc Morano's information appears.

Many in the liberal media despise Inhofe and Morano because they are so effective.

Interestingly, however, after Al Gore's film "An Inconvenient Truth" won the Academy Award for best documentary, many scientists began coming out of the "Skeptic" closet. They had seen enough and were no longer going to fear the wrath of the media.

In a column, Morano identifies scientists who have gone from believer to skeptic. They include David Bellamy, "famed UK environmental campaigner recently converted into a skeptic after reviewing the new science and who now calls global warming fears 'poppycock.'" And Claude Allegre, "a top geophysicist and French Socialist" who now says the cause of climate change is "unknown," accused the proponents of "manmade catastrophic global warming of being motivated by money." There are many more, identified and quoted.

This writer noted many of the skeptics in a column that has generated e-mails from scientists in Canada, Australia, New Zealand and other countries. One is the aforementioned Bob Carter of Australia, who first directed me to some important data suggesting that there has been no warming whatsoever in this century.

While the standard of living of Americans is at stake in this debate, some of the most prominent liberals promoting radical changes in the U.S. and global economies have figured out a way for themselves to avoid any restrictions at all.

Former Vice President Al Gore, for example, was recently exposed for having a 20-room mansion in Tennessee, a virtual gas-guzzling Hummer of a house. It reportedly uses between 12 and 20 times more energy than the national average.

Snopes, the left-leaning checker-of-all-Internet-stories for accuracy, determined that President Bush is the winner over Al Gore, in terms of who lives life better as a personal environmentalist. The findings were clear-cut. Bush's Crawford, Texas, ranch is a model energy-efficient dwelling.

Gore, of course, claims to purchase "carbon offsets" to bring his carbon footprint down to zero. This is a controversial practice that enables the rich to continue living a luxurious lifestyle. Gore makes the purchases through a company of which he is chairman and part owner, Generation Investment Management.

The global game

The same kind of practice is being used globally under the Kyoto Protocol, a treaty supposedly designed to reduce the threat posed by global warming. As noted by a Wall Street Journal article, China, which is trying to become a developed nation, "is turning its environmental problems into a shrewdly managed financial asset." Germany, a Western industrialized nation, proudly signed on to Kyoto, cut a deal with China. The deal allows Germany to go right on emitting the same amount of CO2 as before, while financing a program in China that is meant to help them on the path to reduced carbon emissions.

But China has figured the game out. They produce "HFC-23, a greenhouse gas that scientists say is thousands of times more potent than CO2 and that is a byproduct of the manufacture of a common refrigerant, HCFC-22."

Here's where it gets interesting. The Western investors, in this case German companies, pay "roughly $8 a CO2-equivalent ton for destroying the HFC-23. That is a bargain for the Western investors, who would have to pay far more to reduce emissions back home. It also is a boon for the Chinese companies, for whom the actual cost of destroying the gas is less than $1 a CO2-equivalent ton of emissions, the metric used in the carbon market."

So no one is reducing emissions. According to Canada's National Post, this actually has the effect of promoting the manufacture of large quantities of HFC-23, which is done very cheaply as a by-product, because there is so much profit in destroying it.

The Post describes the process as follows: "Emissions credits are not 'goods' that individuals or companies buy because they want or need them to increase their satisfaction or profitability. They are arbitrary, bureaucratically manufactured 'rights to pollute.'"

In effect, it becomes another commodity to buy, sell or trade. Their use enables companies to pour money into China and other developing nations, a clever way of transferring wealth from "rich" countries. It is, in essence, another form of foreign aid. In a real sense, it is a disguised tax on developed nations.

Bush surrenders

The Bush policies continue to be the subject of much debate. He didn't, as Newsweek claimed, withdraw the U.S. from the Kyoto Treaty in 2001. As Alan Murray of the Wall Street Journal pointed out in 2004, "In truth, the Bush administration has withdrawn from neither the climate talks, nor the treaty. President Bush has instead merely continued the Clinton policy of refusing to send the signed Kyoto treaty to the Senate for a vote. Formal rejection by the executive is achieved by renouncing the signature, as President Bush did in fact do regarding the International Criminal Court."

As far back as 2002, Bush announced plans to cut our nation's "greenhouse gas intensity — how much we emit per unit of economic activity — by 18 percent by 2012."

Now, however, he is moving toward some form of international regime to manage CO2 emissions. As we noted in a previous AIM Report, Bush, at the summer's G-8 meeting in Germany, specifically committed the U.S. to drastically reducing CO2 emissions through increased regulations, higher taxes, or both.

Bush is himself sponsored a "Major Economies Meeting on Energy Security and Climate Change" last month in Washington, D.C. The invited foreign participants included the European Union (current EU president and European Commission), plus France, Germany, Italy, and the United Kingdom, Japan, China, Canada, India, Brazil, South Korea, Mexico, Russia, Australia, Indonesia, South Africa, and the United Nations.

The censors

Bush's capitulation to the alarmists is a victory for media bias.

If there is any rigid thought control in this debate over global warming, it is being exercised by those passionately committed to the alarmist theory who refuse to tolerate dissent.

Michael Griffin, the head of NASA, got a taste of it when he dared to suggest that global warming, natural or not, wasn't anything to worry or do anything about. "I have no doubt that global — that a trend of global warming exists," he said in a taped interview that aired on National Public Radio. "I am not sure that it is fair to say that is a problem we must wrestle with."

He continued: "I guess I would ask which human beings, where and when, are to be accorded the privilege of deciding that this particular climate that we have right here today, right now, is the best climate for all other human beings. I think that's a rather arrogant position for people to take."

A subsequent controversy over his remarks, caused by the proponents of the man-made global warming theory, prompted him to say that he should have stayed out of the debate.

But has NASA itself been pressured to go along with the alarmists?

The Newsbusters Web site has run a fascinating story that NASA has now quietly acknowledged that it was wrong in saying that nine of the hottest 10 years in history have occurred since 1995, and that now it appears to be only three of the top 10 since 1998.

Hence, a lot of hot air is going out of the global warming argument.

Newsweek, of course, cannot be expected to report any of this. It would cast doubt on the theory it is falsely promoting as fact.

Similarly, NBC and its affiliated networks turned over close to 75 hours of airtime to Al Gore's Live Earth concerts, constituting a massive endorsement of one side in this debate.

Where's the Fairness Doctrine when we need it?

We should know by now that the concept of "fairness" is only supposed to apply to those who disagree with liberals. We are supposed to be "fair" to them by presenting their view — and only their view — as the truth.

In truth, they are the mud-slingers with a political agenda that threatens the American way of life. This is the fact that they are so desperate to conceal.

BEFORE THE OWYHEE COUNTY PLANNING & ZONING COMMISSION

On November 7th, 2007 beginning at 10:00 AM the Owyhee County Planning and Zoning Commission will hear testimony in the courthouse annex in Murphy, Idaho on the following matters at the times listed below. When hearings are finished, the commission will take up administrative matters:

10:00 AM – 11:00 AM The Commission will hear file 05-39 Michael Simmons Trust application for preliminary plat approval. In 2005, Michael Simmons Trust had previously filed an application for a conditional use permit to subdivide 52 acres into 32 residential lots. That application was later approved in 2006. Subject property is located adjacent to Shari Hills Subdivision south of Marsing off Highway 78 in an agricultural zone, in Section 10, Township 2 north, Range 4 west, Boise meridian, Owyhee County, Idaho.

11:00 AM – 12:00 PM The Commission will here file 06-17 River Bend Estates - Kastera

Homes application for preliminary plat approval for a previously approved subdivision River Bend Estates. Kastera Homes filed an application for a conditional use permit to subdivide a 106-acre parcel into 28 residential lots, three (3) to five (5) acres in size, plus two (2) common lots. Subject property is in an Agricultural Zone, northwest of Homedale, off River Road and Northside Road in Section 19, Township 4 North, 5 West, and section 20, Township 4 North, Range 5 West, Boise Meridian, Owyhee County, Idaho.

12:00 PM – 1:00 PM Recess for Lunch

1:00 PM – 2:00 PM The Commission will hear file 06-24. Deborah and Allen Linder application for preliminary plat approval for a previously approved subdivision to be named Sunset Meadows. Sunset Meadows is a 43-acre parcel subdivided into 15 residential lots, 3 acres in size. Subject property is located south of Marsing in a Residential Zone off Highway 78 in Section 26, Township 2 North, Range 4 West, Boise Meridian, Owyhee County, Idaho.

2:00 PM – 3:00 PM The Commission will hear application 07-20 filed by Kinross Delmar Mine for a conditional use permit to erect a 60-meter anemometer tower to monitor wind speeds on the DeLamar mine property. Subject property is located in Section 8, Township 5 South, Range 4 West, within the interior of the Kinross DeLamar property, which consists of patented mine claims.

3:00 PM – 4:00 PM The Commission will hear file 06-23 E&T LLC, application for preliminary plat approval. E&T LLC, had previously filed and been approved for a conditional use permit to subdivide a 40 acre parcel into 19 residential lots. Subject property is located North of Marsing in a Multi-use zone off Edison Road and Thompson Road in Section 28, Township 3North, Range 4 West, Boise meridian, Owyhee County, Idaho.

Information regarding these applications can be obtained by calling the Owyhee County Planning and Zoning office at (208) 495-2095.

NOTICE OF HEARING OF NAME CHANGE CASE NO: CV-07-0387 IN THE DISTRICT COURT FOR THE THIRD JUCIAL DISTRICT OF THE STATE OF IDAHO AND IN FOR THE COUNTY OF OWYHEE

IN RE: Samuel Allen Reese, a minor child.

A petition to change the name of Samuel Allen Reese, born August 26, 1995, in Nampa, Idaho, residing at 17000 Bates Creek Road, Murphy, ID 83650, has been filed in Owyhee County District Court, Idaho. The name will change to SAMUEL ALLEN MAIDEN, because Samuel has been living with his father since he was born and his father had had full custody and responsibility for Samuel for the entirety of that time. The requested name change will make it more convenient for the father to care for Samuel and administer his needs.

The child’s father is living. The child’s mother has died and the names and addresses of her closet blood relatives are: Charles Covey and Christopher Brandt/Covey, 315 Patton St., Marsing, ID 83639.

A hearing on the petition is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. on October 29, 2007, at the Owyhee County Courthouse. Objections may be filed by any person who can show the court a good reason against the name changes.

THANK YOU
We wish to thank all the people who sent cards, flowers, gifts and messages to the families of Deloy (Slim) Yorgensen. Thank you to Flahiff Funeral Home, The LDS Church and all others who were there for us. The Yorgensen's and Walker Family
To all of you who sent cards, phoned and visited on the occasion of our 60th Wedding Anniversary, we thank you so much. Our Love to all of you. Tom and Celia Hall
The family of Juanita Johnstone would like to thank everyone for the donations, cards, flowers, plants, food and most of all the love and support you have given our family. This has helped us immensely through this difficult time. We would also like to thank the Homedale Senior Center for putting on such a nice dinner. We will all miss Juanita, and are comforted to know that she had so many friends who care so much.
