Marsing still weighing law enforcement options

Council seeks defined dollar amount,
answers on dispatch
and jail services

The Marsing City Council held a special meeting Nov. 3 to discuss a city-run police department and its options with renewing the contract with the Owyhee County Sheriff's Office.

Overall the council discussed both options that were available and decided further research was needed to nail down actual costs for the department. The contract with OCSO for fiscal year 2010 will continue on a month-to-month basis until a decision can be made.

"I want to know from the council if they want me to go forward with this," Green said. "We will agree to continue the current contract with the sheriff. Vote it in as is and give them 30 days' notice when we make a decision."

The council agreed that when some of

Unruly ram wrangled

Acting Police Chief Sgt. Mike McFetridge walks a goat down West Idaho Avenue in Homedale on Monday afternoon with city maintenance employee Mike Shenk behind him in a UTV to help corral the rogue goat. The goat had escaped from a temporary holding pen that was set up at Dairyland Seed Co. earlier in the day. The goat was captured at Vance Dairy Construction and transported back to Dairyland Seed Co. until its owner could pick it up.

Honor Meet calls more local musicians

High schoolers

Homedale
perform at NNU

Marsing and Homedale high schools will have strong participation next week in the annual Treasure Valley Honor Meet for musicians and choirs.

One musician and eight singers from Marsing have been selected, and Homedale will send two singers and three musicians.

A 200-member choir and 75-piece band will perform at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 17, at the Brandt Center on the Northwest Nazarene University campus in Nampa. The day begins for the musicians with six hours of rehearsal at NNU starting at 9 a.m.

Percussionist Ismael Hinojosa is the only member of the Marsing band who will make the trip.

The Marsing choir members set to perform include Nickie Gilbert and Katlyn Barkell on Soprano I, Dillon Morris, Justin Glenn and Casey Miller on Tenor II and Christian Fialho and Preston Hill on Bass II.

Only 50 students of each voice type (soprano, tenor, bass and

For Pete Smit, the importance of patriotism and the freedoms that have been given to citizens of the United States is something younger generations need to remember.

While he didn't see direct combat experience, Smit served in the National Guard during Vietnam, and knows the importance of freedom through the sacrifices that family and friends have made in the country's armed services.

"Patriotism is my main theme. We all need to remember what our forefathers have given for us to enjoy all the wonderful things we do today," Smit said. "I am going to do speak from a kids' perspective on patriotism. I know looking back on my youth, I didn't understand what patriotism really meant. I want to help foster an appreciation for the country."

✓ Vets Day: Military veterans invited to share perspective, listen to patriotic songs

Smit said that many of the children look at patriotism as "just saluting the flag and saying the pledge". He said the focus needs to be on understanding the importance of all those who have sacrificed to keep them free.

"I really want to focus on patriotism from a kids' point of view. Patriotism is a way of life. Many go through the motions but don't understand the importance of those who served and gave their lives," Smit said. "I want to get the kids more involved in their country. It is my intention to help them develop their own thoughts about patriotism and what it means to them."

He credits much of the success of the annual assembly to the willingness of the community and the school district's commitment to honoring the veterans.

"One of the greatest things is the community we live in," Smit said. "The parents and the schools are committed to remembering Veterans Day. In many communities you don't see the outpouring of support for events like this. For the children to be able to sing and give presentations of their freedom is pretty amazing."

The assembly will be held in the Marsing School District cafeteria and starts at 1:30 p.m. and will run until 3:30 p.m. Elementary students from all grade levels will sing patriotic songs throughout the program.

Events for Veterans Day kick off with a meet-and-greet in the "Blue Gym" at the elementary school at 11 a.m. Veterans are encourage to participate and have the opportunity to meet students in the elementary school.

The assembly will start with the singing of the National Anthem followed by a presentation by fifth-grade students about Veterans Day. Kindergarten students will sing "Yankee Doodle", first-graders "This Land is Your Land", second grade "Lets Hear it for America", third grade will sing the "Marine Hymn" and the fourth grade will sing a combo "You're a Grand Old Flag" and "50 Stars".

The fifth-graders will do another presentation on what the colors of the flag mean and then sing "Flag of Freedom", followed by another presentation on the meaning of the pledge. The audience will then recite the Pledge of Allegiance.

"This is really a great way to get the kids involved and for them to learn the importance of not only Veterans Day but about our country," Smit said.

Smit will speak on the importance of patriotism and be followed by an open mic with veterans having an opportunity to address students. Dawn Sandmeyer, the high school band and choir director, will play taps. Those in attendance will conclude the assembly by singing "God Bless America".

For more information about the assembly, contact Marsing Elementary School at (208) 896-411, ext. 497.

Vets welcome at HMS for Thursday event

Service men and women from all branches of the armed forces are invited to attend an assembly held in their honor Thursday at Homedale Middle School.

The Veterans Day Assembly will be held from 10:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. inside the school's gymnasium, 3437 Johnstone Road.

The assembly is open to the public. Students have been asked to invite any relatives who are veterans, but HMS counselor Amy Winters also wants any veteran in the community to attend the event. Contact Winters at (208) 337-5780 or by e-mail at awinters@homedaleschools.org for details.

The assembly will include a slide show of students' relatives who have served, and all veterans in attendance will receive a pamphlet of appreciation created by the HMS journalism class taught by Mark Boothby.

The gym will be decorated with posters created by Shannon Johnson's art students.

The top three posters will receive cash awards, and the winning entries will be announced at the assembly.

The essay contest returns as well with the top three essayists earning cash prizes and also reading their essays at the assembly.

The cash available in both contests is $10 for first place, $5 for second and $3 for third.

Homedale students sing on Veterans Day

Children will learn about flag folding ceremony

Children will sing patriotic songs and learn about flag etiquette Thursday during Homedale Elementary School's Veterans Day assembly.

Veterans are invited to attend the event, which begins at 1 p.m. inside the school's gymnasium, 420 W. Washington Ave. Call Pam Gibbens at the school, (208) 337-4033, for more information.

Veterans also will be encouraged to address the students.

Lee Savell, the school district's music director for kindergarteners through sixth-graders, will lead the HES students through several songs, including "The Star-spangled Banner", "Grand Old Flag", "Say Something Good About America", "Let's Hear It for America", "God Bless America", "I Like It Here" and "God Bless the USA".

Cub Scouts will present the colors, and Idaho National Guard Capt. Charlie Garrison will help fold the flag and explain what each fold in the flag-folding ceremony means.

Adrian MS holds bingo night

Adrian Middle School is hosting its fourth annual bingo night on Nov. 18 from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m., at the school, 108 High Street.

The fundraiser supports the school's eighth-grade field trip to the Oregon Museum of Science and Industry in Portland.

Silent auction item donations from businesses are sought.

Veterans Day holiday closures announced

Some schools, most county offices open; Thanksgiving plans unveiled

The Veterans Day holiday this week has government offices juggling their schedules, which is good practice for the day after Thanksgiving later this month.

Most Owyhee County government offices will be open Thursday, but the Division of Motor Vehicles office in Marsing and the county probation office and magistrate court in Homedale will close for Veterans Day.

Law enforcement service from the Owyhee County Sheriff's Office and the Homedale Police Department will be available.

Also closed Thursday city government offices in Homedale, Marsing, Grand View and Jordan Valley. Grand View and Jordan Valley are normally closed on Thursdays, City Halls in Marsing and Homedale will close for the holiday.

Schools in Homedale and Marsing will remain open on Veterans Day, while Jordan Valley observes the holiday on Thursday, and Adrian schools will close Friday for the holiday.

Banks in Homedale, Marsing and Grand View will be closed Thursday.

Grocery stores in Homedale and Marsing will keep normal hours Thursday, with Paul's Market in Homedale open from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., and Marsing's Snake River Market open from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. Homedale Drug will be open, too.

The Owyhee Avalanche office will be open Veterans Day.

The day after Thanksgiving is a different story throughout the county.

All county government offices will close Nov. 25 and Nov. 26 with the exception of the sheriff's office, which will maintain patrol and dispatch services. The county courthouse will be closed both days, with the exception of clerk's office for recording and court business.

The Marsing DMV office and the probation office in Homedale will be open Nov. 26. Magistrate court will be closed Nov. 25-26.

Homedale City Hall will be opened Nov. 26, while the city council's second monthly meeting, scheduled for Thanksgiving (Nov. 25), has been canceled.

A decision on whether Marsing City Hall will be open on Nov. 26 hasn't been made yet, City Clerk Janice Bicandi said.

County banks will be closed on Thanksgiving Day, but will reopen on Nov. 26.

Schools in the Homedale and Bruneau-Grand View districts will be closed Nov. 24-26 for Thanksgiving break, while Marsing schools will close Nov. 25-26.

Jordan Valley students get out of school at noon on Nov. 24 and have Nov. 25-26 off, while Adrian students will go to school for a half-day on Nov. 24 and stay home on Nov. 25-26.

Paul's Market will be closed on Thanksgiving, while Snake River Mart will be open from 6 a.m. to 2 p.m. Homedale Drug will close on Thanksgiving Day. The state liquor dispensary (located at Snake River Mart in Marsing and Homedale Drug in Homedale) will be closed for the holiday.

The Avalanche office will be closed Nov. 25-26 for Thanksgiving, which will alter some deadlines for the Dec. 1 edition:

- Deadlines for public notices (noon Nov. 26) and classified ads (noon Nov. 29) will remain the same.
- Display advertising for the Dec. 1 issue must be received by noon on Nov. 24, and the letters to the editor deadline is 5 p.m. that day.

OCHS bazaar space for rent

Vendor space reservations are available for the Owyhee County Historical Society's Christmas Bazaar.

Spaces cost $25 per table, and the OCHS will provide the table and chairs during the Dec. 4-5 bazaar at the Owyhee County Historical Museum in Murphy.

For more information on booth space, call (208) 834-2077 or (208) 495-2319.

In addition to the usual crafts bazaar, the OCHS will be selling Charlie Brown Christmas trees cut from the area around Silver City, and lunch will be served.

The bazaar featuring local arts, crafts, food and home accessories will run from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 4, and from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 5.

Poll worker: Sheriff Crandall disrupted election process

Sheriff: Exercise in courtroom part of dispatch training

A chief election judge wants an apology from Owyhee County Sheriff Daryl Crandall after she said his conduct startled poll workers and voters in Murphy.

According to election judge Eleanor Widger, Crandall brought dispatch supervisor Bev White into Courtroom 1 around 5 p.m. on Nov. 2 while the general election was in progress. Widger said he told White to sit in the jurors box and started "grilling her".

"Why did you not give the officer the intersecting street? You just got an officer killed," he yelled at her," Widger said.

The Secretary of State's office was notified, but county Prosecuting Attorney Douglas D. Emery said Monday that no further action is expected.

The sheriff said his interaction with White was part of training.

"We were training them for what it is like for a dispatcher to be sitting on the stand and having an attorney fire questions at you," he said.

"We really were in there for a minute, tops," he said. "I asked her three questions and then we left.

"If it had been real busy in there, we probably wouldn't have done anything. If I had felt we were disrupting people, we wouldn't have done it. Obviously, if an officer had gotten shot, we wouldn't have been there doing that."

The sheriff said he wants to ensure his dispatchers get more information on calls.

"What they do in dispatch is vital," he said. "If they somehow failed to perform their duties, it could come back on them in court."

Widger said Crandall entered the courtroom, walked behind the ballot box and ignored her when she said that he had already voted.

"I said to him, 'We are having an election here', and he smarted off and said something about, 'I'm the sheriff'," Widger said.

Widger said that Crandall's conduct upset poll workers and one woman who was voting. At the time, there were three poll workers and two voters in the room.

Widger said she had to take a nitroglycerin pill to calm down.

"I've been sitting on the election board since the 1980s, and I've never had an incident like this before," she said. "The sheriff walks in and never says a word to us, not a single thing to us, about what he was doing."

Widger said she will write a letter asking Crandall to apologize to the poll workers and the voters.

County Clerk Charlotte Sherburn said she informed the Secretary of State's elections office after Widger complained to her. She said Monday morning that the woman voter told her that she was not disrupted by the incident.

"We're working on it," Sherburn said. "I can assure you that it's not something that will be swept under the rug. It is very, very serious."

Poll workers counting ballots across the hall in Courtroom 2 also heard Crandall yelling.

Under Idaho Code 18-2313, a person can be charged with a misdemeanor for disrupting an election through willful disturbance or riotous conduct, but Deputy Secretary of State Tim Hurst said the incident disrupted but didn't halt the election process.

"It wouldn't raise it to ... you're talking about a criminal offense," Hurst said. "If it is, that would be investigated as a criminal activity by the local prosecutor and by the sheriff, and I think that's part of the problem."

Emery said Monday morning that he had yet to speak to the sheriff on the matter.

"The Attorney General was allowed to weigh in and said there's nothing by way of criminal charges or violations on the issue," Emery said.

Homedale council looks at paving streets in LID

Homedale city councilmen are scheduled once again to discuss paving streets within the Local Improvement District.

Road paving is in the LID update set for the public works department report t this month’s only council meeting, which takes place at 6 p.m. today at City Hall, 31 W. Wyoming Ave.

The council has been wrestling with how to pay for paving the remaining areas of the project, including the intersection of 1st Street East and East Idaho Avenue and 1st Street East and East Wyoming Avenue. In some cases, the paving work has been factored into proposed LID assessments for individual property owners.

The options include paying for the work with LID funds or money from the city’s streets and highways fund.

Councilman Eino Hendrickson disagrees with paying for the paving with proceeds from the $500,000 Idaho Community Block Grant because it will add to the property owners’ 10-year assessment bills.

He also disagrees with property owners paying for paving because upkeep of the streets is the city’s responsibility.

According to an inventory previously provided to the council by public works supervisor Larry Bauer, 10,800 feet of paving has been completed in the course of the LID work, for a total cost of $37,600. Bauer said that the paving was done at a cost of $3 per foot because of Davis-Bacon wage requirements triggered by the use of federal money (the grant) during the project.

There is another 7,560 feet to be paved in the downtown business corridor, but Bauer said that work would cost $15,120 ($2 per foot) because Davis-Bacon doesn’t apply. In addition to 1st Street East, pavement left to be done includes 1st Street West from East Owyhee Avenue north to the alleyway.

Outside of the business corridor, Bauer’s list includes “distant future needs” for paving along Owyhee Avenue and East Wyoming Avenue west of the Bowen-Parker-Day CPAs building to the Main Street intersection.

The price tag for that work is $26,150.

HPD seeks in-car cams

Acting Homedale Police Chief Sgt. Mike McFetridge plans to ask the council for permission to spend $6,000 to buy six dashboard cameras from Idaho State Police.

McFetridge said he will try to use some grant money to buy the cameras, which will be installed in the five regular patrol cars and the one vehicle for reservists.

The opportunity arose because ISP is upgrading to new cameras, he said.

✓ Marsing: More discussion expected at tonight’s regular council meet the “unforeseen” numbers have been compiled they would revisit forming a police department.

“I think you need to look at this as a remodel project,” City Attorney Stephanie Bonney said. “You know you can afford $75,000. How much more can you afford for the other items?”

Bonney encouraged Green to contact cities similar to Marsing to get an estimate on what their law enforcement costs are. She referenced the City of Stanley and its small department. Stanley employs one full-time chief and one reserve officer. The resort town has a population of around 105 residents.

Marsing City Clerk Janice Bicandi said the City of Stanley pays around $64,525 yearly for its police protection.

The council heard from residents both in favor of and against the formation of a police department based in Marsing. Longtime resident and former City Council member Jerry Bowman spoke in opposition of forming a police department, saying it was tried once and failed.

“You are getting yourself into a nightmare,” Bowman said. “I was on the council in the ‘60s and ‘70s. We had a police department in those days. We had three officers, one was fired, one quit and one stabbed a man.”

Along with Bowman, the council heard from two other residents opposed to the formation of the city-run police. They also received one letter in opposition. The Council listened to statements from residents who are very eager to see a city-controlled department.

“I’m the one who sits at the school waiting for an officer when something happens late at night,” Marsing School District employee Dianna Branin said.

“My biggest concern is (Diana) going to school at the middle of the night,” Rick Branin said.

Green followed the comments from the Branins, reminding everyone “there can still be periods where there isn’t someone on duty”.

Of the concerns that were raised by residents and council members, the unforeseen costs, turnover and used equipment were of the largest concerns.

“The turnover is a problem,” Green said. “When there is turnover, you pat them on the back and say good luck. You can’t fault a person for wanting to better themselves. If they are working hard while here and move on to something better for them and their families, we should be happy for them.”

At the city’s request, former Owyhee County Sheriff Gary Aman provided assistance to the City of Marsing in creating a budget for the council to work from. The estimated budget worked out to nearly $125,000 per year, which included the start-up for the department.

The city has researched other cities that are comparable. The police department in Hayden Lake runs a budget of nearly $92,000, Hagerman runs around $112,000 and Ashton $156,000.

“I am aware there are huge unknowns. Buying used equipment, yeah, it is used, but it is a start,” Green said. “We have a lot of support from other agencies.”

Green said that agencies from Homedale Police, Wilder Police, Caldwell Police, Canyon County Sheriff and The College of Idaho have offered assistance in equipment, training and hiring of officers.

“I look at it as a business. If you aren’t happy as the consumer, you go somewhere else,” Council member Aron Streibel said. “Part of my issue with the current contract is we are discussing the same issues. We are told we are getting more than what we pay for and we should be happy.”

The council decided that it would be in the best interest of the residents of Marsing to stick with the current contract with OCSO until a decision can be made.

The council will revisit the formation of its own police department during its regular monthly meeting at 7 p.m. today at Marsing City Hall, 425 Main Street.

alto) are selected for the Honor Choir.

Homedale choir contributions will come from senior Ada Demshar and sophomore Nicole Keller.

Homedale band members include freshman Kathryn Thatcher on euphonium and sophomores Brenda Uriarte (clarinet) and MacKenzie McMichael (alto saxophone).

Homedale music director Jessica Hanna said the three instrumentalists are the first band members to earn spots on the Honor Band in some time.

Three other HHS singers —Taylor Thomas and Rabecka Krasko (Soprano II) and Kirsi Thatcher (Soprano II) return to the Honor Choir.

Once a student earns a spot in the Honor Meet, they are invited to return for subsequent years until they graduate from high school.

Next week’s concert will feature five or six songs for the choir, which will perform with an accompanist and a guest conductor chosen by the music directors from the various schools. Led by a guest conductor selected by the directors, the Honor Band will perform four or five songs.

To qualify for the meet, which was created more than 30 years ago to showcase talent from smaller schools, students auditioned at Middleton High School on Oct. 25 (choir) and Oct. 26 (band). Choir members began rehearsal at Middleton on Oct. 26 and both groups rehearsed for two hours per night at Middleton on Nov. 8 and Nov. 15. The rehearsals continue Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at Northwest Nazarene University.

Patrick Dale Henson

Patrick Dale Henson, son of Vernon and Bette Henson of Olympia, Washington, passed away unexpectedly on November 5, 2010. Patrick was the grandson to Wasalea and the late “Poke” Henson of Homedale.

Memorial services will be held Sunday, November 14, 2010 in Olympia. Condolences can be sent to the family at Vernon and Bette Henson, 3201 62nd Court S.E., Olympia, WA 98501. An account for his young son, Kaeden Henson, has been set up with Olympia Credit Union, PO Box 7549, Olympia, WA 98507. Please make checks payable to Kaeden Henson.

Wilma Law

Wilma Law, age 94, passed away peacefully at her home near Greenleaf on November 4, 2010. Wilma was born on April 15, 1916 to Jennie LaVern Druliner Miller Gahley and F. William Gahley in the Ten Davis community between Notus and Parma, Idaho. She attended the schools in the Parma area, and went to Business College in Boise. She worked for the Compton Transfer Company in Boise for two and a half years before her marriage on October 22, 1938 to Paul J. Law of Wilder, Idaho. They made their home in the Greenleaf area, where she has resided for the last 72 years. In 1960, Wilma worked for the Canyon School District 139 and continued there for 21 years, serving as clerk of the district. Wilma loved her home and family. She enjoyed people and appreciated her many friends. She also enjoyed hunting, fishing, picking huckleberries, playing bridge, entertaining friends and family, and attending various events at the Homedale Senior Center. She was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star since December 17, 1941 and was a past Matron.

Wilma is survived by her son, Robert S. and Gloria Law of Wilder, and her grandson, Tyler R. and Lindsay Law. She was preceded in death by her husband, Paul in 1987; an infant daughter, Janet Kay; her parents; a half-brother, Winston Miller; and a half-sister, Madge Miller Spaeth.

On October 26, 1993 Wilma and a 1928 school friend, Earl Jameson, renewed their friendship after each had had happy and loving marriages, and wanted to spend the remainder of their lives together. They spent many happy years together living and traveling until Earl’s death in 2002.

The family wishes to thank Hearts for Hospice for their caring assistance and support. Memorial donations may be sent to the Wilder United Methodist Church or the Homedale Senior Center. A memorial service will be held Wednesday, November 10, 2010 at 1:00 PM at Flahiff Funeral Chapel, Caldwell. Condolences may be sent to the family at www.FlahiffFuneralChapel.com.

Bet You Didn’t Know

The Earps’ eyes were best at the OK Corral

That famous gunfight ... at the OK Corral ... only 34 shots fired that day ... about even for each side. ... However, the Earps were better marksmen than the Clantons. ... Earp’s group scored 13 hits and the Clantons only three.

in the United States to pass an ordinance requiring you to get a license before you could serenade a woman. Did that in 1838.

Italy comes in as the first country to produce lace ... started doing so in the early 1500s.

Old Benjamin Franklin used to swim in the Thames River in England. What was his favorite stroke? The breast stroke. ... Tough old guy, old Ben.

U Thant ... that fellow from Burma who was the secretary-general of the United Nations back in the 1950s ... his name means ... “Mr. Clean” in English.

If you ever need a picture to see what a 1926 Hupmobile looked like ... just look on the back of a ten dollar bill ... it’s the car parked in front of the U.S. Treasury building.

Can you name thre cities in Italy whose names are now associated with color? Magenta, Siena and Venice, as in Venetian Red.

Buckaroo biographer speaks at Bruneau and Beyond luncheon

A Payette author who has penned biographies on hall-of-fame buckaroos is the next guest for the Bruneau and Beyond luncheon series.

Les Sweeney will focus on his research of western history during his noontime talk next Wednesday at the Bruneau Valley Library, 32073 Ruth St., in Bruneau.

The event is free and lunch is served, but organizers request RSVPs by Monday to ensure enough food is prepared. Reserve a spot by calling (208) 845-2131 or (208) 845-2345. This is the last luncheon for 2010. The program takes a break in December and will return in January.

Sweeney has researched several old-time buckaroos, including legendary African American buckaroo Henry Harris and Indian cowboy Albino Tais. Sweeney was successful in getting both men into the Buckaroo Hall of Fame, which is located in Winnemucca, Nev., and the National Multicultural Western Heritage Hall of Fame, which is located in Fort Worth, Texas. Both Tais and Harris were inducted posthumously into the Fort Worth hall in 2009. Tais entered the Buckaroo Hall of Fame in 200 and Harris joined him on the list of honorees in 2008.

In addition to short biographies on Harris and Tais, the author currently is researching a book on a massacre entitled “Only One Survived.”

Girl Scouts bring color to flagpole

Landscaping part of community service project started in spring

A Homedale Girl Scout troop recently completed landscaping at Homedale Middle School.

Taking lessons learned in a program (or “Journey”) called Breathe, Cadette level Girl Scouts (sixth- through eighth-graders) from Troop 075 produced a community service project centered on the HMS flagpole and the memorial stone laid last spring for Marcos Jaramillo.

“Breathe educated the girls about air and how valuable clean air is and how air affects everything around us,” said Brenda Stuart, leader of the nine-member troop.

Work began last spring but was interrupted by the close of the school year, Stuart said.

The project was completed Oct. 27-28 as six girls used concrete pavers to build a half-circle around the flagpole and then put the finishing touches on a flower bed created by the school last year. The troop added spring bulbs, shrubs and ornamental grass. The six girls who completed the project were seventh-graders Maya Correa, Brittany Garcia and Jordan Stuart and sixth-graders Riley Haun, Sarah Jones and Emma McMichael.

The seventh-graders earned the “Affirm” badge, which is the last of three badges available in the Breathe Journey. Previously they had earned “Aware” and “Alert” badges.

Stuart said two of the three

sixth-graders were Junior level scouts a year ago and bridged up to Cadettes. Jones is new to scouting. The sixth-graders earned community service patches for their work on the project.

“I received an e-mail from (HMS principal) Luci Asumendi-Mereness ... and she is very pleased with our finished product as I our troop,” Stuart said.

The flagpole and improvements are located near the school’s front entrance.

Library youth group works on sending cards to troops

Tweens and teens meet in Homedale on Tuesday

The Homedale Public Library’s Tween and Teen Program is focusing on military families at its next gathering.

The group, which is open to ages 10 to 17, will make holiday cards for military personnel, their families and veterans during their next meeting, but anyone is encouraged to create a card for military personnel.

The next Tween and Teen gathering runs from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Tuesday at the library, 125 W. Owyhee Ave.

“This will be an activity to promote selflessness among our tweens and tweens, to give them a chance to give back to those who protect our rights and our freedom,” program coordinator Sara Martin said.

The library will accept cards — limited to one per household — until Dec. 2, and the Tween and Teen group then will send the cards in one package through the American Red Cross as part of the Pitney Bowes Holiday Mail for Heroes promotion.

For more information, call Martin in the afternoons at (208) 337-4228.

Red, white and blue sugar cookies will be served as a snack Tuesday.

Martin offered tips for folks who want to participate in sending cards to the troops and their families:

- Include your heartfelt sentiments along with a holiday greeting and sign all cards
- Entitle cards with generic terms such as “Dear Service Member, Family or Veteran”
- Limit cards to one per person or family
- Do not put cards in individual envelopes. Library staff will bundle them into one large envelope to send to the Red Cross.

Additionally, she said do not:

- Send letters, care packages or monetary gifts
- Include personal information such as home address or e-mail address
- Use glitter because excessive amounts can aggravate health issues of wounded recipients
- Include inserts of any kind as they must be removed in the screening process

Sending well wishes to veterans and their families isn’t the only service endeavor Teens and Tweens plans.

“We will also have handouts for more volunteer opportunities for the tweens and teens to do with their parents this holiday season if they are interested,” Martin said.

OCSO gears up to help 21 Owyhee kids for Christmas

Sheriff’s office ready to achieve goal of $3,675 for Shop with a Cop

The Owyhee County Sheriff’s Office has set a goal to help bring Christmas to 21 local kids and families that might otherwise go without this holiday season.

With the support of all OCSO deputies, dispatchers and jailers, the office is setting its goal at raising the needed $3,500 to support local children’s shopping excursion at the Nampa Kmart on Dec. 4.

“It is a labor of love,” Owyhee

County Jail Cpl. Jayne Kingston said. “Every single person in this office gets involved. It turns some of the grumpiest officers into Santa Clauses.”

According to Kingston, OCSO has raised $2,200 through donations from employees and county residents. Each child participating is budgeted $175 to pick out presents for themselves and their families.

“I don’t think we had a deputy get into their rigs last year without a tear in their eye,” Kingston said. “All but one dispatcher and jailer will participate this year.”

Sheriff Daryl Crandall said other local agencies will assist in covering calls around the county while deputies participate.

“Officers do whatever it takes to make this happen for the children,” Crandall said. “The looks on the faces of the kids and the faces of the officers as they participate pulls at your heart strings. It isn’t just about fighting crime, it is about helping people. This is a great way to help local children.”

District 3 Commissioner-elect Joe Merrick has also committed to sponsoring a child, Kingston said. In past years, she has witnessed deputies opening their wallets in the store to help provide “just a little bit more”.

Last year, OCSO sponsored 11 children for the annual event that pairs law enforcement agencies from around the valley with local children in need. The event allows the children to meet officers, receive a full breakfast and be rushed through downtown Nampa, with lights and sirens.

“Kids really don’t do this for themselves,” Kingston said. “We have some kids that show up in slippers because they don’t have shoes. Some kids show up without jackets. It can be tough. They always look for the things the family needs and not themselves. It has taught me a lot. It isn’t about what you get but what you give.”

For those interested in donating, contact dispatch at (208) 495-1154, or mail checks to Owyhee County Sheriff/Shop with a Cop, P.O. Box 128, Murphy, ID 83650.

Dental sealants at Marsing Elementary School

Registered dental hygienist Samantha Kenney and dental assistant Camber Christian use ultraviolet light to cure tooth sealants on second-grader Chloe Heitz at Marsing Elementary School last Wednesday. Delta Dental provided free dental sealants for 116 students at the elementary and 44 students at the middle school.

Chamber sets date for bowling fundraiser, holiday parade

The Homedale Chamber of Commerce met Nov. 2 for its monthly luncheon at Owyhee Lanes and Restaurant and discussed their upcoming bowling fundraiser and the annual holiday parade.

The bowling fundraiser is scheduled for Saturday at 6 p.m. at Owyhee Lanes and Restaurant. A limited number of entries are available. Chamber President Gavin Parker said teams should consist of six people and can be made up of employees or customers.

“This isn’t going to be that competitive,” Parker said. “It is just a fun time and a great way to network.”

The event is limited to the first eight teams that register or 48 people. Team sponsorships cost $200 and individual entries are $35.

Entry fee covers bowling, prizes, appetizers and beverages. Those sponsoring a team are asked to provide a raffle prize or gift certificate for every team that is signed up. As of Monday, four teams had registered for the event.

Parker discussed the annual holiday parade that is scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 11. The parade will start at 10 a.m., participants are encouraged to contact the Chamber to register their entries.

“This is always a highlight of the year,” Parker said. “It always seems to be a pretty good atmosphere. If anyone has ideas for a theme, they should contact me.”

The Chamber is also looking for submission of photos for the City of Homedale Web site. The Web site is a joint venture between the Chamber and the city.

“Sheila is working hard on updating the Web site and we need photos,” Parker said. “If you have pictures we could use them.”

Those wanting to submit photos should contact Sheila Matteson at, smatteson@daairylandseed.com.

✓ Turnout: GOP nominee gets 71.7 percent of vote voters cast ballots.

Republican nominee Kelly Aberasturi won the District 2 Commissioner race by a substantial margin over two challengers.

Aberasturi carried 73.9 percent of the ballots, earning 2,045 votes. Republican incumbent George Hyer, who mounted a write-in campaign, was a distant second, garnering 403 votes or 14.6 percent of the vote. Democratic nominee Jaymie Mercado collected nearly half of her 321 votes in the North Homedale, South Homedale and South Marsing precincts.

The commissioner-elect earned 1,081 out of a possible 1,508 votes in the Marsing-Homedale precincts (71.7 percent).

Aberasturi, who currently serves as the chair of the Owyhee County Fair Board, will begin a four-year term on the Board of County Commissioners in January. He said Monday that he will resign his position on the fair board before taking the oath of office in January.

Aberasturi will be joined by new District 3 Commissioner Joe Merrick (R-Grand View), who ran unopposed in last week’s general election after knocking off incumbent Dick Freund (R-Murphy) in May’s GOP primary. Merrick will serve a two-year term.

County Clerk Charlotte Sherburn said Thursday that Merrick and Aberasturi are registered to take part in the Idaho Association of Counties training session for newly elected officials. Sherburn also said that she and District 1 Commissioner Jerry Hoagland (R-Wilson) also will attend the training set for Nov. 16-17 in Twin Falls.

Owyhee County voters also pushed strong behind Idaho House of Representatives District 23B incumbent Stephen Hartgen (R-Twin Falls), giving him 2,196 of the 2,754 votes cast (79.7 percent) in balloting with Democrat Bill Chisholm of Buhl. Hartgen earned another two-year term as he also carried the western Twin Falls County portion of the legislative district, too.

All other state legislative and county candidates were running unopposed.

County Clerk Charlotte Sherburn, County Assessor Brett Endicott, County Treasurer Brenda Richards and County Coroner Harvey Grimme all will begin new four-year terms in January.

Also re-elected in uncontested races were District 23A Rep. Jim Patrick (R-Filer) and District 23 state Sen. Bert Brackett (R-Rogerson).

While 57 percent of the county’s 5,158 registered voters showed up at the polls Nov. 2 (a total of 2,931 voters, according to county records), the strongest turnout was seen in places where eligible citizens didn’t have to stand in line.

The county clerk’s office reported that 89 percent of the absentee ballots (247 of 279 requested) were turned in at the precinct in the Murphy courthouse.

Pleasant Valley led the way among the county’s three mail-only precincts with a 75 percent (53 of 71) response rate. Of the county’s 13 precincts, Pleasant Valley was the only one Hyer came close to carrying. Aberasturi had 30 votes, and Hyer received 20. Only 51 of the precinct’s 53 voters participated in the commissioners balloting.

Three Creek also saw strong participation with 20 of 28 registered voters (71 percent) returning ballots. Although Riddle’s mail-in rate was only 55 percent (31 of 56), the showing still outperformed any of the four polling places in the Marsing-Homedale area.

South Homedale (53 percent) and South Marsing (52 percent) had the best turnout in the largest pocket of county population. The best turnout among walk-up precincts came at the Murphy-Reynolds-Wilson Firehouse as Wilson district voters showed up at a rate of 66 percent (312 of 471 registered voters).

The central and eastern precincts had far better turnout than the more populous western side of the county. In Bruneau, 63 percent of the registered voters (215 of 341) cast ballots, while Murphy (58 percent, 147 of 255), Oreana (57 percent, 83 of 145) and Grand View (56 percent, 259 of 465) all had rates mirroring the overall county turnout.

Aberasturi earned 519 votes in those precincts (80.8 percent), while Mercado had 59 (9.2 percent) and Hyer 64 (10 percent), including 55 votes in Murphy.

Aberasturi carried every precinct except Riddle, where Mercado beat him by three votes, 16-13.

The new state law requiring voters to show ID before receiving a ballot didn’t prove much of a disruption, Sherburn said. Those who did not have identification were asked to sign an affidavit.

“In talking to the chief judges, there were very few problems,” Sherburn said. “Everyone was willing to fill out the affidavit.

The clerk said she heard of only one prospective voter who refused to show his ID and instead asked for an affidavit. That occurred in the South Marsing precinct, Sherburn said.

St. Luke’s mobile unit offers mammograms again

Appointments are being taken for two Owyhee County visits by the St. Luke’s Mobile Mammography Unit in December.

The first stop comes at the Valley Health Clinic, 350 Main St., Grand View, from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 21.

The specially equipped coach will be stationed in the parking lot of the Homedale Moxie Java Bistro, 404 U.S. Highway 95, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 27.

The two stops are part of the St. Luke’s program to provide breast cancer screening in conjunction with hospitals and clinics in outlying communities in Southwest Idaho. The mobile service provides easy access to screening technology that aids in the early detection of breast cancer.

To make an appointment for either visit, call St. Luke’s at (208) 706-2055.

S. Owyhee woman joins FSA board

Southern Owyhee County resident Sherry Crutcher has been appointed to the Idaho Farm Service Agency State Committee.

She is a member of the Shoshone-Paiute Tribes and serves as the Tribes' land/natural resources director on the Duck Valley Reservation.

Crutcher's appointment by the Obama administration was announced Nov. 2. She formerly served on FSA committees in Owyhee and Elmore counties.

"Sherry will be a real asset to our State Committee, as are all of the current members," State Executive Director Dick Rush said. "She has been an elected member of the Owyhee and Elmore FSA County Committees, is very familiar with our programs and comes from a heritage of Idaho farming and ranching.

"Idaho will benefit from having her as part of the FSA Idaho State Committee."

Born in Owyhee, Nev., Crutcher and her husband, Robert, and son, RC, own and operate a cattle ranch. She grew up in a ranching family, too, and was named Miss Shoshone Paiute in 1980-81.

As a member of the state committee, Crutcher will oversee FSA activities such as carrying out agricultural conservation programs, resolving appeals from the ag community and helping keep producers informed about programs.

According to an FSA press release, Crutcher is the last appointee to the state committee, joining Grangeville's Bobbi Bodine, committee chair Scott McLeod from Nez Perce and Amy Woodworth-Wynn of American Falls.

PA's office picks up recent law grad as volunteer attorney

Former Melba student helping out while looking for permanent position

The Owyhee County Prosecutor's Office has picked up recent law school graduate Hyrum Zeyer to help with prosecutorial duties for the county.

Zeyer was sworn in as an unpaid deputy prosecuting attorney by Douglas Emery recently and has been assigned on a case and will work on special assignments while searching for full-time work. Zeyer is a 1997 graduate of Melba High School where he participated in football, track and basketball.

He received his undergraduate degree at Brigham Young University in Utah in Agronomy and graduated from Willamette University in Salem, Ore. with a law degree. Zeyer passed the Idaho Bar Association test in July.

"It has been 10 years since I have been back in Melba," Zeyer said. "It is good to be back in the area and be around the good people here. I like the idea of prosecuting and court work. It has been good to be down (in Murphy), Mr. Emery has been great."

While working on his law degree at Willamette, Zeyer was assigned to a few cases in the Salem area.

"I did prosecuting work in law school, I did seven trials," Zeyer said. "They were misdemeanor criminal cases, driving under the influence and resisting arrest-type incidents. I was above 50 percent with my convictions while in school. I feel good about that."

Zeyer will work under the supervision of Emery and fill in where needed working Monday and Tuesdays until he finds something fulltime. He has been married for eight years and has a three-month-old son.

BLM horse gather planned Tuesday

Traffic on some roads will be delayed for safety reasons

Wild horse gathers are tentatively set to begin Tuesday in two Bureau of Land Management Herd Management Areas in Owyhee County.

The wild horse catch, treat and release gathers will take place in the Black Mountain and Hardtrigger HMAs, which are located south of the Snake River between Murphy and U.S. Highway 95.

The gathers will take place in a few places within both the Black Mountain and Hardtrigger areas. The federal agency cautions that beginning Tuesday there will be travel delays up to three hours on some roads running south of Idaho highway 78 between Marsing and Murphy. The delays are required for the safety of the gather operations.

BLM will maintain a Web site throughout the gather to inform the public about the specific observation opportunities each day at www.id.blm.gov. During gather operations, those with questions or concerns are encouraged to call 866-4MUSTANG (866-468-7826). Additionally, a recorded message about the following day's gathering activities will also be updated at (208) 384-3227 for those calling after regular business hours.

The operation is part of a management program in which the BLM works to ensure that population levels are in balance with rangeland resources and other uses of the public lands. Wild horses have virtually no predators and can double in population about every four years if not managed.

The primary purpose of the catch, treat and release gathers is to slow the population growth of these two herds by treating the mares with a contraceptive agent (Porcine zona pellucida PZP) and releasing the horses back to the HMAs. With fertility control vaccine treatment, productivity can be reduced substantially in the short-term, as treatments may be effective for up to three years.

The BLM believes that there is potential for savings in reduced removal and holding costs through the use of fertility control in wild horses.

"BLM gathered these two herds in 2007, so their numbers are still within the Appropriate Management Level (AML), which provides a good opportunity to enhance our wild horse program management by conducting a catch, treat and release gather," Boise BLM District Manager Aden Seidlitz said.

"Eventually slowing the population growth of these two herds lengthens the amount of time between gathers, and reduces the resultant stress on the horses. It also enables us to protect the range from deterioration which is associated with overpopulation of wild horses."

JV man unhurt in N. Idaho crash

A Jordan Valley man was uninjured in a three-car crash Friday morning in Northern Idaho.

According to an Idaho State Police report, Thomas Davis was a passenger in a Lincoln Town Car that was involved in the accident at milepost 282 on U.S. Highway 95 in Culesac.

Troopers report that 17-year-old Arika Reuben of Lapwai was driving northbound in a 1996 Honda Accord when she crossed the center line and struck a 2007 Chevrolet Silverado driven by 65-year-old Daryle Farley of Troy.

According to an ISP report, 41-year-old Mitchell Davis of Payette, who was traveling southbound on U.S. 95, did not see the initial crash and collided with Reuben's vehicle before hitting the Jersey barrier.

Reuben and her passenger, Ashley Wheeler of Lapwai, were the only people transported to the hospital, according to ISP.

Lady Huskies prep for first basketball game on Saturday

Marsing returns six starters from last years fourth place 2A WIC team

Coming off their 13-11 season during 2010 in 2A Western Idaho Conference play and finishing fourth at the district tournament, the Marsing High School girls' basketball team looks to its six returning starters for leadership and guidance.

This year coach Tim Little, heading into his second year at the helm, will field spots for the 25 that tried out between varsity and two junior varsity teams.

"There will be a few players that will swing from JVA to varsity due to low numbers," Little said. "We will carry 18 between varsity and JVA."

Returning starters from last year's team include Rebecca Cossel, a senior playing post, who was the leading rebounder and second leading in points from 2009-10. Cossel also earned first-team All-WIC honors. Ashley Hull, a sophomore playing wing, was an honorable mention All-WIC player. Hull also led the team in points last year.

"We do not have a star, but are all very talented and each player brings something different," Little said. "All players give us different looks and allow us to have a ton of versatility, which will be very helpful. We can be very diverse with our lineups and give a unique look each night depending on the team we are facing."

Also returning, Candy Leon (guard). Andi Merrit (post) and Kate Blackstock (guard) are returning as seniors who lettered last year. Lacey Usabel (point guard) returns as a sophomore who also lettered last year.

"Our strength is our post play – we have four or five post players that could probably start for most teams in our league," Little said. "We have the option to run up-tempo as well with decent guards that are unselfish and see the floor."

Rounding out the rest of the team is a host of juniors: Andrea Rodriguez (wing), Shannon Malmberg (guard), Diedrie Briggs (post) and Shelbi Ferdinand (wing/post). Kathlyn Welch, a sophomore, will fill a wing slot.

Little said a key for this year's team will be reducing turnovers if the team wants to get a slot in the state tournament from their league.

"Our league is balanced this year, especially with Parma out (league champs last three years) and McCall in," Little said. "New Plymouth would probably be considered the league favorites if you were to poll other coaches. I know that if we show up each game and play to our potential, we will definitely have some success this year."

The Huskies open the season Saturday in Payette with the junior varsity B team starting at 4:30 p.m., junior varsity A and varsity will follow. Marsing will then head to Parma on Nov. 23 for another 4:30 p.m. matchup against the now-3A Snake River Valley conference Panthers. Their first home game is scheduled for Dec. 2, against Payette at 4:45 p.m.

"By the end of the season, fans will hopefully see a controlled, disciplined team that understands time and score situations and play together well offensively and defensively," Little said. "We will play an aggressive style of man-to-man defense most of the game."

County gridders picked for Shrine all-star games

Senior all-star games scheduled for Nov. 27 in Eagle

Oscar Ceballos

"Oscar is a good linebacker. He wants to play college football, there will be some guys out there that will hopefully give him that chance. It will be good for him to play. I wish him the best."

— Jaime Wood, Marsing coach

Five Owyhee County athletes have been selected to play in the 15th annual District III High School Shrine Football All-Star Games.

The games for the best seniors from 42 schools will be held on Saturday, Nov. 27, at Thunder Stadium in Eagle.

The 11-man contest will feature three athletes from two Owyhee County schools, both of which qualified for their respective state playoffs.

Levi Elsberry, a 6-foot-1, 180-pound wide receiver, and Benny Mello, a 5-10, 190-pound offensive lineman, will play one last game for Homedale as part of the East squad of 11-man all-stars.

Marsing will be represented on the West squad by 5-10, 210-pound linebacker Oscar Ceballos.

Two Rimrock seniors — Francisco Garcia and Chance Pierce — will suit up for the South squad in the eight-man game.

The eight-man game kicks off at 10:30 a.m. followed by the 11-man game at 2 p.m. The event is sponsored by El Korah Shrine.

Admission is $12 for adults and $6 for students 18 and younger. Proceeds benefit the transportation to and care at Shriners Hospitals for Idaho children.

Levi Elsberry

"Levi was a very vocal leader for us and was kind of the team captain. Benny is more of the leader by example, he just goes out there and plays his heart out."

Adrian misses shot at league title

Antelopes open 1A state playoffs on the road Saturday

Adrian High School’s dream of a football championship was flattened Friday night by the top defense in the 1A High Desert League.

Crane, which has allowed only 24 points this season, blanked the Antelopes in a 50-0 victory that secured the league title and top seed into the 1A Oregon state playoffs for the Mustangs.

Adrian (7-2 overall, 5-1 1A HDL) saw its seven-game winning streak end, but has earned passage into the state playoffs as the No. 2 team out of the 1A HDL.

Adrian is seeded sixth in the playoffs and travels to meet No. 3 St. Paul in a opening-round game scheduled for Friday. Crane, with the No. 2 seed, plays host to No. 7 Country Christian on Saturday in another first-rounder.

Quarterback Ryan Opie threw four touchdown passes and scored on a 70-yard keeper to push Crane (8-0, 6-0) to a dominate victory and its eighth consecutive win.

The Antelopes were held to just 207 yards total offense. The team committed three turnovers — two fumbles and a Blake Purnell interception.

Purnell led the Antelopes with 87 yards rushing, while teammate David Stones had 45 of his 65 yards rushing on one play.

Opie accounted for 219 of his team’s 425 total yards on offense. He had 118 yards passing and 101 yards rushing. Blake Steeves caught all of Opie’s TD passes, finishing with 106 yards on four receptions.

Purnell had five tackles and an interception to lead Adrian’s defense.

Antelopes ousted from 1A Oregon state volleyball tournament

Adrian knocks off two-time reigning champs to reach second round

The Adrian High School volleyball season ended Saturday in the second round of the 1A Oregon state playoffs.

Hosanna Christian swept the Antelopes in Klamath Falls to move on to the state tournament, which will be played this weekend at Pacific University in Forest Grove, Ore.

The Lions (20-2) held off Adrian in the third set to post a 25-14, 25-20, 25-23 victory.

“Hosanna served very tough and we struggled in our serve receive. As the match progressed we did get more offense going but not enough to get momentum on our side for long,” Adrian coach Aimee Goss said.

“Our team had a very good season overall with a record of 19-7 and to finish up in the top 16 in State is something we can be proud of.”

Madison Purnell led the team with nine kills and added an assist and a block. Madison Shira and Jessica Morton served two aces apiece, with Shira adding three kills and nine assists and Morton getting two kills and two assists.

Annie Bowns had a couple kills, a block and one ace. Ester Gordon contributed three kills and a block.

Hosanna Christian qualified for the postseason by winning the District 5 championship after playing the regular season in the 1A Mountain Valley League.

Wednesday: Adrian def. Imbler, 14-25, 25-23, 26-24, 23-25, 15-10 — The Antelopes knocked off the two-time reigning 1A Oregon state champions in a long struggle in Adrian.

Maddy Purnell pulled off 15 kills and nine assists to lead Adrian. She also served two aces.

Madison Shira chipped in 12 kills and five assists.

We started a little slow in the match, but I was hugely impressed with the way our team battled every point from there on out,” Goss said.

Imbler is a great team and played hard the whole night and this was a hard-fought match on both sides.”

Mustangs can’t cash in on Easterday’s big day

Nathan Easterday caught six balls for 128 yards Friday, but Jordan Valley High School ended its football season with a lopsided loss.

Prairie City limited the Mustangs to just a touchdown in the first half and rolled to a 62-20 1A High Desert League victory at home.

“I was proud of the fact all year that our kids never quit fighting even when they were down,” Jordan Valley coach Tim McBride said. “I believe the leadership that our seniors have shown had a positive influence on the underclassmen and will have a definite impact on our program for years to come.”

Easterday’s season-high in receptions yards didn’t translate into any touchdowns, but three other Mustangs found themselves on the money end of scoring plays.

Two of Nate Elsner’s completions went for TDs as he hit James Dowell on a 30-yard play in the third quarter and hooked up with Taylor Lucas on a 79-yard scoring strike in the fourth quarter.

Ty Warn caught a 10-yard pass from Dowell in the first quarter, which ended with the Mustangs trailing by just two points, 8-6. Warn picked up a team-high 38 yards on nine rushes and caught two passes for 13 yards. Lucas was the team’s second-leading receiver with 81 yards on two receptions.

Dowell also picked up 36 yards on the ground.

Voter turnout ‘sparse’

A sparse turnout of voters reelected some incumbent councilmen and supported some newcomers.

In Homedale, Councilman Tom Murray was elected on a write-in campaign with 21 votes. Murray had not submitted his petition in time for the deadline, but decided to pursue the post for another term. Murray received 21 votes on Tuesday. Incumbents Frank Haylett and Herb Fritzley were re-elected with 76 and 70 votes, respectively.

In Marsing, former Mayor Gene Showalter returned to the position unopposed with 65 votes. Harvey Grimme, an incumbent Council member, received 60 votes, and newcomer Elke Agueros picked up 39 votes.

In Grand View, Whitey Lawrence was elected mayor with 28 votes. In the four-year Council positions, Al Pennington garnered 52 votes, and Richard Coop won 14 votes. In the two-year slot, Wally Biladeau received 45 votes. JoAnn Black continues in her council position.

Homedale High School renovation reviewed

Homedale High School will take on a new face this spring if proposed renovation goes well. Superintendent Deward Bell unveiled sketches of the changes from architect Neal Kolbo at the trustee meeting on Monday night.

Additional office space will be provided, including a new principal’s office built on to the existing room. The office of the clerk would be located in the trustees’ room. More storage space would also be added.

The fire exit on the north end of the senior high would be torn down and a new enclosure escape added. Some partitions on the second floor of the senior section would be taken out to make larger rooms. Lowered ceilings, carpeting, and recessed lighting would be added, as well as a new heating system.

Cost of the entire project was estimated at $300,000. Kolbo and Architects Incorporated would be awarded a fee of around 8% of the cost. The starting date of the work would be around March 1, 1986.

F&G officer saves rec areas for future generations

Imagine a job where you can meet people like Donahue, fight crime like Elliott Ness, and commune with nature like Grizzly Adams. Think of how you would love an occupation like that.

John Nagel, Senior Conservation Officer for the Idaho Fish and Game Department, has that job and it is evident that he enjoys it.

The Owyhee Avalanche accompanied Nagel on his rounds Sunday through parts of Owyhee and Canyon counties. Nagel said his weekend duties often included checking licenses because of the hunter pressure, while weekdays may entail special conservation projects. Sunday was a cold and windy day, so most of the activity would be road hunting, he said.

While Nagel’s area centers around Unit 40 in the northern Owyhees, he covers a lot of territory for the Fish and Game. If a lot of traffic travels to the hills above Boise for deer hunting he may be called upon to man a check station there. He monitored a hunter trespass situation in Ada County by radio while driving through Owyhee County. The Treasure Valley is heavily populated with good hunting and fishing nearby, so the Fish and Game has concentrated a good amount of officers in the area.

Marsing Chamber plans annual Christmas parade

The annual Marsing Christmas Parade will be held on Main Street on Dec. 7 at 11 a.m. announced Chamber of Commerce President Rob Troxel.

The theme of the parade is “They Work Hard For Their Money.” The lineup will start at around 10:30 a.m. The Chamber is calling for all kinds of entries from local businessmen, fraternal groups, and schools to make this the best holiday parade ever.

Christmas decorations will also be put up at the Island Park. Heading up the decorations is Morris Larsen.

Owyhee County amendment returns listed

Unofficial returns from 13 of the 15 Owyhee County precincts show that Owyhee County voters defeated SJR No. 3 amendment (teenage voting) with 841 yes votes and 1138 no votes. 1314 voters said yes and 489 said no for SJR No. 4 (continuation of government in case of emergency). There were 1293 no votes and 431 yes votes to raise the public indebtedness and 835 yes votes and 822 no votes to change the office of surveyor from elective to appointive.

Trojans down Pilgrims, tie Marsing for lead

Homedale’s Trojans, the 1959 Snake River Valley B league champions, grabbed a share of the 1960 crown Friday with a 27-0 win over New Plymouth here Friday. Homedale and Marsing split the 1960 honors with each team winning six and losing one. Homedale’s only league loss was a 14-13 defeat to Marsing. Adrian handed Marsing its only league loss 7-6 early in the season.

Homedale rolled up a 20-0 halftime lead and then coasted to victory in the second half.

Rodney Leslie romped for two touchdowns, scoring on runs of 31, and 2 yards. Dick Frazier cracked over from the 13 on a 30-yard pass from Dan DeGroat.

Legion drive for members going satisfactorily

The membership drive currently being sponsored by the American Legion is progressing very well, according to a report made by Joe Eiguren.

Several Homedale men were asked to accept dues at their places of business from anyone eligible for membership, and this has seemed to help the drive. 13 or the 15 men at the November 2 meeting also paid their dues. Jack Sherbert, 1st vice commander of the Legion, is in charge of the drive.

The local Legion post is trying to create more interest in their organization and at their meeting decided to renew committees and Legion programs such as Americanism, Junior baseball league, Back to God and various youth activity programs.

Discussion was held and further plans were made for the Veterans Day celebration to be held November 11. American Legion and auxiliary members, their families and friends are invited to attend the potluck supper and program. Bernie Gratton will be the guest speaker.

Homedale locals

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Gano and daughter Dorothy of Nampa spent the weekend at Silver Creek.

Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Tuttle and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wirta of Caldwell drove to Baker, Ore., in the Tuttlés’ new car. They had dinner in the hotel dining room before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Hellyer of Grand View have purchased a farm in the Fargo community and are moving this week. Mr. Hellyer is a former Homedale garage man, and he and his family moved from Homedale about six years ago. The Hellyer family had Sunday dinner at the J. L. Tidwell home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Strack and family drove to Silver City Sunday.

Mrs. Frieda Caler called on Mrs. Bill Strack Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haylett and family of Grand View spent the weekend visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Stimmel.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Goin and son, Lennie, were Sunday dinner guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Goin. The dinner was in honor of the 5th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Ms. Duane Goin.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson and family were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Verlyn Dunn in Caldwell Saturday night. Mrs. Dunn is the former Beth Carson of Homedale.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thompson had dinner with her sister, Mrs. Barbara Haylett and family in Payette Sunday.

WE ARE INDEBTED to J. F. Dye, Esq., just returned from the Willow Creek diggings, for the following information: these mines are about 130 miles from Silver City — does not consider them very rich, but is of the opinion that a large scope of country, embracing many gulches, will pay from four to eight dollars per day. There is very little water to be had at present for mining purposes. A company has commenced digging a ditch, which will be sixty miles in length and bring water from near the source of Burnt River. Nine or ten miles are already completed, but it will probably be eighteen months before the entire ditch is finished. The gold is of good quality, very fine, and worth about $17 per oz. There is a good supply of timber within from ten to fifteen miles of the new diggings. There are two or three small trading posts established, with only a very limited supply of goods. Probably not more than one hundred people will winter there. The Statesman puts the number at not less than five hundred, which must include all those in the vicinity of Mormon Basin. To conclude, Mr. Dye, who has had much experience, thinks that if a sufficient quantity of water could be had the diggings would pay good wages, and last twelve or fifteen years.

ACCIDENT. On Wednesday morning last as a miner, named P. J. Cullen, was ascending a shaft on the Poorman mine, the bucket in which he stood, in some manner became detached from the rope, and he fell to the bottom, a distance of about forty-five feet. He was taken up senseless, but, strange to say, no bones were broken. He recovered his sensibility in a few hours, and in the afternoon was able to converse in a rational manner. He received a severe bruise on his right side, which, it is feared has injured him internally. Several other portions of his body are bruised, besides receiving a cut on the head, the effect of which rendered him insensible. It is almost a miracle that he was not killed, being a large man and weighing over 200 pounds.

MUSIC. Last winter Silver City boasted of two brass bands, but during the summer and fall the members dropped off one by one, many of them leaving the country, until scarcely quorum remained. We are pleased to know, however, that during the past week quite a number of musicians have congregated and taken steps to organize and sustain another band of music. It is a laudable move and we hope they’ll succeed.

THE 45-PER CENT FUND. Elsewhere we publish a decision deeply affecting the financial prosperity of our County; one which we, in common with every well-wisher of the County, deeply regret. We are satisfied that the true policy of all Counties to pay taxes in money, thereby treating all alike and making no preferred creditors among those who work for or speculate in County paper.

An examination of the Statutes of the Territory, however, and comparison of them with the decision of the Judge, shows perfect harmony, and as it appears to us, stamps the decision as good law; or in other words, reasonable deductions drawn from the enactments of those who were employed and sent to the Capital to legislate for us, and whose acts are bound to recognize as law until they can be changed.

The way matters now shape themselves, we have the following anomalous condition of affairs; There is a 45-Per Cent Fund created to pay contingent expenses in cash and no provision whatever for ever getting one cent into the fund; thus, when the County’s agents have to purchase any article for the use of the various County offices, that is required by law to be paid for out of said fund thereafter, no merchant or other person who understands himself will sell to or work for the County without receiving in scrip at least ten-fold the usual fee.

One year from to-day, under existing laws and judicial interpretations, we expect to see Owyhee County one hundred thousand dollars in debt.

On the edge of common sense 30th year editorial

This year marked my 30th writing this column. The column runs in 150 papers around the country and in Canada. For the most part, they can be described as trade publications, or as a smaller weekly or daily.

It is impressive to me how many of these publications continue to remain in business when their larger metropolitan counterparts are falling victim to the Internet and 24-hour television and radio news stations.

The obvious reason that the smaller weeklies and dailies weather the storm is that they cover the local news that no one else covers. As is the case in trade publications that cover a specific topic such as rodeo, horses, farming, feedlots, ranching, stock dogs, purebred anything, regional agriculture, rural living and western style or fashion.

However, in my 30 years of working with these publications, I would say the factor that most affects their success is the editor/publisher's "love" of the newspaper business. I could use the word dedication, commitment, tenacity or endurance, especially were I able to print them alongside a rogue's gallery of portraits showing these ink-stained, sleeves-rolled-up, scuffed shoes, stacked desk, tie loose, harried, phone-in-hand, always-behind, captains of their trawler on the high seas of deadline. It really matters to them that their publication is good in content, quality and accuracy.

They routinely seem to be penny pinchers. Thrifty, often suspicious of columnists and cartoonists who seem to place a higher value on their own work than the publisher does.

"Come on," I say, "I just want to raise it a dollar a week. Postage has gone up again, pencils cost more, my children are in rags, my wife is pregnant, my horse is lame, my dog got run over ..."

"That's over $50 a year, son!" says the editor. "That would feed a dozen photographers for three days, two reporters for a week or pay for one ad salesman's lunch with a customer! Besides, you've been sending your columns by e-mail for three years! I was actually going to deduct the cost of postage and handling from your fee ... sort of spread the wealth, so to speak."

Most editor/publishers I have known have a toughness for negotiation, be it words or wages. I think that comes because they are fiercely possessive of each and every issue that carries their name. Who knows, they think, it might be read on the desk of the Oval Office! Or quoted on Bill O'Reilly, or on the bottom of a bird cage on the space shuttle appropriately opened to my column and placed directly under the parakeet!

My thanks to all those hard-working, deadline-driven, dedicated true believers in the printed word, who keep us honest and informed. I'm proud to be in your bird cage.

Eyes on Owyhee Ignorance or arrogance?

Given the solemnity of the privilege of voting and the proximity of Election Day to the day we have set aside to honor those who have fought and died for the right, no amount of justification can excuse the actions of Sheriff Daryl Crandall on Nov. 2.

The chief election judge in Murphy said that the sheriff, duly elected and sworn to uphold the laws of Idaho, effectively ignored one of those statutes when he marched his chief dispatcher into Courtroom 1 in Murphy and proceeded to stage a mock cross examination.

On Election Day, with at least five people in the room, a big, two-stall polling place draped in a colorful canvas and at least one person calling to his attention what the room was truly reserved for.

Regardless if there were only a handful of people in the polling place or if the room was vacant (and regardless of what the Attorney General's office apparently had to say about it), the sheriff had no business conducting his training exercise in that place, on that day.

After all, Idaho state laws make it a crime to disrupt an election. That applies to everyone — including a sheriff.

Was it ignorance or arrogance that gave Crandall the impression that he could stage a scenario — however fictional — in which Bev White was questioned about a dispatcher's mistake that led to a deputy being shot with even one other person in the room?

There's plenty of anecdotal evidence to go either way. Perhaps Crandall's intentions were in the right place. After all, pristine dispatch procedure is desired in the life-and-death world of law enforcement. That's something that can be obtained at the Idaho Peace Officer Standards and Training academy (and the commissioners have even given him a budget for such training).

But his execution of good intentions once again was flawed.

It is a good thing to have your dispatchers properly trained for all situations, including courtroom examinations following the possible shooting of a peace officer.

It is a good thing to train your dispatchers on how to properly dispatch a deputy to the scene of an incident, which is what was heard over-the-air during the better part of Wednesday morning and afternoon, again with White out in a vehicle, presumably with other dispatchers, running through mock calls.

But there always seems to be a question of timing with Crandall.

He had to do the courtroom training on Election Day in an already-occupied room, with no explanation to the people who would hear about a deputy — whom they probably would assume they knew — being killed?

And what of the over-the-air training? It was done in such a way that not everyone monitoring the frequency (read: other on-duty deputies and especially other agencies monitoring radio traffic) knew what was going on. Later in the day, dispatchers had to reiterate that the search for a man who had walked away from a campsite near CJ Strike

Not important ... but possibly of interest Placing a call to the past

Gracie, our 7-year-old granddaughter, was using my cell phone to call her mom. She can handle a cell phone better than I can.

I told Grace that when I was her age, telephones were attached to the wall with a wire — you couldn't carry them around with you. She looked at me as if she was trying to decide if Grandpa was telling a windy. That's when I realized that, to the best of my knowledge, in her seven years there has never been a phone attached to the wall in her house.

When I was Gracie's age, there was one phone in the house and it was the property of the telephone company. If you moved, the phone stayed in the house. We were on a "party line" with a dozen neighbors. If you picked up the phone to make a call and heard someone talking, you had to hang up and wait for them to finish.

The first phone I remember didn't even have a dial. You picked it up and a woman operator asked, "Number please." You told the operator the town and the number you wanted to call and she plugged your line into the line connected to the person you were calling. It was all done by hand. In some rural areas, I don't think you could make calls after a certain time in the evening because the operator went home.

In the 1950s, long distance calls were complicated. Your local operator connected you to a long distance operator. You told the long distance operator the state, town and person you wanted to call. Then you hung up. The operator called you back after she made the connection. On a holiday, when the lines were busy, it could sometimes be an hour or more before the operator completed the call.

Today people have "unlimited roaming" on their cell phones or can get long-distance calling cards with hundreds of minutes for a small amount of money. In the old days, transcontinental calls — or even calls to a neighboring state — were expensive. The only calls that weren't long distance were the ones to your own community. About the only time my parents made or received long-distance calls was on Christmas, Thanksgiving, or when there was a death in the family. Receiving a long-distance call from out of state was an event worth mentioning to neighbors. Of course, some of them already knew about it because they had listened to all or part of the call on the party line.

Ma Bell started to change in the late 1960s — just about the time we got married. Our first phone was a new "Trim Line" model. It was smaller than the standard phones, and it was tan instead of black. That put us out on the leading edge of phone technology for those days. But the phone company still owned the phone.

A few years later, other companies who wanted a piece of the communication pie got the government to break up Ma Bell. You could get your own phone and take it with you if you moved. But it still took about 20 years to convince me that the change was good. There was something comforting about having an all-powerful company that made all your phone decisions for you. It was probably the way a lot of the Communists felt when the Soviet Union dissolved and there was no longer a supreme authority around to control every facet of their lives.

I have to admit I like being able to carry my phone around with me. But I wonder if there is an "app" I could download so a female voice would say "number please" when I want to make a call.

Financial management

Buying used cars, clothes are solid get-rich strategies

Dear Dave,
What things do you advise buying used versus buying brand new?

— Amy

Dear Amy,
This is a great question. But I'm afraid there's not one good, across-the-board answer, because it all depends on where you are in your financial plan.
When it comes to cars, you should always buy good, used vehicles, unless you have a million dollars in the bank. New automobiles drop in value like a rock, so buy smart and let someone else take the hit in depreciation. My advice is to buy used, anyway. Wealthy people don't become wealthy by investing in things that go the wrong way.

If you're talking about clothing, and you're broke or trying to get out of debt, there's absolutely nothing wrong with shopping consignment stores — especially for kids. They wear things three times, and then they've outgrown them. Plus, they still look practically brand new. "Experienced" clothing is a great buy for adults, too.
Of course, there are other things, but here's the deal. As your money situation improves, you'll be able to buy more new things. The price of "new" will become a smaller and smaller percentage of your financial world. But when you're broke, deep in debt, or don't have a big income, any money you spend on anything is a big percentage. At times like this, a $50 washer or dryer on Craigslist can be the best deal on the planet!

— Dave

Dear Dave,
The company I work for just told me I have to get a personal credit card for business travel. What's your advice on how to respond?

— Jason

Dear Jason,
If it were me, I'd sit down with my boss and let him know this is deal-breaker. If the company you work for wants to send you out on the road to do business in their name, then they should man up and pay for it.

I think corporate America has really pulled a big joke on lots of folks. In some cases, you've got these multi-billion dollar companies borrowing money from their employees, and then paying it back — most of the time. Think about it.
What happens if they decide, for whatever reason, not to honor an item on your expense report? You own it, dude. You're stuck with the bill!
I wouldn't do this, Jason. But if you decide to stick with it, get a debit card and set it up on a separate account only for corporate expenses for which you can be reimbursed. You'll have to prime the pump, and put a little money in there to get it started, and I'd ask the company for an advance against travel to help fund that account.

But the truth is they should just pay the bill when they send you out on the road!

✓ Ignorance: Sheriff shows little regard for those around him wasn't a drill. Perhaps that wouldn't have been necessary if the first drill — or the conclusion thereof — had been announced.

But this is Crandall. Reactionary.
When the City of Marsing complained of a lack of speed limit enforcement, he ordered his deputies to beef up patrols — and apparently issue little more than verbal warnings.
When The Owyhee Avalanche questioned his actions on Election Day, he chalked it up to training and said that "if it had been busy", he wouldn't have done it.
What constitutes busy to this man? A line out the door? The presence of two people in the polling place (of which there were only two stalls) and three poll workers apparently doesn't mean much.
Not surprising, though. He had an idea and he's the sheriff, so nothing else matters.
Not even voters, perhaps even those who elected him.

Something on your mind?

Summary Judgment

Justices can end racial quotas

In 1995, in a ruling that generated banner headlines on the front page above the fold of every major newspaper in the country, grabbed the lead on every television network news show, and garnered the title "legal earthquake" by TIME, the Supreme Court of the United States held that the Constitution's Equal Protection Clause applies to the federal government.
The Court's landmark ruling was a response to a problem of its own making; after all, in 1980, addressing the constitutionality of the first federal statute to mandate awarding federal contracts on the basis of race, it had punted. Given that the racial mandate then under review was included in a short-term, $2 billion economic stimulus package, the Court held that use of such an "odious" basis for federal decision-making as race was limited in both scope and duration and so, at least for the time being, gave it a pass. The ruling emboldened Congress, which included racial quotas in statute after statute. State and local governments reasoned that they, too, could engage in racial gamesmanship; they wrote racial quotas into their laws and ordinances.
By 1989, the Supreme Court had seen enough and, in a case that challenged the constitutionality of racial set-asides adopted by Richmond, Va., held that the Fourteenth Amendment's equal protection guarantee bars such provisions. At that time, a legal challenge to similar federal enactments was about to begin in federal court in Colorado. By the time it reached the Court in 1994, both the Court's 1980 ruling upholding racial preferences in federal contracting and a 1990 ruling upholding racial preferences in awarding FCC broadcast licenses stood in the way. On behalf of the Court, Justice O'Connor quickly brushed both rulings aside. Any racial preference, she wrote, adopted by any government as to any racial group must be subjected to "strict [usually deadly] judicial scrutiny."
In response, Clinton vowed to "mend, not end" use of racial quotas; his administration did neither. Meanwhile, voters in California and Washington State repudiated the use of racial preferences, which prompted Congress to vote, for the first time ever, on whether to end the use of racial quotas; that vote failed in the face of calls to "leave the matter to the courts." In 2001, the Colorado case returned to the Supreme Court, asking that it apply "strict scrutiny" to racial quotas used in federal highway contracting. In response to arguments by the Bush administration that the case was moot, the Court declined to rule.

Although the Supreme Court had fallen silent on the issue — it denied certiorari in several cases that would have permitted a "final" ruling on the subject — its 1995 ruling in Adarand Constructors, Inc. v. Peña remained the law of the land. Little surprise, therefore, that when a small business contractor in Texas challenged the U.S. Department of Defense's (DOD) use of racial preferences, Adarand all but preordained the ruling. It was not easy; after all, federal lawyers stonewalled. Nonetheless, in 2009, Rothe Development Corp. won a ruling that DOD's racial preferences were blatantly unconstitutional.
Rothe's attorney, David F. Barton of San Antonio, applied for attorneys' fees and expenses as authorized by the Equal Access to Justice Act (EAJA) when private citizens defeat the federal government in court, if the federal government's position is not "substantially justified." Obviously, argued Rothe, after Adarand, the federal government's position was not "justified," let alone "substantially justified." Incredibly, the District Court and then the Court of Appeals ruled against Rothe. On Sept. 29, 2010, Rothe asked the Supreme Court to determine whether racial discrimination by the federal government in the wake of Adarand is ever "substantially justified."
If the Court agrees to hear the case, a ruling in favor of Rothe could go a long way to ending federal racial preferences and quotas. That is, unless a new Congress across the street does not beat the Court to it in early 2011!

BEFORE THE OWYHEE COUNTY PLANNING & ZONING COMMISSION

On December 1, 2010 beginning at 10:00 AM the Owyhee County Planning and Zoning Commission will hear testimony in the annex building of the Owyhee County Courthouse in Murphy, Idaho on the following matter at the time listed below. After the hearing, the Commission will take up administrative matters.

Beginning at 10:00 am, the Commission will hear conditional use permit application 11-01 submitted by Sean Farwell to establish an auto salvage yard on approximately 14 acres of land located in at the edge of a Mult-use zone approximately 1 & 1/2 miles southwest of Homedale. The proposed development will initially include a 5000 square foot warehouse/shop where they would dismantle incoming vehicles and store parts as well as all fluids. If successful and it becomes necessary, a second warehouse may be built on the site. The applicant proposes to construct an eight foot solid metal fence around all stored vehicles on the property and landscaping around the Warehouse. The developer has stated that the proposed development will create approximately 6 full time jobs in the county.

The subject property is located in the southwest corner of Section 17 of Township 3 North, Range 5 West, Boise Meridian, Owyhee County, Idaho.

A copy of the proposed project is available for review in the Planning and Zoning office. For additional information please contact the Planning and Zoning office at 495-2095.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE’S SALE
On Monday, February 28, 2011 at the hour of 11:00 o’clock A.M., of said day, on the steps of the Owyhee County Courthouse located at 20381 State Highway 78, Murphy, ID 83650, Alliance Title & Escrow Corp., as successor trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, cashiers check, certified check or tellers check, (from a bank which has a branch in the community at the site of the sale), money order, State of Idaho check or local government check, or cash equivalent in lawful money of the United States, all payable at the same time of sale, the following described real property, situated in the County of Owyhee, State of Idaho, and described as follows, to wit:

Lot 13, Block 2 as shown on the final plat of Silver Sage Subdivision No. 2, Owyhee County, Idaho, filed May 13, 2002 as Instrument No. 239601, Owyhee County records and corrected by affidavit of correction recorded May 20, 2002 as Instrument No. 239681, Owyhee County records.
THE TRUSTEE HAS NO KNOWLEDGE OF A MORE PARTICULAR DESCRIPTION OF THE ABOVE-DESCRIBED REAL PROPERTY, BUT FOR PURPOSES OF COMPLIANCE WITH IDAHO CODE, SECTION 60-113, THE TRUSTEE HAS BEEN INFORMED THAT THE STREET ADDRESS OF: 215 Silver Sage Way, Homedale, ID 83628, MAY SOMETIMES BE ASSOCIATED WITH SAID REAL PROPERTY.
If the successful bidder cannot provide the bid price by means of one of the above means of payment, the sale will be postponed for 10 minutes only to allow the high bidder to obtain payment in a form prescribed herein above. If the high bidder is unsuccessful in obtaining payment as directed within 10 minutes, the sale will be re-held immediately and any bid by the high bidder from the previous sale, will be rejected, all in accordance with Idaho Code 45-1502 et. Sec.
Said sale will be made without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession or encumbrances to satisfy the obligation secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in the deed of trust executed by Efen Padilla and Leticia Padilla, husband and wife, as Grantor to Alliance Title & Escrow Corp., as Successor Trustee, for the benefit and security of Quicken Loans Inc. as successor Beneficiary, recorded August 9, 2007 as Instrument No. 262037, Mortgage records of Owyhee County, Idaho. THE ABOVE GRANTORS ARE NAMED TO COMPLY WITH SECTION 45-1506(4)(a), IDAHO CODE. NO REPRESENTATION IS MADE THAT THEY ARE, OR ARE NOT, PRESENTLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THIS OBLIGATION.

The default for which this sale is to be made is failure to: Make principal and interest payments as set forth on said Deed of Trust and Promissory Note. The original loan amount was $127,800.00 together with interest thereon at the rate of 7.625% per annum, as evidenced in Promissory Note dated July 27, 2007. Payments are in default for the months of April 2010 through and including September 2010 in the amount of $812.06 per month and continuing each and every month thereafter until date of sale or reinstatement. The principal balance as of September 22, 2010 is $127,800.00 together with accrued and accruing interest thereon at the rate of 7.625% per annum. The per diem is $26.70. In addition to the above, there is also due any late charges, advances, escrow collection fees, attorney fees, fees or costs associated with this foreclosure.
The balance owing as of this date on the obligation secured by said deed of trust is $127,800.00, excluding interest, costs and expenses actually incurred in enforcing the obligations thereunder or in this sale, as trustee’s fees and/or reasonable attorney’s fees as authorized in the promissory note secured by the aforementioned Deed of Trust.
