Patient hunter collects trophy ram

Adrian High School football assistant coach Quentin Shenk was all smiles after bagging a bighorn sheep in a once-in-a-lifetime hunt earlier this year. Submitted photo

Hunter's longshot at a bighorn pays off

sheep tag draw

People talk about "once-in-a-lifetime" hunts, where everything goes perfectly. Quentin Shenk of Adrian just successfully completed a hunt that really was once, and only once, in a lifetime.

Most once-in-a-lifetime hunts are memorable because the hunter doubts he can ever exceed the thrill. In Shenk's case, he knows he'll never have another chance to bag a bighorn sheep. Shenk drew the tag this season — a tag that, in the case of those auctioned by Oregon Fish and Game, have gone for more than $100,000.

A tag winner may never purchase another tag, whether they fill it or not.

Shenk, who is an assistant coach at Adrian High School, was in football camp this summer in Eugene, Ore., when the draws were made.

"I called my mom when I was at camp, and asked her if the draw results had come in. Apparently I misunderstood what she said, because I thought I hadn't drawn deer or elk or anything."

When he got home, he had a surprise.

"She said 'Your bighorn sheep tag's over on the counter', and I was all 'What?'" Shenk said.

"She said 'Yeah, you drew a bighorn sheep tag.' I thought she was kidding. I said 'No, don't do that, Mom, that's mean' and she said 'Well, is it a big deal?'"

It was a very big deal, and Shenk had netted one of the toughest, and most desired, tags a hunter can ever receive.

Shenk's bighorn was bagged west of Jordan

Crater, near the Snake River, in a remote stretch of Eastern Oregon, about 35 miles from the nearest highway. The hunting party took ATVs back to the high rimrock, and then hiked in another four miles, Shenk said.

Hunter Ken Mazec was a huge help, the Adrian native said.

Mazec, and wife Jean, both drew and filled their bighorn tags years ago. He is an avid hunter and brought his experience and hours to bear to make the hunt the success it was, Shenk said.

"I don't know how I lucked out, having that guy," Shenk said. "He went and flew it (the site) for me about a week before the hunt. He's a pretty awesome guy. I've never known anybody that I'd just met who would go to that kind of trouble."

"We went out opening morning, and got one by 10 a.m. on opening day."

He even managed to get back in time for football practice that evening, and showed off the ram's head to the team — a head that scored 154.5 Boone and Crockett points.

"We were chasing a bigger one," Shenk said, but when the hunters topped a ridge, so did the target, and the ram sprinted out of range and out of sight.

The draw where he brought down his prize had seven or eight rams present when Shenk got in position. He backed off the first ram they had an opportunity at, as it was a smaller one, and then worked into position for a shot at a bigger trophy.

The sheep he brought down was bagged shortly after.

Shenk was torn by the question that nags all lifetime tag hunts: Is the target in the scope the best one the hunter will see during the season

Road Raiders scuttle Pirates

Win marred by unsportsmanlike conduct of Notus
fans off the field

The good news is that the Rimrock High School football team handed Notus a 40-22 1A, Div. I loss on Friday night in the face of gusting winds and lightning.

The bad news is that some Notus fans were poor sports about it.

"Some of their kids tried to jump our film-boy," Rimrock coach Jim Clark said. Those involved weren't Notus players, but "were some gang kids, I guess," he said.

Luckily there were no serious injuries, but the brouhaha didn't make for a good evening out.

"It kind of ruined (the feeling). It was a big game and all. A

Trojans' trainer cuts mustard in muscle matters

Home remedy handles cramps;
Homedale loses Milk Jug Game

If Homedale High School had a hot dog on its football team, Lynn Johnson would be the guy slathering on the mustard.

The yellow packets the Trojans' athletic trainer carries around don't serve as condiments, but as a circumventive measure to avoid muscle cramps.

The primary target of Johnson's restaurant-quality remedy Friday was senior Rodrigo Villarreal. The Trojans' 21-7 non-conference loss to Parma in the Milk Jug Game marked the senior's first start on offense since the first game.

"He sweats like crazy, and it's impacted our ability to use him," Homedale second-year coach Rob Kassebaum said of Villarreal's propensity to lose copious amounts of fluid during a football game.

Acetic acid in mustard helps replenish the body's supply of acetylcholine, which stimulates the muscles to work.

When Johnson approached the senior speedster with his golden cure prior to kickoff, Villarreal seemed surprised that the veteran trainer would suggest such a move. But Kassebaum is well aware that the Dijon — and Johnson's presence in general —

High Desert League football roundup

Quick start at home sends Mustangs past Burnt River

Winning one quarter at a time is an effective, workman-like way to win football games.

On Friday, Jordan Valley High School took the strategy to the extreme to post a 54-34 High Desert League victory over visiting Burnt River.

Bryce Kershner recorded eight solo tackles and five assists in one quarter of play to lead a first-string defense that held the Bulls from Unity, Ore., scoreless in the first quarter.

“Bryce played a really good game on the defensive side of the ball,” Mustangs coach Tim McBride said.

Jordan Valley (4-0 overall, 3-0 HDL) held a 40-0 lead after the first 12 minutes of the game, giving McBride a chance to spread the snaps around to other players on the squad.

“Our younger kids got lots of playing time and are getting a lot stronger, but we still have a ways to go with them,” McBride said.

With the younger players rotating out frequently throughout the final three quarters, Jordan Valley clung to its advantage. Burnt River rallied with 28 points in the second half, including 16 points in the fourth quarter.

Quarterback Alek Quintero ratcheted up the offense in the first quarter, throwing TD passes to three different receivers and scoring on a 22-yard run and 50-yard punt return before the Bulls’ offense had a chance to dig in.

Quintero connected with Koehl Trautman on a 20-yard strike for the first score of the game. He threw 30 yards to Zac Fillmore later in the quarter, and capped to early start with a six-yarder to Kershner.

Quintero tacked on another score with a one-yard run in the second, and Trautman put the Jordan Valley special teams in the spotlight again in the third quarter with a 70-yard kickoff return.

Jordan Valley scored 54 points with the benefit of only 231 yards total offense. Quintero missed on just one of seven passes, racking up 123 yards through the air.

Josh Deen had 27 yards on four carries to account for part of the team’s 91-yard rushing attack.

The Mustangs travel to Halfway, Ore., to face non-league opponent Pine Eagle on Friday.

Rolling Stones leads Adrian over Tigers

David Stones was effective between the 20s Friday night, and seemed content to let his Adrian High School teammates do the dirty work.

Emerging as the feature back in an offense that has leaned heavy on the run the past couple years, Stones chewed up yardage at an 11-yards-per-carry clip at Ward Field in Friday’s 56-18 High Desert League victory over Monument/Dayville.

While Stones was rolling to 143 yards on 13 carries, quarterback Blake Ishida was getting it done down close.

Ishida scored on two one-yard runs in the second quarter to put the Antelopes on top, 36-6, at halftime. Kyle Osborn, who had 88 yards on nine totes, also scored on an eight-yard scamper in the first quarter.

Eight-six of Ishida’s 109 yards passing came on TD throws -- 21 yards to Jeremy Price for the only score of the third quarter and 65 yards to George Ellsworth to give Adrian a 50-12 lead in the fourth quarter.

JJ Stephens capped the scoring with a 32-yard run after the Tigers’ Gus King’s four-yard run put Monument/Dayville over the goal line for the second time in the fourth quarter. King also threw a nine-yard touchdown pass earlier in the stanza.

While coach Paul Shenk’s squad racked up 358 yards total offense, the defense probably provided the pivotal play of the game during the first quarter.

After quarterback Cody Gibson fired a 10-yard pass to Jay Kimpall to get Monument/Dayville to within two points, 8-6, the Tigers found themselves with the ball again deep in their own end.

Price put an end to the suspense, though, by returning a fumble 15 yards for a score that would kick off 36 unanswered points by the Antelopes.

It was one of four fumbles lost by the Tigers.

James Prechtl led Adrian with 11 tackles.

The Antelopes (2-0 overall, 1-0 HDL) play host to opponent Prairie City (1-3, 1-1) at 3 p.m. Friday.

Adrian is a half-game behind HDL co-leaders Jordan Valley and Crane

HMS 7th-graders blank Weiser

Volleyball squads play at home Thursday

Homedale Middle School’s Riley Maggard-Qualls returned an interception for a touchdown on the first play of the game Sept. 16 as the Trojans shut out Weiser, 22-0, in a 3A Snake River Valley conference game at Deward Bell Stadium.

Talon Freelove scored the Trojans’ final touchdown on a one-yard run.

Homedale took a 1-1 record into Tuesday’s road game against Ontario, Ore. Results were available at game time. The Trojans visit Payette for a Sept. 30 game against McCain next.

Homedale’s seventh-graders opened the season with a 12-0 loss to Fruitland on Sept. 9.

Homedale’s eighth-grade squad was winless heading into the game against Ontario. The Trojans fell 30-7 at home to Weiser last week, and opened the season on Sept. 9 with a 34-6 loss at the hands of Fruitland.

The HMS football teams have one regular-season date at home left on the schedule. Payette Lakes from McCall visits on Oct. 7.

The Trojans’ volleyball squads are home Thursday for matches against McCain. The eighth-graders play A and B contests at the middle school, while the seventh-graders will have their two matches at the old gym on the Homedale High School campus.

Before playing Payette Lakes on Tuesday, the HMS eighth-grade A team had lost its first two matches with a third match against Fruitland not yet reported.

The seventh-grade A squad was 1-1 through its first two matches, and the B team had won its only match Sept. 11 against Weiser, according to a list of results supplied by HMS athletic director Nick Schamber.

Rimrock High School sports roundup

Bol battles the Bob for Rimrock cross country

Injuries plague other runners as treacherous footing takes its toll

Rimrock High School’s cross country team attended the Bob Firman Invitational at Eagle Island State Park on Saturday, and faced its toughest competitor — the weather.

Coach Kermit Tate reported by e-mail on the mud-spattered event, and his take is worth quoting verbatim:

“We made it through the Bob yesterday. (It was) classic old-school cross — pouring rain, thunderstorms about 10 miles away, delaying the start for half an hour. Mud on the runners from heels to hairline. Mud on the SPECTATORS, f’ cryin’ out loud.

“Runners were wading in the small ditch behind the start line to wash the mud off ... THAT was a first. The track conditions were, in a word, slimy. The beach section was probably as fast as it’s ever been, the rain having packed it down into concrete, but Spectator Hill threatened to turn into a Slip-n-Slide several times.

“The race organizers were prepared, though, and scattered some grass hay on the muddiest parts of the trail, which helped. I’m sure the organizers and their volunteers were hard-pressed at times, but they ran a very successful race. Kudos all around!”

First-year runner Andy Bol was hampered by his lack of experience with racing in the extreme conditions, Tate said. Nonetheless Bol turned in a respectable 23:05 — though a 24:10 was reported by The Idaho Statesman, which was Bol’s time in the event last year, Tate said. The results on Athletic.net support the Statesman, though, and it’s possible that there may have been a timing issue.

“I’m not sure what happened,” he said, “but I was standing right in front of the race clock display, and my watch matched it to the second, so I’m pretty sure my time is accurate. With the rain they were having during that race, it’d be small wonder if there wasn’t a timing glitch.

Even if the slower time is accurate, it would mean that Bol turned in a result, under terrible conditions, as fast as last year’s dry race.

While Bol had a solid day despite the abysmal conditions, Ida Ahlfors and Lee Gray were less fortunate in the Firman’s Division II race.

“Each one missed a step in the Women’s D II Varsity race and tweaked an ankle,” Tate reported. “Ida re-injured the ankle that was giving her a problem in the first week of the season; Lee created a new injury.”

Both girls finished the race — Ahlfors ran a 30:56 and Gray finished in 35:00.

“I’m amazed that they kept running; at the finish they were both limping,” Tate said. “Very courageous girls, both of them.

“We’ll fall back and regroup this week to prepare for the Horseshoe Bend Invitational.”

Raiders volleyball torpedoes Pirates, Wildcats

Last week was a banner segment in Rimrock High School’s volleyball schedule, with back-to-back conference wins over both Notus and Wilder in league play.

The Rimrock Raiders (3-1 1A Western Idaho Conference) proved that an early deficit start couldn’t stop them in a 3-2 victory over Notus on Sept. 16.

Down two games and facing an end to the match, the Raiders fought back to win three straight and send the Pirates packing.

“We had a slow start in the first two games,” coach Ashley Merrick said. “The girls were playing fairly well, but just not as a team.”

Merrick said the Raiders didn’t let early troubles affect their performance when it mattered, however.

“We finally put it together and came alive in the third game. After that, we stayed on top and kept our momentum going to finish out on top with the win,” she said.

“It’s always hard pushing a night to five games, but the girls did great. They didn’t get tired and didn’t let down until we had the win.”

Notus opened strong, winning 21-25, 23-25, but the Raiders finished with dominance, wrapping up the opponent 25-18, 25-8 and 15-12 in a tight final.

Rimrock’s top efforts were turned by junior setter/outside hitter Stevie Richardson (five points, 17 assists); junior middle blocker Jackie Thurman (13 points, two aces, seven kills, nine blocks and 10 digs); junior middle blocker Anna Cantrell (five points, two aces, seven kills, five blocks and 15 digs); senior outside hitter Kaile Murray (18 points, one kill, 12 digs) and junior defensive specialist Shaelyn Merrick (10 points, four digs).

Ashley Merrick had some praise for the Pirates after the game, pointing out their ability to force the Raiders to step up their defense — which they did.

“Notus did a great job of moving the ball around on us, and the girls stepped it up and did a great job covering the floor,” the first-year coach said.

Hosting Wilder on Thursday, a dominant Rimrock finished off the Wildcats in three straight, 25-11, 25-16 and 25-14.

The team showed heart and a desire to win, Merrick said.

“They kept a great tempo throughout the whole night and kept control of the game,” she said.

Familiar names again led for Rimrock, with Richardson totaling nine points and 18 assists; Thurman five points, an ace, seven kills, four blocks and eight digs; Cantrell 12 kills, eight blocks and seven digs. Murray led the side in points with 16, two aces, four kills and five digs.

Murray and Cantrell received special praise from the coach after the win.

“Kaile Murray did well serving for us tonight. She also had a great night at the net, and moved the ball around well. Anna was big at the net, and did great, putting the ball down in the holes,” Merrick said.

Antelopes excel in first home volleyball matches of season

Junior varsity sees play against Long Creek

Adrian High School’s McKenzie Purnell pulled off a triple-threat Friday against Monument/Dayville as the Antelopes stayed unbeaten in High Desert League play.

Purnell had nine aces, nine assists and nine kills as the Antelopes (6-2 overall, 3-0 HDL) beat the Tigers, 25-9, 25-9, 25-13, in part of a league tri-meet in Adrian.

The Antelopes controlled throughout both matches, and the junior varsity was called in to roll over Lon Creek, 27-25, 25-13, 25-23.

The matches marked the first home action for Adrian this season.

“The girls did a nice job of serving and playing together as a team,” coach Aimee

Goss said. “We are continuing to improve, which is great.”

In addition to Purnell’s straight-nine performance, Madison Shira had 12 assists and three kills against Monument/Dayville; Terra Rust five aces and a pair of kills; and Andrea Shenk five aces and nine kills.

Goss enlisted her junior varsity to gain experience against Long Creek.

“I played my JV against Long Creek since they are a new team in the league and still developing,” Goss said. “It was great to give my JV an opportunity to step up and feel a little more pressure.”

Goss said she was especially pleased with the serves from Jessica Morton and Alysha Sifuentes late in the match.

“Ester Gordon is an up-and-coming middle and did well tonight hitting,” she added.

Nyssa rides turnovers to victory over Marsing

Marsing High School's football team (1-1) learned some hard lessons in the cost of mistakes against 1-2 Nyssa on Friday night, losing 25-0 on the road at the Bulldogs' homecoming game.

Huskies coach Jake Walgamott said the team played with heart, but, as the game stats show, turnovers transformed what should have been a tough game into an impossible one.

"I think that the game was going really well," Walgamott said. "We were playing good defense and moving the ball."

Marsing had a chance inside the 20-yard line with under seven minutes left in the first half of a scoreless game. But mistakes ended the drive and led to the first points of the game.

"We shotgun-snapped the ball over (quarterback Joey Burril's) head two times in a row, and lost the ball on the second one," Walgamott reported. "That led to Nyssa's first score. We went in down 6-0."

James Larsen scored on a four-yard run for the Bulldogs.

After halftime, the Huskies began pressing forward steadily, building yardage and momentum, only to run afoul of another mistake.

"(We) moved the ball, got some stops, and we were at about the 30 with some momentum; and we fumbled the ball to Nyssa," Walgamott said.

Nyssa returned the bobbled ball nearly 50 yards, and quarterback John Iverson scored a few plays later.

"Nyssa threw an interception to Sean Finley, and I thought we were in luck finally, but we could not cross the goal," Walgamott said.

Karma then made a final and unwanted appearance.

"We fumbled one more time, and that lead to another score. We played hard, but our mistakes were costly and the kids knew it."

Iverson was again the Bulldog in the end zone after that final turnover.

Iverson found Larsen in the fourth quarter with a TD pass, and the Bulldogs put the extra point between the uprights to establish the final score.

The game stats tell the tale.

The Bulldogs posted a total of 237 yards of offense, 153 on the ground in 32 carries, versus 162 by the Huskies, with 84 of that on 30 rushing attempts.

Senior Mike Moore led the Huskies in rushing yards, with 34 yards on 15 totes; Finley had 29 yards and Jose Paramo added 20.

Marsing QB Joey Burril went 6-for-21 for just 39 yards passing. Iverson was 6-for-11 for 77.

After the game, Walgamott was frustrated, but knew his team had more than the scoreboard showed.

"It is frustrating to work so hard and not get any reward," he said. "We had a great week of practice and we all felt like this was a great opportunity for us to score some points. I keep telling the guys to keep their heads up and believe in themselves and good things will come, (but) we can't win games (by) turning the football over four times."

In the end, Marsing's three fumbles and one interception were more than enough to cripple the efforts of the Husky defense.

The Huskies will travel to Nampa Christian on Friday to open the 2A Western Idaho Conference season against the unbeaten Trojans.

Clouds may be parting at just the right time on Homedale season

Volleyball coach encouraged by team's play at Cole Valley

The Homedale High School volleyball team may have had its watershed moment.

Second-year coach David Hann said the team began to "click" while splitting four pool-play matches during the Cole Valley Tournament on a rainy Saturday in Meridian.

The Trojans' victories came during the pool play portion of the tournament, including a 30-25 victory over Grant Union of John Day, Ore., and a hard-fought 30-26 come-from-behind win over Rimrock.

"We started to click as a team during this match," Homedale coach David Hann said of the win over Grant Union. "We were moving together, covering each other. It was a great thing to see."

Homedale sandwiched those wins around a couple losses. Marsing prevailed 30-22 in the opening match, and the Trojans battled but lost to Parma, 30-27.

Hann seemed invigorated by his club's performance against the Panthers, who have beaten Homedale twice in non-conference duals twice this season.

"We got thumped by them pretty good at the beginning of the season," Hann said. "We improved a bit by our second meeting, and by this game we played them very well."

Parma had to claw its way to the victory, Hann said.

"We felt great after that game," he said. "We had a few big blocks, great digs and a few nice kills. We know we can play together."

Ashlynn Uria served five straight points late in the match against Rimrock as the Trojans came back from a two-point deficit to win.

Hann said the Trojans got 85 percent of its serves in during the tournament and uncorked 13 aces. Haylie Frelove, Kindra Galloway and Megan Quintana served three aces apiece.

Frelove scored 18 kills in the tournament, while Rachelle Christoffersen added 14.

"Alyssa Burton, our libero, contributed an incredible 22 accurate passes," Hann said. "We brought up two juniors, Carmen Zatica and Kortney Stansell, who contributed to our team."

Homedale opened the 3A Snake River Valley conference season Sept. 16 on the road with a straight-set loss to Payette.

"We struggled getting our footing in the first set, but turned it around in the two following sets, but just wasn't able to get the win," Hann said.

On Sept. 15, the Trojans played Parma again in a non-conference match. The visiting Panthers won in three games, 25-17, 25-18, 25-17, but Hann was encouraged by his club's performance.

Homedale served at better than 85 percent and recorded five blocks.

"We did much better than our first outing," Hann said. "We are starting to gel as a team, and I'm pleased with our progress."

Parma tops Trojans in JV football action

A pair of first-quarter scoring drives were all that Parma High School managed against a Homedale defense that allowed no points in the remainder of the game on Thursday, but that was enough to take the win.

The visiting Panthers brought their own defense to the non-conference game, and Homedale could never capitalize on field position to even the score. Parma prevailed, 13-0, at Deward Bell Stadium.

Parma showed its dominance in the rushing game all day long, racking up 275 yards on the ground and holding Homedale to just 59. The Panthers never put the ball in the air successfully for the entire match, missing on all five passing attempts, while Homedale had 53 of its 112 yards on its 6-for-13 passing offense.

While the Trojans JV's defense kept the Panthers out of the end zone through the final three quarters, the offensive line had a hard time containing the Parma pass rush and allowed seven sacks for a loss of 42 yards.

The Trojans did control the clock, with a 28:32 time of possession, versus 19:28 for Parma, but were unable to use that time to their advantage on the scoreboard.

After taking this week off, Homedale opens the 3A Snake River Valley conference schedule with a road game Oct. 2 against Weiser.

✓ Trojans: Weiser looms after league bye

adds an enhancing dimension to Homedale's program.

"It's huge," Kassebaum said. "It's the first time I've had an on-the-field (medical) guy with me that I've really trusted."

"It allows me to focus more on coaching and sometimes even be less conservative with kids because I'm not in the middle of a game and having to make an evaluation myself on a kid's injury and whether they can go back in or not."

Kassebaum trusts Johnson's judgment on the health of his athletes during the heat of battle. A Homedale resident, Johnson has a background in sports medicine. He's the director of Sport and Orthopaedic Rehab at Holy Rosary Medical Center in Ontario, Ore.

"I don't have the type of training that Lynn does, so I always have to be more conservative because I don't want to get a kid hurt," the coach said.

While Johnson's professional training is crucial to maintaining the long-term health of the Homedale squad, his preventative packets are meant to help the players avoid muscle constriction as they lose fluids throughout the game.

Villarreal still cramped up Friday night, but not before he had sparked the Homedale offense and led the Trojans (0-4 overall) to their first lead of the season.

Villarreal capped a 17-play, 93-yard drive with a seven-yard run to the outside and the PAT for a 7-0 edge 3 minutes, 3 seconds into the second quarter.

Kassebaum acknowledged that the 5-foot-11, 182-pounder's return to the offensive backfield, with only tape on his damaged right thumb, gave the squad a lift.

"Emotionally there was, for sure, and even play-wise," Kassebaum said. "On that first 4th-and-1, he was hit at the line of scrimmage where lighter backs we were using before might not have gained that yard for the conversion."

"As a matter of fact, I probably wouldn't have gone for it in the other situations."

Villarreal got that yard to Homedale's 42-yard line, but the drive ended a few plays later with a punt for no yardage.

Villarreal continued to make big hits on defense, too, but his inability to wrap up the ball carrier on two different plays directly led Parma scores.

Parma tight end Randy Riley bounced off Villarreal during a 27-yard catch-and-run to the end zone to tie the game, 7-7, with 2:05 left in the third quarter.

With 5:20 left in the game, 6-1, 180-pound junior running back Tyler Ford withstood another solid blast by Villarreal, running him over and finding pay dirt at the end of an 11-yard run.

"It's just poor technique and getting used to some kids just dropping when they take an impact like that," Kassebaum said of the two plays. "But we've played against some pretty good players this year, and some of them don't go down like that."

The coach pointed out that Villarreal wasn't the only defender not finishing tackles with a hammerlock on the ball carrier.

"They are in the open field, so their still glaringly obvious," Kassebaum said of the Villarreal plays. "But if you watch film, you see the same kinds of things and stuff happen up front inside."

Facing a wily option offense, the Trojans were up to the challenge in the first half, including another defensive stand in the shadow of their goal post.

The Panthers had the ball for the final 3 1/2 minutes of the first half, including a 1st-and-goal situation at the Trojans' 5-yard line with 24 seconds left.

But after Dalton Koplin got the ball to the 3, Homedale seniors Mario Gaeta and Brandon Valadez made tackles for loss on the next two plays before Mitch Quintana and Kevin Mercado ganged up on fullback Israel Urabazzo on fourth down from the 6 to end the threat five seconds before the intermission.

Quintana also stopped Parma's first drive of the night inside the Trojans' 10 when he fell on Urabazzo's fumble. It was the first of two fumble recoveries for Quintana. He also dove on a loose ball after Koplin lost the handle at the end of an 18-yard run early in the third quarter.

"Mitch Quintana played a solid game on defense," Kassebaum said. The coach also credited Johnny Stacey and Dylan Kushlan with exceptional play on the defensive line.

But the defense was worn down throughout the rest of the game as six interceptions by quarterback Ryan Ryska put Parma in prime field position time and again.

"The number of (Panthers) opportunities was just phenomenal," Kassebaum said. "For our defense to hold them in the situations was absolutely outstanding."

The coach said Ryska's horrendous second half was a combination of his play and poor execution by his teammates.

"We kept calling pass plays because we had things that should be wide open, but we had numerous times where guys didn't run the right routes or carried the wrong play into the huddle," Kassebaum said.

"It was extremely frustrating because there were opportunities there. We had to throw the ball; we were averaging, I think, two yards a carry or something like that. So knowing that things were going to be open, we were going to continue to be aggressive."

Kassebaum also speculated that an aggravation of an elbow injury to Ryska's throwing arm may have contributed to several underthrown passes that Parma picked off.

During Parma's first possession, Ryska — who also plays defensive back — came off the field yelling in agony and holding his right elbow, which was in a protective brace.

"It's an existing injury that he had surgery on during the summer," Kassebaum said.

With Ryska tweaking his elbow and Trent Acree hobbled by an ankle injury, the coach said this week's 3A Snake River conference bye couldn't have come at a better time.

"It's a bye week, so we're going to be pretty cautious with anybody that's banged up," Kassebaum said.

The bye gives the Trojans two weeks to concentrate on their conference opener, which comes Oct. 3 at home against Weiser.

"The No. 1 thing is we get guys healthy. That's key," Kassebaum said of this week's practice approach. "We feel if we get everyone healthy we'll be in good shape."

Cuvelier's big night helps JV elude Bulls

Naegle dishes 19 assists in league victory at home

Kayla Cuvelier erupted with 16 kills Friday as Jordan Valley High School's volleyball team kept up a perfect start to its season.

With Emma Johnson adding a team-high 13 service points to a dozen chipped in by Cuvelier, the Mustangs handed visiting Burnt River a 25-14, 25-10, 18-25, 25-21 High Desert League loss.

"We really were dragging for some reason (Friday)," Mustangs coach Jacque Naegle said. "It wasn't that we played really bad, but we weren't playing as smoothly as we can."

The only game lost by Jordan Valley was one in which Naegle had inserted her junior varsity players.

"We started the match with the varsity on the floor and we did some pretty good things at times, dug up some pretty hard-driven balls and really controlled the floor," Naegle said. "Then we would back off and make some basic mistakes."

"I feel that is what happened when our JV was in. They play a lot better than they did against Burnt River. We had some issue on communication and getting to where we should be on defense."

Nicke Naegle racked up a season-high 19 assists as Jordan Valley improved to 4-0 both overall and in league games. The squad travels to Halfway, Ore., on Friday for a non-league matchup against Pine Eagle.

Meagan Fillmore was second on the team with seven kills, while Ann Marie Eiguren added five. Naegle and Catie Kershner hit the floor for three digs apiece.

Jacque Naegle called Burnt River a scrappy team that never gives up, and that may have played a part in the struggles the Mustangs' varsity experienced in the night's final game.

"When the varsity came back in for the fourth game, we really had some problems getting back into the swing of things, and it allowed Burnt River to stay in the game," Naegle said.

"We have a great bunch of girls, and I am really confident that we are going to continue to improve and learn from the things that we need to change."

Upland game bird hunting seasons open

Hunters had best clean their shotguns and start planning their weekends — bird season is back.

The early fall general turkey season began Sept. 15, and seasons for sage-grouse, quail and partridge started Saturday. Pheasant will open Oct. 4 in Management Area three.

A separate permit is required for hunting sage- and sharp-tailed grouse. Sharp-tailed season opens Wednesday.

Turkey

Sept. 15 through Dec. 15: General fall hunt in game management units 1, 2 (except Farragut State Park and Farragut Wildlife Management Area) 3, 4, 4A, 5 and 6.

Sept. 15 through Oct. 31: General fall hunt in game management units 73, 74, 75, 77 and 78.

Sept. 15 through Oct. 9: General fall hunt in game management units 8, 8A, 10, 10A, 11, 11A, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 16A, 17, 18, 19, 20, 22, 23, 24, 31, 32 (except that portion in Payette County), and 32A. Units 33 and 39 are closed to fall hunting.

Nov. 21 through Dec. 31: General fall hunt in game management units 8, 8A, 10A, 11, 11A, and 16. This hunt is open on private lands only.

The daily bag limit is one turkey of either sex per day in the fall. No more than three turkeys may be taken per year, except in Units 1, 2, 3 and 5, where up to five turkeys may be taken in a single day during the fall season. Turkey hunters will need a general or an extra tag. General tags not used in the spring general or controlled hunts are valid for the fall hunt. Special unit tags are available for residents and are valid only for the fall season in Units 1, 2, 3 or 5.

Rooster Ring-necked Pheasant

Area 3 pheasant seasons begin at noon on Oct. 4 and run through Oct. 10.

Patch and Porter Islands: Closing dates will correspond with those set by the Oregon Fish and Game Commission. Check with the Southwest Regional Office, (208)465-8465, or see Oregon small game regulations. Limits on Fort Boise WMA (including Gold Island) in Canyon County, C.J. Strike WMA in Owyhee County, Birding Island segment of the Payette River WMA in Payette County and Montour Management Area in Gem County and Niagara Springs WMA in Gooding County REDUCED to a Daily Bag Limit of 2 cocks and a Possession Limit after the first day of the season of 4 cocks.

Management area three includes: Ada, Adams, Blaine, Boise, Camas, Canyon, Cassia, Elmore, Gem, Gooding, Jerome, Lincoln, Minidoka, Owyhee, Payette, Twin Falls, Valley and Washington counties (including all islands in the Snake River except Patch and Porter Islands).

Area 1 in eastern Idaho is closed. Consult the rules brochures for details and exceptions.

Chukar and gray partridge

Sept. 20 through Jan. 31, 2009

Daily bag limit: eight chukar and eight gray partridge.

Possession limit after first day: 16 chukar and 16 gray partridge.

Bobwhite and California quail

Sept. 20 through Jan. 31, 2009

Daily bag limit: 10 total.

Possession limit after first day: 20 total.

Forest Grouse

The season for forest grouse, which includes ruffed, spruce and dusky (blue) grouse, opened Sept. 1 and runs through Dec. 31. The daily limit is four, whether all of one or mixed species, and eight in possession after the first day. Hunters only need a valid hunting license to hunt quail, chukar, grey partridge and forest grouse.

All hunters need a valid 2008 Idaho hunting license. Hunters will find upland hunting rules and shooting times in the rules brochure at license vendors and Fish and Game offices as well as on the department Website at <http://fishandgame.idaho.gov>.

✓ Bighorn: Hunter nearly passed up ram in hopes of getting bigger kill

— a once-ever season? What if a bigger ram is over the next hill? What if one’s not?

“I thought ... maybe I’ll pass this one up and come back tomorrow — but with my luck they’d be gone and I wouldn’t see another sheep,” Shenk said. “I’m happy I got him.”

Shenk and friends had scouted the area in July and had seen about 20 rams, so they knew it would be a good location to have a successful hunt.

While Shenk had put in for the tag “every year or two” since he was 12, actually getting it was quite a surprise. “I never really expected to get it,” he admitted.

Each time a hunter puts in for a tag, they pay a small fee, and once your name is drawn, Shenk explained, you pay an additional $100 for the tag.

That’s for an Oregon resident; non-residents pay $1,000.

If a hunter was desperate enough, they might be able to get the once-ever tag with more certainty through the Oregon tag auction held yearly.

But bring your wallet — one of the two tags auctioned by the state of Oregon in 2007 sold for $120,000.

The auction tags aren’t section-specific, and can be used anywhere in Oregon, unlike the normal draw tags.

In any case, the bighorn will be gracing Shenk’s wall as a reminder of a once-in-a-lifetime success that few will ever be able to claim.

The shoulder-mount of the bighorn will be done by taxidermist Jim Nichols, Shenk said.

Fishing report

he information is compiled from regional Idaho Department of Fish and Game fishery managers, local tackle shops and anglers.

C.J. Strike Reservoir

Yellow perch — Fishing for yellow perch is poor. Most people wanting perch soon decide to fish for crappie. Very few perch are being caught.

Smallmouth bass — Fishing should be picking up as air and water temps cool. Recent rainfall can only help.

Rainbows — The hotspots continue to be below the dam near the turbine outlets and from the dam on the lake side near the turbine inlets — just upstream from the cable barrier. Worms fished on the bottom seem to be the best bait.

Bluegill — A few are being caught in the coves of the lake throughout the day and evenings. Use worms below a small float.

Crappie — Running on the small side (9-10 inches) but are still providing fast action all over the reservoir. Jig color and fishing depth seem to make little difference. Fish the rocky points and coves in the Snake Arm.

Catfish — The Bruneau Arm is producing a few good cats, but the fishing action has been slow.

Snake River

Catfish — Catfishing has been outstanding most of the summer and cooler weather does not hurt a bit. Cut bait and worms are both catching fish.

Smallmouth bass — Some lunker bass have been caught below CJ Strike Dam and around Loveridge Bridge this summer. Fishing will pick up in the fall, dramatically after the first frost.

Sturgeon below dam — Hit and miss lately. The best fishing has been when two turbines are running. Most are using pieces of fresh crappie. Stainless steel hooks and braided line last a long time after they are lost in a snag or a fish. Please leave braided line and stainless hooks at home.

Three ready to file petitions

Petitions for city elections candidates may be filed beginning tomorrow according to City Clerk Edna Grimes. Candidates will have until Oct. 11 to file, she said.

As of press time, two hopefuls had said they will run for Mayor. They are the present mayor George Murray and Paul Fink. Fink is the owner of Valley Machine Shop on the south edge of the city.

Councilman Larry Bauer has also said he plans to seek re-election. The other council seat to be filled is held by Rodger Nash. His intentions have not been made public, however.

Nominating petitions available at City Hall, Grimes said.

Homedale’s John Davis rides bull Saturday in “command performance” for President Reagan

John Davis, rodeo champion bull rider from Homedale, participated in a presidential command performance rodeo in Landover, Maryland.

The President of the United States and the First Lady were among special guests who attended a September 24 special rodeo performance sponsored by the Colorado Springs-based Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association.

Response to the White House invitation-only all-star rodeo was excellent, according to Ken Stemler, president of PRCA Properties. Approximately 10,000 special guests attended the performance last Saturday at Capital Centre in Landover, Maryland.

Other prominent Washington politicians, members of the US Congress, ambassadors, cabinet members, undersecretaries, department heads, and members of the diplomatic corps, as well as White House press corps, attended.

J. C. Watson Company open house

The J. C. Watson Company of Homedale held an open house last Friday with over fifty people attending. Following a buffet lunch, tours of the plant’s new fertilizer facility were conducted. Manager Greg Roesberry explained the capabilities of a new four-ton scale weight hopper to a tour group. The modern blending system operates on centrifuge gravitational force, eliminating dust and producing a cleaner product. The new scientifically designed facility and technically advanced machinery will greatly increase the company’s efficiency and service for the distribution of fertilizers.

Miss Akichika representing Idaho at pageant

Ann Akichika, seventeen year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Akichika of Homedale, will represent Idaho in the first annual Miss Teen of America Scholarship and Recognition Pageant in Duluth, Minnesota, through October 2.

Akichika was named Miss Teen of Idaho at the state pageant in Boise. She is presently a senior at Homedale High School.

Akichika will compete with outstanding teenaged girls from each of the fifty states for the title of Miss Teen of America and a $15,000 scholarship to the college of her choice among other prizes.

Trojan girls win invitational title

Homedale high school’s volleyball team won its own invitation meet last Saturday, taking a tie-breaker from Fruitland and Cambridge after all three teams beat Middleton.

The Trojan girls won the title with a 15-10, 16-14 sweep of the Fruitland match to give Homedale a 5-3 edge in games for the tie-breakers. Cambridge was 5-4 in games and Fruitland 4-4. Homedale lost to Cambridge 15-13, 12-15, 13-15, but the Bulldogs in turn lost to Fruitland 15-13, 10-15, 8-15.

Homedale stopped Middleton 15-8, 12-15, 15-3.

Improvement to new airport slated beginning Oct. 11

An Airport Improvement day will be held at the local airport Saturday, October 11, according to Johnny Cook, secretary of the local flying club.

The state department of aeronautics will be on hand with much of the necessary equipment to level, pack, gravel and seed the airstrip. There will be a need for many local men to help operate the equipment. Farm type levelers are being asked for. County equipment and employees will assist.

The state department also plans to do considerable preliminary work on the landing field, prior to the 11th. A crew of men will also remain to work about two weeks on the project.

A MISCHIEVOUS RUMOR. Last Saturday evening, says the Idaho World of the 16th, some silly person spread the rumor in town that Silver City, Owyhee, has been swept by fire the day before. Until the stage from Boise City came in on Sunday evening this ugly rumor was generally credited. Fortunately there was no foundation for the report. It seems the fire in the Owyhee mountains caused persons in Boise Valley to imagine a fire was sweeping Silver City and we learn the Silver City folks saw fires in the mountains this way, which caused them to think another fire had broken out in this place. Thank God, both were mistaken.

THE RAILROAD is now completed to Winnemucca, and stages connect with the cars at that place. Only forty hours staging from here to Winnemucca and now that the Vallejo Railroad is in operation the time from here to San Francisco is made inside of three days.

ROAD MATTERS. The Idaho Central Road Company have from fifty to sixty men at work on this end of their road. A greater portion of the distance to the railroad and route is said to run through a well-watered and fine agricultural country. Ranches are already being located. The distance from Boise City to the point of intersection with the railroad, about 100 miles above Winnemucca, is estimated at 200 miles. A branch will connect this place with the main road, which will run about twenty miles eastward of Silver City.

Fife & Co are energetically pushing forward their road to Paradise Valley, by way of the Forks of Owyhee. Mr. Fife informs us that the people of that valley will aid the enterprise to the amount of $11,000. It is expected that this road will be ready for travel before winter sets in. The distance from Silver City to the railroad by this route will be about the same as the Central above-mentioned. The road by the Forks will be of greater benefit to Paradise Valley than any other that could be built.

THE ROMAN CATHOLICS are ahead in church matters here. They have purchased the Union Church building at Ruby and are rebuilding it on a conspicuous site north of the Court House, on the east side of Jordan Creek.

Father Mesplie has arrived from Idaho City and will probably remain here all winter. He desires to inform those who have subscribed to aid the building of the church that they will be called upon immediately for the money. The church will be furnished with an eight hundred pound bell and will be ready for use in a couple of weeks.

THE GOOD TEMPLARS have bought the building previously occupied by Geo. Vass Painting and Decorating establishment and are fitting it up in an elegant and comfortable manner. The Order is in a flourishing condition and has wisely come to the conclusion that it is better to own a hall than to rent.

FISH. Mr. Baker of Catharine Creek has twice favored us with fine salmon trout, with which he has been supplying our hotels and restaurants for a couple of weeks past. They are caught in the Bruneau and readily sell for fifty cents per pound.

SOMETHING WRONG AGAIN: Sacramento and San Francisco papers arrive regularly on time, while our Virginia City exchanges of same date do not reach us till two or three days afterwards. What Nasby is to blame now?

FROM ALTURAS. Mr. Peter Donnolly has lately been on a visit to Alturas. He informs us that there are many large and rich quartz lodes in that country, with excellent facilities for working them. But little is being done at present, although with proper management Rocky Bar and Yuba would rank high among the quartz mining camps of the territory.

On the edge of common sense

Buckle up

The news has coincided recently with protesters demanding to be able to purchase raw milk, the American Medical Association warning that home births are not safe, and desperate cancer victims reserving the right to buy alternative “cures” not approved by the Food and Drug Administration.

My father was born in 1918 in his mother’s bedroom, drank raw milk and was raised in a family that used a variety of homemade or traveling medicine man’s potions to cure what ails you. Farmers plowed with teams, had no indoor plumbing, chewed tobacco and worked like dogs in the field. The average lifespan of a man born in 1918 was 52 years. Significantly, among the causes of death were physical injury, infectious diseases and childbirth, for both the mother and the baby.

In the ensuing years, science, medicine, an easier lifestyle, air conditioning, pasteurization, preservatives and laws to ensure that drug companies prove their product does what they claim, have changed our lives and almost doubled our lifespan.

But, does the government have the right to insist you have your baby in the hospital, drink pasteurized milk and prevent you from taking unapproved natural supplements to treat your cancer?

The answer is no. Just like they have no right to stop you from smoking, riding your motorcycle or your bull, or playing football without a helmet. In the beginning of the last century, “caveat emptor” ruled. “Buyer Beware” was the code of business. Consumers were not protected from salesmen. Over time, as we increased our knowledge of disease and human health, the government began to intervene ... pasteurized milk to prevent tuberculosis, licensing of medical personnel, doctors, nurses, and midwives, establishing the FDA to protect the public, Occupational Safety and Health Administration to safeguard employees, warning labels on cigarettes and alternative medicines, inspecting meat, automobiles, and soil testing sewage drain fields before construction.

Sometime these interventions were designed to protect you from your neighbor. But the government does not, in my mind, have the right to protect you from yourself.

However, I do think that there ought to be some mechanism to protect children, maybe even animals from those who prefer to live their lives as if it were still 1918. Just because you don’t want to wear your seatbelt, doesn’t mean your little kids shouldn’t buckle up!

Not important ... but possibly of interest Caution: BUFF crossing

I hang out on an Internet photography forum with a lot of other guys about my age from all over the world. The other day, Bob, who lives in the Southern U.S., posted some photos of a B-52 bomber in flight at an air show near where he lives. One of the forum members observed that the telephoto lens Bob used made it look like the big bomber was almost close enough to touch.

The B-52 entered service in 1955. And grandsons — or maybe great-grandsons — of the first crews are flying the same planes today. It is an amazing aircraft.

Bob’s photos brought to mind a close encounter I once had with a B-52. And there weren’t any telephoto lenses involved.

In the 1970s, we were Owyhee County residents. There wasn’t anything I enjoyed more than wandering around the high desert. One area where I had never been was Succor Creek State Park, just over the line in Oregon. That gravel road from the park climbs through the foothills and eventually connects to Highway 95 between Marsing and Jordan Valley. So one day I grabbed a camera and some film, jumped into my old three-quarter-ton, ex-Continental Telephone Company Ford pickup truck, and headed for the hills.

It was a sunny afternoon in the spring. The hillsides were still green. It was about as perfect as a day could be. Succor Creek Park was quiet and peaceful. There weren’t any other people around. The only sounds were the gurgling creek and the occasional call of a meadowlark.

Above the park the road narrowed and climbed beside the creek up what might be described as a small canyon or a big ravine. I let the truck idle along. I wasn’t in any hurry. I looked for photo opportunities. There wasn’t any traffic or any sign that there had been any vehicles on the road since the last rain, several days earlier.

What a wonderful day, I thought to myself. No people. So peaceful. So quiet. I looked up the narrow track toward the top of the hill and ...

At this point it is necessary to pause and provide some background information:

For many years a landmark on the Snake River near Wilder was the Air Force radar station. The radar site was there to help Air Force pilots learn how to avoid being seen by electronic search devices. Pilots of all sorts of aircraft would try to sneak up on the station. There weren’t any stealth airplanes in those days. The best way to avoid being seen by radar was to stay hidden behind hills and mountains and in folds in the terrain. Pilots call it flying “Nap of the Earth.” And some pilots are very good at it.

Because I was new to Succor Creek Canyon, I was unaware that it was one of those “folds” in the Earth that Air Force pilots liked to use to try to sneak up on the Wilder radar. To say I was surprised would be an understatement, when I looked up the Succor Creek Canyon Road and discovered a B-52 bomber coming DOWN that same road toward me at oh, maybe, 250 mph.

Now some people say I am prone to exaggerate. So I’ll admit that the B-52 wasn’t ON the road. It was probably a good 500 feet above the track. But that still put it below the ridges on both sides of the gulch. And since a B-52 is 159 feet long and 185 feet from wingtip to wingtip, and weighs about 240,000 pounds loaded, 500 feet was close enough to made me duck and say “Oh Golly!” as it passed overhead with all eight engines screaming.

In the years since the incident I have learned that the personnel who fly the B-52 refer to the aircraft as a “BUFF.” That acronym stands for “Big, Ugly Fat Fellow” (although there is at least one unprintable variation). And I think the name fits it perfectly.

Frank Priestley — Idaho Farm Bureau

Voice of Idaho ag Food origination labeling legislation comes to fruition

Although it took six years, American agriculture has reason to celebrate this month as federal regulators are putting finishing touches on a law requiring food to be labeled by its country of origin.

Country of Origin Labeling, or COOL as it has come to be known, was approved by Congress with the 2002 Farm Bill. It’s producer-driven legislation that lets consumers know where their food comes from. Although it seems like a fairly simple, straight-forward and courteous benefit, it took a lot of political haggling to finally make it happen.

COOL requires labeling of fresh beef, pork, lamb, chicken, fish, shellfish, peanuts, fruits, vegetables, macadamia nuts, pecans and ginseng. It does not include processed foods like corned beef or chicken tenders, or food sold through foodservice companies to restaurants, hospitals, schools and other institutions. The law goes into effect Sept. 30.

When we think about all the products we come in contact with on a daily basis that are labeled, the question of why it took six years to get a food labeling bill implemented seems like an elephant in the parlor. The answer is COOL met a political firestorm that gripped American agriculture by its jugular, pitting farmer against rancher, processor against packer and various state and national commodity organizations that normally work together against one another.

To further explain, putting a “Grown in USA” label on a bundle of asparagus or a bag of carrots really isn’t that big of a deal from the grower’s or packer’s perspective. Most of the time fruit and vegetables are washed and packaged within a few miles of, or at the farm where grown. However, when you compare that to a facility like Miller’s Blue Ribbon Beef in Hyrum, Utah, processing several thousand head of cattle from two different countries nearly every day, the logistical and management issues escalate exponentially. One 1,200-pound market steer normally gets cut into roughly 100 packages of beef. Chicken, pork, lamb and fish processing businesses all face a similar burden in complying with COOL. As you can see, the meat processing industry faces big challenges in dealing with COOL, and their resistance was formidable.

However, in the end, we were able to come up with a compromise that we believe will increase demand for our products and benefit consumers, farmers, ranchers and

hamstrings nuclear power

Jim Patrick’s article, “Energy in Idaho,” in the Sept. 10 edition of The Owyhee Avalanche stated, “Nuclear energy is dismissed by some as ‘too dangerous.’”

Many people believe that a nuclear reactor is a controlled atomic bomb. But they are not atomic bombs at all. They are simply specialized furnaces that use nuclear energy to generate heat to make steam that powers a turbine to generate electricity.

We have been generating electricity with nuclear reactors for more than 50 years. There are more than 500 nuclear reactors operating around the world today. In all that time the Chernobyl accident is the only one that has killed anyone. There was an accident at Three Mile Island and another accident at a nuclear reactor near Decatur, Ala., but neither caused any injuries or any danger. And that’s it. That seems like a stellar record to me.

We have been flying in aircraft for just over 100 years. In that time there have been thousands of accidents and fatalities. Some of the accidents have killed several hundred people. But we have never stopped flying. And even now there is some risk of an accident with aircraft that could kill several hundred people. But we don’t let that stop us.

Why, then, should we be afraid of a process that is as safe as a nuclear reactor? I believe it is because so many people perceive the reactor to be an atomic bomb, and that if it were to go out of control we would see the same destruction that occurred at Hiroshima and Nagasaki. That is unfortunate, because it is incorrect. If it weren’t for that, we could be enjoying much cheaper electric power without pollution. We seem to be the victims of our own ignorance.

American agriculture across the board. We have dozens of solid examples of meat and produce labeling such as Idaho Potatoes and Washington Apples that fetch a premium price in the market because of their superior quality. But without the label to inform the consumer there would be no distinction.

To most of us, it probably doesn’t make that much difference whether the couch we are sitting on was made in Indonesia or our televisions in Japan. But whether we realize it or not, we share a much more intimate relationship with our food. It sustains us and we deserve to know where it comes from.

The Idaho Farm Bureau Federation sends out congratulations and a heartfelt thank you to all of the organizations, business owners, political leaders and farmers and ranchers who had the foresight, cooperation and determination to bring COOL to fruition.

Sen. Larry Craig

From Washington Gun rights still under attack

When I joined freedom-loving Idahoans back in June to celebrate the Supreme Court’s landmark Heller decision, striking down the Washington, D.C. handgun ban, I urged vigilance in safeguarding our Second Amendment rights. I knew there would be attempts by those opposed to the constitutional right to bear arms, to test the lines drawn by the Court.

Three months later, that opposition is in full thrall. The District predictably reacted with defiance, and its officials publicly plotted to block their citizens’ access to firearms.

The House of Representatives called their bluff this week and passed legislation to roll back anti-gun laws in the District of Columbia. Liberals’ attempts to limit that bill by putting obstructing conditions on gun ownership failed on a nearly two-to-one vote, and the House ultimately passed the gun rights bill by a convincing 266-152 vote. That bill, H.R. 6842, awaits Senate consideration, and the president has said he will sign it into law if the bill reaches his desk.

I have joined other pro-gun senators to urge Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid (D-Nev.) to bring this bill to a vote before Congress adjourns for the year. Gun control advocates, meanwhile, are lobbying their Senate friends to filibuster and run out the clock.

A similar fight is under way on another front: correcting conflicting federal regulations on carrying firearms on federal lands.

Those legally allowed to carry a gun generally can in areas administered by the Bureau of Land Management or the U.S. Forest Service. But on lands administered by the National Park Service (NPS) or the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS), firearms must be inaccessible — and sometimes even inoperable or cased.

Last year, more than half the Senate from both political parties signed letters authored by my Idaho colleague Sen. Mike Crapo, urging Department of Interior Secretary Dirk Kempthorne to correct this problem. The Interior Department began the long process of changing its regulations by publishing a proposed rule and asking for public comments, which are now being reviewed.

Efforts also are under way to make this change via federal statute, so that it remains in effect past the Bush administration. I am co-sponsoring S. 2619, introduced by Sen. Tom Coburn (R-Okla.), broadly protecting law-abiding citizens from losing their gun rights through Interior regulations in parks and refuges. On Thursday, Sept. 11, the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee, on which I serve, overwhelmingly passed an amended version of this legislation. This bill would allow individuals not prohibited from having firearms, to carry them on NPS and USFWS lands if the state where the lands are located has comparable rules for its own state parks. I hope the House and Senate can agree on this bill in final form and send it to the president soon, but that will also depend on overcoming procedural obstacles created by the bill’s opponents before the end of the legislative session.

The enemies of the Second Amendment haven’t changed their minds — just their tactics. With the limited time remaining for this Congress and the Bush administration, they may be able to accomplish their goals just by delaying action. It’s worth remembering that even passive resistance, under these circumstances, can threaten liberty. As long as I serve in the U.S. Senate, I will be fighting for our right to keep and bear arms.

Sen. Mike Crapo

From Washington Vote, keep democracy healthy

In January, Time Magazine proclaimed 2008 the “Year of the Youth Vote.” I would expand on that theme and say that 2008 is the “Year of the Voter.”

We are in the home stretch of an historic presidential election, a highly charged congressional election cycle and many state and local races as well. People who have never been particularly interested in politics are tuning in to the news coverage of the campaigns and the candidates, and voters are taking an active interest in the issues on our national agenda. Energy, the economy, healthcare, the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan and other concerns are on the minds of millions of America this year. When you consider the political powerlessness of millions living under autocratic regimes across the world, American voters can truly celebrate the fact that we are essential participants in representative government.

The right to voice our opinions by casting our vote is protected by the Constitution. Our nation was founded on the notion of government of the people by the people, and voting for those who represent us at federal, state and local levels of government is the way in which we preserve our democratic republic. Voluntarily abdicating the right to vote can signal a protest, but it also comes at a price. Not voting simply because of a hectic schedule plays fast and loose with a right that many in our world would love to have guaranteed (remember, the Iraqis who have risked life and limb to cast votes in elections). Casting a vote, even when it seems pointless or a hassle, still registers your voice in our country.

Most Idaho communities have well-established voter resources including voting locations, hours and candidate information.

(The Internet can provide information on candidates and their positions, although it’s a good idea to make sure that the source you use is credible to the best of your knowledge.) Members of the military and U.S. citizens who live abroad are eligible to register and vote absentee in federal elections under the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act (UOCAVA) of 1986. It is administered by the Secretary of Defense, who delegates that responsibility to the Director of the Federal Voting Assistance Program (FVAP) at the DOD. However, the actual electronic transmission of official election materials is governed by state laws. The good news is that Idaho is very progressive and attuned to the specific needs of overseas voters and the difficulties, especially for military members and their families, of voting and getting those votes counted. Idaho permits the military and overseas voters to e-mail the Federal Post Card Application (voter registration and absentee ballot request form) for absentee ballot requests. If mailed, the ballots must be postmarked by Oct. 10, which is 25 days prior to the general election. Idaho also permits faxing of voted ballots in certain emergency situations. (Also, on Sept. 8, the Department of Veterans Affairs lifted its ban on voter registration drives at federally run nursing homes, shelters for the homeless and rehabilitation centers across the country. Now, more veterans will be able to cast their votes.)

Please exercise your right to vote this fall. The more active participants we have in this election, the more representative and effective our government will be.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO PREPARE AN ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT STATEMENT (EIS) FOR THE BOARDMAN – HEMINGWAY 500 KILOVOLT (KV) TRANSMISSION LINE PROJECT (PROJECT) IN IDAHO AND OREGON AND POSSIBLE LAND USE PLAN AMENDMENTS.

AGENCIES: Bureau of Land Management, DOI; and Forest Service, USDA.

ACTION: Notice of Intent to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement, Possible Land Use Plan Amendments, and notice of public scoping meetings.

SUMMARY: Pursuant to Section 102 (2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) of 1969 and in response to right-of-way (ROW) applications filed by Idaho Power Company, the Bureau of Land Management (BLM), Vale District Office, and U.S. Forest Service (USFS), Wallowa-Whitman National Forest announce their intent to prepare an EIS and conduct public scoping meetings. Idaho Power Company proposes to construct, operate, and maintain a single circuit 500 kV overhead electric transmission line and appurtenant facilities beginning near Boardman, Oregon, and terminating near Melba, Idaho. The proposed route roughly parallels Interstate 84 and is approximately 278 miles long. Authorization of this Project may require the amendment of USFS or BLM land use plans.

SCOPING MEETING DATES: This notice initiates the public scoping process as required by NEPA. To provide the public an opportunity to review project information, public meetings are planned in Idaho and Oregon in communities near the proposed route. The scoping meetings will be conducted in an “open house hybrid” format with staff from the BLM, USFS, Oregon Department of Energy, and Idaho Power Company available to answer questions and explain their respective roles and responsibilities.

All meetings will be from 4:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. In addition, formal presentations from the BLM and Oregon Department of Energy will be held at 4:30 and 5:30 p.m. BLM will host open houses on the following dates in the following communities.

- Tuesday, October 21, 2008: Marsing, Idaho (Marsing American Legion Community Center, 126 N. Bruneau Highway)
- Wednesday, October 22, 2008: Ontario, Oregon (Four Rivers Cultural Center, 676 S.W. 5th Ave)
- Thursday, October 23, 2008: Baker City, Oregon (Baker County Fairgrounds, 2610 Grove St.)
- Tuesday, October 28, 2008: Island City, Oregon (OSU Agricultural Service Center, 10507 N. McAlister Rd.)
- Wednesday, October 29, 2008: Pendleton, Oregon (Pendleton Convention Center, 1601 Westgate)
- Thursday, October 30, 2008: Boardman, Oregon (Port of Morrow Riverfront Center, 2 Marine Dr.)

SUBMITTING COMMENTS: Comments would be most helpful to the BLM and USFS if they are submitted by November 14, 2008. You may submit comments by any of the following methods:

- Web site: <http://www.boardmantohemingway.com>
- E-mail: B2HComments@blm.gov
- Mail: Bureau of Land Management, Vale District Office, 100 Oregon Street, Vale, Oregon, 97918, Attention: Lucas Lucero.

Documents pertinent to the ROW application are on file and may be examined at:

Bureau of Land Management, Vale District Office, 100 Oregon Street, Vale, Oregon, 97918

U.S. Forest Service, Wallowa-Whitman Supervisor’s Office, 1550 Dewey Avenue, Baker City, Oregon, 97814

U.S. Forest Service, La Grande Ranger District, 3502 Highway 30, La Grande, Oregon, 97850

Public input is important to ensure project-specific issues are evaluated prior to the agencies making a decision. Comments submitted timely will be considered in the NEPA process, and should include the commenter’s name and street address. Comments received after November 14, 2008 will be considered to the extent feasible. Please note that public comments and information submitted including names, street addresses, and e-mail addresses of respondents will be available for public review and disclosure at the above addresses during normal business hours (7:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.) Monday through Friday, except for federal holidays. Before including your address, phone number, e-mail address, or other personal identifying information in your comment, you should be aware that your entire comment – including your personal identifying information – may be made publicly available at any time. While you can ask us in your comment to withhold your personal identifying information from public review, we cannot guarantee that we will be able to do so. Periodic project updates during preparation of the EIS will be provided to the public through additional informational meetings, newsletters, postcard notices, or through the project website.

THE TRUSTEE HAS NO KNOWLEDGE OF A MORE PARTICULAR DESCRIPTION OF THE ABOVE-DESCRIBED REAL PROPERTY, BUT FOR PURPOSES OF COMPLIANCE WITH IDAHO CODE, SECTION 60-113, THE TRUSTEE HAS BEEN INFORMED THAT THERE IS NO STREET ADDRESS ASSOCIATED WITH SAID REAL PROPERTY. FOR MORE INFORMATION ON THE EXACT LOCATION OF THE PROPERTY, PLEASE CALL ALLIANCE TITLE AT 208-947-1554.

If the successful bidder cannot provide the bid price by means of one of the above means of payment, the sale will be postponed for 10 minutes only to allow the high bidder to obtain payment in a form prescribed herein above. If the high bidder is unsuccessful in obtaining payment as directed within 10 minutes, the sale will be re-held immediately and any bid by the high bidder from the previous sale, will be rejected, all in accordance with Idaho Code 45-1502 et. Sec.

Said sale will be made without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession or encumbrances to satisfy the obligation secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in the deed of trust executed by Lloyd Anderson and Laura C. Anderson, Husband and Wife, as Grantor to Alliance Title & Escrow Corp., as Trustee, for the benefit and security of Michael Daren Deushane and Lissa Carol Deushane, as Trustees of the Deushane 2007 Family Trust as successor Beneficiary, recorded November 2, 2006 as Instrument No. 258687, Mortgage records of Owyhee County, Idaho. THE ABOVE GRANTORS ARE NAMED TO COMPLY WITH SECTION 45-1506(4)(a), IDAHO CODE. NO REPRESENTATION IS MADE THAT THEY ARE, OR ARE NOT, PRESENTLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THIS OBLIGATION.

The default for which this sale is to be made is failure to:

Make principal and interest payments as set forth on said Deed of Trust and Promissory Note. The original loan amount was $75,000.00 together with interest thereon at the rate of 9% per annum, as evidenced in Promissory Note dated October 24, 2006. Payments are in default for the months of April 2008 through and including July 2008 in the amount of $760.70 per month and continuing each and every month thereafter until date of sale or reinstatement. The principal balance as of August 14, 2008 is $71,178.00 together with accrued and accruing interest thereon at the rate of 9% per annum. The per diem is $17.5507. In addition to the above, there is also due any delinquent real property taxes for the second half of 2007, together with penalty and interest, and any other real property taxes that may become delinquent during this foreclosure; late charges, advances, escrow collection fees, attorney fees, fees or costs associated with this foreclosure.

The balance owing as of this date on the obligation secured by said deed of trust is $71,178.00, excluding interest, costs and expenses actually incurred in enforcing the obligations thereunder or in this sale, as trustee’s fees and/or reasonable attorney’s fees as authorized in the promissory note secured by the aforementioned Deed of Trust.
