County, Marsing mull contract in separate meetings

Sheriff calls for status quo

The City of Marsing would have to pay nearly a quarter of a million dollars to get round-the-clock law enforcement coverage, according to calculations shared by Owyhee County Sheriff Daryl Crandall.

The sheriff testified before the Board of County Commissioners on Monday during discussion of the fiscal year 2011 law enforcement contract with Marsing. Marsing City Council members and Mayor Keith Green were invited to the

The proposed vote on accepting the law enforcement contract between the City of Marsing and the Owyhee County Sheriff's Office hit a roadblock last week. The City council tabled a vote until it receives answers from the sheriff.

Mayor Keith Green explained during Wednesday's council meeting that he hadn't heard anything from OCSO regarding the contract and would like to wait on accepting the contract until

$120M wind farm proposed near Murphy

Permit hearing slated for Oct. 6

For the second time in as many years, a company is proposing a large-scale energy production facility in Owyhee County.

The county's Planning and Zoning Commission is scheduled to hear the conditional use permit application for American Wind Group at 10 a.m. on Oct. 6 inside Courtroom 1 at the Owyhee County Courthouse in Murphy.

The company wants to build a $120 million complex about five miles southeast of Murphy. The development's centerpiece will be a 60-megawatt community wind farm. The facility will include 24 wind turbines, a substation, an operations and maintenance office/shop, and a research center that includes educational laboratory, dormitory/caretaker facilities, an office and a meeting facility, according to a legal notice for the hearing published on Page 20 of this week's edition of The Owyhee Avalanche.

Last year, Grand View Solar PV One was granted a CUP to build solar panels on 180 acres owned by JR Simplot Co., near Grand View. In June, the company signed a 20-year deal to supply energy for Idaho Power. The Groups that use Sundance may be asked to help buy lot

Property owner remains firm on asking price; council orders survey

The City of Homedale may ask for financial help in turning a parcel into additional parking for Sundance Park.

City Councilman Aaron Tines said during Wednesday’s meeting that Homedale Chamber of Commerce president Gavin Parker suggested a partnership between the city and the two private entities who most benefit from use of the city’s softball fields.

Councilman Tim Downing agreed that the Conner Landa-Daniel Miller Memorial Softball Tournament, Homedale Youth Sports Inc. and others should help buy 3.68 acres while the city pays for an access road and turning the lot into a parking area.

“I think we need the private sector to step up here and do their part,” Downing said.

Zach Ross, the son of property owner Toni Ross, told the council that the $35,000 his mother is asking for the acreage beyond Field 1 at Sundance Park is a fair price, according to real estate agents to whom he has spoken. He pointed out that two quarter-acre lots on California Avenue are on the market for $10,000 apiece, meaning that the per-acre price would be $40,000. The per-acre price for Toni Ross’ 3.68-acre parcel works out to approximately $9,600, he said.

Ross said the city should “jump on that property” at the offered price because of the safety issue of cars parking on West 1st Street South during events. He said the narrowing of the roadway because of cars parked on the street could cause problems in the event of an emergency requiring fire trucks.

The total price for purchase, covering a nearby irrigation ditch and developing an access road has been estimated at $68,000, although Mayor Harold Wilson said Wednesday that it could be “closer to $55,000” without offering any context for his estimate.

The council didn’t discuss a different sales price, but did approve a survey to determine property lines. City public works supervisor Larry Bauer said the survey would cost about $1,500.

“When we get the survey done and find out where the property line is, I don’t think the city is going to gain any ground,” Downing said. “It’s possible they’re going to lose ground.”

After taking part in the discussion, Downing recused himself from the vote because he is Toni Ross’s brother and he owns adjacent property.

“I have conflict of interest running out of my ears on this,” Downing said.

Zach Ross contends the price to turn the dirt field into a parking lot could go lower because of the existence of gravel underneath the soil.

Bauer acknowledged that the ground at Sundance is teeming with gravel.

“If that gravel bar goes into that piece of property, we’re sitting on a gold mine,” Bauer said, pointing out that the gravel could be used to cover the lot as well as surface the access road.

The construction of an access road could require cutting into Field 1 by as much as 15 feet, which would move the outfield fences in. At an earlier meeting, Homedale business owner Chris Landa said he had some chain link fencing left over from building 10-foot barriers around the main fields and that it could be used to rebuild a taller fence to keep Field 1 within American Softball Association regulations for tournament sanctioning.

Downing says if the size of the softball field is shortened drastically, the city should just consider turning Field 1 into a parking lot.

“It would give you twice as much parking (as the Ross field),” Downing said.

Westowns to bring recycling to Homedale

Council members OK widening of Main Street

Homedale residents will have the opportunity to recycle when containers are set up near City Hall.

The City Council on Wednesday unanimously voted to allow Westowns Disposal Inc. to place four bins on the vacant lot east of City Hall on West Wyoming Avenue.

Westowns owner Bill Pastoor proposed the community recycling for newspaper, cardboard, plastic and aluminum.

“People have inquired about recycling, and we thought we’d see how it goes,” Pastoor said.

His first choice was a site in town, but he said he was prepared to set up the bins on the Westowns property across U.S. Highway 95 if an in-town location wasn’t available.

“I think you’d get a little better response with it here in town,” Councilman Tim Downing said.

Westowns will empty the bins regularly and truck the contents to Western Recycling in Nampa.

On Monday, city Clerk and Treasurer Alice Pegram reported that Pastoor plans to have the bins in place with in the next two weeks.

the north by Boehner Road and to the east by Quartz Lane. Previously, the area stretched as far east as Ruby Lane.

Councilman Eino Hendrickson and new city attorney Stephanie Bonney are scheduled to represent Homedale at Thursday’s hearing in Caldwell.

LID scope widens slightly

At the suggestion of project manager Andrew Kimmel of Project Engineering Consultants Inc., the city council agreed to spend about $5,000 to correct a long-standing width issue on Main Street as part of the Local Improvement District work.

Kimmel said that Main Street has been too narrow for a truck route since the U.S. 95 bypass was constructed. City public works supervisor Larry Bauer concurred, saying that the roadway is about 22 feet wide, about two feet under the minimum requirement. The project addendum will add 10 feet to the roadway near its intersection with Wyoming Avenue.

Kimmel said the existing concrete and pedestrian ramps on the south side of the intersection will have to be removed to make room for the widening, and that the work would affect the U.S. Bank, Homedale Chiropractic and Family Video Center properties.

Without the widening, Kimmel said, there’s a potential of semi trucks making deliveries to Paul’s Market jumping the curb and damaging the cement work and possibly the light poles that will be installed in the coming weeks.

Saying the LID project was 70 percent complete, Kimmel told the council that installation of lighting would begin after the dozens of decorative light poles are delivered from Utah next week. He added that the work for new sidewalks and curbs throughout the LID area would be completed by the end of the month. Cement contractor ASC began on East First Street South and East Wyoming Avenue last week.

Although an area of impact was agreed upon two years ago, Canyon County subsequently took steps to reduce its size. The new impact area, which the Homedale City Council supports, no longer includes River Bend Golf Course to the northwest and is not as far reaching to the east as the original area of impact.

Marsing approves 3% pay raise for city staff

Council gets commitment on past due bills from apartment owners

The Marsing City Council approved a three percent pay raise for all city employees with plans for additional “merit based” raises in the future.

Mayor Keith Green spoke to the council about the importance of retaining the “high quality” employees the city has and urged them to approve the pay increase for the seven on the payroll.

“We are competing with the big cities,” Green said. “We have to compete and keep our people here. I haven’t given raises for two years. I recommend the council give a three percent raise across the board.”

The pay increase will be effective Oct. 1. For the 2010 fiscal year, the city will pay out $207,859 for salaries. This will increase by $6,280 to $214,139 for fiscal year 2011.

Along with the three percent increase, Green asked the council to reestablish the former plan of issuing merit increases for employees receiving certifications in their fields. The potential $1 an hour raise for those employees that receive certifications wasn’t approved during the meeting. The council decided to revisit the increase at another meeting.

Green said: “It was established years and years ago by former mayors that after each individual would get a certificate, they would get an automatic raise because they were more qualified to run the systems.”

After much discussion, the council reached an agreement with apartment owners Les and Terri Danner. The Danners own the apartments located at 999 and 997 Main Street, they have been caught in a struggle with the city over past-due water bills.

The solution came after nearly 40 minutes of discussion between the council and the Danners. Les proposed the council allow the water to stay on and the five new renters get their water turned on. In lieu of the Nov. 1 deadline set by the council to shut the water off, he would begin to make payments on the bills.

“The commitment that I can make is to pay what I get when the units are rented,” Les said. “We have a $99 move-in special along with a $300 deposit. When they move in, we can pay that. The second month’s rent will also go directly to the city.”

The council accepted the gesture from the Danners and agreed to keep city services connected until a deadline of Dec. 15. They committed to paying off each unit as they became rented.

City engineer Amy Woodruff gave updates on the water meter project and announced that Hydro Specialties of Midvale, Utah was awarded the contract to build the new auto-read meters. The company expects the meters to be ready and delivered within 45 days, Woodruff said. Titan Technologies was awarded the contract for the installation of the meters.

HMS subscription fundraiser kicks off

The annual Homedale Middle School subscription drive fundraiser gets rolling this week.

The school’s fifth- through eighth-graders will get their sales packets in an assembly at the school on Thursday. The fifth- and sixth-graders will gather in the gymnasium at 1 p.m., while the seventh- and eighth-graders meet there at 2 p.m.

Continuing an activity that has been going for more than 30 years, the children will compete for prizes based on how many subscriptions to magazines and The Owyhee Avalanche they sell.

Portions of each subscription go back to the school to buy supplies and finance projects. Most recently, the school used funds from previous subscription drives to buy and install playground equipment.

The fundraising will continue for two weeks.

Students must turn in their Reach Out booklets on Friday. Those booklets include the addresses of out-of-towners who want to buy subscriptions. The fundraiser coordinator Great American Opportunity Co., will mail the subscription orders.

BOCC meeting cancelled

The Board of County Commissioners has cancelled next week’s meeting.

In a Monday vote, commissioners cancelled their Tuesday meeting because of a lack of quorum. District 1 Commissioner Jerry Hoagland (R-Wilson) and District 2 Commissioner George Hyer (R-Homedale) are attending an Idaho Association of Counties meeting that day.

The next scheduled BOCC meeting will begin at 9 a.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 28 at the county courthouse in Murphy.

Stiff penalty for bighorn kill

Fouts can never hold a hunting license again

A Third District Court judge handed down one of the harshest Fish and Game sentences seen by veteran court and law enforcement personnel Friday.

Jake Benjamin Fouts, 21, of Nampa, had his hunting privileges revoked for life during sentencing inside the Murphy courtroom of District Judge Gregory M. Culet. Earlier, Fouts had entered a guilty plea to a felony charge of taking or killing a bighorn sheep out of season, according court records.

The lifetime ban was just part of a lengthy admonishment Culet delivered to Fouts, who was 20 when he shot and killed a bighorn ewe in February in the Reynolds Creek drainage.

“I’ve never seen a lifetime sentence imposed,” Owyhee County Prosecuting Attorney Douglas Emery said.

“The Fish and Game posture in this case was this was very flagrant.”

Fouts, who didn’t hold a hunting license at the time of the offense, must serve five years of supervised felony probation and serve the remaining 164 days on a six-month jail term. Additionally, Culet slapped him with a $1,500 civil penalty.

He will be barred from fishing during his five-year probation.

Fouts, who was 20 when he used a .22-caliber weapon to shoot and kill a pregnant ewe, also must reimburse $990 to the Idaho Department of Fish and Game for lab costs as well as $500 reimbursement to the Citizens Against Poaching witness reward fund and $300 for the services of public defender William Wellman.

It is illegal to shoot bighorn ewes, and Emery said Fouts was hunting out of season and using a caliber too small for big game hunting, another illegal act.

“Not only did we lose two sheep that day, but we also lost a ewe who is the reproductive component of the herd, which is why they’re not allowed to be hunted,” arresting Fish and Game Senior Conservation Officer Kurt Steiglitz said.

“This is pretty bad because it was way out of season and, obviously, a deliberate act,” Steiglitz said.

Steiglitz patrols southern Canyon County and northern Owyhee County, including Murphy, Oreana and Wilson Creek. He said there was a unique irony to the case in that the type of animal Fouts killed roams the countryside for the public to view just 10 miles from the courtroom in which the man was sentenced.

Culet issued a withheld judgment, which Emery says gives Fouts the opportunity to ask the court to dismiss or reduce the sentence upon successful completion of his five-year probation.

Jury finds Grand View man not guilty after trial on molestation charges

An Owyhee County jury acquitted a 67-year-old man of three felony charges of lewd conduct with a minor after Thursday deliberations.

Juan Dedios Ramirez faced three counts of lewd conduct with a minor under 16. He was arrested on March 31 and accused of abusing a 13-year-old girl in the spring of 2008 and winter of 2009.

Ramirez’s case was one of at least three molestation cases being handled by the Owyhee County Prosecutor’s Office.

Murphy resident Thomas Edward Benson is scheduled for a Dec. 14 trial on six felony counts of lewd conduct with a minor.

Facing three counts of lewd conduct with a child under 16, Umatilla, Ore., resident Robert A. Johnson, 23, changed his plea to guilty in a Sept. 1 hearing. He’s set for sentencing at 9 a.m. on Oct. 8.

Pot bust nets probation

Others due in court in October

One of the three people arrested in a Grand View marijuana bust in May was sentenced Friday.

Third District Judge Gregory M. Culet sentenced Christina Jaye Wolfe, 24, to five years’ probation and ordered her to pay $300 in public defender fees and serve 100 hours of community service.

She also received a year in jail with credit for 29 days served and the balance of the term suspended. Another 91 days of jail time is to be served with the option of work-out privileges if it can be arranged with the Owyhee County Jail.

Judgment was withheld, giving Wolfe the opportunity to have the record modified if she successfully completes her sentence.

Wolfe, Jas Onell Harger, 24, and Jennifer Rose Bramley, 31, were arrested after a May 1 raid netted $18,900 in marijuana.

Harger changed his plea to guilty on Aug. 27 before District Judge Thomas J. Ryan. He’ll be sentenced at 9 a.m. on Oct. 22 on a felony charge of delivery of a controlled substance within 1,000 feet of a school.

Bramley, who was charged with felony possession of more than three ounces of marijuana is scheduled for a 9 a.m. jury trial before Ryan on Oct. 27.

Homedale Homecoming week begins Monday

Parade, football game
vs. Payette slated for Friday, Sept. 24

Homedale High School's Homecoming hits town Monday with a full week of activities scheduled.

Tonight's Homedale Trojan Athletic Association meeting will be devoted to planning for Homecoming.

The HTAA is sponsoring Wednesday's bon fire, and tonight's meeting also will be a rallying point for parents who want to get involved in all Homecoming activities for the week.

The meeting starts at 6:30 p.m. inside the HHS library, 203 E. Idaho Ave.

Daily Homecoming festivities will be held on campus beginning Monday with daily themed dress-up contests for each class to earn points for the spirit contest. Skills contests will be held Friday morning to wrap up the competition.

Wednesday will feature the powder puff football games and other activities at Deward Bell Stadium prior to the bon fire. Another snake dance through town also will be held Wednesday night.

Admission for the 6:30 p.m. powder puff games is $1. The snake dance will conclude at the Txoko Ona Basque Center, 333 S. Main St., for a pep rally.

The annual parade will be held at 2:15 p.m. Friday afternoon. The route begins at Homedale Elementary School and terminates at the high school.

The Trojans meet Payette in the Homecoming football game, which also serves as the 3A Snake River Valley conference opener for Matt Holtry's squad. Kickoff for the game is 7 p.m. The introduction and coronation of the Homecoming king and queen and court will be held at halftime.

Homedale's soccer teams take on Payette in a doubleheader beginning at 4 p.m. Thursday at Homedale Middle School.

The Trojans' boys' squad also will play host to Canyon Springs from Caldwell at 5 p.m. on Tuesday at HMS. Canyon Springs is a new school and has only a boys' soccer team at the moment. The 3A squad plays an independent schedule, according to Homedale athletic director David Hart.

On Thursday night, the Trojans' volleyball teams meet Fruitland inside the HHS gymnasium beginning with the frosh-soph match at 5:30 p.m.

The Homecoming dance with a 1980s theme is scheduled for Saturday night inside the high school gym. It'll run from 9 a.m. to midnight.

✓ Sheriff: Crandall wants school proposal severed from city agreement

Monday morning meeting in Murphy, but none could make it because of work schedules.

Commissioners plan to hold another contract meeting later this month at a time more convenient for the Marsing officials, but no time was set. The contract must be ratified before the start of the county's fiscal year on Oct. 1. Commissioners have already approved the FY 2011 county budget with a unanimous vote during their Sept. 7 meeting.

The current Marsing law enforcement contract was ratified midway through October last year.

Crandall addressed Marsing's proposed contract changes Monday, including the city's request for 24-hour, seven-day-a-week coverage, an opt-out clause and a sheriff's office presence in the Marsing School District.

Basing his figures on Glenns Ferry's law enforcement contract with Elmore County, Crandall said a full-time law enforcement presence in Marsing would cost $243,821.76.

"That's what they're going to have to come up with in order for me to hire and equip people for the positions," Crandall told the commissioners.

Under the current contract, Marsing pays the county $76,385 for law enforcement coverage, a presence in the schools and code enforcement.

After his presentation, commissioners agreed with Crandall's recommendation that the county offer the current contract stipulation of 228 hours of coverage every 28 days.

"There are times in which we've given them as much as 400 hours this year," Crandall said.

The sheriff said he had no problem with the opt-out clause that allows either the county or Marsing to terminate the contract with 30 days' notice.

Crandall asserts that any arrangement to have a deputy in the schools should be worked out with the Marsing School District, not the city. District 2 Commissioner George Hyer (R-Homedale) agreed.

"I don't think that the city should be telling the school district what they should or should not be doing, and they shouldn't tell us what we should do in the schools," Crandall said. "I would move to strike that from the agreement."

Crandall said that sheriff's Posse members attend school sporting events dressed in OCSO jackets and carrying badges and guns, and that the presence should be counted toward the 60 to 80 hours of school patrol that the city seeks. He said that none of the Marsing-area Posse members hold a Level 1 certification from Idaho Peace Officer Standards and Training. Some are Level 2-certified, he said.

Crandall also said that Deputy

Jeff Wasson, who is the chief of police in Marsing, told him that a dedicated amount of time for patrol, school presence and code enforcement could be done in the allotted 228 hours.

In addition to recommending a continuation of the 228-hour agreement, Crandall asked stipulations be added:

- No OCSO deputy will slay or euthanize dogs running at-large as he said is allowed in the Marsing city ordinance.
- The deputy in Marsing may not speak to the press concerning city/county matters. Crandall said that seeing the unnamed deputy's name in the newspaper "really bothers him and his family."

— JPB

✓ Council: City fathers hold off on vote until they hear back from county questions were answered.

"My belief at this time," Green said. "I have not had response from the three commissioners or the sheriff on the contract. If those four parties are willing to agree to the changes as it is written now then we can approve it."

After the special council meeting on Sept. 1, the council made revisions to the proposed contract regarding the amount of time deputies spend in the city along with hours at the school and ordinance enforcement.

The two revisions on the contract include:

Law enforcement protection is to be provided to the city in conjunction with the county's responsibilities for other areas of the county and with concurrent jurisdiction within the city with the Idaho State Police. The county at the direction of Owyhee County Sheriff shall provide police protection to the city at all times, 24 hours a day seven days a week for the duration of this agreement. As part of this protection the sheriff shall coordinate all school duties including work within the schools with the Marsing School District. Furthermore the sheriff shall work with the school district superintendent to implement school programs within the Marsing city schools.

And:

Deputies will provide law enforcement for all city ordinance violations, whom shall also retain the burden of proof on all such city ordinance violations.

"Basically what we are saying is we don't care how many hours you work here within the city," Green said. "As long as the job is done. And we have our presence. Don't come tell me you worked 300 hours or 400 hours. If the people in the city are unhappy, you need to work more."

The council discussed the new form they are generating for the ordinance enforcement throughout the city. The new form will be smaller and will stick onto the door at the violator's residence. The new form is being based off of the Homedale ordinance form.

Council member Aron Striebel asked Green what recourse the council and the city would have if they felt the services weren't meeting the expectations of residents and the city.

"If the council would like, we could add verbage into the contract," city attorney Loren Anderson said. "After 15 days if we can't come to an agreement and good faith efforts can't be agreed upon the contract could be cancelled."

The council agreed that adding new terms into the contract for cancellation would be beneficial for an "opt out clause". Currently the contract states that any changes have to be agreed up by both parties.

"I'm willing to go with the changes," Green said. "Lets just table this until we get the changes made and we hear back from everyone."

✓ Wind: Several property owners involved in 5,000-acre development 20-megawatt field of solar panels is expected to be online by next year.

Energy development such as the Grand View solar panels and the proposed wind farm will create some jobs, but also add to the county's tax base.

"If they're compatible, I think it's great," Board of County Commissioners Jerry Hoagland said of the plans to develop energy in the county. "The county has always promoted the fact that we should get involved in energy development."

Huff said that developers of the wind farm expect to create six permanent jobs. Most of the work opportunities for both facilities will come from construction jobs.

If approved, the American Wind Group site will sit on 5,000 acres of land held by a number of private owners. Each wind turbine will be mounted on a 263-foot tower and feature a blade diameter of 328 feet.

According to the legal notice the blade tip will be 99 feet off the ground, and the maximum elevation of the blade will be 427 feet.

The wind farm will be strategically placed to minimize its impact on wildlife and existing agricultural uses, according to the legal notice.

A copy of American Wind Group's entire plan is available at the county P&Z office in Murphy.

Bet You Didn’t Know

Florence’s “little flowers” had big value

The florin ... was a coin minted in Florence, Italy starting in 1252. ... The word means “little flower”. Florence was the first city to make its own coins.

The famous ship ... the Cutty Sark ... made its first voyage in 1869 ... What was its cargo? Tea from China.

Name the only place where crocodiles and alligators exist together ... Florida ... nowhere else.

If you were earning minimum wage in 1938 ... how much were you getting? A whopping 25 cents an hour.

Here’s something original ... The famous revolutionary hero ... Pancho Villa ... Reported that his final words were ... “Don’t let it end this way ... Tell them I said something.” You’d have thought he could do it on his own.

So what state capital is actually located on the Delaware River? New Jersey has its capital in Trenton ...

Finally for today ... Sweden has the most phones per capita than any country in the world.

Not sure this is very flattering ... Queen Anne of England was bowlegged ... this was the inspiration for the furniture called by the same name ...

Silver Falcon employs safety director

Mathew Weigle has been hired as on-site industrial engineer and safety director for the federal Mine Safety and Health Administration at Silver Falcon Mining Inc.'s Owyhee County operations.

Weigle will be involved with the company's Diamond Creek Mill and its mining operations on War Eagle Mountain.

Weigle recently graduated with honors and at the top of his class as an industrial engineer from William Penn University in Oskaloosa, Iowa.

"Silver Falcon Mining Inc. is excited that Mathew chose SFMI to start and establish his industrial engineering career and looks forward to working with him as the company continues growing its mining operations," Silver Falcon said in a press release.

A total of 15 people are employed at the Diamond Creek Mill, which processes material from Silver Falcon Mining's operations on War Eagle Mountain.

Trina Aman celebrates 30 years with county

Family, friends and co-workers turned out Sept. 7 to mark Trina Aman’s 30 years of work in the Owyhee County Courthouse in Murphy. County Clerk Charlotte Sherburn, left, presented her with a framed certificate. Having served as the county’s district court clerk for the past 17 years, Aman began with the county’s recording office in March 1980 before becoming magistrate court clerk four months later. Among the attendees at last week’s celebration inside Courtroom 1 were her husband, Gary, and children, Kayla and Justin. Submitted photo

Library district panel holds second meeting

The committee created to explore formation of a Homedale library district will meet for the second time Saturday.

The one-hour meeting is scheduled for 9 a.m. at the Homedale Public Library, 125 W. Owyhee Ave.

During the first meeting, the committee of community members heard from Anne Abrams of the Idaho Commission for Libraries. Abrams answered questions for the group as they reviewed the steps in creating a taxing district and a map of existing library districts in southwest Idaho.

Library director Margaret Fujishin said committee members were encouraged to begin speaking with fellow community members about a library district and invite them to join the exploratory group.

Committee members also were asked to learn about other libraries to collect ideas about what future library service in the Homedale area could entail and what services could be offered.

In addition to Fujishin, committee members Pete Austin, Pauline Cook, Michelle Larzelier, Erica Dines and Kristina Culver attended the inaugural meeting.

Of the four libraries in Owyhee County, the Homedale Public Library is the only one not supported by a taxing district.

Babe the pig stars in next Story Time

The story of “Babe” the pig will be showcased at the next Homedale Public Library Story Time on Friday.

Mallory Loehr’s story will be read at 10:15 a.m. at the library.

The farmyard story of “Babe” was adapted into a 1995 live-animation film. The pig learned how to herd sheep while he lived on the farm with the other animals.

Tuesday marks the next installment of the library’s Tween & Teen Program. Joke Night at the library runs from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Tweens and teens ages 11-17 are invited to bring their favorite jokes. Popcorn will be served as a snack and there will be a door prize drawing.

Another round of Survivor will be held as participants can vote books off the island.

For more information, call Sara at the library.

Possible expansion of trash sites leads to fee hike

Commissioners want tipping station in Grand View

Owyhee County solid waste fees are going up for the second time in two years. The Board of County Commissioners passed Resolution 2010-23 at its Sept. 7 meeting, hiking fees to $44 for residential users and $88 for commercial customers. The rate hikes, a 4.7 percent increase for residential and 4.5 percent increase for commercial, will help fund the creation of a new tipping station in Grand View. Rates can be raised as much as five percent without a public hearing. The circuit breaker reduced fee under the state's property tax relief program will remain $22 for residential customers. The rate hike also will help pay for rising operational costs, including trucking western county refuse to the Pickles Butte landfill in Canyon County, BOCC chair Jerry Hoagland said. "There's no reserve fund like there has been in the past," Hoagland said of the county's Solid Waste budget. "It's because of increased operational costs. We have to pay for the loads that are hauled out, and that depends on how much garbage is (produced)." "The costs of operation of Pickles Butte have gradually increased over time." The county has yet to buy the land for the Grand View station, and a tipping station attendant will be hired at a later date. Hoagland said that the county is still weighing options for the land, and that the landfill could be built on part of the 10 acres the county already owns for Road District 3 use in Grand View. The county has put $25,000 for landfill construction in the fiscal year 2011 budget. Hoagland said that should be sufficient to pay for engineering and concrete work at the proposed facility. During discussion of the resolution, District 2 Commissioner George Hyer (R-Homedale), the county's solid waste supervisor, said the state Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) is "cracking down" on unmanned solid waste outlets, meaning the Grand View drop box may have to be replaced with a manned facility. "During the last unannounced DEQ inspection, they found five tires in the dumpster and a couple other items that weren't supposed to be there," BOCC chair Jerry Hoagland said, adding that the county can be liable for fines for such infractions, although the state agency assessed no penalty this time. According to the fiscal year 2011 budget that commissioners approved last week, the Grand View attendant's salary will be $13,300. The FY 2011 budget also reflects increases in the heavy equipment line (from $40,000 to $50,000) and the landfill construction line (from $15,000 to $25,000). Hyer said the county soon will have to buy a scraper to replace the county's aging piece of heavy equipment at the Bruneau landfill. He said the county would look for a used piece of equipment to keep costs down. County solid waste fees have increased 120 percent since 2002. In 2003, commissioners doubled the respective fees from $20 to $40 for residential and from $40 to $80 for commercial. The county's solid waste facilities include tipping stations in Homedale and Opaline as well as Dumpsters in Grand View, Murphy, Grand View, Oreana and Indian Cove. — JPB

Homedale Chamber looking for ideas for "gateway" sign

The Homedale Chamber of Commerce is seeking ideas for the proposed signage located on the grassy triangle at the intersection of U.S. Highway 95 and Idaho Avenue. Gavin Parker, president of the Chamber, discussed with the Chamber members present at its monthly luncheon some of the specifications from the Idaho Transportation Department. He told the members that the sign will not include advertising, "it is purely a 'Welcome to Homedale' to let people know there is a community beyond the bypass." "We are trying to collaborate with the City Council and the mayor to get a sign out there," Parker said. "At this point, we need to get some feedback and samples of other signs. The mayor kind of put this in our lap asking what the business people would want to see." Parker asked the members to think of ideas and ask around within the community for ideas for the sign. He said that there were many locals that would be willing to help construct the signage and help get the town some exposure. "I personally like the sandblasted rock signs," Parker said. "We could try and find someone that might be able to do this for us. Another option is an iron sign, somewhat sculpted, that maybe the COSSA (Canyon Owyhee School Services Agency) welding program could help with." The Chamber discussed ideas for the proposed sign along with possibly doing a fundraiser for the city to help fund the sign. Currently they are seeking design ideas from the Chamber members and anyone in the community. Community members with ideas can submit them to Parker by e-mail at gsparker72@yahoo.com or drop them off at his office, 19 E. Wyoming Ave. in Homedale.

"Descriptions are good, but pictures are better. I really like the direction we are heading," Parker said. The Chamber also reviewed the joint www.cityofhomedale.com Web site that the City of Homedale and the Chamber run. They want to update the site to draw more people into learning about the community and keep residents informed about events. "We had some pretty impressive page views for the month of August," Parker said. "The company that built the Web site for us has been making some updates and changes without charge. But we want to do some big changes that will probably cost us. We want to get as much control as possible to keep it fresh and updated." Chamber members brought up ideas about getting event information on the main page of the site. This information would be updated on a weekly basis, Parker said. Members also brought up the idea of getting more school information on the site for people who might be relocating to the community. "It is pretty consistent with visitors. We really want to ramp up the visitors to the site," Parker said. "I know for me, I use sites that are up-to-date. If we can consistently update it and get announcements on there, it will generate more business." Riverview Enterprises will host this month's Business After Hours gathering for the Chamber on Thursday at 6 p.m. Riverview Enterprises is located at 26275 Riverview Drive, Wilder. Owners Eugene and Lori Volz encouraged that people RSVP for the event. Call (208) 337-5700. — JLZ

Marsing notches first win over Glenns Ferry, 20-19

Huskies overcome scoreless first half

The Marsing High School football team snagged its first win of 2010 with a 20-19 win Friday over the Glenns Ferry Pilots.

The Huskies were held scoreless throughout the first half as the pilots led 12-0. Glenns Ferry scored twice within the last five minutes of the second quarter missing both point after attempts.

Freshman quarterback Austin Williams completed four of seven attempts, recording 41 yards in his first start for the Huskies. Williams finished the night with 57 percent completion with his longest toss of 23 yards and two interceptions.

“Williams is a freshman,” Marsing coach Jaime Wood said. “I think if he had a little more time he would have had more completions and the score would have been quite a bit better. But he is learning and doing great.”

Sophomore Jesus Lino scored with 5:37 left in the third on a 20-yard run. Five minutes into the fourth quarter, Lino scored on a 52-yard rush and finished with 105 yards on the night.

“Jesus Lino is a great running back,” Wood said. “He sees the holes and sees the openings, and he does something with them. I’m not sure how many yards he had, but he had two touchdowns. The kid just goes.”

The Pilots rebounded with 4:58 left in the fourth to take a 19-12 lead. On the kickoff the Huskies blocked for sophomore Miguel Leon on an 80 yard scamper downfield for a touchdown. Williams completed a two-point conversion, connecting with junior Dakota Hill to clinch the win.

“That kickoff return was huge,” Wood said. “We have that in practice and it always seems that in a game we miss one or two blocks on the run and it doesn’t play out as we want it. We got the blocks tonight and that made the difference. The offensive line was great tonight.”

After the loss to Valley on Sept. 3, the Huskies moved sophomore Jason Galligan from tight end to wide-out along with junior Austin Glenn moving from defensive end to nose tackle. Each recorded a takedown on the Pilots quarterback. Junior Pedro Carrillo also notched a sack.

“I would rather have a blowout win, with a lot of points to get that confidence for the team,” Wood said. “But a close game like this is great for the players. They learned they have to work hard the entire game. They worked for this win and worked hard. Tonight, these guys didn’t quit. They believed and came out with the win.”

Going into a bye week, the Huskies prepare for Nampa Christian on Sept. 24 at 7 p.m. in Nampa.

The other guys hold Homedale together

Defensive stops,
key catches spark
big win over Vale

While everyone is talking about Trey Corta, his teammates on the unbeaten Homedale High School football team are flying under the radar.

Key pass breakups near the goal line by Brett Shanley and Levi Elsberry highlighted a hard-fought 26-21 non-conference road win over traditional Oregon powerhouse Vale on Friday night.

“You never want to be in a close game like that, but I think it’s good for the kids to play through those experiences where the game’s on the line and your teammates are counting on you,” HHS coach Matt Holtry said.

Kenny Esparza and Zac Lowder made key receptions during a game-clinching drive. Levi Elsberry also hauled in a 24-yard touchdown pass on a night that Corta rushed for a career-high 275 yards.

“When you have an athlete like that (Corta), the thing we have to make sure to do as a team is that we just don’t rely or count on him making the plays all the time,” Holtry said.

He may not have made them all the time, but — like other teammates Friday — the junior quarterback made them when they counted.

The trail to 3-0 turned out to be a 10-play, 80-yard game-winning Corta orchestrated in the fourth quarter. Esparza and Lowder made their clutch catches on the march capped by Corta’s one-yard plunge.

The game-clinching TD drive was in immediate response to Vale running back Drew Torrey’s three-yard TD run to put Vale ahead, 21-20, after Corta had fumbled in the shadow of his own goalpost.

As it turned out, the miscue was just a bump in the road for Corta.

Short on numbers, Adrian volleyball brings height

Coach expects Antelopes to be a force at net

A great challenge is nothing new to Adrian High School volleyball.

The Antelopes have made a habit out of showing up in the 1A Oregon state playoffs.

Coach Aimee Goss’s squad lost in the second round of the playoffs last year after finishing as the runner-up at the district tournament.

“We should be able to build on our success over the years and continue to be successful this season,” the 13th-year coach said.

While some key players return from last year’s squad, the Antelopes opened the season without four seniors from a year ago, including Andrea Shenk, who was a good outside hitter and solid from the service line, Goss said.

There are only 14 players out for the program in 2010.

“In terms of numbers, this is a tight year,” Goss said. “Players will need to fulfill more roles than in the past due to those numbers.”

Adrian lost its season opener in four sets to visiting Greenleaf on Sept. 2. The team opens 1A High Desert League play on Friday at home against archrival Jordan Valley, which is also experiencing a low-number year.

Adrian’s numbers may be low, but Goss’s hopes are high that the team’s height will help with play at the net.

Returning is 5-foot-9 sophomore Madison Shira at outside hitter. Another 5-9 player, senior Ester Gordon, has been tabbed as a middle hitter.

“We look to (Gordon) to really come into her own this season on the net,” Goss said.

Another returner is 5-5 senior Jessica Morton.

Madison Shira, a 5-5 senior at outside hitter/setter, will provide offensive opportunities, too, Goss said.

“The two Madisons are definitely the most prepared to lead the team on the court in their

Marsing volleyball aces another win against North Star

Strong traveling fan base backs Huskies

It was Huskies-on-Huskies action Thursday night as the Marsing High School volleyball team notched another win over North Star Charter School, going four sets with the squad.

Marsing went on a roll in the first two sets knocking down North Star 25-14 and 25-13. During the second set the Huskies seemed to relax a little bit losing 25-20, they turned the fourth set into a win on the night going 25-18.

“I think we relaxed a little bit too much,” Marsing coach Loma Bittick said. “North Star came back hard.”

This is the first year for a varsity program at North Star in the 2A Western Idaho Conference having only competed last season with a junior varsity team.

“I think we will see a lot of improvement from them. This showed us we can’t overlook anyone,” Bittick said. “We definitely had a let down in the third set and offensively we weren’t consistent.”

On the night, Candy Leon led Marsing (2-2 in conference) with four aces and 11 assists. Andrea Rodriguez recorded seven kills and a stuff block. Rebecca Cossel added five kills and a block.

“We battled hard and it was a good win,” Bittick said. “There are some things offensively that we need to work on.”

The Huskies have been without senior setter Kacie Salove for the past two matches. Salove is out due to an illness, Bittick said. The team was ready for her to return as they faced off against Parma on Tuesday. Log on to The Owyhee Avalanche to view results from the match.

“We are a little out of our system without our normal setter,” Bittick said. “We aren’t being consistent about getting the ball to the right hitters as well as we can.”

Thursday’s matchup almost seemed like a home game for the Huskies with more fans in attendance from Marsing.

“We have a really positive support group from the parents,” Bittick said. “They travel well and really support the girls.”

Earlier in the week, the Huskies split the first two sets against New Plymouth, but the Pilgrims rallied Marsing spiker Rebecca Cossel watches as two North Star defenders attempt to block a shot during last weeks match in Eagle. The Huskies beat North Star in four sets.

for a 25-15, 21-25, 25-20, 25-9 victory.

“The girls played well in set two after adjusting to a new setter. Our regular setter was out due to illness,” Marsing coach Loma Bittick said. “Rebecca really dominated the net during that set.”

On the night, Rebecca Cossel led Marsing with 12 kills and two blocks. Andrea Rodriguez notched four kills and two blocks. Candy Leon added 10 assists.

“Defensively we didn’t get the job done in set four. Our blockers were not getting there, and we didn’t use our hitters to our advantage,” Bittick said. “We will need to work on playing at our tempo throughout the match.”

The Huskies are set to take on Nampa Christian in Nampa on Thursday. The junior varsity starts at 5 p.m. and the varsity will follow.

Trojans volleyball can’t capitalize

Homedale’s Taylor Thomas goes up for a hit while Parma defender Sarah Cox attempts a block during the teams’ 3A Snake River Valley conference opener Thursday on the Trojans’ floor. on Thursday.

Megan Barraza had a big week as Homedale High School’s volleyball team played three matches at home.

The junior libero averaged 17.3 digs per match as the Trojans sandwiched a non-conference road win against Melba around home losses to Parma and Nyssa, Ore.

Thursday: Parma def. Homedale, 25-22, 25-20, 17-25, 29-27 — In the first 3A Snake River Valley conference competition between the two schools, the Panthers shook off the determined Trojans.

Barraza led Homedale (2-2 overall, 0-1 in conference) with 20 digs. Taylor Thomas added 15 digs after singing the National Anthem prior to the match. Caitlyn Johnson dished eight assists, and Laurien Mavey had four kills.

Kelsey Kramer notched 15 kills for Parma, which moved up from Class 2A after last year.

Wednesday: Homedale def. Melba, 26-24, 17-25, 25-21, 12-25, 15-10 — Barraza had another impressive defensive night with 15 digs as the Trojans won the fifth set to down the Mustangs in a non-conference game played in Canyon County.

Sydney Cornwall fired home eight kills for Homedale, and Caitlin Johnson dished 12 assists. Johnson led the team with 11 assists.

Owyhee County resident Shayla Richardson had 23 digs and three kills for Melba.

Homedale is the only team to beat Melba this season. The Mustangs are unbeaten in three 2A Western Idaho Conference matches this season.

Sept. 7: Nyssa def. Homedale, 25-13, 26-24, 28-26 — Barraza registered 17 digs, but Homedale was unsuccessful in a non-conference match played on its home floor. The Bulldogs swept to victory despite four aces from Trojans senior Sarah Maggard.

Johnson had nine assists, Cornwall three blocks, and Kaitlin Garcia and Thomas nailed five kills each.

Illness derails Mustangs

Team gets first win of year against Rimrock JV

Already short on numbers, the Jordan Valley High School volleyball team was hit with illness last week.

“It was a rough week for us,” second-year coach Chris Elsner said. “We had two girls out with illness, so that makes it very hard to practice.”

Jordan Valley opened the 1A High Desert League season Friday on the road with a 25-17, 25-21, 25-5 loss to Crane.

“We definitely ran out of steam,” Elsner said. “I believe we are playing better.”

Junior 6-footer Meagan Fillmore led the team with four kills. Senior Shelly Payne contributed 12 service points and two kills, while junior Jessie Carson registered eight digs and 11 service points.

Christina Rogers, a 5-3 junior, added 15 digs, and 5-4 sophomore Hayley Caywood chipped in 10 assists. Finnish exchange student Noora Pendov, a 5-11 senior, had four assists.

Saturday: Jordan Valley def. Rimrock JV, 25-17, 25-14, 25-14 — Carson had 16 service points, six digs, two kills and two assists to help the Mustangs to victory in their home opener against the Raiders’ junior varsity.

“It was good practice for us, and we had fun,” Elsner said.

Payne led the offense with eight kills and eight service points, while Fillmore added seven kills and 10 serves.

Carson had six digs and 16 service points, while Rogers had two kills.

Caywood dished eight assists and tallied three digs with 13 service points.

Pendov had seven assists.

The Mustangs hit the road for a rivalry match against Adrian at 5 p.m. Friday.

Crane football cruises past JV

Jordan Valley High School’s football team was held under 100 yards total offense Friday in a 64-0 1A High Desert League loss to host Crane.

Ty Warn accounted for 48 of the team’s 99 yards with 39 yards rushing and nine yards passing. He also had eight tackles and three assists.

James Dowell completed four of six pass attempts for 34 yards.

The team gained just two first downs.

“It was just a good, old-fashioned behind kicking,” Jordan Valley coach Tim McBride said.

Vandals trip Trojans in soccer home opener

A young Homedale High School boys' soccer team didn't find its scoring legs until the second half of Thursday's home opener.

Freshman striker Jesse Padilla scored on a pass from sophomore midfielder Chris Hurtado for the Trojans' only goal in a 4-1 3A Snake River Valley conference loss to McCall-Donnelly at Homedale Middle School.

The Vandals had built a 3-0 lead by the time Hurtado scored in the game's 59th minute.

Austin Borkoski got McCall on the board first with a goal assisted by Cesar Montes in the 10th minute. Montes scored with help from Borkoski 18 minutes later.

McCall went ahead, 3-0, three minutes after halftime on John Fronk's unassisted goal. Alex Hamilton capped the scoring with an unassisted shot in the 74th minute.

Every person who contributed to McCall's scoring is a senior except the sophomore Montes.

Conversely, Homedale coach Oscar Arguello has a team peppered with young players. Only strikers Tanner Lair and Justin Whitworth and defender Jr Cardenas are listed as seniors on the roster.

The rest of the squad consists of freshmen and sophomores save for junior midfielder Adrian Amezquita.

Arguello's assistant is former HHS soccer player Erick Padilla.

Homedale opened the season Sept. 9 on the road against 3A SRV foe Payette. No results were provided.

The Trojans have five home games on their 2010 schedule, including a 5 p.m. match Tuesday against first-year program Canyon Springs from Caldwell. Before that contest, Homedale plays host to Weiser at 6 p.m. Thursday.

Payette visits at Thursday, Sept. 23, and the Trojans entertain Fruitland a week later to wrap up the home schedule. Both games begin at 6 p.m.

Adrian Amezquita attempts to get around the Vandals defense.

Adrian avenges season-opening volleyball loss

Annie Bowns had seven kills and Madison Shira added six Thursday as Adrian High School collected a non-league victory in Idaho.

The Antelopes picked up their first win of the season, dispatched host Greenleaf Friends Academy, 25-21, 25-14, 25-23.

Madison Purnell dished nine assists and had three blocks for the Antelopes, who had opened the season Sept. 2 with a home loss to the Grizzlies.

athletic ability and work ethic," Goss said.

Goss expects the Antelopes' front-line players to make it more difficult for opponents to score.

"We should see much more strength on our net play," she said.

Two varsity newcomers, junior

Annie Bowns and sophomore Nichole Orosco, both 5-8, will add to the performance at the net, Goss said.

"By the end of the season, we are hoping to give fans a great overall game and early on we hope to block a lot of balls this year," the coach said.

Homedale: 26-21 victory

Homedale TD against a Vikings team that had reached the 3A Oregon state semifinals last year.

"Any time you beat a solid program, it's a confidence builder for the kids," Holtry said.

After picking off Vikings quarterback Kyle Barras, Corta took the Trojans 35 yards in three plays in the third quarter, striking Elsberry for a 24-yard TD pass and a 20-15 Homedale lead.

Corta scored on a 67-yard run to give Homedale a 7-6 lead after its first possession of the game. Vale converted a 70-yard drive for a 6-0 lead and it looked like the showdown would be a shootout.

But Shanley knocked down a third-down pass by Barras, forcing Vale to settle for an Austin Tolman field goal and a 9-7 lead.

As has become his custom, Corta had a quick answer, running 40 yards to a 14-9 Trojans advantage on the next possession.

Vale had a chance to take control of the game in the third quarter when the Vikings held Homedale to three downs following Torrey's 10-yard TD for a 15-14 lead.

But Corta wrested momentum back when he picked off Barras and then, three plays later, fired his scoring pass to Elsberry.

Corta's interception was just the biggest play in a second half filled with key defensive stops. Elsberry knocked down a Barras pass one play after the Vale quarterback had found Bryant Haueter for a 35-yard completion during the team's last-ditch drive late in the fourth quarter.

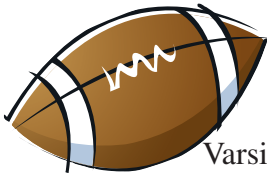

The way the Trojans executed their pass defense might embolden Holtry as the second-year coach leads the squad into its final non-conference game of the season Friday night on the road against New Plymouth and quarterback Brady Harris, who threw for a total of five touchdowns in wins over Nyssa, Ore., and Payette earlier this season.

"New Plymouth likes to throw the ball, and they're very good at it," Holtry said. "Their quarterback is a special athlete, and they have a good set of wide receivers that he throws the ball to.

"It should be a good game and it should be a good challenge for our pass defense and secondary. I'm excited to see how our athletes step up the to the challenge."

Homedale goalkeeper Raven Kelly goes for a save off a kick from the Vandals.

HHS girls' soccer gets blanked

The Homedale High School girls soccer team (0-2) faced off last week against 3A Snake River Valley Conference foes Payette and McCall-Donnelly, getting shut out by both teams.

The girls took their home field against the Vandals on Thursday, dropping the match 6-0. Homedale took eight shots on goal compared to McCall-Donnelly's 13.

"It has been a tough week for the team," Homedale coach David Correa said. "Against McCall things looked a lot better. We had our opportunities, but we couldn't capitalize on them. I expect the team to get better and settle on the field as the season progresses."

Junior goalkeeper Raven Kelly made eight saves during the loss to the Vandals.

Earlier in the week, the Trojans played in Payette, and the Pirates routed Homedale, 13-0. Goalkeeper Raven Kelly made 10 saves during the Sept. 7 game.

"We knew Payette was going to be a challenging team to play," Correa said. "They are the 3A state champions and have most of their squad intact from last year. We struggled to possess the ball and couldn't connect our passes."

The Trojans continued game play on Monday at Fruitland. Their next home matchup is scheduled for Thursday against Weiser at 4:30 p.m.

"What these girls are doing is remarkable, considering many of our players have been playing soccer for only a month," Correa said. "We will continue working hard."

Homedale games are played at Homedale Middle School.

Trojans JV's defense dials up defeat for Vale

Homedale unit keeps finding ways to score

Homedale High School's junior varsity football team raised its record 3-0 on Thursday with another stingy defensive performance.

The Trojans recovered Danny Perkins' fumble in the end zone to cap five consecutive touchdowns, and Homedale smacked Vale, Ore., 35-8, at Deward Bell Stadium.

The Vikings were limited to just 77 yards offense and Danny Pozzi's one-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Homedale (3-0 overall) forced five Vale turnovers, including interceptions by Matt Hetrick and Talon Frelove. Casey Hansen, Jovan Cornejo and Logan Jarvis all recovered fumbles.

Hetrick started the scoring with a 19-yard touchdown run, and Homedale had a 14-0 first-quarter lead after the first of Ali Garcia's two TD rushes.

Hetrick also fired a five-yard scoring strike to Frelove in the third quarter.

Thursday's victory marked the second week in a row in which Homedale scored five touchdowns while holding their opponent to just one.

In Nampa on Sept. 2, Homedale's defense wreaked havoc of Nampa Christian quarterback Trevor Lee. Tyler Scott sacked him for a safety, the defense recovered a Lee fumble for a touchdown and Frelove returned an interception five yards for the game's final tally in a 35-6 rout.

Antelopes trample Wilder

All three Purnell completions go for scores in tuneup for Jordan Valley

Jeremy Price and Blake Purnell ignited a scoring barrage Friday night as Adrian High School rolled in its home opener at Ward Field.

Price scored on runs, a pass from Purnell and a punt return, and Purnell used his legs and arm to get in the end zone during an 80-34 non-league shellacking of Wilder.

The Antelopes (1-1 overall) rolled up 435 yards total offense and turned the ball over only once against the Wildcats from the 1A Western Idaho Conference.

Price averaged 12.2 yards per carry, racking up 183 yards and touchdowns on scampers of 50 yards in the first quarter and 37 in the second. He also returned a punt 55 yards in the first quarter to complete the Antelopes' 20-0 start to the game.

Wilder never got close than 12 points. Isaac Lopez and Jaime Miramontes hooked up for a 70-yard scoring play to cut Adrian's lead to 20-8 in the first quarter. Gabino Silva returned a kickoff 92 yards in the second quarter to get the Wildcats to within two touchdowns, 28-14.

Wilder's Lopez was 7-for-22 passing for 202 yards. He threw for two touchdowns and was picked off twice by Kurt Nielson, who returned one of the miscues 65 yards to give Adrian a 58-20 halftime lead. Nielson scored on a 10-yard run to open the scoring in the second half.

Miramontes rolled up 232 yards on just five catches, a 46.4-yards-per-carry average, during a performance that included an 80-yard TD reception in the third quarter. Wilder teammate Silva rushed for 172 yards on 19 totes.

Purnell passed for 94 yards, with all three completions going for TDs — 10 and 32 yards to Paxton Shira in the first half and a 52-yarder to Price in the fourth quarter.

Mark Ishida had touchdowns on a pair of short runs for Adrian, which opens the 1A High Desert League season at home against archrival Jordan Valley at 7 p.m. Friday.

Crane demolished visiting Jordan Valley, 64-0, on Friday in the league opener for both.

Strickland is GM of Bruneau Roundup

Grant Strickland has been chosen by the Bruneau Rodeo Association to be the Grand Marshal of their two-day rodeo this weekend, September 21 and 22. Grant was born in Bruneau and has lived there all his life. He comes from a pioneer family, and was in the sheep and cattle business with this father, Bill, and in later years with his sons, Curt and Dick. Grant and Jody are semi-retired now and enjoy some traveling squeezed in with their ranch work.

Homedale junior high news

The class officer elections were held during the week of September 9. Each class elected a president and a vice president. The president for 7A, Heidi Larzelier, 7B, Elise Eidemiller, 7C, Mike Warwick. In the 8th grade, president of 8A, Rachel Knight; 8B, Jeremy Stokes; 8C, Dan Aberasturi. The Homedale junior high football team played the Fruitland Grizzlies on September 12 and won by a score of 14-0. The Homedale junior high girls’ volleyball team lost to the Fruitland Grizzlies, 7-15 and 12-15. These were the first games of the season. The next 7th grade football game is at New Plymouth, September 17. The next 8th grade game will be with McCall at Homedale, September 20. And Glenns Ferry at Rimrock, Sept. 24. The next girls’ volleyball game will be September 17 at Melba.

Central Cove herd sports new addition

New babies are always an event, especially in the case of Buffy, a new buffalo calf with spike horns, spindly legs, and a mind of her own. Buffy is the new addition to a three-buffalo herd at Don and Ila Gerdes’ farm in Central Cove.

While one would expect a miniature buffalo with shaggy mane and horns, Buffy actually resembles a young Jersey cow. She was born in June to Don’s buffalo cow, Moon. He believes the proud father is the larger male, Joseph. Filling out the quarter is the smaller bull, Star.

The Gerdes purchased the three buffalo from a Fort Hall man several years ago. Don grew up in Nebraska and remembered the buffalo “wallows” where thousands of the beasts would roll in the mud, presumably for fun, as the insects cannot bite through their tough fur. While buffalo usually start mating at three years, Moon produced Buffy at the three-year mark, unusually early for the species. Don said he helped Moon give birth, to make sure the calf was out of the way of the mother. He added that he was unsure if the calf would survive the first few days, as it looked weak and was unable to walk. After reading a book about buffaloes, he found that was the natural behavior of the young animals.

Marsing holds trustee meet

Several items were considered in a short Marsing School District meeting on Sept. 10.

A policy for the community to use school facilities was accepted by the board. The policy allows education, recreational, community service, and private functions under a fee schedule. Superintendent Dr. Richard Johnson said the district superintendent does have the right to grant exceptions to individuals or groups for renting classrooms or multi-purpose rooms if he deems it necessary.

JoAnne Mitchell was allowed a year’s absence from teaching. The step by the trustees was in keeping with the teachers’ master contract that a position will be available upon her return.

Jean Boyer was accepted as a half-day kindergarten teacher. Jean is a Boise State University graduate and has had three years of teaching experience at the primary level.

Doran Parkins, Marsing’s COSSA representative, reported that a program for the hearing impaired might be started through COSSA. COSSA administrators felt there were enough students with hearing problems in the area to warrant such a step. Johnson said there were five such students around the district and it might be a good idea.

Around $3,600 was collected from the Marsing Booster Club’s food sales at the Owyhee County Fair.

Homedale wins from Parma in opening game

Homedale’s Trojans continued their winning ways Friday night as they opened the 1960 season with a 14-0 victory over Parma in a non-conference game. The win extended Homedale’s streak to 11 games.

Homedale, the 1959 SRV-B league champ, pushed across two first half TDs and then held off the Panthers in the second half to win the defensive battle. The Trojans scored first on a 65-yard sustained drive with Bill Purdom cracking over from the two.

In the second quarter Rod Leslie tossed a 60-yard scoring pass to Purdom.

Coaches discuss football squad at Kiwanis meeting

Coach Deward Bell and his assistant, Ken Brocke, discussed the Homedale high school football squad at the regular Wednesday luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club.

Coach Bell declared himself well pleased with the showing the team made at Parma where the Trojans made two touchdowns in the first half, then set up a strong defensive wall to stop the Panthers in the last half and win 14-0.

No injuries were reported and Coach Bell said his team is in good physical condition. He picked Adrian, Marsing and Middleton as the toughest teams the Trojans will face.

The squad has 13 seniors and only five juniors, with plenty of sophomore and freshman strength.

Brocke, who was a star athlete at the College of Idaho, said the boys are working hard, and welcome the support of businessmen and parents.

He said the boys would train harder and develop a better team spirit when they know the community is behind them and fans turn out to watch the games.

The Trojans, who play Wilder here Friday may start the following combination: Bill Purdom, and Roy McBride, halfbacks; Dick Frazier, fullback; Allen Johnstone, quarterback; Dan DeGroat and Rodney Leslie, ends; Byron Simpson and Tony Wolff, tackles; Willis Titmus and Gary Hinton, guards, and Mac Simpson, center.

Among the newcomers is McClure, a 217 pounder.

Owyhee County well represented at GOP conclave

The state Republican convention was held in Coeur d’Alene September 9-10 with all but three counties in the state represented. Attending from Owyhee County were Mrs. Iola Potter, Mrs. Judy Phelps, Mrs. Hollis Selders, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cunningham, Grand View, and Bryan Brunzell, Murphy.

The Federated Women’s clubs of the Republican Party held its meeting on Friday. Mrs. Iola Potter was the delegate from Homedale.

Gerald Cunningham, county committeeman, and Mrs. Judy Phelps, county committeewoman, attended the platform convention on the 10th as the official voting delegates from Owyhee County. Mrs. Selders is the secretary to the county committeemen.

Grand View beats Dietrich

Grand View’s Devils led all the way at Dietrich Friday afternoon as they turned back the Dietrich squad 19-6. The clash was a non-league affair between the Snake River conference rivals.

Terry Field scored two touchdowns and Larry Harris added the third TD for Grand View. Harris picked up a blocked punt and ran 28 yards for his score.

Homedale locals

Guests of the Harvey Pegram and John Echevarria families Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. “Cotton” Perryman and four children of Mountain Home.

Thursday morning members of the Gem Priscilla club met at the home of Mrs. Harold Peterson for brunch. Mrs. Leona Anderson, Payette, showed 2 films on the use of electricity in the home of tomorrow.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE. On Reynold’s Creek, last Saturday night, Clark & Stacy’s steam saw-mill, shingle machine, and 75,000 feet of lumber were destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $10,000. It is not known how the fire originated. Although a heavy blow to the enterprising proprietors, yet, as will be seen by reference to advertisement to-day, they are equal to the emergency and are prepared to fill all orders for lumber from this date. They will also have another shingle machine in operation in less than a month.

HURRAH FOR THE CIRCUS! Bartholomew’s Lilliputian Circus arrived here yesterday, and will perform to-night and to-morrow night on the square between Jones’ saloon and the Idaho Hotel. It comes well recommended by the Boise papers, and no one should miss seeing it. Let everybody and his wife and children be on hand. For particulars see bills.

GOT BACK. The Steen Mountain and Malheur prospecting party, who left here about five weeks ago, have all returned. George Gilmore, Al McKenzie, Dave Edgerton, and Hank Townsend, returned this week. They found some prospects of gold, but nothing that would pay for working.

IDAHO FREIGHT. The Elko Independent informs us that, last Tuesday, Reinheart & Co. shipped the following amounts of freight to Idaho Territory: 10 tons to Centerville; 40 tons to Silver City and 5 tons to Sinker Creek.

VICE PRESIDENT Colfax writes a letter announcing his unalterable purpose to retire forever from public life after the expiration of his present term of office.

A YOUNG lady explained to her inamorata the distinction between printing and publishing, and at the conclusion of her remarks, by way of illustration, she said: “You may print a kiss on my cheek, but you must not publish it.”

LOCAL HINTS AND HAPPENINGS. Capt. Myrick has returned from Portland.

Put Bradford has arrived from New York.

Col. Preston and Judge Higbee have returned from Boise City.

W. F. & Co. shipped from here yesterday, 9 bars of bullion, worth $22,367.

Pete Morancy, proprietor of Battle Creek Station, died in Elko, a few days ago.

C. H. Johnson is progressing rapidly in re-building the Sinker mill on the mountain.

We noticed a fine large deer and numerous sage-hens in Brook’s store yesterday.

Our streets are crowded daily with freight teams from Boise City, Elko, and Winnemucca.

Messrs. Hardiman, Reichenberg, Col. Fogus, and Russ Carter, went to San Francisco this week.

Ben Bernstein and Superintendent Cassell, of the Chariot, are back from Frisco. Ben’s goods will be here next week.

On the edge of common sense The horse sale

There was a horse sold this summer down in Missouri. Probably the most famous horse in the world ... Trigger. RFD-TV paid a lot of money to own the mounted figure of this celebrity equine, Roy Rogers' Paramount Palomino. They also purchased his dog Bullet. They did it for the sentimental value, but also to recognize an era when kids had good heroes to look up to.

I like horses. I like pretty horses, but like most cowboys, I like good horses. Even the roughest, no-nonsense workin' cowboy could look at Roy Rogers and say, "Well ... he rode good horses."

I am of the age that can remember when Roy Rogers was King of the Hollywood cowboys. To my misfortune, I thought at the time, we didn't have a television and didn't go to the movies! But we did have radio and through it, Roy and Dale, Pat Brady and Nellybelle, Gabby, Trigger, Buttercup and Bullet became part of my idiom.

Think about it. When you can still recognize somebody's voice in speech or song that you became acquainted with in grade school, that's a pretty deep impression.

RFD-TV buying Trigger and Bullet kinda makes me feel good. It means there's still a place, outside of my mind, that I can go and be in the company of such fine animals. Animals and their keepers, who represented the kind of people we could aspire to be.

In my mind, I can't separate the animals from the humans. I can't think of Roy without thinking 'bout Trigger. It's hard to explain to teens today that being a good person pays off. Instant technology and instant answers to almost any question can be found on the Internet. The one question that the Internet can't answer is "What's the right thing to do?"

That's what Roy taught us. He and Hoppy, Rex, Gene, Cisco, Lone, Sky, Bobby Benson and the B bar B Riders and their great sidekicks. In their simple parables, they showed us the difference between good and bad, between right and wrong. They led us to believe that the Code of the West boils down to "doin' the right thing." That it was real, had value and was worth living and dying for.

I mentioned Roy's voice. If he called me on the phone tonight, I'd recognize him immediately. If he asked me what was goin' on, I'd tell him about the great honor that we have paid his horse and his dog. And that we still think about him, that kids are still watchin' his old movies, because there's still a market for heroes in our kids and grandkids. I'd also mention that many of us appreciate that in his private life he lived up to the image of his movie character. A decent man. That's not a bad way to be remembered.

Of course, speakin' of bein' remembered, there's the horse sale. Haythorn's horse Profit sold for $50,000, I took a paint gelding in trade for a speakin' job, and RFD-TV paid $266,600 for Trigger. They also bought Bullet for $35,000. You'd have thought at that price, they'd have throwed Bullet in for free!

Wayne Cornell

Not important ... but possibly of interest Superstitious? Who me?

Like the day leading up to the 2007 Fiesta Bowl, Labor Day seemed to go on forever. I played around on the computer. I puttered around in garage. We went grocery shopping. Eventually, it was game time.

Some sports fans are superstitious. They have special ways of preparing for a game. They sit in certain chairs and/or drink or refrain from drinking certain beverages. Some even wear special clothes. Fortunately, I'm not superstitious.

Just before kickoff, I donned a blue Broncos shirt I recently acquired. I had my one pregame beverage. Then I sat down in my favorite recliner. Sara opened the family room door to let some cool air in. She told me not to start screaming obscenities if something bad happened because the neighbors would hear.

During the first quarter, Boise State capitalized on several Virginia Tech errors and led 17-0. But in the second quarter the wind shifted. Our boys went into the locker room at the half leading by less than a touchdown.

The opponents' comeback continued after the half. The Hokies took the lead. As I already have stated, I'm not superstitious. But just to be on the safe side, I chucked my blue Bronco shirt in favor of my lighter blue Valley Forge T-shirt that I wore last season while witnessing a number of BSU victories. Our team went back in front. The emergency seemed to be past so I allowed Asher the dog, who had been outside up to this point, to come into the house.

As soon as I let Asher in, the Hokies took the lead back. Asher is a black dog. As I already had stated, I'm not superstitious, but it seemed like Asher's arrival might have altered the magnetic flux of the universe. And, since some folks think black cats are bad luck, I decided to not take any chances with black dogs. I returned Asher to the back yard. He lay with his head between his paws, looking very sad. In addition, I moved from my recliner to the couch.

Suddenly we were two-thirds of the way through the fourth quarter, and the Hokies had a 30-26 lead. It looked like a win for the Broncos was unlikely. Then I thought about the orange BSU shirt I bought when we went to the University of Washington game several years ago. The Broncos lost, so I quit wearing it. But then I remembered that I had put it on during the 2010 Fiesta Bowl, just before our team scored the winning touchdown. Although I'm not superstitious, I decided to dump the Valley Forge shirt in favor of the orange BSU shirt. Then I got off the couch and stood rather than sitting to watch the final minutes of the game.

Then I remembered that near the end of the 2010 Fiesta Bowl, Asher was in the house. Even though I'm not superstitious, I let him back inside. I patted him on the head and told him he needed to be a "lucky dog."

Boise State stopped a Hokie drive. With two minutes left, the Broncos got the ball back. I quit standing and sat down on the loveseat. Thirty-eight seconds later, Kellen Moore hit Austin Pettis in the end zone for the go-ahead score. When Virginia Tech failed to convert on fourth down with 30 seconds left, a BSU victory was assured.

So in the end, Boise State prevailed. And I can tell you it's more relaxing to be a fan when you don't have any silly superstitions.

Now if I can just figure out what I was wearing and where I was sitting when the Broncos beat Oregon State in 2006 ...

From Washington New truck weights benefit Idaho

Each time we shop, every time we purchase something, chances are pretty good a truck played a role in getting those goods to that retailer. Trucks play a vital role in our country's commerce, and getting goods from source to consumer safely and cost-effectively is an important consideration. That's why I joined with Sens. Susan Collins (R-Maine) and Herb Kohl (D-Wis.) to introduce the bipartisan Safe and Efficient Transportation Act (SETA), S.3705, which provides a voluntary opt-in program to let states determine if increasing truck weights would be appropriate within their state. Idaho's Reps. Mike Simpson, a Republican, and Democrat Walt Minnick co-sponsored identical legislation in the U.S. House of Representatives.

SETA would increase truck weights from 80,000 to 97,000 pounds — provided trucks are equipped with a sixth axle — on the Interstate System in states that opt into the plan. The legislation provides an option for states — not a mandate; states that want to opt in must get state Legislature approval. Idahoans are best positioned to determine the appropriate truck weight for vehicles operating on roadways within Idaho's boundaries.

While there is considerable debate over acceptable truck weights, the benefits of truck weight flexibility to states far outweigh any negatives. Although some are concerned increased weights would escalate strain on roadways and heavy trucks aren't paying their fair share to maintain highways and bridges, a number of important factors are being overlooked in this debate:

- The weight increase would be optional for states.
- Idaho businesses, shippers and consumers benefit from more efficient, affordable shipping choices.
- Allowing heavier trucks on interstate highways would keep them off less-equipped, smaller roads.
- Truck weight flexibility could improve Idaho's competitiveness.
- Increased truck weights could result in safety and environmental benefits.

Idahoans produce more than is consumed in the state, and a truck weight increase option would let producers better consolidate goods, reduce shipments and refocus resources on jobs and equipment upgrades. The Department of Transportation estimated using six-axle tractor-trailers could save as much as $14.5 billion in shipping costs annually. Nearly 150 businesses and associations, including the Idaho Grower Shippers Association, the Idaho Potato Commission and the Intermountain Forest Association, support SETA.

Idaho has a 10-year pilot project allowing trucks weighing up to 129,000 pounds on approximately 500 miles of state highways in southern Idaho. The program enabled Amalgamated Sugar Co. alone to reduce truck trips by 30,000 and save nearly $300,000. As Idaho businesses compete globally, Idahoans must be able to establish truck

Agree on wise use of parents’ monetary gifts

Dear Dave,
My husband and I have been married for about a year, and in that time we’ve been blessed with several financial gifts from our parents. We keep having this recurring discussion on how to use the money when it’s given to us. I came into the marriage with some debt we’re trying to pay off, but he feels like we should use this gift money like found money and have some fun. What do you think?
— Katie

Dear Katie,
Unless the giver has very specific thoughts on how they’d like you to use the money, then it’s really up to you guys. If the giver wanted you to use it for something specific, though, they probably should have said so or just bought you the item in the first place.

Other than that, I think it’s time someone grew up a little bit and realized it’s not a birthday party when this kind of thing happens. It’s simply money that has come into your household — like a paycheck you’d get on the job, in other words. You don’t go out and blow $100 or whatever on toys or other fun just because it was handed to you by Mom and Dad. That’s how a 10-year-old behaves.

If there’s something you need, and you agree on it together and choose to buy it as a couple, that’s cool. I’ve got no problem with that. But you guys are just starting out, and you’ve got debts to pay. I’m sure he’s a good guy, but it’s time for him to start acting like an adult about this stuff and work with you on getting your financial lives in order!

Summary Judgment

U.S. takes contradictory stances on China, Arizona issues

On May 14, 2010, the U.S. Department of State announced “no major breakthroughs” in bilateral discussions with China “after only their second round of talks about human rights since 2002.” Assistant Secretary for the Bureau of Democracy, Human Rights, and Labor, Michael H. Posner, who along with Ambassador to China Jon Huntsman briefed the media, said that the United States sought a “mature relationship” with China, which would yield “an open discussion” not only of “[China’s] problems,” but also “[the USA’s] own [problems].”
At that point, a reporter asked, “Did the recently passed Arizona immigration law come up? And, if so, did they bring it up or did you bring it up?” Posner responded, “We brought it up early and often. It was mentioned in the first session, and as a troubling trend in our society and an indication that we have to deal with issues of discrimination or potential discrimination, and that these are issues very much being debated in our own society.”
The day the Associated Press reported Posner’s remarks, the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), the Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund (MALDEF), the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), and others filed a federal lawsuit against Arizona challenging the constitutionality of the “Arizona immigration law” (S.B. 1070) in Arizona federal district court. According to their complaint, the law violates the Supremacy Clause and the First and Fourth Amendments.

Less than two months later, on July 5, while Secretary Posner was enjoying a day off (federal offices were closed) to celebrate Independence Day, the Associated Press announced that an American geologist, held and tortured by China’s state security agents for 2½ years, was sentenced to eight years in prison allegedly for spying and collecting state secrets regarding the Chinese oil industry, which “endangered [China’s] national security.”
Ambassador Huntsman was in the courtroom; after the verdict, the U.S. Embassy in Beijing announced it was “dismayed” and urged China to grant the 45-year old Xue Feng — who was born in China, earned his Ph.D. at the University of Chicago, became a U.S. citizen, and works for a Colorado energy company — “humanitarian release and immediately deport him.”
The next day, Ambassador Huntsman’s colleague in the Obama administration, Attorney General Eric Holder, joined with the ACLU, NAACP, MALDEF, and others in challenging S.B. 1070, asserting, “The Constitution and the federal immigration laws do not permit the development of a patchwork of state and local immigration policies throughout the country.”
Meanwhile, public support for the right of Arizona to respond to the crime, chaos, and cost of unrestrained illegal immigration and the refusal of the federal government to protect the nation’s southern border, grew like Topsy. According to a Rasmussen Reports national telephone survey conducted after the Obama administration filed its lawsuit, 61 percent favor the Arizona law for their states and 56 percent oppose the federal lawsuit.

Before the Arizona federal district court, federal lawyers argued that, in determining whether the Arizona law violates the Supremacy Clause, which requires preemption of state law that conflicts with federal law, the question is not whether S.B. 1070 conflicts with the provisions of acts of Congress, but whether it is consistent with current White House policy, including “foreign relations and humanitarian concerns ...”
Incredibly, on July 28, the court agreed with the Obama administration’s audacious and unprecedented argument and struck down much of the Arizona law. The next stop is the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, en route to the Supreme Court of the United States.
Thus, while American citizens, pursuant to the Constitution and the rule of law, seek to address issues of great personal and national concern, an American citizen sits in a hellhole jail in China. Remarkably, Team Obama regards these circumstances as morally equivalent. So the question remains, who is the more embarrassing: Team Obama or Arizona?

weight limits competitive with neighboring states; Montana, Nevada, Utah and Wyoming have less severe federal highway truck weight limits. Canada, the United Kingdom and many other countries also have higher weight limits.
Larger interstate highways are better equipped to carry heavier trucks. SETA includes a user fee for 97,000-pound, six-axle trucks that would fund accelerated bridge repair and maintenance. The higher weight limit would also reduce the number of trucks needed on the road, saving $2.4 billion in pavement restoration costs over 20 years and make roads safer by decreasing vehicle miles traveled.
A smaller number of trucks would provide safety and environmental benefits. Since the United Kingdom raised its gross vehicle weight limit to 97,000 pounds in 2001, fatal truck-related accident rates declined by 35 percent. Reducing the number of trucks also means reduced fuel usage and emissions.
Idahoans deserve flexibility to determine truck weights that make sense for Idaho roadways. SETA would give Idaho and other states the option to increase interstate truck weights safely to get more goods to market with fewer trucks. This is good for Idaho commerce, highway safety and the environment.

Letter to the editor

A big thank you to Owyhee fair 4-H leaders

The 2010 Fair and Rodeo have come and gone, and it is already time to start the 2011 4-H Program.
4-H leaders are the people that volunteer their time and money and work diligently all year long to promote the 4-H program and to benefit the youth of this county. They attend leaders meetings, club meetings and set up and attend the events that take place throughout the year.
These are the people who give up time with their families, friends, jobs and vacations, committing it to the 4-H program. All too often, they do not get the recognition that they deserve; instead hear the downside of things. Anyone that thinks the job is an easy one needs to become a leader or volunteer to help out wherever there expertise lies.
Without the commitment and dedication of our 4-H leaders, the 4-H program could not exist, and just think how much this program benefits our youth.
So next time you see a 4-H leader, let them know that they are doing a great job and that you appreciate all that they do. Because, Owyhee County, you have some great leaders, and from what I saw, a wonderful program.
4-H leaders of Owyhee County; my hat is off to you. You did a great job.

BEFORE THE OWYHEE COUNTY PLANNING & ZONING COMMISSION
On October 6th, 2010 beginning at 10:00 AM the Owyhee County Planning and Zoning Commission will hear testimony in Courtroom 1 at the Courthouse in Murphy, Idaho on the following matter at the time listed below. After the hearing, the Commission will take up administrative matters.
Beginning at 10:00 am, the Commission will hear conditional use permit application 10-10 submitted by AMERICAN WIND GROUP requesting to develop and construct a 60 megawatt community wind farm in the Murphy Flat region of Owyhee County approximately 4 to 5 miles southeast of the Townsite of Murphy. The development will include 24 wind turbines each on a 263 ft tower that has a blade rotor diameter of 328 feet. The bottom of the blade will be about 99 feet above ground level. The top tip of the blade will be at approximately 427 feet high. In addition to the turbines, American Wind Group is requesting to construct a substation, an operations and maintenance office/shop, a research center to include an educational laboratory, dormitory/caretaker quarters, office, and meeting facility. This is estimated to be a $120,000,000 development with the towers and facilities spread over approximately 5000 acres of private land. American Wind Group is proposing placement of the wind turbines and facilities in such a manner as to minimize effects on wildlife and existing agricultural uses while maximizing total energy output.

The subject land is located all in Township 3 South, Range 1 West including: the SE quarter of section 3, the S2 of the N2 of section 4, the S2 of section 4, the E2SE, SENE quarter of section 5, the NESW, E2SESW of section 5, the SE4, SESW of section 7, all of section 8, all of section 9, the W2 of section 10, the NWNE, N2NW of section 15, all of section 16, the N2 of section 17, the N2 of the S2 of section 17, the SESW, SWSE of section 17, the E2 of section 18, the E2 of the W2 of section 18, all of section 19 less tax 1 and less the NWNE lying S&W of Hwy 78, Boise, and the N2NW of section 20, all of the above located in Township 3 South, Range 1 West Boise, Meridian, Owyhee County, Idaho.
A copy of the proposed project is available for review in the Planning and Zoning office. For additional information please contact the Planning and Zoning office at 495-2095.
