Trojans ready to run on home turf

A scaled-down version of the Homedale from Caldwell. Invitational cross county meet will be held Thursday at Homedale Middle School.

Trojans coach Nick Schamber expects 12 schools for the high school/middle school meet. That's a little more than half of the number that answered the call a year ago.

Among the schools that will be competing: Homedale, Rimrock and 5A Vallivue

"I do not think it will be as big a meet as in the past, but it will still be a competitive competition," Schamber said.

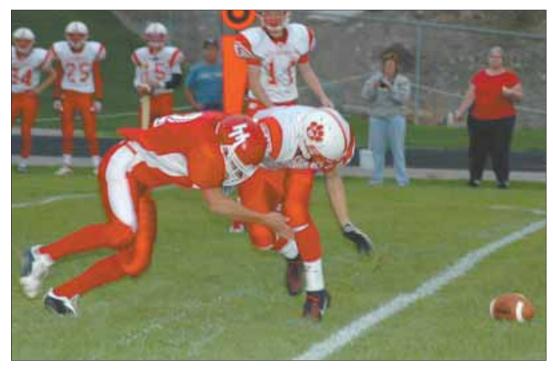

The action Thursday begins at 4 p.m. with the middle school race, followed by a 4:30 junior varsity race. The varsity girls will

Homedale, Quintana can't cage Wolverines

Homedale High School senior linebacker Mitch Quintana tries to finish off Weiser running back Trent Winegar after an incomplete pass from Wolverines quarterback Austin Winegar (11) early in Friday's game. Marsing tunes up for 2A WIC second lap by beating Gem St.

Huskies rally against 1A squad, win in four games

The Marsing High School volleyballers beat Gem State Adventist 3-1 in a Sept. 30 nonconference match.

The Jaguars managed to pull the first game out, but Marsing never left them on the winning side of the net during the remainder of the match, prevailing 23-25, 25-13, 25-21, 25-21 in Caldwell.

The Huskies (4-5 overall, 1-5 2A Western Idaho Conference) were led by Kaitie Kent, with three kills and 17 assists; Rebecca Cossel with 10 kills, Kacie Hull with eight kills and Kim Garza with four aces.

"I think our girls have done the things we needed to do to be ready for the second time through league play. We have continued to work on our serve and serve receive and defense; refined our rotation and worked on finishing a rally," Bittick said when asked

According to coach Loma Bittick, Marsing High School has shown capable volleyball skills. Now the team will see if has the focus and momentum to put them to use in the remainder of the season.

Marsing will play host to Homedale on Monday in a rivalry match, with Homedale seeking some payback for its non-conference defeat earlier in the season at the hands of the Huskies.

The Marsing junior varsity also put the brakes on a bad run, moving to 2-7 overall with their own win over Gem State, 25-23

Candy Leon lead on points, with nine — two of them aces; Kyla Loucks had two aces of her own; Kacie Salove two kills and five assists, and Shannon Malmberg four kills.

JV's football stock on rise with 6-0 start

Team throttles Locomotives, awaits meaty part of schedule

Wall Street may be foundering, but Jordan Valley High School's Alek Quintero's many returns are paying dividends for his football team.

Quintero helped the unbeaten Mustangs put points on the scoreboard four different ways Friday afternoon as Jordan Valley trounced Huntington, 63-21, in a High Desert League game.

Quintero threw three touchdown passes, caught a 68-yard toss from Dusty Easterday for another score and returned both an interception and a punt for touchdowns for the host Mustangs (6-0 overall, 4-0 HDL).

Jordan Valley rolled up 386 yards total offense, with Quintero completing eight of nine passes for 169 yards and rushing four times for 58 yards. He scored on a 39-yard run during the Mustangs' 39-point outburst in the opening quarter.

While Quintero was the team's leading rusher, Josh Deen had the longest scoring run of the afternoon, rambling 41 yards on his only carry of the game for a first-quarter touchdown.

Ouintero returned an interception 20 yards for the Mustangs' second score of the game, and he rumbled 40 yards with a punt return for another first-quarter TD.

The team averaged more than 14 yards per play, including 10 yards per rush and more than 27 yards per completion. Easterday had two completions for 103 yards.

Zac Fillmore hauled in TD passes of 24 yards and 44 yards in the first quarter.

Jordan Valley has sliced through the first part of its season, but three of its remaining games over the next month come against teams that share with it the upper echelon of the HDL. All three games come on the road with only a home-field contest against Prairie City on Oct. 17 serving as a respite.

The challenge begins Friday in Mitchell against Mitchell-Spray. The team also faces tough games at Crane on Oct. 24 and then the rivalry game against host Adrian on Halloween.

Homedale can't complete comeback vs. Wolverines

Wicked Weiser rushing keeps Trojans winless

Homedale High School's football team found some new wrinkles for Friday's conference opener.

Unfortunately, the Trojans saw the same old result as Weiser survived a comeback to post a 35-18 3A Snake River Valley conference victory at Deward Bell Stadium.

The loss put Homedale (0-5 overall, 0-1 3A SRV) in the unenviable position of trying to make up ground in a quest to return to the 3A state playoffs.

"We blew the chance to take control of our own destiny," Homedale coach Rob Kassebaum said. "If we beat two of the next three opponents and the other teams that should beat each other do, we will finish in a three-way tie for second place."

Homedale (0-5 overall, 0-1 3A SRV) meets powerful Fruitland on face McCall-Donnelly on Oct. 7 before finishing the regular season against Payette at home.

Homedale (0-5 overall, 0-1 3A SRV) rallied from a 21-6 halftime deficit against Weiser with a combination of defense and an opportunistic offense.

And Mitch Quintana.

The 5-foot-8, 155-pound senior linebacker ripped the ball free from Weiser quarterback Austin Winegar at the end of a 13-yard run midway through the third quarter. Trojans junior linebacker Jake Tolmie fell on the ball.

Ten plays later, junior quarterback Ryan Ryska found Quintana all alone in the back of the end zone for a five-yard touchdown pass. Although the ensuing PAT run failed, the Trojans were within nine points, 21-12.

Quintana's touchdown reception actually grew out of a wrong formation that Kassebaum corrected when he called a timeout.

"Mitch was lined up in the Friday on the road then travels to wrong spot when we broke the into 52 yards. Rodrigo Villarreal huddle, so we had to take a timeout," the coach said. "(After the timeout), we ran the same play that was originally called."

> Rye Hyer recovered another fumble just four plays later to set up a fourth-quarter TD and threepoint deficit.

> Junior wideout Trent Acree came in motion on a fly sweep, took a handoff and rolled around left end 19 yards for his second score of the night.

> Another inventive play sent Acree into the end zone in the first half. After seemingly setting up the Weiser defense by sending Emilio Cuellar on sweeps wide to the right side of the field, Trojans coach Rob Kassebaum called Acree's number on a reverse. The speedy 5-9, 154-pounder took a handoff from Cuellar and out-ran the defense for 27 yards and the Trojans' first TD with 3 minutes, 40 seconds left in the first half.

> Acree turned the reverse and two handoffs on the fly sweep led the Trojans with 124 yards on 19 carries, and Cuellar parlayed a 34-yard run to set up Quintana's TD reception into 48 yards on the ground for the night.

"The O-line played much better," Kassebaum said. "I believe this is the first week we have had them all healthy and at practice all week, which enable us to prepare

"We expect to continue to see good play from these guys."

The Trojans saw the equity built up in their second-half comeback stripped away quickly after Acree's second TD.

The Wolverines, who would run the ball on 50 of 53 snaps and rack up 321 yards on the ground, needed just three plays to regain a double-digit lead.

Trent Winegar ripped off runs of 20 and 42 yards to account for nearly a third of his total of 192 yards, and Spencer Chandler bulled in from two yards out for his second score of the night and a 2818 Weiser lead with 7:42 to go.

The Trojans found themselves in a deep hole after the ensuing kickoff, needing to go 85 yards for a score. A little more than two minutes later, Homedale's defense was back on the field after Cuellar was held for no gain on a fourthdown conversion attempt with the Trojans on their own 20.

"We needed two scores to win, and I wanted to try for the win," Kassebaum said of his decision to go for it. "If it was a one-score game, we would have punted and burned timeouts."

Austin Winegar scored on a three-yard quarterback keeper five plays later for the game's final points.

Homedale travels to Fruitland on Friday.

"The wing-T is a great misdirection offense," Kassebaum said of Fruitland's bread and butter. "We will have to work on discipline on defense and continue to improve ourselves on offense."

Raiders find focus facing Idaho City

The Rimrock High School volleyball team suffered something of a mid-season slump at the end of September, dropping a hardfought match against Greenleaf 3-0 on the 25th and suffering a 3-1 loss to Gem State on the 29th.

The Raiders (5-3) fought back to post a 3-1 homecoming win Sept. 30, over Idaho City.

"Tonight was a great homecoming game for us," Rimrock coach Ashley Merrick said. "This win was huge. The girls really came together and had more focus- we regrouped from last night's loss against Gem State, and knew we had a job to take care of."

The win took the girls out of their slump, Merrick said. Rimrock started slowly, but finished strong; 17-25, 25-19, 25-23 and 25-23 to take the game from 7-4 Idaho City, which had shut out Notus and Gem State this season.

"This was a great morale booster for the girls," Merrick said. "We know that we can compete with anybody when we are on and keeping control of the game. I was very pleased with everybody's performances tonight, and the heart they put into it. When we play well, it is a great show to watch."

Standout performances included Stevie Richardson's 16 assists and eight points; Jackie Thurman's 12 points, eight kills and six blocks; Anna Cantrell's seven points, two aces, a dozen kills and nine blocks; Kaile Murray's 13 points and Sierra Ridley's 11 points.

Losses to learn from Greenleaf, one of the best teams in the league this year, found the Raiders a less-than-easy conquest, winning each game but challenged each time. The scores, 31-29, 25-21 and 25-23, show that Rimrock did not go down quietly.

"Tonight, the girls were on fire," Merrick said after the match. "They were ready and mentally prepared to take on Greenleaf, and it showed. Every game we came back from a five- or six-point deficit to stay right with them until the end. We played smart, and tried to capitalize on free balls, and continually being aggressive."

Cantrell posted 21 kills, 12 blocks and eight digs, as well. Murray had 11 points and a dozen digs and Thurman 12 points and 10 digs. Richardson had 19 assists.

"I'm trying to instill in these girls that, when we are the aggressor, it frustrates our opponents, and allows us to capitalize on their mistakes. Even though we didn't come away with the win, this was big for us tonight, and I hope it will give us the momentum we need to finish through the next couple of tough weeks ahead," Merrick said.

That momentum didn't hold against Gem State. The Raiders started slow en route to a 25-14, 25-18, 18-25, 25-23 loss.

Defensively, Cantrell turned in 15 digs, and Thurman and Sierra Ridley 12 each. Cantrell had seven blocks, Thurman six, but it wasn't enough without the focus needed to score.

"Coming off of Thursday's great matchup with Greenleaf, I felt that the girls let down a little bit, and were too relaxed for Gem State," Merrick said. "We were not as focused as I like to see us be, and by the time we finally got things going, it was too late."

Rimrock run features eight schools, more than 100 runners

Rimrock High School's Rusty Fender Classic was held on Thursday at CJ Strike Reservoir. Runners from eight local schools attended to test themselves against Kermit Tate's rough terrain run. Middle school competition saw 35 boys and 22 girls run a 2.4 kilometer course, while high school runners numbered 26 girls and 46 boys on a 5 kilometer route.

Tate, Rimrock's cross country coach, extended thanks to everyone who helped make the event a reality, and to all who competed.

Records smashed at Rusty Fender

by Kermit Tate, Rimrock cross country coach

The weather was perfect, from the racers' perspective: cool, cloudy, a light breeze and the occasional sprinkle of rain. The spectators didn't seem to be bothered by the damp ... at least, there was a steady stream of business at the Lions Club concession stand. The high school men's division saw a new course record set: Derek Lindford of Nampa's Liberty Charter broke Vale runner Travis DeLong's mark from last year by about 19 seconds.

The Vale women's team was absolutely incredible, sweeping the top four places. Coach Don Wayne told me last year that he had a special group of girls coming up for this season ... I guess he did! The competition in Oregon is going to have their hands full trying to contend with this team.

Several of the spectators commented to me about how impressed they were with all the runners and how much they enjoyed watching the races. A lot of the courses we run on during the year are designed to see how fast a runner can go: ours is designed to let the athletes show how much heart they have. The first year we held the Rusty Fender Classic, a girl from one of the visiting schools crossed the finish line quite a way behind the rest of the pack. She was pretty nearly done in, but as she crossed the finish line in solid last place she raised both fists and yelled (as well as she could through her oxygen debt) "I DIDN'T QUIT!!!". Pretty much says it all, right there. I think the spectators were picking up on that sort of energy and really enjoying it.

Kudos and thanks to everyone who helped: the Idaho Power Team, Mrs. Bollinger and Mr. Tilzey from the high school, the Grand View Lions, Grand View Ambulance, and the Grand View Chamber of Commerce. They make this race a true community project, not just one sponsored by the high school. Their help was essential and very much appreciated. Doug Norton took on the task of setting up the race course while I was in a meeting at school. Without his assistance, we probably would have lost the meet altogether. Huge thanks to Doug.

The near-ideal race conditions allowed runners to break three records out of four race categories! The only one still standing is the high school women's division.

Melba matches Marsing, 28-6

Lack of focus dogs Huskies; Cole Valley visits for Homecoming

A rainy Thursday night saw an even first half fall apart in the latter stages of the game as the Melba High School football squad took advantage of the Marsing mistakes to shut the home team down, 28-6, in a 2A Western Idaho Conference game.

Undefeated Melba (5-0 overall, 2-0 2A WIC) lengthened a 7-6 halftime lead by opening the third quarter with a 60-yard drive that ended with Blake Love's three-yard TD run. Love then rinsed, washed and repeated, taking the Mustangs to a 21-6 lead. Quarterback Jay Bangerter found Justin Bussard in the fourth for the final score of the game.

It could have gone differently, with Marsing quarterback Joey Burril connecting on a 50-yard pass to Michael Moore just as the first half wound down. Both teams suffered with a rain-slick ball, but Marsing (1-4, 0-2) paid the highest price for its mistakes.

"We went in 6-7, I was feeling confident — we turned the ball over three times in the first half and gave them extra opportunities, but we were only down a point," Marsing coach Jake Walgamott said. "We wanted to take care of our business: Take care of the football, and we could roll over Melba."

When the team retook the field, though, Melba responded with its 60-yard scoring drive, grabbing the momentum and hanging on to it

"Their first play out of halftime was 30 yards. They just pounded us right out of halftime," Walgamott said.

When the Mustangs' kickoff after Love's TD was short, Walgamott said. Two of his midfield players both made a play for the ball, collided, and gave the ball up to a saavy Mustang who recovered the wet pigskin on the Marsing 35.

"We played them pretty evenly from that point on," Walgamott

Bad karma wasn't quite done with the Huskies on the night, though

Moore, rising from a tackle, handed the ball to the Mustangs' Love ... and was rewarded with a flag for unsportsmanlike conduct. Marsing was backed up, ran its play, and wound up a foot short of a first down and a fighting chance.

"We had our opportunity to beat one of the big dogs; Melba is one of the best teams in our league," Walgamott said. "We're obviously just as good as anybody, because we can compete. We just can't seem to finish the job."

"It's a lack of focus. I don't think we have all 11 guys playing to their full ability at the same time," he said. He also gave props to Melba for adjusting during the half, and taking the momentum.

"I haven't seem to be able to find what needs to be fixed (this season)," Walgamott said. "I keep telling the boys, one of these days we'll get everything figured out and we'll be on the same page."

The defense is there, Walgamott is sure.

"Melba's been running for about 300 yards a game, we held them to 160," he said. He's not short of talent, he said, it's just a matter of getting everyone's head right.

Next up, the Huskies will face Cole Valley Christian at home on Friday for Homecoming.

"They've been having trouble. They're kind of like us: They've been playing hard but they can't get it all together. Hopefully we can."

Antelopes versatile in pounding opponents

Personnel deficiencies and a struggling opponent allowed Adrian High School to show off different aspects of its volleyball team Friday.

The Antelopes remained unbeaten in the High Desert League with sweeps of Spray and Mitchell.

The squad (9-4 overall, 6-0 HDL) got started with a 25-18, 25-15, 25-17 victory over Spray. Adrian servers fired 21 aces, including seven each from McKenzie Purnell and Andrea Shenk.

"We had a few girls gone and tried a new rotation and it is always good to see the girls show some more versatility on the court," Adrian coach Aimee Goss said. "Our transition game is looking much better."

Purnell added nine kills and five assists to her portfolio against Spray. Shenk also chipped in seven kills, while Terra Rust had six kills and an ace.

Madison Shira served six aces, dished 13 assists and notched two kills.

Shenk finished the night with 14 aces total as she uncorked eight more in a 25-9, 25-20, 25-16 win over Mitchell.

Shenk also had four kills.

Purnell served three aces to go with seven kills and a block. Rust had four aces and five kills, while Shira served two aces, notched a kill and doled out 12 assists.

"Mitchell gave us an opportunity to try a few different things during the match," Goss said. "We worked on our service game and speeding up the free-ball play.

"In the second game, we lacked some intensity, but did a nice job of pulling it out in three."

Trojan spikers lose pair, wreak revenge on Payette Pirates

Homedale High School volleyball coach David Hann provided a roundup of the Trojans' recent action.

The Trojans, following a 3-0 loss to Weiser on Sept. 30 and a 3-1 loss to Melba on Oct. 1, put together a 4-1 win over Payette.

Weiser took the Trojans to task, 25-8, 25-19 and 25-13, in a 3A Snake River Valley conference match.

"We started off very slow," Hann reported. "(We) had a great game in the second set, started moving and playing together, and put together a few long rallies. Weiser has lots of height. Some of the girls mentioned that they had fun playing that night."

The Homedale girls put together a solid start against Melba, but couldn't hold the Mustangs off as the non-conference match continued, going down 24-26, 25-12, 25-11 and 25-19.

"We jumped out fast, 13-7, on Haylie Freelove's six serves in a row and held on to win the first set," Hann said. "We communicated well in that set."

Against Payette, the Trojans showed that they had what it took to win, putting the Pirates on a long walk along a short plank, 25-20, 25-22, 18-25 and 25-15, in another conference matchup on

"It was a nice day for the team," Hann said. "We didn't have to get up early for school, had a relaxing afternoon team-bonding and having lunch together. The freshman and JV teams were both able pick up a win against the Payette teams (on) Thursday night. Payette had beaten us earlier in the season 3-0. We were hoping to improve our performance since our last meeting."

The Trojans did just that, and did it as a unit, much to Hann's appreciation.

"We played like the team I know we are," he said. "We were communicating, hustling, covering each other, and we were having fun. When we took the first set, we were pumped; after the second, we knew we could play together. After the fourth game, we were tired, but the victory was wonderful."

The win doesn't belong to any one player, he said.

"In this game, our individual stat numbers were around the same for everyone, but that was the key: Everyone. We had a team total of 92 percent serving with 14 aces. Our team passing improved to 77 percent accuracy and our kill percentage went up 33 percent."

Homedale faced Marsing on Monday, and results were unavailable at press time. They will next square off against visiting Fruitland at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Raiders football trumped by Titans

Despite an 8-0 lead at the end of the first quarter, the Rimrock Raiders (2-3, 2-2 league) couldn't hold on, and Tri-Valley (3-2, 2-1 league) battled back to take a 38-22 1A, Div. I win on Thursday in Bruneau.

The Titans put 16 points on the board in the second quarter to pull ahead 16-14. Rimrock tried to rally in the third, but could only score once. Tri-Valley held the Raiders scoreless in the fourth while adding a final touchdown.

Ricardo Araujo led Raider rushing, averaging nearly 10 yards a carry and finishing with 149. Sam Richardson led among receivers, with two catches for 58 yards.

Richardson had the only sack for the Raiders, costing Tri-Valley 20 yards.

Rimrock's scoring was across the roster, with Araujo, Snyder and Richardson each putting up a touchdown.

The Raiders will next head to Horseshoe Bend on Friday.

Not everything routine in Adrian's latest win

Exchange student Lois Adam caught the first touchdown pass of his career Friday in Adrian High School's 46-16 High Desert League football win over host Spray/Mitchell.

Adam hauled in a 24-yard pass from Blake Ishida in the third quarter as the Antelopes pulled away from the Loggers.

Ishida scored on a 40-yard run to push Adrian ahead of the fast-starting Loggers, 12-8, in the second quarter. A 20-yard TD pass to Kyle Osborn kicked off the runaway for the unbeaten Antelopes (4-0 overall and in league).

Spray/Mitchell (3-3, 3-2) grabbed the lead in the first quarter when Quincy Brooks raced 52 yards for a touchdown.

Brooks had just 21 yards the rest of the game.

George Ellsworth had five catches for 168 yards for Adrian. His longest reception went for 60 yards, and he also caught a 45yard scoring strike from Ishida.

Ellsworth padded his stats with a 13-yard run to pay dirt to start the third-quarter scoring.

Ishida clicked on 12 of 21 passes for 303 yards and four scores.

Kyle Dondero had 131/2 tackles, including 11 solo stops and three tackles for loss, to lead an Adrian defense that didn't allow the Loggers to convert on any of their 11 chances on third down. Ellsworth added nine tackles.

push off at 5 p.m., followed by the varsity boys at 5:30 p.m.

Homedale warmed up for its meet by traveling to CJ Strike Reservoir last week for Rimrock's Rusty Fender Classic.

Sophomore Brittany Cockrum placed 17th, and Phaedra Stevenson was 23rd in the varsity girls race.

Homedale's boys were led in the varsity race by Ismahel Mendoza's 29th-place showing, followed by Kenny Cockrum in 30th, Anthony Adams in 36th and Shane Witt in 39th.

The Homedale Middle School

squad showed it will be a force with which to be reckoned during this week's meet on its home

With Antonio Sturgeon grabbing the boys' championship in record fashion and Alfonso Barbosa crossing the line in second, the Trojans built a third-place team finish.

Sturgeon finished the race in 10 minutes, 8.39 seconds, chopping nearly 1:16 off of Morgan Choate's previous record set for Greenleaf two years ago.

Homedale's Cole Twedt was 16th, while Lauren Craft grabbed eighth place in the girls' race.

Trojans find stride for district ride

It seems to be the same story every year no matter which Homedale High School soccer team David Correa is coaching.

Without the benefit of a nonscholastic soccer program, the Trojans spend most of the regular season learning to play each other again and then, quite suddenly, the district tournament is upon Although Correa is in his first season as girls' coach at Homedale, he's seeing the same phenomenon.

"I'm very proud of my players," Correa said. "I see a constant progression from game to game. I feel that as the season progresses, the team becomes more cohesive."

The Trojans (0-8-1 overall, 0-7-1 3A SRV) have not been able to get over the hump this season.

In Saturday's non-conference game in Emmett, Homedale kept the 4A Huskies out of the net until the game's final 90 seconds.

Correa said it was difficult for either team to get scoring chances Saturday because rain conditions made the ball slick and heavy. He said the field conditions directly led to Emmett's goal when a Homedale goal kick came up short, allowing an Emmett forward to fire in a long shot just above the reach of Trojans goalie Sierra Aberasturi.

Hannah Johnson, one of five seniors winding down her Trojans career, had the best chance to scoring against Emmett, but Correa said she slipped on the wet field while going one-on-one with Correa speculated Saturday that the Trojans would meet either Payette or Weiser in the district opener this weekend at Harmon Killebrew Field in Payette.

If the Wolverines come calling, it will mark the second time in 12 days that the teams have faced off.

Weiser scored three goals in the second half on Sept. 30 to beat Homedale, 5-3, at the middle

Johnson scored all three of her team's goals, and Aberasturi came 2-0, in a non-conference game away with 14 saves.

"We had barely lost (2-1) at Weiser the last game we had played them. We felt we had what it takes to beat them," Correa said.

Johnson's first goal of the game came off a pass from fellow senior Kendall Rupp. Rupp missed Saturday's game against Emmett, and Correa started three freshman against the 4A Huskies — defenders Aubrey Nash and Ashley Leslie and midfielder Kylie Kushlan.

"The younger players have embraced the challenge, and the more experienced players have responded with leadership on the field as they help them understand their responsibilities during the game. They demand effort, encourage players and celebrate successes on the field.

"Sometimes the final scores don't tell the whole story of a game. I'm convinced my team will continue to grow until the last game of the season."

Boys soccer

The Trojans endured controversy Saturday to beat host Emmett, that served as a tuneup for this weekend's district tournament in Weiser.

Coach Oscar Arguello's squad will travel to the Wolverines' home field for Saturday's district opener 12 days after Weiser had pasted the Trojans, 9-0, in a 3A SRV game.

Homedale rebounded during the weekend with its shutout victory over the 4A Huskies.

Junior Alfredo Machuca got the Trojans on the board in the first half, chipping the ball over the Emmett goalie and watching it roll into the net. It's unknown who scored Homedale's second goal, which came in the final 30 minutes of the game.

On the other end of the field, Homedale goalkeeper Ulysses Vargas put on a clinic by being in great position to turn away each Emmett shot, even as it rankled the Huskies' coach.

The referee gave Emmett coach Parker Meyers a yellow card after he vehemently argued that Vargas should get a foul for crashing down on Emmett forward Brian Perez while knocking the ball away from the mouth of the goal in the first half.

Lackluster Mustangs muddle through HDL win

Jacque Naegle breathed a sigh of relief Friday night after her Jordan Valley High School volleyball squad put away another High Desert League foe.

The Mustangs (6-0 overall, 5-0 HDL) rallied to beat Huntington, 25-8, 25-13, 20-25, 25-19 in their Homecoming match.

"This was our Homecoming week, and I am very happy that it only comes around once a year," Naegle said. "We just didn't play well today.'

Kayla Cuvelier fired 15 kills to lead Jordan Valley. Catie Kershner had a team-high 14 assists.

"We didn't move to the ball like we are capable of and didn't finish out rallies like we should have," the coach said.

Jordan Valley faced off with fellow HDL unbeaten Crane on the road Tuesday night. Results weren't available at press time.

The Mustangs also travel to Mitchell for a HDL tri-meet vs. Spray and Mitchell on Friday.

"I am sure of one thing, and that is with the strengths that we have we will be up and going strong by our games next week," Naegle said after beating Huntington.

Craig visits Grand View hazardous waste site

Idaho's Representative Larry Craig was scheduled to visit the hazardous waste dump near Grand View yesterday to inspect alleged pollution of Castle Creek in Owyhee County.

The site is operated by Envirosafe Services of Idaho, Inc.

The congressional visit follows reports that problems surfaced after a rainstorm at the site on August 20. Later Environmental Protection Agency officials took soil samples. The samples showed seven "priority pollutants" had washed from the site. The pollutants are reported to be among 129 chemicals known to be most dangerous to humans.

The state's environmental agency is claiming that the firm may be in violation of federal laws concerning disposal standards and programs.

In a related incident, Mountain Home city officials said in the Mountain Home News last week that within the last year three chemical spills within the city were reported from trucks hauling material to the Grand View site.

The Congressman's scheduled visit was too late to report in this issue, but he was expected to ask "many questions" of the dump site operators.

20 enrolled in COSSA program

The Canyon-Owyhee School Service Agency (COSSA) is coordinating gifted and talented educational programs and services in the Marsing, Homedale, and Wilder school districts. Currently about 20 students are enrolled. These extremely bright and talented students are exposed to a wide variety of educational experiences designed to challenge them intellectually, broaden their thinking and reasoning capabilities, provide in-depth exploration and study of selected topics, provide enrichment activities, and develop their unique talents to the maximum extent possible.

The Wilder Rod and Gun Club on Allendale Road west of Caldwell has graciously agreed to make their facility available for a turkey shoot on October 16 from 12:00 noon till 4pm. In addition, H&M Meat Company and Swiss Village Cheese Company have agreed to donate some products that will be given away as prizes at the turkey shoot. All proceeds from the shoot will be donated to the gifted and talented education program.

Organizers of the shoot are hopeful of a large turnout, as the turkey shoot is scheduled just prior to the opening of pheasant season, and that numerous prizes will be awarded throughout the day. Persons interested in learning more about the turkey shoot may contact Dennis Keogh.

Vandals couldn't score on Tros

The Homedale Trojans kept on rolling, taking a 27-0 Western Idaho Conference victory at McCall Friday afternoon.

"We started off fast but in the second quarter, we threw an interception," recounted Homedale coach Jim McMillan.

"They had the opportunity to score on us a couple of times but they couldn't get it in. In the third and fourth quarter I felt we came out and really controlled it."

The Trojans scored on their first possession of the game, taking the opening kick off and marching downfield with Terry Uda punching it into the end zone from two yards out. Though the kick after failed, the Trojans were able to tally six more first quarter points on a Uda run from one yard out.

Adrian to play Homedale here Friday

Adrian and Homedale tangle here Friday in a game which may decide the winner of the SRV "B" league football championship. Both the Antelopes and Trojans have won three games in conference play and are currently tied for the loop lead.

Homedale ran over Notus 43-6 last Friday. Johnny Uranga connected with four touchdown passes, two to Dennis Brandon and one each to Dick Frazier and Laron Waite. Waite snared a 70-yard pass and also scored twice on runs of 20 and 30 yards. Pat Parker intercepted a pass and went 80 yards to score.

Marsing gets new dial telephones

The Marsing telephone system was switched over to dial phones Saturday, according to Harper Saunders, manager of the Owyhee telephone company.

Twilight 6 is the exchange prefix at Marsing.

Federal 7 will be the new exchange prefix at Homedale when the new switchboard is put in use here in December in the new telephone building.

Firemen put out fire at Quintanas

A fire at the Quintana Sheep camp south town Wednesday afternoon found the Homedale volunteer firemen speedily at the scene. A short in the battery of a tractor which was standing idle at the time caused the blaze.

Fast work by the firemen prevented the fire from spreading to nearby stacks of baled hay. Damage was not too heavy to the tractor.

Mrs. Hattie Felty to be honored by Nazarene church

One of the members of the Homedale Church of the Nazarene will be honored at services Sunday morning when the congregation will celebrate the golden anniversary of the denomination according to Rev. O. H. Ballard.

She is Mrs. Hattie Dilley Felty Rt. 1, Homedale. Mrs. Felty is among the 389 living pioneers, and has been a member continuously 50 years or longer.

She will receive a copy of a special honor roll brochure, printed in gold and blue, containing the names of all the living pioneers.

The local service is a part of simultaneous anniversary services Sunday in Nazarene churches around the world. More than 5,000 churches with 300,000 members in the U. S. and Canada are uniting in the services this Sunday, October 12. Another 45,000 Nazarenes also will join in 40 foreign mission world areas.

Improvement of the airport planned Saturday

Improvement day at the new airport will be held Saturday according to members of the local flying club. Preliminary work began Wednesday when county equipment and workers moved in.

The state department of aeronautics will be on hand with much of the necessary equipment to level, pack, gravel, and seed the airstrip. There will be a need for many local men to help operate the equipment. Farm-type levelers are being asked for. County equipment and employees will assist.

The state department also plans to do considerable preliminary work on the landing field prior to Saturday. A crew of men will also remain to work about two weeks on the project.

Anyone wishing more information may contact Ray Mansisidor, president of the local flying club.

Chet Moulton, state director of aeronautics, recently told the Chronicle that he hoped to obtain a portable sprinkling system to install along the full length of the runway on each side to use for sprinkling both during the graveling and seeding operations.

Plans are being worked out to construct hangars on the field as soon as possible.

WATER WORKS. We have frequently urged upon this community the necessity of organizing some plan for the protection of our property from fire, and now without arrogating to ourselves more credit than is really due, we are pleased to say that our suggestions have been accepted and acted upon almost to the letter. A joint stock company has been organized with a capital stock of $50,000 and officers elected, the trustees for the first three months being Messrs. J. F. Dye, W. F. Sommercamp, F. Rogers, P. Donnolly and W. B. Crane, an array of names which of itself it sufficient to convince the public that no child's play is meant, and fully as convincing a proof is the fact that $10,000 has already been subscribed on the Company's books. The Company has purchased the old Kinckerbocker ditch of Meek & Grove, which covers the first right to 150 inches of water in Jordan Creek and Swapit Gulch. It is the intention of the Company to commence operations immediately and finish as much of the work this fall as possible. They will build their main reservoir on Third Street, above Clinton, a position to cover the whole town, the main pipes to run through Jordan and Washington sts., with hydrants at each principal corner. They expect to finish the mains through Washington and probably two or three blocks on Jordan before winter. The reservoir will be supplied at first with water from Long Gulch, and eventually from the Knickerbocker ditch as soon as it can be brought in on a higher grade.

OWYHEE GOLD DUST is being passed off in Montana at eighteen dollars per ounce — current rates there — while it is only worth about ten dollars. The Post says about 1,000 ounces are in circulation in Helena.

TELEGRAPHIC SUMMARY. Washington, 24th. In the Surrat case the counsel for defense entered a plea that there is a statute of limitation in force providing that the offense must be prosecuted within two years. The prosecution contended that the prisoner, having already made a special plea, is debarred from claiming the benefit of the limitation.

After hearing arguments on both sides, Judge Wylie discharged Surrat from custody, sustaining the plea of counsel that the Statute of Limitation applied to his case.

It is intimated by District Attorney Carlington that a new indictment will be found at the next term of the Court. He filed an appeal from the decision of the Court.

It is believed that no further attempt will be made to try Surrat, owing to great expense the Government has been through in former trials.

DISTRICT COURT. Chief Justice Bowers and family have arrived. The October term of the district court will commence on Monday next. It will be but a short term as there are only twenty-five cases on the calendar, thirteen of which were continued from last term.

We understand that Judge Bowers departs for Boise this morning and that Judge R. T. Miller will preside here.

On the edge of common sense

The screwdriver incident

I was sitting in the doctor's waiting room filling out the information sheet before my physical exam. As I zipped down the list of diseases, allergies, surgeries, and current bank accounts, I realized the list of boxes to check was incomplete.

My ol' friend Swanny worked in a factory. He was in maintenance. There was a breakdown in one of the forms for plastic molding. Antifreeze was leaking; a round hose clamp was loose.

Swanny knelt in the puddle and attacked, tightening the screw with his screwdriver. Everything was wet and slick. As he bent to the job, the screwdriver slipped, and he stuck it up his nose!

"YEE OW!" You can imagine how that felt! Or maybe not? Having a horse step on the back of your hand? Sitting on an implant gun? Passing of a football-sized kidney stone? Dropping a shoeing anvil on your shin? Having a bear eat all your fingernails off? Even getting kicked squarely in the groin by a draft mule?

Suffice it to say they gathered up Swanny, called the paramedics and loaded him in the ambulance. In his confused, painful state, blood all over his face, blind on one side and face swelling rapidly, he concluded that he must have put out his eye.

At one time or another, most of us have thought about losing our sight, or a limb, being paralyzed or being diagnosed with a terminal illness. How would we, each of us, handle the handicap? Would we be brave like many we have known? Would we contemplate refusing lifesustaining treatments? Would we develop a stronger belief in God, or would we blame Him.

Swanny tried to imagine life without the ability to see. He had dark moments, then miraculously he began to see light. It improved so much, by the time he reached the hospital he figured out what happened.

The doctor asked him for an explanation.

- "Stick skruver ut mindo."
- "What?"
- "Stk skruded ut no."
- "What?"
- "I stuck a screwdriver up my nose!"

Obviously, the doctor would not have had to ask if in his medical history there was a box to check that said, "Have you ever stuck a screwdriver up your nose?"

How the Pacific Northwest was won

We drove to Walla Walla to attend a going-away party for a writer friend.

Walla Walla is "the town so nice they named it twice." Most people don't know it's one of the oldest communities in the Pacific Northwest. The citizens have been smart enough to preserve many beautiful buildings that date back to the 19th century. Downtown Walla Walla has character.

Before we returned to Idaho, we drove out to the Whitman Mission site at Waiilatpu — about six miles west of the city. Waiilatpu, "the place of the rye grass," is operated by the National Parks Service.

Several missionary teams came to the Pacific Northwest in the 1830s to bring the White Man's religion to the natives. Marcus and Narcissa Whitman settled among the Cayuse Indians at Waiilatpu. As the years passed and more whites came into the region, the Indians became more resentful.

Relations between the Whitmans and their flock fell apart in 1847. The Cayuse were hit by a measles epidemic. The Whites at the mission and their children had some natural immunity to the disease. The Indians didn't. But there were other problems. We now know people with measles should drink plenty of liquids. The Indians thought the best treatment for just about any ailment was a sweat bath — which further dehydrated the victims. But White Man's medicine at the time wasn't much better. Whitman and other doctors believed patients should be bled and/or given enemas.

So the measles started killing the Cayuse despite the best efforts of the Whitmans to help them. And the Indians noticed they were dying while the Whites at the mission weren't. It ticked 'em off. It was also the Cayuse custom to kill medicine men who didn't do their jobs.

The Waiilatpu Mission buildings are gone now but the outlines of the foundations remain in what has been turned into a grassy park. We stopped to read a sign next to the site of the mission building. A diagram shows the location of the room where two Cayuse men came to visit Marcus Whitman on Nov. 29, 1847. While one of the warriors distracted the good doctor, the other buried a hatchet in his head. When Narcissa ran into the room they shot and wounded her. Then they dragged her outside where she was shot multiple times by several Indians. Fourteen people at the mission were killed.

Days later, representatives of the Hudson's Bay Company from Fort Vancouver were able to secure the release of hostages held by the Cayuse.

As was often the case in the Indian v. White conflicts, the Cayuse were the victors at Waiilatpu but lost the war. The murders of the Whitmans and the treatment of the hostages enraged people in the East and prompted the United States government to make the Pacific Northwest a U.S. territory. Troops were dispatched. The killers of the missionaries were tracked down and hanged.

The Whitmans and other missionaries thought they were doing the Indians a favor by bringing them the White Man's religion. Most historians today believe the biggest favor the missionaries could have done for the natives would have been to leave them alone.

From Washington

Some fees outdoorsmen pay amount to double taxation

They get you coming and going. If you're a hunter, you pay a 10 percent federal tax on the purchase of your gun and an 11 percent federal tax on ammunition. Your hunting license includes fees for conservation and habitat. Even that tank of gas to drive into the mountains has federal tax on it.

Now, after all of that, you get to your hunting spot and, surprise, surprise, you see a fee area sign. Or it's fishing season, you spend money on equipment, licensing and transportation, and you're rewarded with a river access fee. Remember, many of the federal taxes you've already paid in the course of preparing for these trips go to the General Fund, which funds federal land management agencies. And, federal taxes and fees associated with firearms, ammunition and licenses typically go directly back to various federal and agencies for efforts such as wildlife and sportfish restoration. Land management agencies use their annual federal appropriations to pay for ongoing maintenance and improvement of federal land and water resources and facilities.

Some fees currently being collected by these agencies under the auspices of the Federal Land Recreational Enhancement Act (FLREA) amount to a double tax on users, onerous and unnecessary.

It can be argued that hardened facilities like parking lots, toilets and campsites receive incidental use, requiring additional spot fees. However, it contravenes the spirit and intent of the law for the federal government to levy an

Because of these concerns, in December 2007, I cosponsored S. 2438, the Fee Repeal and Limited Access Act. While the bill would still allow for "expanded use fees" on public lands such as improvements to facilities including parking lots, toilets and campsites, it would repeal "standard amenity fees" — charges at trailheads and entrance fees (except national parks). The language exempts fees for children under age 16 as well as for several specific sites nationwide. Idaho has joined a number of other western states in calling for repeal of this law. Other groups are involved as well: I received a letter from a coalition of at least a dozen Idaho and Montana outdoor interest groups from all sides of the political spectrum who support the Fee Repeal and Limited Access Act.

increased under both the fee-demonstration program that preceded FLREA and under the law today.

Clearly, the scope of FLREA has been misinterpreted and misimplemented. If there is any doubt about this, consider the recent ruling of a California judge against the U.S. Forest Service (USFS) in a case where a hiker was fined for not paying an access fee: "... for forty-two years,

Homedale sets bar high with its 'Capital for a Day' participation

To the people of Homedale and Owyhee County: On behalf of all the members of my administration, please accept my profound thanks for your hospitality and the great civic virtue you displayed on the occasion of the Capital for a Day event in your community on Monday, September 29th.

Indeed, other towns in Idaho that are designated "Capital for a Day" will be hard pressed to match the level of community spirit, justifiable pride and sense of family that resides in Homedale and Owyhee County.

Senator Bert Brackett, Representatives Jim Patrick and Steve Gov. Otter

Hartgen, Mayor Harold Wilson, city, county and school district officials, and everyone who participated in the day's events deserve the highest of praise for making Homedale such a great place to live, work and raise a family.

As an Idaho native, it was especially nice to be among folks who share my love of Idaho's agricultural heritage and rural values. Rest assured that I will cherish the memories of my day with you throughout my time as Governor and beyond.

As Always — Idaho, "Esto Perpetua" C.L. "Butch" Otter Governor of Idaho

County deserves Crandall, who will listen and serve full term

In the Sept. 24, issue of the Idaho Press-Tribune, Mike Conant asked several questions in regards to the background of Owyhee County Deputy Daryl Crandall, who won the primary election for Owyhee County Sheriff.

The Owyhee Avalanche will accept letters to the editor pertaining to the Nov. 4 general election until noon on Oct. 24.

Mr. Conant is correct in that his questions are those that are asked on job applications. Apparently Gary Aman and the other people on the interview team that hired Deputy Daryl Crandall were satisfied with his answers since he was hired and has been an Owyhee County deputy since 2003, and has been in law enforcement for 26 years.

Is Gary Aman planning on serving a full term (four years) if his write-in campaign is successful, or will he retire mid-term and appoint a replacement of his choice, who may not have much law enforcement background, to be become Owyhee County Sheriff?

Owyhee County residents deserve a candidate that will serve the county for the full term. A candidate that will listen to the people of the county he serves.

Deputy Daryl Crandall believes people come first. Deputy Daryl Crandall is running a campaign on community, cooperation and communication. These attributes are what Owyhee County citizens deserve, and that is why I am voting for Daryl Crandall for Owyhee County Sheriff.

Floydine Egurrola Homedale

Signatures can't change fact that voters elected new sheriff

A legacy of accomplishments is created, sustained and preserved by actions and deeds, and the era of Sheriff Gary Aman is no exception. With all due respect to Sheriff Aman, an attempt to override the people's vote and reverse the results of the May primary by initiating a proposed write-in campaign would, without a doubt, create a negative and divisive atmosphere in Owyhee

The statement that many people may embrace and support the idea of a November challenge by the current sheriff is favorable testimony to a legacy of truly dedicated friends and supporters, but the May primary defined a selection process that clarified at majority. That majority voted for the conclusion of one legacy and the beginning of another. We can all speculate why the vote went the way it did in the May primary and still not reach a definitive answer, but this much is a fact ... voters don't like to be told that they made a mistake.

Sheriff Aman is, no doubt, unaware that rumors have surfaced insinuating that well-known deputies in the community may have influenced the signing of the clipboard petition. I am confident that this tactic may only be a remote possibility, because all officers know that this would be an ethics violation and may be anonymously reported to the POST Council at (866) 610-7678 for investigation and punitive action.

While clipboard signatures may comfort and encourage the current sheriff into strident action to attempt the near impossible act of a successful write-in campaign, it is no clear-cut affirmation of support by those who may provide their signature. The true mark of voter support and success comes in the voting booth, where, the ominous smile of a neighbor, friend or relative is not able to encourage, intimidate or threaten the voter.

John B. Urquidi Bruneau

Craig explains reasoning for voting for economic rescue bill

by Sen. Larry Craig

The U.S. Senate is not known for its speed, but that's how our Founding Fathers envisioned it when they formed Congress' two chambers in 1787. In my 17 years in the Senate, there have been two exceptions to that tradition: responding to 9/11 and to the current failures in our housing and credit markets. Both were necessary.

After 9/11, the Senate put aside partisan differences and moved at warp speed to compensate victims, to strengthen intelligence gathering and our national security operations, to create the Department of Homeland Security and to pump up our devastated airline system, vital to our daily

Seven years later, we have been hit with an economic 9/11 and a credit meltdown preventing families from buying homes or autos or sending their children to college. It's stopping farmers from getting loans, and small businesses from maintaining the line of credit needed to meet their payrolls. The credit market freeze means community banks have stopped lending to small businesses, which are curtailing operations and can't pay their workers, who then cannot meet their families' bills or buy groceries.

Just as we did after September 2001, the Senate went to work to shape a responsible legislative rescue plan from the initial demands handed us by the administration to allow the Treasury Secretary to buy toxic mortgage assets from at-risk financial institutions, in order to free up credit. As proposed, he would not have been answerable to Congress or the courts.

Needless to say, that plan didn't fly. By the time it was before the House of Representatives on Monday, Sept. 29, it included strong protections for taxpayers by requiring all money recouped from these mortgage assets to be returned to the Treasury to retire the debt. It required transparency of all rescue operations, in part by requiring both judicial and Congressional review. It even gave Congress the authority to end the rescue if it was not serving the taxpayer's interest. And it eliminated any chance that greedy CEOs would enrich themselves at the taxpayer's expense, through excess compensation or so-called "golden parachutes."

While I would have supported the House plan, the ill that came before the Senate two days later offered even more taxpayer safeguards. It increased the current protection of your deposits in any FDIC-insured bank or credit union from $100,000 to $250,000, a move intended to forestall runs on banks.

The Senate rescue plan also contained some previously passed provisions important to Idahoans, including a four-year extension of the Craig/Wyden county payments to rural schools — at a 75 percent increase over the last authorization. County payments are vital to keeping our rural schools on par with their urban counterparts, and this provision will save the jobs of 120 Idaho teachers. Another important provision increases the exemption for middle-income taxpayers for the next year from the onerous Alternative Minimum Tax — a burden that could have added $1,800 to some tax bills.

The necessary speed in which the Senate acted did have consequences. It allowed the media and others to incorrectly label this action as a "bailout." It's not a bailout. No sums of money are being transferred to private companies or to CEOs. To restore confidence in the credit market, the federal government is acquiring or insuring troubled mortgage-backed securities to allow financial institutions to stabilize and continue lending money. When the market is stable and the full values of these assets are restored, they will be sold and all revenues will be returned to the Treasury to pay off the debt.

I fully understand Idahoans' skepticism and opposition to this action. I've read your e-mails and received your phone messages. Your strong, principled views have made me work even harder to study the stakes before us and the need for this extraordinary intervention. In the end, I felt confident that the safeguards we implemented mean this rescue will result in little costs when it is completed. And I was unwilling to stand by and do nothing while banks failed and hard-working Americans' investments, pensions, homes, small businesses and very way of life were put at risk.

Republican Larry Craig is the senior U.S. senator from Idaho.

$\sqrt{\text{Fees:}}$ Change law, eliminate paying twice for recreational opportunities

Congress has worked to prevent the USFS from charging entrance fees in large areas. Here, the Catalina Highway provides the only reasonable access to most of the Santa Catalina Range, a mostly disperse area. The USFS needs to abide by the constraints of Congress and allow reasonable access to dispersed areas for low impact activities."

I strongly oppose the imposition of what amounts to a second tax on users of federal land. Since Idaho is more than 60 percent federal land, many of us run the risk of having to pay these unfair and illegal fees if a change to the law is not made. We shouldn't have to pay twice to
