Raiders' long run at State ends

Tri-Valley denies Rimrock girls trip to Real Dairy Shootout

How's this for perspective when looking at the 1A Real Dairy Shootout girls basketball state tournament bracket: The last time Rimrock High School didn't make the field, players from its 2007-08 squad were in grade school.

The Raiders won't be at the party when it starts today in Nampa. Tri-Valley of the Long Pin Conference made sure of that with a dramatic 46-41 victory Friday in a 1A District III Tournament elimination game at Emmett High School.

"It was really sad for the seniors," Rimrock coach Mike Chandler said of aftermath. "They didn't want to be the group that stopped the tradition."

In the end, Rimrock's string of state

Prep wrestlers grapple with district meets

Marsing plays host to 1A-2A tourney Saturday

This is when the wrestling season really gets exciting.

Homedale and Marsing high schools enter District III championship mode this weekend in their respective enrollment classes.

The Huskies are playing host to the 1A-2A District III Tournament on Saturday in Marsing. Senior Mike Moore will lead a contingent of Huskies searching for state tournament berths.

The Trojans hit the road for Fruitland and the 3A District III Tournament with seniors Frankie Obregon, Amador Cortinas and Jaime Uriarte looking for return trips to the state tournament.

Marsing and Homedale wrestlers involved in this weekend's tournament action also are fighting for the rare advantage of being able to sleep in their own beds come time for State.

The 2008 Idaho High School Wrestling State Championships will be held at the Idaho Center in Nampa on Feb. 21-23, breaking a long string of state tournaments at Holt Arena on the Idaho State University campus in Pocatello.

Antelopes notch big wins vs. 1A powers

Adrian girls roll to HDL crown before challenging road trip

Adrian High School wrapped up the High Desert League girls basketball championship last week with a lopsided victory over visiting Burnt River.

The Antelopes crushed the Bulls from Unity, 65-30, to sew up the No. 1 seed in the three-day 1A Oregon District 8 Tournament, which begins today at Grant Union High School in John Day, Ore.

The Antelopes (21-2 overall, 14-1 HDL) will begin their stay in the district tourney at 8 p.m. MST on Thursday against eighth-seeded Huntington (6-11, 4-11).

Adrian, coached by Gene Mills, sits three victories from a trip to the 1A Oregon state tournament in Baker City, Ore.

The Antelopes, who began the week ranked sixth in the latest 1A Oregon coaches poll, capped it by edging another top 1A squad, Dufur, 43-39, on Friday and pounding No. 4 Lowell, 67-43, on Saturday. Both games were non-league matchups.

Adrian 67, Lowell 43

Terra Rust bombed away from beyond the 3-point arc with four baskets and scored a career-high 30 points in the Antelopes' regular-season finale Saturday.

"This was probably our best overall game of the year," Mills said. "All of our players stepped up to their game."

Senior Paige Branstiter chimed in with 12 points and pulled down 17 of the Antelopes' 45 rebounds. McKenzie Purnell also had 10 boards.

Liese Thys, an exchange student from Europe, hit a 3-pointer on the way to eight points.

Rimrock boys power through end of WIC slate

Hipwell hustles in key Rimrock win

Chris Hipwell scored a game-high 21 points to help the Raiders blow out Greenleaf Friends Academy in Canyon County on Feb. 5. Hipwell's effort helped Rimrock avenge a loss to the Grizzlies earlier in the year.

Raiders avenge each of their three league losses

Rimrock High School has capped a second-half surge in the 1A Western Idaho Conference boys basketball season.

The Raiders clinched their conference's No. 3 seed into this week's 1A District III Tournament by beating Greenleaf Friends Academy and Idaho City last week.

The 60-34 blowout of the Grizzlies on Feb. 5 represented the last bit of revenge Rimrock exacted against its conference brethren down the stretch. The Raiders closed the week with an easy 65-32 win over Idaho City in Bruneau on Thursday.

"We have now beaten every team at least once out of two games in league," veteran Rimrock coach Gary Jones said before Tuesday's play-in game for the district tournament.

"I feel we are gaining ground and momentum toward the district tournament and our goal of playing in the state tournament."

The Raiders (13-6 overall, 9-3 1A WIC at the end of the regular season) had to survive a do-or-die game against the Long Pin Conference sixth-place team — Tri-Valley — on Tuesday at Emmett High School. Results from that game weren't available at press time, but a victory would have put the Raiders into the double-elimination portion of the district tournament against Long Pin No. 2 Garden Valley at 4:30 p.m. Thursday at Skyview High School in Nampa.

Said Jones: "It takes three things to advance in the postseason: Team Together (good chemistry), Health (are all your players at full strength and able to play) and a little bit of luck."

"We are Team Together and healthy, so let's pray for a little bit of luck."

It may have been more determination than luck that carried the Raiders to victories in their final 1A WIC games of the season last week.

In the pivotal road win over Greenleaf, Chris Hipwell stepped in and scored from all over the floor while the team's leading scorer, Logan Thomas, hit only seven of 21 shots and went through some scoring droughts.

Hipwell nailed seven of nine foul shots and two 3-point goals and led all scorers with 21 points. Hipwell and T.J. Snyder got the Raiders off to a fast start in the first quarter by hitting two 3-pointers each. Hipwell also had a three-point play in the first eight minutes.

Rimrock built a 29-13 lead at halftime as Chris Hipwell, Travis Hipwell and Sam Richardson combined to go 8-for-8 from the charity stripe. The team was 14-for-17 from the free-throw line in the game.

Thomas scored eight of his 14 points in the third quarter.

Richardson scored eight points, while Alan Draper scored all seven of his points after halftime.

Chris Hipwell's eight points in the fourth quarter keyed Rimrock's 19-4 run to the finish line.

Homedale resident Brandt Graber, a senior at Greenleaf Friends Academy, threw in four 3-pointers and hit all six of his free throws to lead his team with 20 points.

Greenleaf was the runnerup at the 1A Real Dairy Shootout state tournament a year ago.

Rimrock 65, Idaho City 32

Thomas returned to form Thursday, dropping 12 of his 16 shots (75 percent) on the way to a game-high 25 points on Senior Night in Bruneau.

The Raiders rolled to a 35-17 halftime lead and never looked back. Draper, Thomas and T.J. Snyder fired in 3-pointers in the victory.

Eight of Thomas' team-high nine rebounds came on Rimrock's end of the floor. Travis Hipwell also snagged seven rebounds.

The Raiders slammed the door with a 13-3 run through the fourth quarter.

Sam Richardson scored 13 points in the final three quarters, and Chris Hipwell added 11 points. He hit five of six free throws against the Wildcats, and was 12-for-15 for the week.

Tyler McFarlane led Idaho City's strong showing from the foul line with a 4-for-5 outing that fueled his team-high 10 points. The Wildcats were nine of 12 from the line.

✓ Raiders: Cold foul shooting dooms Rimrock vs. Long Pin's Tri-Valley

tournament appearances ended on a split decision.
Late in the game, senior Shelby Chandler ran through a Tri-Valley defender to score what appeared to be a game-tying basket.
Chandler was on the fast break against two defenders, according to her coach. When she made the basket, the referees had a difference of opinion, and Chandler was charged with a foul.
"One official called it two points, and the other called charging," Mike Chandler said. "That changed the whole momentum of the game."
Tri-Valley hit their shots from the foul line down the stretch to ice the game.
The game ended the high school careers for Shelby Chandler and Ellie Cantrell. Anh Nguyen, a foreign exchange student from Vietnam, also played as a senior this season.
"They were really upset for the team as well as themselves," Mike Chandler said of his daughter and Cantrell.

But for all the sorrow that the two veterans felt for themselves after the game, Chandler and Cantrell also helped the younger players look ahead.
"That's about the only thing we talked about in the locker room with the young kids was, 'Remember how this feels,' " Mike Chandler said.
Shelby Chandler and Cantrell emerged as the leading scorers for the Raiders. Chandler scored 15 points and handed out six assists. Cantrell had 14 points. The two seniors combined for seven 3-point goals.
Meanwhile, sophomore Jackie Thurman collected 15 rebounds and scored eight points.
Rimrock owned a 23-19 lead at halftime after limiting the Titans to three free throws in the second quarter. But Alyssa Brown scored six of her game-high 18 points in the third quarter to spark Tri-Valley to a 32-31 lead heading into the final quarter.
The Titans were 12-for-35 from the foul line for the game. Rimrock, normally a high-percentage squad from the charity stripe, only knocked down six of 24 shots.
"The foul shooting was the difference," Mike Chandler said.
Garden Valley 39
Rimrock 27
The Raiders were dropped into the losers bracket by the Wolverines on Feb. 4 as senior Lexi Renfro hit two of her three 3-point goals in the fourth quarter to help Garden Valley take control.
The teams entered the final stanza tied 25-25, but Renfro scored half of her game-high 20 points to push Garden Valley to the victory.
The Wolverines outscored Rimrock, 14-2, in the fourth quarter. Sierra Ridley was the only Raider to get the ball in the basket, and Rimrock didn't head to the foul line at all in the second half.
Ridley notched five points and nine rebounds. Cantrell had 10 points and seven rebounds before fouling out. Shelby Chandler was held to eight points.

outscored Lowell, 32-16, over the second and third quarters.
Heidi Norris had 15 points and 11 rebounds for the fourth-ranked Red Devils from the Mountain West League.
Adrian 43, Dufur 39
The Antelopes limited the Rangers to eight points over the final eight minutes to hold on for a tight non-league victory. Dufur plays in the tough Big Sky West.
"It was nice to win a road game over a good team with less than our A game," Mills said.
Adrian survived 21 turnovers, but forced Dufur into 18 with 15 steals.
The Antelopes also held the edge in rebounding, 42-30, behind Paige Branstiter's 17 boards.
Branstiter also scored 15 points.
Jessica Orosco scored 10 points, while McKenzie Purnell scored four points in the fourth quarter as Adrian outscored the Rangers 11-8 in the period.
Purnell also collected 10 rebounds.
Adrian held a 25-22 halftime lead after Dufur outscored the Antelopes 19-12 in the second quarter behind six points from Andrea Ashbrook. Ashbrook led all scorers with 19 points, including two 3-point goals.
Only four Dufur players cracked the scoring column. Kelsey Barrett scored six points and grabbed 11 rebounds.
Adrian 65, Burnt River 30
The Antelopes completely dominated Burnt River to grab the title-clinching victory. Paige Branstiter's nine rebounds led a 42-26 edge for Adrian on the backboards. Jessica Orosco had seven rebounds, and McKenzie Purnell brought down eight.
Andrea Shenk notched seven of her team's 28 steals as Burnt River was forced into 32 turnovers.
Branstiter, one of two 6-footers on the Adrian's front line (Purnell is the other), hit four of five free throws and led all players with 16 points. All but one of the 10 Antelopes who stepped on the floor scored against Burnt River.
Jayna Witty hit a 3-pointer as part of her 11 points, while Orosco scored nine points and Terra Rust added eight.
Adrian led 25-5 at halftime after trudging to just seven points in the first eight minutes.

Marsing boys split final 2A WIC games

The Marsing High School boys basketball team dropped one at home but picked one up on the road in its final 2A Western Idaho Conference games of the season last week.

The Huskies fell 63-45 to Nampa Christian in their last home game of the regular season, then bounced back to win their final road game, 55-54 over Cole Valley Christian in Meridian.

Wednesday night's Nampa Christian game was Senior Night. Kelsey Cook, Matt Hill, Marcus Miller, Kalob Myers, Taylor Nielsen, and Ethan Sauer were all honored before the game.

The Huskies led 13-12 after the first quarter, but Nampa Christian pulled ahead to stay in the second, taking a 27-24 lead into the break. In the second half, the Trojans used a size advantage and good ball movement to push Marsing's offense away from the basket and generate plenty of inside scoring chances for themselves, outscoring the Huskies 36-21.

Huskies coach Jake Walgamott said that his team did not play its best game.

"Turnovers were the biggest thing," Walgamott said. "We weren't confident with the ball, and we ended up with too many turnovers that translated to points with them."

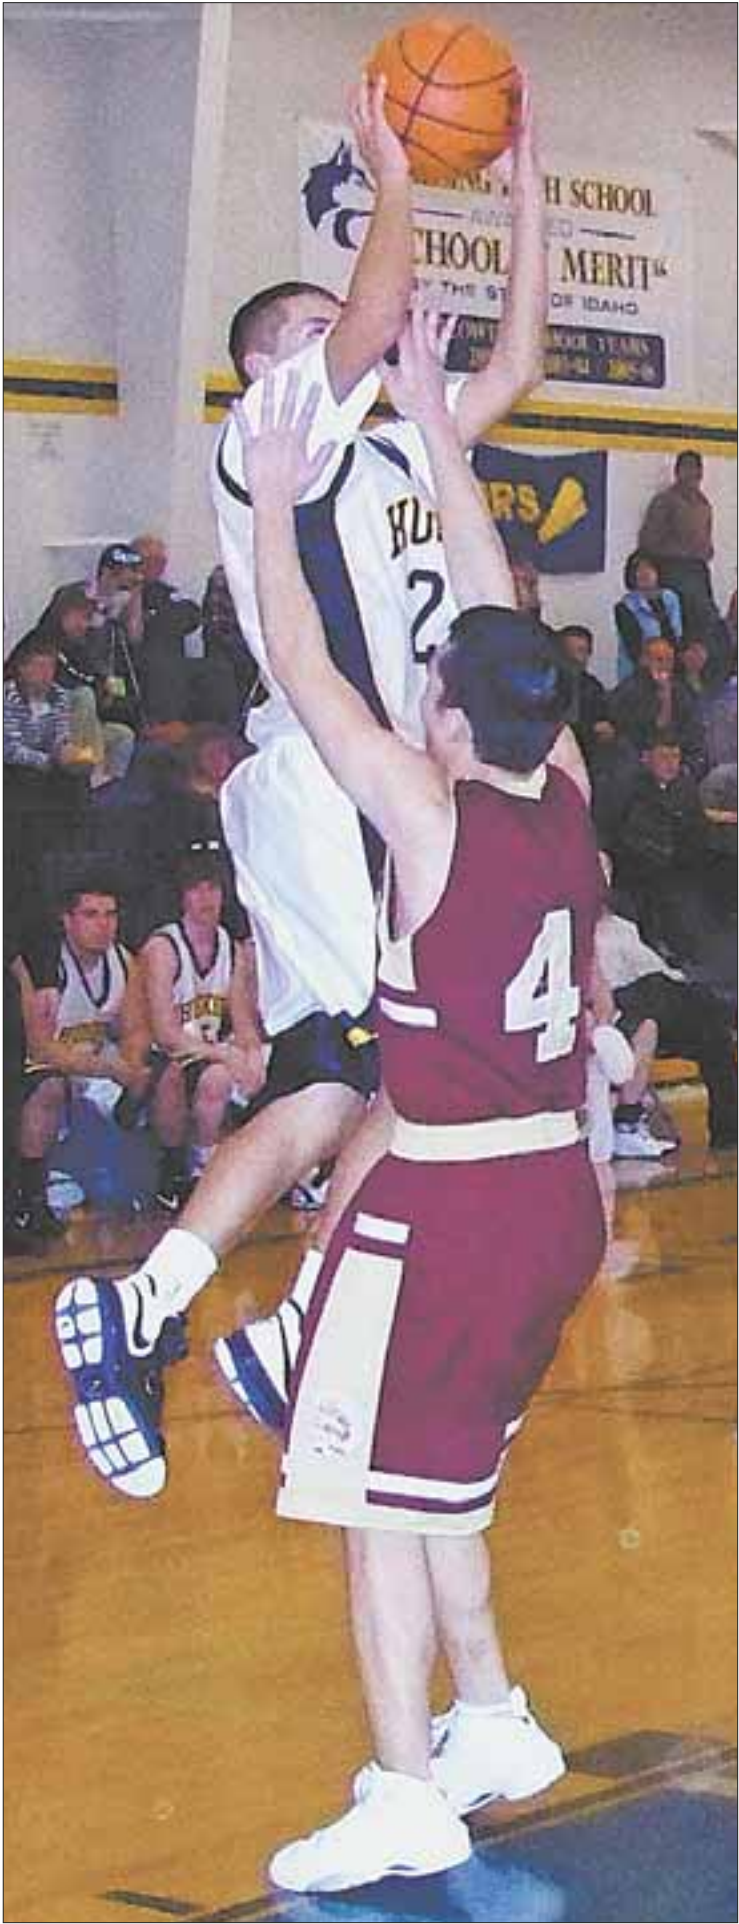

Nampa Christian's Matt McDonald disrupted play inside. The 6-foot-6 center blocked several shots, and the Huskies began to settle for jump shots rather than lay-up attempts when they got the ball in the lane.

Against Cole Valley on Friday, the Huskies trailed early and rode strong play in the second and third quarters to victory. Marsing trailed, 13-10 after the first period, but scored 37 points in the next two quarters to take a 47-40 lead into the last frame.

Nielsen led all scorers with 18 points, while Tyson Heller had a game-high 13 rebounds to go along with his eight points. Myers added nine points for the Huskies, and Jose Paramo threw in eight.

"We played well," Walgamott said of his team's effort against the Chargers. "We led most of the way by five-to-seven points. They scored to make it 55-54 with 1.7 seconds left. We got the ball in and just held it. It was a very exciting, very fun game."

Marsing had a 2A District III Tournament opening-round game at home on Tuesday against Parma. Results were not available at press time. A win in that game would have moved the Huskies into a showdown against tournament top-seed Melba at 7 p.m. tonight on the Mustangs' floor.

A loss Tuesday meant the Huskies would face a consolation bracket elimination game at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday at Vallivue High School in Caldwell.

Waiting in Weiser

Homedale ends regular season with SRV losses

A Homedale High School player had a double-double in each of the Trojans' last two regular-season boys basketball games, but neither individual performance was enough to push the team on to a conference victory.

Tyler Gibson led the way with 14 points and 11 rebounds at Weiser on Wednesday, but Homedale fell, 45-41. On Friday, Senior Night in Homedale, Austin Emry scored 20 points and pulled down 10 boards against Payette, but the Pirates took a 46-35 win.

The Trojans, under second-year coach Kenny Thomas, failed to win in eight 3A Snake River Valley conference games this season.

Emry had 12 points against Weiser while Austin Ferguson grabbed eight rebounds, but the Wolverines broke the game open with an 18-6 run in the second quarter, on their way to a 26-12 lead at the half. The Trojans outscored Weiser 29-19 in the second half, including a 14-7 advantage in the fourth quarter, but the comeback attempt was not quite enough.

Thomas honored his seniors, John Bittick, Austin Ferguson, Matt Hansen, and Zach Tolmie, by placing them all in the starting lineup for Friday's game against Payette.

In a game of runs, the Pirates got off the blocks 12-2. Homedale closed to 12-8, then the Pirates stretched the lead to 18-8 midway through the second quarter, and the first half ended with Homedale trailing 26-15. Aside from Emry, who hit four of 10 two-point shots and was a perfect three-for-three from beyond the 3-point line, poor shooting hampered the Trojans, as the rest of the team hit just five of 34 field goal attempts.

Still, Homedale closed to a four-point deficit, at 34-30, on an Emry trey with 3 minutes, 30 seconds remaining in the game. Payette called a timeout, however, and the Pirates pulled away after the break on the strength of a three-point play by Tyler Kuder and a series of Homedale fouls and turnovers.

Homedale and Payette faced each other again on Tuesday, in the first round of the 3A District III Tournament at Treasure Valley Community College in Ontario, Ore. Results from that game were not available at press time.

Homedale's junior varsity team won again, beating the Pirates 52-38 on Friday. The Trojans entered their district tournament as the No. 1 seed.

Jordan boys just miss shocker vs. Crane

Squad opens district tournament this afternoon in John Day

If a loss ever could serve as a catalyst for a run through a district tournament, Jordan Valley High School's boys basketball team may have found a way.

Crane escaped the Oregon-Idaho border town with a narrow 79-77 overtime victory Saturday night as Jordan Valley nearly pulled an upset against the unbeaten High Desert League champion.

Jordan Valley (18-5 overall, 12-3 HDL) rallied from an eight-point halftime deficit and forced the extra period, then went toe-to-toe with Crane (21-1, 14-0) before bowing out.

Jordan Valley earned the third seed into the 1A District 8 Tournament, and will begin postseason play at 3:45 p.m. MST today against Harper (9-8, 8-7).

The game against top-seeded Crane was an old-fashioned shootout in nearly every respect.

The teams combined for 54 shots from beyond the 3-point arc with Crane draining 11 of 30 and Alek Quintero hitting four of Jordan Valley's six.

The 3-point shooting proved to be a difference in the game. Crane knocked down a total of 30 field goals (30-for-68, 44.1 percent), while Jordan Valley was 32-for-80 overall (40 percent).

Quintero led the free-wheeling Jordan Valley shooters with 25 points, but Baxter Davies connected on 13 of 19 shots for Crane and paced all players with 31 points. Baxter and Dallen Davies nailed four 3-pointers each. Dallen Davies added 25 points.

Both teams were relatively careful with the ball, even if the shooting didn't reflect that. Each team committed 11 turnovers, and eight of Crane's miscues were steals by Jordan valley.

Koehl Trautman grabbed 18 rebounds on Senior Night as Jordan Valley held a slight 45-41 edge on the glass. Trautman had a double-double with 18 points. Zac Fillmore also chimed in with a double-double, scoring 16 points and snagging 10 rebounds before fouling out.

Jordan Valley's junior varsity team beat Crane, 53-47.

Jordan Valley 86

A 31-point second quarter helped the Mustangs destroy host Ukiah-Long Creek on Friday night.

Jordan Valley owned a 48-19 edge at the break and really sealed the deal with a 23-8 march through the third quarter.

Quintero fired in five 3-pointers on the way to a game-high 23 points. Fillmore was 6-for-8 from the floor for all 12 of his points.

Koehl Trautman was the difference in a tight battle on the boards. He pulled in 10 rebounds and scored 10 points. Jordan Valley held a 29-27 edge in rebounding.

Dusty Easterday was efficient, missing only one of his six shots on the way to 10 points. Cole Scown chipped in nine points.

Matt Martin led Ukiah-Long Creek with 15 points.

Double-doubles deliver for Adrian

George Ellsworth and Maurus Hope registered double-doubles Feb. 5 as Adrian High School's boys basketball team wrapped up the No. 4 seed into this week's 1A District 8 Tournament.

The Antelopes (16-7 overall, 10-4 HDL) face fifth-seeded Prairie City (11-10, 8-6) at 3:45 p.m. MST on Thursday. The district tournament began today at Grant Union High School in John Day, Ore., with two other first-round games.

In the Antelopes' HDL finale on Feb. 5, Ellsworth scored 24 points and grabbed 10 rebounds in the Antelopes' hard-fought 68-62 High Desert League victory over Burnt River in Adrian.

Hope had 11 points and 10 rebounds, while freshman Blake Purnell chipped in with nine points.

Adrian built a five-point halftime lead and kept pace with the Bulls from Unity during a 41-point shootout in the third period.

Three Burnt River players scored in double figures, including Titus Wilson and Andy Walker with 16 points each, but the Antelopes withstood that and the Bulls' 11-for-12 performance from the foul line.

Teams with same mascots are district foes

Jordan Valley High School split its final High Desert League girls basketball games ahead of this week's 1A District 8 Tournament in John Day, Ore.

The Mustangs (13-6 overall, 9-6 HDL) earned the No. 5 seed into the district tournament at Grant Union High School. First-year coach Doug Rutan's squad will tangle with Crane (18-5, 12-3) at 2 p.m. MST on Thursday. Both teams are nicknamed the Mustangs Jordan Valley closed its league schedule with a 47-28 loss to Crane at home Saturday night. Jordan Valley beat Ukiah-Long Creek on Friday.

Elisa Eiguren scored nine of her 12 points in the second quarter on Senior Night, but Jordan Valley went cold in the second half after their guests limited JV to four points in the third quarter.

Crane outscored Jordan Valley, 30-10, in the final 16 minutes to garner a blowout.

Kayla Cuvelier scored nine points and grabbed 13 rebounds for Jordan Valley, which held an 18-17 lead at the break.

Jordan Valley 46, Harper 28

Eight different players scored Feb. 4 as the Mustangs routed the host Hornets in an HDL game originally scheduled for Feb. 1.

Winter driving conditions forced the postponement of the game, but Jordan Valley didn't miss a beat.

Emma Johnson scored six of her 11 points in the first half as Jordan Valley built a 21-10 lead at the break.

Jessie White connected on half of her eight foul shots for six points, while Annie Mackenzie scored all seven of her points during the Mustangs' 14-point third quarter.

Jordan Valley widened its lead to 18 points, 35-17, in the first eight minutes of the second half.

Harper received 13 points from 5-foot-4 senior Courtney Knight, who hit the only 3-point goal of the game in the second quarter. Knight scored all four of her team's points in that stanza.

BAXTER BLACK HAS BEEN COOKIN' IN HIS ARIZONA STUDIO ... HE IS BACK WITH TWO BRAND NEW CD SETS!

Blazin' Bloats & Cows on FIRE! The Double CD

The title of this recorded version of the same book should give you a clue that it's not about the lonesome pine, the Red River Valley or the cattle call, unless they are on fire, flooded or stampeding like lemmings! This double CD set features favorites from the book like, Taxidermy Heifer, Blazin' Bloats, Lucky to be an American, and 60 Foot Rope. Also includes never before recorded pieces like, I Know You'll Miss This Man and The Flag. Several selections were recorded at a live performance! Bill would require 2 cents for same county allocation

A change in the formula for appropriating the highway users’ funds on the state level is being proposed in the House Transportation Committee, and if approved, a two-cent state gasoline tax increase would be necessary for cities, counties, and highway districts to simply maintain present funding.

The proposed change, as explained by Idaho Association of Counties official Tony Poinelli, would result in taking away one cent of tax on each gallon of motor fuel sold in Idaho, giving back 1/3 of the cent, raising the fuel tax by two cents, and then returning 1/3 of each of the two-cents increase. The result would be that cities, counties, and highway districts, and good road districts would, in essence, receive the same amount of dollars as at present, and the state will gain the two cents per gallon tax.

Under Idaho Law, 26% of the highway user revenues is allocated to local governments (city, county, highway districts, and good road districts). In Owyhee County, these local governments include Homedale, Marsing, and Grand View cities, Gem and Homedale highway districts, Three-Creek Good Road District, and the county road and bridge fund.

Vice president, 2 directors elected to Chamber board

A new vice president and two directors were elected by the board of directors of the Homedale Chamber of Commerce last Tuesday.

The mid-term vice president and directors positions were filled following the resignation of Mike Hendrickson, former assistant manager of Idaho First National Bank in Homedale, who has left that position, and by Maureen Cegnar, who has been hired as secretary-industrial coordinator by the chamber.

Elected vice president was Mike Blankenship, of Continental Telephone Company. New directors elected are Bob Grant of Frye and Vauk accountants, and Duane Emery, proprietor of Owyhee Auto Supply.

During the general meeting of the Chamber, members voted to donate $250 towards Boys’ State and Girls’ State delegates.

The Homedale Chamber will host the installation banquet for the Treasure Valley Chamber of Commerce Thursday, February 17 at the American Legion hall.

Hal Tolmie, owner of Tolmie’s Appliance and Furniture in Homedale, will be installed as president of TVCofC during the banquet.

Maureen Cegnar told the Chamber she has set up an office to conduct the organization’s business at A&J Construction headquarters.

Cattlemen hold winter meeting

The courtroom at Murphy was packed last Saturday afternoon for the Winter meeting of the Owyhee Cattlemen’s Association.

The meeting began with a silver buckle being presented to former association secretary Leon Church. Church served as secretary of the association and Owyhee County agent for eight years. The buckle was presented “in appreciation of (Church’s) service” by president Elias Jaca.

A drawing for a silver bit was won by Legislative District 19 Senator Walter Yarbrough of Grand View.

New P&Z board is appointed

Homedale city has a new planning and zoning commission, it was learned Monday. The members, seven in number, were appointed at a recent City Council meeting, according to Mayor George Murray. Members are John Buck, Robert Lawrence, Adrian Kroeger, Charles Maxwell, Fred Aspiazu, Gary Hastriter, and Kenne Metzger.

Aspiazu is the only member who had served on the previous board, which was dissolved last August.

No announcement of meeting dates and place has been made.

Board denies proposal to change commission districts

The Owyhee county board of commissioners rejected a proposal Monday which asked that Owyhee County’s commissioner districts be changed.

The request was contained in a petition signed by many residents of the Homedale highway district. The matter was discussed at a public hearing called by the board at 2pm Monday at Murphy.

Attending the meeting were many representatives of communities outside the Homedale area, and they were unanimous in their opposition to re-districting the county.

Nick Ihli, Owyhee county clerk, said the commissioners rejected the proposal following the public meeting because of the preponderance of opposition expressed at the meeting, and also because the county has not had an accurate census since 1950.

Dr. Tom Shearer, Caldwell, president of the College of Idaho, spoke on responsibilities of a chamber of commerce at the annual banquet Tuesday night at the armory.

Glen Steward was master of ceremonies. Two vocal solos were presented by Lucy Vanderhoff, accompanied by Mrs. Dave Phelps.

“America” was led by Dr. R. George Wolff. Ed Manning led the salute to the flag. Invocation was by Emil Wolt.

Russ Immisch, outgoing president reviewed briefly the work of the chamber during the past year. He presented the new president, Paul Zatica, with a bottle of aspirin, a package of bandaids, a glove and a shoe, with the explanation he would need the aspirin for headaches, the bandaids for patching wounds, the glove for patting members on the back and the shoe for booting members who didn’t do their job.

Firemen called to high school Tues.

Homedale volunteer firemen were called Tuesday night during a basketball game at the high school to extinguish two fires in the tops of two ball locust trees in front of the school building. No damage was done except to the trees themselves. Cause of the fires was not established according to Fire Chief John Matteson.

A 1,200 gallon tank on an F750 Ford truck has been obtained to be used as a supplementary water supply for the rural department, according to Bruce Smith, rural fire chief. Plans are being made to install a portable pump on the truck. Mr. Smith said this extra supply of water will be of great help during the months there is no irrigation water in the ditches.

‘Muster Day’ to be observed Feb. 23 by Guard

A custom older than our nation will be re-enacted on Sunday, Feb. 23 when the members of the 615th transportation company, Idaho National Guard, will gather for their third annual “Muster Day” observance.

1st Lt. Frank Matteson, commander of the 615th, said today that the occasion will be marked by an open house and equipment display at the Owyhee county armory.

The 615th, Lt. Matteson said, is one of more than 6,000 army and air national guard units throughout the United States and its territories which will honor our first president on his birthday. In all, 375,000 guardsmen will participate.

The term “Muster Day” he explained, is derived from an old Militia custom which began during the early days of the Colonies. Once each year, every able-bodied man for miles around gathered on the village green for roll call and weapons inspection.

This year the citizens of Owyhee county will do the inspecting — not on the village green but in a modern armory. Instead of flintlocks they will inspect semi-automatic and automatic rifles, machine guns, pistols and the latest in communication devices.

GEOLOGICAL. Mr. J. C. Holgate, whom we have had occasion several times to mention in connection with geological discoveries, returned last week from another visit to that wonderful locality, known as the Sinkers, Castle and Catharine Creek country, a region that cannot fail to be deeply interesting to those who take pleasure in studying the great book of Nature, in which is faithfully recorded the history of our earth through the lapse of ages, from the time it emerged from chaos until fitted for the habitation of man. Indeed, there is no more beautiful or interesting study. By it the mind is filled with grand liberal ideas and entertained with new and comprehensive views of Creation. Mr. Holgate is quite an enthusiastic disciple of Agassiz and Dana, and it affords him as much pleasure to discover bones or shells that have been imbedded in rocks for thousands of years as if they were solid gold. The result of his last trip can be seen at Ed. Ayers’ boot shop, where a large number of specimens are nicely arranged in a cabinet. Judging from the appearance of some of the shells, which are conical and spiral in shape, and the position they occupy in the chalk and sandstone, it would seem that they belong to the close of the Jurassic period or the beginning of the Cretaceous age. They are found in the form of Silica, but with their contour accurately preserved. These shells are found in great variety and profusion, as are also the bones of fishes and petrified wood. But the most notable feature of Mr. Holgate’s recent discoveries is that of an oolitic formation, in which found imbedded are some very curious jaw bones, belonging to an extinct race of animals, and which it is believed, have never been known to exist in any other locality. These bones are nearly of a semi-circular form, from an inch in width up to the size of a human jaw, and strange as it may seem, these jaws, as it were, worked only on one hinge, with four teeth on each side, but none in front, thus indicating that those nondescripts must have been vegetarians.

We understand that Mr. Holgate will send specimens of these to Prof. Agassiz, who, with his great and diversified knowledge of comparative anatomy, as well as of geology, can undoubtedly throw some light upon the subject. Immediately under the oolitic formation, Mr. H. informs us that he has discovered a very fine variety of what he considers lithographic stone. He will send a specimen to San Francisco to test its adaptability. If it should prove to be really what is represented, it will be a valuable discovery.

THE PREVAILING fine weather has brought out the spring fights earlier than usual. Last Sunday, two fellows who had imbibed an average quantity of tangle-leg, concluded that they must decide who was the better man. They foamed at the mouth, pulled each other’s hair, split a small quantity of claret, and were separated by the crowd, who to the number of a hundred soon gathered round.

A couple days afterwards an altercation took place a short distance out of town, between a teamster, armed with a Pike County revolver, and a harmless Fenian, armed with a knife. The latter got rather the best of the encounter, and was making an effort to carve up the teamster, who, not wishing to be dissected, took to his heels and made 2-40 time to town, escaping with no other injury than a slight cut on one of his thumbs and a few slits in his coat.

We also notice occasionally an hombre engaged in the less belligerent diversion of smashing windows &c. Lively time, you bet!

MORE MILLS. Many more quartz mills are wanted to work our mines. Enough quartz could be taken out of those now being worked to supply double the number of stamps running in Owyhee. There are a great number of rich mines here that will remain idle next summer because of the scarcity of means for working them. It is a good change for enterprising capitalists to bring in machinery and build more mills.

On the edge of common sense

Large animal vets and bronc riders

The Pro Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) is making an effort to encourage more young people to participate in the Bareback, Saddle Bronc and Bull Riding events. Simultaneously, the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA) is making an effort to encourage more students to become livestock and equine veterinarians. Does that mean more young people are less interested in riding or doctoring untamed large herbivorous animals? Exactly!

In both cases the primary reasons given by the “non-interested” are: the work is too hard and the pay is not enough. American and Canadian young people, as a rule, have become more worldly, resigned to life, and content with the path most frequently traveled, i.e., team roping and pet practice.

So, we are going about it the wrong way if we think 21st century America will furnish enough youngsters to fill the needs of the PRCA or the AVMA. I would bet that the average U.S. high school student spends more time playing virtual sports and games in front of a screen than he does actually participating in real physical games and sports. A generation ago, this wasn’t the case. Coincidentally, back then there was no shortage of large animal vets and bareback riders, either.

I’m thinking if you want bronc riders and large animal practitioners, you need to look somewhere other than civilized America. Someplace like Iran, Tierra del Fuego, Mongolia or Louisiana. And there’s hope on the horizon. Already, last year’s National Finals Rodeo had more roughstock riders from Louisiana than from Rhode Island, Quebec and Kentucky, all together!

We should concentrate on luring bullriders from grittier places. Major League Baseball has done a wonderful job seeking hungry talent from countries like Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic. There are probably enough baseball players from Mexico and the Caribbean in the major leagues to support their own Low Rider Bus Line!

South America has been a good source of herders for American sheep ranchers. It’s an easy jump from shepherd to bareback rider then on to dairy veterinarian.

Where do we begin? The easiest place to start would be the Mexican border. They come here to work. They want to. The work is not too hard for them ... the pay is enough. And we need them. Instead of deporting the illegals we catch, we should give each one, man or woman, a chance to ride a bronc and castrate a bull calf. If they appear to have the aptitude, we send them to a bull riding school and/or enroll them in a pre-vet major at bilingual schools like UCLA, NMSU or the University of Florida. Twenty years down the road, the problem would be solved!

Author’s note: It is amazing how I can see through complex problems so clearly. No wonder Condoleezza calls so often! Well, on to the next sticky wicket: Miracle Whip or Hellmann’s Mayo as the National Condiment?

Not important ... but possibly of interest No time to be polite

It all started last summer when my sister and her husband decided to move to Texas. We helped them get their house ready to put on the market.

I was helping my brother-in-law, Jim, sort things in the little storage shed/workshop on their carport. Over in one corner, partially covered with stuff, was a snowblower. I asked Jim if he was taking the snowblower to Texas. “No,” he said. “Do you want it?”

We have a sizable driveway at our house — something like 20 feet wide by 180 feet in length. Cleaning the snow off the driveway takes an hour, minimum, and can be much longer if the snow is deep. Usually, we try not to let the snow get more than a couple of inches deep before shoveling. Otherwise it’s too hard.

In the 17 years we’ve lived in our present home, it hasn’t snowed enough to justify buying a blower. In addition, you have to find a place to store it. And finally, the surest way to guarantee a seven-year drought in the valley would be for us to buy a snowblower.

Jim’s offer of a free snowblower was too good to refuse. So we loaded it in the pickup and hauled it home — where it took up space in our already-crowded garage for several months.

Meanwhile, right after Pat and Jim put their house on the market, 8,000 other homeowners in the valley did the same thing. In early December, they decided to stay here. At that point, I offered to give back the snowblower. They said they didn’t need it. Pat said they had only used it a couple of times since they bought it a decade ago.

I think it was somewhere around Christmas that it snowed enough to make snow removal necessary. It wouldn’t have been that hard to do it with a shovel, but I decided to give the snowblower a try. It turned out to be easy to start because you can plug it into standard household current. It took a little while to get the hang of using it, but less than a half-hour later the driveway was free of snow.

A few days later, it snowed again while I was at work. Sara started the snowblower, cleaned the driveway and by the time I got home was asking why we hadn’t gotten a snowblower years earlier. Still, we were feeling somewhat guilty as the former owner of the blower was shoveling by hand.

I called my sister and asked her when they would be home so we could bring back the blower (we had already decided to get one of our own). She insisted that they didn’t want it back. A few days later, it snowed again. Again I offered to return the snowblower. Again the previous owners said they didn’t need it.

It started snowing on a Saturday afternoon. It snowed fairly heavily until about 10 in the evening. The next morning our driveway was covered with about 8 inches of wet, heavy snow. The snowblower is a relatively light duty model, and I had to go really slow to keep it from clogging. But in 45 minutes we had the only snow-free driveway in the neighborhood. Without the blower, removing that snow would have taken — well it probably would have melted before we could have shoveled all of it..

Sunday afternoon I called my sister. They weren’t home, but I left the following message on their answering machine:

“Hello, this is your brother. Remember us calling and offering to give back the snowblower? Well, never mind. We’re keeping it!”

They had their chance.

Voice of Idaho ag F&G gives Marvel the hand

If you’re not man enough to face your foe, just sneak up and shove him in the back. That’s the newest method of getting your point across being employed by environmental extremist Jon Marvel, who made headlines after he shoved an Idaho Fish and Game commissioner at a public hearing.

The incident conjures up images of something that might happen on an elementary school playground, and highlights the fanaticism Marvel represents.

Idaho Fish and Game officials have directed Marvel to keep his distance after the incident that occurred during a December meeting on wolf management in Hailey.

Marvel’s shove to the back of F&G Commissioner Wayne Wright prompted a letter advising Marvel to communicate with F&G staff only in writing. Other state agency employees, and probably anyone else who doesn’t share Marvel’s twisted version of public land management, should heed the advice.

Rather than apologize, like a gentleman, Marvel denies the incident happened.

But according to F&G Deputy Director Virgil Moore, this isn’t the first time he has demonstrated aggressive behavior toward F&G employees. “We’ve had a few (incidents), mostly aggressive verbal behavior towards staff, but nothing that has ever elevated to this level,” he told a reporter.

Marvel’s organization is well-known for its extremism and for playing fast and loose with facts. They employ various tactics, including using the Endangered Species Act to manipulate the legal system and tying up state and federal land managers in court so they can’t do their jobs in the field. They have a federal judge who is sympathetic to their dubious cause, and they are good at misleading people with more money than good sense into donating cash to their cause. That cause is removing cattle and sheep from public lands at all costs, with no care given to the hard-working Idaho families and rural communities left in his destructive wake.

With specific regard to the wolf situation, Marvel and his ilk argue that wolves should not be removed from the protection of the Endangered Species Act, nor should wolf management be turned over to Idaho F&G. Why? Because we don’t yet have enough wolves in Idaho and too many wolves will get shot by hunters.

This line of reasoning is so incredibly weak, it’s hard to pick where to start. But first let’s not lose sight of the fact that our wolf population exploded bigger and faster than anyone, including the federal experts, predicted. During public hearings prior to reintroduction, those experts stated that only one bitch per pack would breed each year. If that were true it would be mathematically impossible for the wolf population to increase the way it has.

Next, keep in mind the majority of Idaho’s wolves are spread out over the wildest, most rugged terrain in the lower 48 and that few hunters are likely to pursue wolves exclusively. Hunters just aren’t going to pack into a wilderness area solely to hunt a wolf. Most of the wolf harvest will be incidental — hunters out for elk or deer and seeing wolves.

Wolves that kill livestock deserve a bullet in the ribs. But it’s in the state’s interest to manage a stable, sustainable wolf population, which keeps the feds and the Endangered Species Act out of the equation. That’s sound judgment and common sense, two qualities Marvel and his ilk clearly lack.

Accuracy In Media
Globalist Soros backs corporate Democrats

by Cliff Kincaid

Our media have treated us to endless replays of Hillary Clinton and Barack Obama attacking one another’s corporate ties. Obama said Clinton had been a corporate lawyer on the board of Wal-Mart, while Clinton countered that Obama did favors for a slumlord who contributed to his political campaign. But there’s more to this than charges and counter-charges and a desperate race for the White House. It is apparent that both of these candidates are “corporate Democrats” with substantial ties to the business community. But haven’t we been told by the media that the Republicans are the party of Big Business?

In fact, a review of the public record for the 2008 election cycle shows that Hillary Clinton and Barack Obama are in the top five of all politicians, on the presidential and congressional levels, in receiving financial contributions from the controversial, mysterious and secretive hedge fund industry. Overall, data from the Center for Responsive Politics shows that hedge funds prefer Democrats over Republicans by a margin of 79-21 percent. Democrats have received $4.2 million and Republicans $1.1 million from hedge funds. What the hedge fund operators want from the politicians is what all of us desire — less taxation, regulation and oversight. But they have the money to get their way, even though they can hold the fate of entire nations and their economies in their hands.

It is significant that one of the richest men in the world, billionaire George Soros, is a hedge fund operator and convicted inside trader who pours millions of dollars into the Democratic Party, its front groups and candidates. He has put money into the coffers of both Hillary Clinton and Barack Obama. He will be able to pull the strings if either is elected president.

One hedge fund pouring large amounts of money into Hillary Clinton’s political activities hired her daughter Chelsea. It is no surprise that Senator Clinton has balked at supporting a congressional proposal to tax hedge funds.

Soros has been in the news at the World Economic Forum in Davos, Switzerland. Reporters have been anxious to interview him, as if he is some kind of disinterested observer of the political scene. But he has a vested interest in seeing the U.S. economy go down. A story from four years ago explained how Soros even then was selling dollars and propping up the European currency, the Euro.

Soros told the meeting in Davos that the dollar may be out as the world’s reserve currency. In this context, it is quite significant that Foreign Affairs, the publication of the Council on Foreign Relations, published an article, “The End of National Currency,” advocating that Latin America “dollarize” its currencies in order to save the dollar against the Euro and a predicted Asian common currency. But the ultimate “salvation” could come in the elimination of the dollar by a common currency for the Americas. It doesn’t take much of an imagination to conceive of a global currency to further the process of globalization.

The author, Benn Steil, writes that “National currencies and global markets simply do not mix; together they make a deadly brew of currency crises and geopolitical tension and create ready pretexts for damaging protectionism. In order to globalize safely, countries should abandon monetary nationalism and abolish unwanted currencies, the source of much of today’s instability.”

Coming across as concerned about the meltdown, the Associated Press is quoting Soros as calling for “a massive injection of regulation and oversight of financial markets whose excessive freedoms” have led to the current financial crisis. The AP reported from Davos that Soros has said, “Authorities ought to go in and examine the books” of financial institutions involved in the subprime mortgage scandal. What about Soros’ books? What about the books of the secretive hedge funds that are manipulating currencies and economies and pouring millions of dollars into the political campaigns?

It is estimated that assets under management by hedge funds are approaching $2 trillion. But nobody knows for sure. The Securities and Exchange Commission currently oversees and regulates mutual funds and many investment advisers, but it does not regulate hedge funds.

Soros is clever at diverting attention away from his financial and political manipulations. Through his so-called Open Society Institute, he financed a “Global Integrity Project” that was supposed to track corruption, openness and accountability in the U.S. and other countries. Yet, Soros himself was accused of various election law violations in 2004 by the conservative National Legal & Policy Center, which also documented how Soros groups have received millions of dollars in U.S. taxpayer money. Three years later, the Federal Election Commission (FEC) still has not ruled on the complaint against Soros.

Soros seems to be above the law and above media scrutiny.

As I noted in a recent column, the Wall Street Journal reported that hedge fund operator John Paulson got a visit from Soros after Paulson had made about $4 billion betting on a housing market collapse. Soros wanted to know how he had done it. But Soros wouldn’t talk to the Journal about his meeting with Paulson. Why? How does he get away with a no-comment?

Soros plays it smart in many ways. He pours money into journalism organizations, including the Center for Investigative Reporting, the Fund for Investigative Journalism, and Investigative Reporters & Editors, thereby guaranteeing that they won’t investigate how and where he gets his money.

Rather than focus attention on those who created and profited from an $8 trillion housing bubble, there has been a terrible tendency by some in the media, including conservative writers and bloggers, to blame average Americans for taking out loans they couldn’t repay. This analysis ignores how the lenders made risky loans they knew couldn’t be repaid. Those who have bought a home know that you aren’t supposed to get a mortgage loan, even of the subprime variety, unless the “experts” judge through a detailed analysis of your assets and income that you were able to pay if the interest rates went up. In a real sense, many were tricked into getting loans they couldn’t handle. This was predatory lending. As a result, an estimated 3.5 million homeowners could default on their mortgages in the next 2½ years.

The companies that made or assumed those loans received top credit ratings from firms such as Moody’s. Its stock is now in the $30 range, compared to a 52-week high of $76. You know the U.S. is in trouble when the stock price of the firm that is supposed to rate other firms for credit-worthiness and financial stability is in sharp decline.

Now, Merrill Lynch is forecasting nationwide U.S. home prices could decline 25-30 percent over the next three years. This is a terrible blow to the middle class, who were counting on their homes being a good investment for the future. Declining house prices could cost people who hold on to their homes literally trillions of dollars.

To make matters worse, this scandal is leading to another problem — the invasion of the U.S. by the so-called “sovereign wealth funds,” which are foreign government-controlled. Some of them in the news are based in China and various Arab states. They are investing tens of billions of dollars in the Wall Street firms that are writing off their risky subprime mortgages.

So the firms responsible for the problem get financial bailouts from abroad, America loses more of its sovereignty, perhaps its currency, and Americans lose their shirts and their homes.

Meanwhile, Democrats and Republicans dicker about an economic stimulus plan that apparently will not address the damage to America’s economic standing in the world and the dissipation of our sovereignty.

We are witnessing, writes Lou Dobbs in his new book, Independents Day, the erosion of our rights “as global economic integration creates a global interdependence that threatens to overwhelm our national identity.” Dobbs takes direct aim at the “internationalists” who “seek the demise of national sovereignty around the world, the end of borders, and an integration of commerce and economies...”

His book, released in November, cited the falling dollar and the rise of the Euro and predicted “there is sufficient reason to expect that the economy may be a central issue in the 2008 election...” He was right on the mark.

If the Republican presidential candidates don’t understand the growing appeal of his message, then they will lose in November to the Soros-backed corporate Democrats.

Letter to the editor
Time has come to do something about factory farms’ pollution

My husband and I came to Owyhee County in fall of 1984. Farming practices at that time have changed some since then. It was not uncommon at that time to see farmers driving tractors down the road, and working hard in their fields. This still goes on. Sometimes they would drag behind them manure spreaders. I never minded slowing for one of these hard working fellows. In fact I admired them and still do.

Factory farms began moving in about 15 years ago. You don’t see the slower manure spreaders like before pulled by tractors. Now they have huge trucks that shower your car with feces and rocks as they pass by at 50 miles an hour or more. Even empty trucks are dripping with feces and can cause as much fear on the road as they pass with this disgusting shower. They are not forced to cover their loads and they won’t do it upon request. It is my opinion that their bottom line is money at anyone’s expense.

Agriculture was never an excuse for being a bad neighbor in the past. It should not be one now.

So here’s to all the great farmers out there that work so hard and show caring to their neighbors. Maybe it’s time for all the good people of Owyhee County to pull together and fight this handful of bullies in a civil suit.

Laws really shouldn’t have to change for the people that are self-governing and truly care about others. For 10 years we have been talking to the AG department and things have only gotten worse. So maybe the courts are the answer here.

Middle school basketball reaches stretch run

Homedale Middle School boys basketball player Trey Corta prepares to drive the lane during an early-season game against Fruitland. The Trojans have started a busy final week of the regular season. They'll play four games in five days this week before the start of 3A District III Tournament play on Feb. 25.

HMS boys hoops gets back on track

The Homedale Middle School boys basketball teams are facing a busy final stretch of the regular season.

After starting the season 2-1, all four teams — A and B squads for seventh and eighth grade — saw back-to-back games postponed because of winter storms.

“Watching them improve each week is what is important, and seeing how they fit into a team concept really matters,” coach Spencer Batt said.

Because of the postponements, the Trojans will play four games in five days beginning Tuesday in hopes of completing the 3A Snake River Valley conference season before the start of the District III Tournament.

Homedale played regularly scheduled games against Ontario on Tuesday. Results weren't available at press time.

The regular schedule is set to continue Thursday when the eighth-graders play host to Payette and the seventh-graders travel to Payette.

According to the original schedule, the teams wrap up the regular season Feb. 21 against Weiser. The eighth-graders are on the road in Washington County, while the seventh-graders are closing shop at home.

All regular-season play dates begin at 4:15 p.m.

The seventh-grade district tournament is planned for Feb. 25-26 in Ontario, Ore.

The eighth-graders will see district action in Fruitland on the same dates.

The district championship games for both levels will be played Feb. 28 in Fruitland.
