Volunteers prep for 50th annual auction

Marsing Disaster Auction set for Saturday

Volunteer firefighters Pete Smit, foreground, and James Ferdinand unload a trailer full of auction items purchased at Lowe's last week in preparation for Saturday's 50th annual Marsing Disaster Auction. The auction begins at 10:13 a.m. For more on the auction and its evolution through the eyes of 50-year volunteer Roman Usabel, see Page 2.

Jury: Benson not guilty of lewd conduct

A jury has found Thomas Edward Benson not guilty on charges of lewd conduct with a child under 16 after a three-day trial.

A Murphy-Reynolds-Wilson Fire District commissioner, Benson faced six felonies brought forward by Owyhee County Prosecuting Attorney Douglas D. Emery after a grand jury indictment.

The Murphy resident was charged in December 2009 with crimes that allegedly had occurred 11 years earlier.

Marsing's 10-year COSSA levy up for renewal with voters

With the current Canyon-Owyhee School Services Agency operating levy set to expire, the Marsing Joint School District will put the 10-year renewal in the hands of voters on March 8.

Voters passed a 10-year levy in March 2001.

The district voted on pursuing the renewal of the 10-year operating levy for COSAA at its December school board meeting. The funding for the levy supports programs that nearly 114 Marsing students participate in.

"In light of everything that is going on statewide we really need to hold onto the things that have worked," superintendent Newell Cleaver said. "COSSA is a fundamental part of the programs we offer here in Marsing. I want to remind voters that this is a 10-year renewal. It is either a 10-year

Engineers confirm total LID cost of $1M

City could pay upwards of $50,000 for excess paving

Homedale officials Thursday decided to change the way the property assessments for the Local Improvement District will be determined.

Another workshop, open to the public, will be held next Wednesday after the regular city council meeting. Draft assessments will be approved some time after that session, according to city attorney Stephanie J. Bonney.

Council members also learned that the total cost of the project, including construction, legal fees and engineering, would be slightly more than $1 million. The construction cost was announced as $845,688.98, which is less than $5,000 under projections but about $65,000 more than the estimate the city used to get votes for the LID in 2009.

In the midst of city engineer Fred Ostler's Powerpoint presentation on the cost of the LID on Thursday, council members decided that the best way to create individual assessments would be charge a flat percentage per 25 feet of frontage that each property owner has. The cost for the sidewalks will be spread across each assessment without deference to how much work was done for each parcel.

The cost by square foot method is one of two ways to legally dole out LID assessments, city attorney Stephanie J. Bonney said.

The preliminary assessments Mayor Harold Wilson used to shop the idea of the LID around in the summer of 2009 were figured on a cost-per-benefit basis.

“Neighbors helping Neighbors” key to success

From the dusty yet well-used Marsing fire marshal desk, Roman Usabel described the annual Marsing Disaster Auction as impossible without those within the surrounding community.

This year marks the 50th annual auction that began as a humble farm sale. Usabel said when the auction started, grain was sold by the bag and cows, horses and pigs were auctioned. Throughout the 50 years, Usabel has been right there, ensuring things go smooth.

“The first couple of years, it was just locals. No one really knew about it,” Usabel said. “After a few years, it started growing, and we started getting more and more people attending. We started pretty simple, and now we have everything you can think of.”

Nowadays, the auction features everything from homemade trinkets to store-bought. Usabel said those who organize the items begin work a couple months before the auction. He said they have never had an issue with finding items and volunteers.

Overall, Usabel said the volunteers are what drive the success of the auction. While he has never turned help away, he said every year it seems “we pick up more and more hands”.

“We can always find something for volunteers to do. This is one hell of a community! Without the people here, this wouldn’t be possible,” Usabel said. “We always have volunteers. Volunteers make this run as well as it does.

“We never have to worry that a job is getting done. It seems that everyone just does their job, and when they get done they go and help someone else. The community makes Marsing what it is.”

Although he can’t pick one year that stands out Usabel said it would probably be three years ago when they chose “Neighbors helping Neighbors” as the title for the auction.

“That sums it up. It really makes me proud to be a part of this and to have been here for 50 auctions,” Usabel said. “I can’t pick one thing or one year. All the time I’ve been a part of this makes it special for me.”

Usabel is serving as this year’s chairman, a role he knows quite well. In 1968, he served as co-chairman with Harvey Saxton and again the following year in 1969. He became chair for the auction again 17 years later in 1986 and now in 2011.

Roman Usabel is celebrating his 50th year with the Marsing Disaster Auction with another turn as the event’s chairman.

“I’ve been fortunate,” Usabel said. “This group has done a lot to help people when they are in need. We never talk about the people we help, or publicize how much we help. We do it because it is the thing to do.”

Usabel said other communities have tried to emulate the auction, but haven’t been able to pull it off quite like Marsing.

“It shows a lot about the people here,” Usabel said. “We have a commitment as community members to help each other. We need to be there to support one another if things happen.”

A life-long resident of Marsing, born in 1934, Usabel said he expects to see the auction carry on for another 50 years.

“I know everyone who is helping and contributing to the auction can see the importance. Without the hands of everyone in the community, this event wouldn’t be possible,” Usabel said. “We have support from kids in the schools and just about everyone in the area. We are all here for the same reason, to help those around us.”

HMS starts drive to send full Future City team to Washington

National contest pays way for only three presenters

Only three students will be allowed to compete at this month's Future City nationals, but Homedale Middle School wants to send the entire team to Washington, D.C.

Luci Asumendi-Mereness on Wednesday sent a letter seeking donations to help defray transportation costs to send the entire 11-person team to the nation's capital for the 19th annual Future City National Finals, set for Feb. 18-22 at the Hyatt Regency Capitol Hill.

Only a three-person team will be allowed to make the presentation regarding HMS' Future City, Dynamis, but Asumendi-Mereness wants all the students involved with all phases of the winning entry — essay, model construction, computer simulation and final presentation — to experience the fruits of their winning entry.

The fundraising begins Monday during HMS parent-teacher conferences. A Mexican dinner of tamales, rice, beans and a brownie will be available for purchase during the conferences, which run 3:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Tamales will be sold a la carte as well.

In a letter to prospective donors, Asumendi-Mereness estimates it will cost $4,500 to send the remaining eight students on the roster led by teacher Jennifer Martin and volunteer mentor engineer Don Vander Boegh.

Fundraisers are planned, but Asumendi-Mereness, writes all donations will help in reaching the goal. She suggests helping by paying for a day of meals, a hotel room, or assisting with the cost of an airline ticket, but stresses any donation would be appreciated.

Anyone wishing to help out can send donations to Homedale Middle School, 3437 Johnstone Road, Homedale, ID 83628.

In addition to winning the overall regional championship for the first time in three tries, the HMS squad also picked up other honors at the Jan. 22 competition at Boise State University:

- Best essay/abstract
- Best model
- People's Choice Award
- Most Innovative Award for storm water, water and wastewater to reduce environmental impact in an urban setting special award

The HMS Future City model will be on display during the Feb. 8 Homedale High School boys' basketball game against Fruitland.

Team members will be in the HHS gymnasium foyer to discuss the model, answer questions and accept donations.

HMS students lead Monday parent-teacher conferences

Student-led parent-teacher conferences will be held at Homedale Middle School on Monday.

"We are looking forward to seeing many parents," HMS principal Luci Asumendi-Mereness said.

The conferences take place from 3:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. at the school, 3437 Johnstone Road.

A Mexican dinner will be sold during the conferences, with proceeds benefitting an effort to send the school's engineering team to the Future City Engineering nationals in Washington, D.C., later this month.

The menu includes tamales, rice, beans and a brownie. Tamales will be sold a la carte as well.

Homedale legal fees cost at least $2,700 per month

The Homedale City Council shored up its contracts with legal counsel during its Thursday meeting.

New city prosecutor Russell Metcalf's one-year contract has a clause giving him a 90-day trial period. He had prosecuted cases for the city since Dec. 15 on a verbal contract that paid him $600 for the first two weeks.

The written contract calls for payment of $1,200 per month plus expenses, and Metcalf has until March 16 to decide if he wants to continue in the role.

The contract originally called for a 90-day notice to terminate the agreement, but city civil counsel Stephanie J. Bonney cautioned against a three-month termination period.

"Are you comfortable with a 90-day termination notice on a one-year contract?" she asked the council members before their vote. "If it goes south, will it go south badly?"

With Metcalf's contract squared away, the council also amended its civil counsel agreement with Bonney's firm, Moore Smith Buxton & Turcke Chtd. of Boise.

The city will pay $1,500 per month for 10 hours of legal services plus expenses. For anything above the 10 hours, the city will pay $140 per hour for attorneys and $60 per hour for work by legal assistants plus reimbursement for expenditures. The contract is half of the $3,000-per-month pact ratified at the beginning of the fiscal year for both civil and criminal services.

Under the overage guidelines of the original contract, Homedale found itself paying an average of $2,700 per month just for criminal prosecution. The spiraling costs triggered the decision to separate civil and criminal.

Smorgasbord pre-sale hits $3,000

Homedale sixth-graders still selling tickets for Feb. 12 finale

Ticket sales for the final Homedale International Smorgasbord topped $3,000 last week.

The town's sixth-graders sold $452 worth of tickets in the fourth week of the sales drive, bringing the total to $3,036.

Annabel Vega of Pat Warren's class sold $106, while Lindsey McRae from Lesa Folwell's classroom registered $88 in sales and Samuel Lorta of David Hann's class had $58.

The 50th anniversary Smorgasbord will be held from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 12 at Homedale Elementary School, 420 W. Washington Ave.

Tickets are $30 for a family, which includes two adults and a maximum of eight people total, $8 for adults, $6 for senior citizens, $5 for kindergarteners through sixth-graders and $3 for preschoolers.

Folwell's sixth-graders have a wide lead in the classroom contest to raise the most money, bringing in $1,976 since the ticket sales began during the Christmas break. Warren's class has sold $608 in tickets, and Hann's class has $452.

Advance ticket sales continue, and tickets also will be sold at the door the day of the event.

Halie and Perry Grant are the general chairs for this year's Smorgasbord, and they are getting help from:

✓ COSSA: Marsing's two-year supplemental for COSSA center expiring or nothing."

The amount needed is based on the assessed taxable market value of the properties within the Marsing School District boundaries. According to the information received from the State Tax Commission, the taxable value in Canyon County is $19,669,541 and $163,968,131 in Owyhee County.

This is based on one-tenth of one percent of the property value.

Based on the assessed taxable market value of a $100,000 home in the Marsing area, the property owner would pay $100. Last year, the district levied nearly $242,000 to help build the COSSA regional technical center, and that levy will expire. This levy renewal is from the COSSA operating levy that was voted on March 8, 2001.

"I would recommend when we are faced with something like this we look at both sides of the issues. We know what happens with this money," Cleaver said. "We can put faces and names to the kids who have benefited from these dollars over the past 10 years. COSSA has a proven track record."

The district has formed a citizen committee that will meet with any groups or individuals that have questions or concerns about the proposed levy.

The citizen committee will also be hosting in conjunction with the school district informational meetings for residents to ask questions. Dates for the meetings will be set this week. Check The Owyhee Avalanche Web site, www.owyhee-avalanche.com, for more details on the upcoming meetings.

For more information on the levy, contact the Marsing school district office at (208) 896-4611.

✓ LID: Property owners' tab reported at $500K; assessments yet to come engineers from Project Engineering Consultants Ltd. with refiguring LID assessments after Thursday's meeting. PEC already will earn more than $100,000 for its work on the downtown revitalization plan. PEC officials hadn't returned a phone message seeking information on whether the recalculating would add to that bill by press time.

In another change from the original plan, property owners will be responsible for the assessment only on the two-foot ribbon of asphalt along the sidewalks that was replaced after street light wiring was buried. All additional asphalt in the city's right-of-way will be paid for out of Homedale's street and highways budget. Public works supervisor Larry Bauer said that could cost the city up to $50,000.

Originally, business owners who had requested additional asphalt work beyond the first two feet were going to pay the cost. But the responsibility was shifted when concerns arose that the work would dilute the benefit of the $500,000 Idaho Community Development Block Grant with more of what Ostler termed a "subsidy" going to those commercial property owners that had optional paving than to the rest of the properties.

According to Ostler's presentation, the actual cost of the project will top out at $1,012,506.43 for construction, grant administration, legal fees and engineering.

Deducting the $500,000 from the grant, the owners of the 103 properties affected by the LID would be responsible for $512,506.43, according to Ostler's numbers. But that number may change now that the city will pick up the tab for extra paving.

Ostler's Powerpoint display revealed the engineering costs are about $16,000 more than originally estimated, and the construction costs came in less than $5,000 under estimates.

Ostler also pointed out that the project overseen by AME Electric of Caldwell involved 66 days more construction time than anticipated, but there was 23 percent more work completed than originally estimated.

The extra work included 51 percent more pavement than originally anticipated, with 69 percent of that work benefiting individual lots.

✓ OCA: BLM plans, rights-of-way make up meat of Saturday's meeting

Magic Valley ATV Riders Inc. and Sportsmen for Fish and Wildlife.

"The BLM is wanting to do some things," Frisbie said. "Their idealistic plan would be to do some things that don't necessarily coincide with multiple use in all areas."

Public comment on the RMP's draft Environmental Impact Study (EIS) closed at the end of January.

Frisbie said the Jarbidge RMP comment cycle is just the beginning of several plans BLM has for federal land in Owyhee County. The agency still has to work on a Bruneau Field Office RMP and also has been tasked by the Owyhee Initiative to formulate — with more public input — Travel Management Plans for the West Owyhee and land in the county east of the Bruneau River.

The West Owyhee TMP process already has started.

"The Jarbidge RMP does include quite a bit of Owyhee County land, and the Bruneau RMP is coming up and some of these others are coming up," Frisbie said.

The hope is the coalition's comment can "set a precedent and be viable" in subsequent BLM planning phases, Frisbie said.

Additionally, county Natural Resources Committee director Jim Desmond will address the county's effort establish rights-of-way on roads and trails that cross federal land. The public input has begun in the process aimed at setting a criteria for the rights-of-way. The end goal is a broad-based response to the BLM's various proposed management plans.

"Essentially, it's just to flesh out what's in the resolution as far as the first stage to make sure we have the criteria right," Desmond said.

BLM Boise District director Aden Seidlitz will be in attendance Saturday, and the OCA membership has extended an invitation to new BLM state director Steve Ellis.

Although Interior Secretary Ken Salazar's Executive Order establishing a Wild Lands Protection policy is a hot topic, Frisbie said it's probably too early to expect much official conversation about it Saturday. Salazar's order was issued in December, and has raised concerns among producers and others that it could give the BLM the authority to essentially designate wilderness without seeking Congressional approval.

"I don't think there will be anybody in a position to say a whole lot at this point," Frisbie said, adding that a larger discussion could take place at the OCA summer meeting in Silver City in late July.

Frisbie anticipates the concern over Salazar's order to heat up once the National Cattlemen's Beef Association's winter meeting — which being held this week in Denver — breaks up.

He did admit there is fear that Salazar's order could be used to circumvent the Owyhee Initiative law.

"To a certain degree, that's why the cattlemen got behind the Initiative like we did," Frisbie said. "The Initiative wasn't perfect, but it was a deal we could live with, and that might hold off these pushes to tie up more ground."

Other topics on the OCA agenda:

- Traci O'Donnell of the Idaho Beef Council will give an update on Beef Check-off programs.

- Debbie Lord will give an update on landowner hunting tags. She is a member of the Idaho Department of Fish and Game committee exploring changes to the policy.

- State brand inspector Larry Hayhurst will be on hand to see what his office can do to make the brand inspection process more convenient for ranchers.

"Our hope is Larry is just going to address some of those issues as far as time limits and availability on brand inspections and what we expect from him and what he expects from us to deal with the budget cuts they're facing," Frisbie said.

- The usual agenda items will be addressed, too, including kicking off the 15th year of the Owyhee Cattlemen's Heritage Foundation pickup truck raffle, the membership silver bit drawing and the deck o'cards raffle.

Registration for the winter meeting begins at 12:30 p.m.

The meeting will be preceded the winter beef school from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., and after the ranchers' meeting there will be a 5 p.m. social hour, a 6 p.m. potluck dinner and a 9 p.m. dance.

Runnin' for Cover, the band that includes OCA members Chris and Brian Collett, will play the dance. Admission is $5, with proceeds benefitting the hall.

Obituary

Annabel Gluch-Mallea

Annabel Gluch-Mallea, 91, passed away peacefully Tuesday, January 25, 2011, surrounded by family at the Pioneer Nursing Home in Vale, Oregon.

Annabel was born May 14, 1919 to Margaret Clegg-Gluch and Joseph Gluch at their Frank Maher Flat Ranch in Eastern Oregon. She was the sixth of eight children. She spent her childhood in Owyhee County, Idaho living on the Clegg Ranch on Jordan Creek, nine miles out of Jordan Valley. She attended grade school in Pleasant Valley and graduated from Jordan Valley High School. On November 12, 1938, Annabel married John Mallea at St. John’s Cathedral in Boise, Idaho and they made their lifelong home in Jordan Valley.

Always a hard worker, Annabel helped out on her parent’s ranch while growing up and later worked a variety of jobs as a young wife, while raising three sons and a daughter. She worked as a janitor at the Jordan Valley Elementary School, a clerk for the Jordan Valley School District, as well as the City Clerk for a period of time. She and John worked side by side for years as partners with his sister and brother-in-law, Virginia and Gabriel Elordi, in the Valley Grocery and Supply in Jordan Valley. They became sole proprietors following Gabriel’s untimely death in 1968. They closed their store in 1976, but unable to be idle, Annabel went to work for Joe Telleria at Telleria’s Market.

Their home was always filled with family and friends, good food and laughter, interesting pinochle games and an occasional “highball” or two. They were blessed with 64 years of marriage. Her favorite moments were when she was surrounded by her family and friends. No matter how many people dropped in, Annabel would effortlessly feed them all dinner, including four or five choices of fresh homemade pies, and made everyone feel at home.

Annabel was preceded in death by her parents and siblings: Harold, Josephine (Carson), Bob, Helen, Dick, Ray and Ralph and their spouses; her beloved husband John, sons: Joe and Ron, and great-grandson Martin Jacob Mallea. She is survived by her son Richard (Julene) Mallea of Tracyton, WA, daughter Audrey Mallea of Vale, OR, daughter-in-law Cathy Mallea of Ontario, OR, daughter-in-law Joan Perkins of Adrian, OR, nine grandchildren, 17 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandson. She is also survived by her brother-in-law David (Mim) Mallea of Hines, OR, and numerous nephews and nieces.

The family would like to extend a special thank you to the staff and caregivers at Pioneer Nursing Home in Vale, OR, Dr. Jocele Skinner, and Heart & Home Hospice. Your kindness and compassion to Annabel and her family during these hard times was much appreciated, especially Tommy and his special songs.

A Rosary was recited at St. Bernard’s Catholic Church in Jordan Valley, OR on Sunday, January 30, 2011 at 7:00 PM. A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated at 11:00 AM on Monday, January 31, 2011 at St. Bernard’s Catholic Church, an interment followed at the Jordan Valley Cemetery with a reception at the Parish Hall in Jordan Valley. Funeral services are under the care of Flahiff Funeral Chapel, Caldwell, ID.

In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made to St. Bernard’s Parish, P.O Box 186, Jordan Valley, OR 97910 or to a charity of your choice.

Bet You Didn't Know

Our farewell saying had non-secular start

“God be with you” was shortened over the years to just ... “Goodbye”.

Speaking of contractions ... the word “hoax” is believed to be derived from the word “hocus” as in “hocus pocus”.

England was the first country to impose a general income tax ... Did so in 1799 to finance the war with Napoleon.

In the 1600s the most popular names for women in this country were ... Sarah, Elizabeth and Mary ... Over half the women had these names ...

John Adams received $5,000 a year as the first vice president of the United States ... George Washington got $25,000.

The first words spoken by man on the moon was ... ? “Houston, ... Tranquillity Base here. The Eagle has landed.” Spoken by Neil Armstrong on July 20, 1969.

Who was the voice of Superman on the radio way back in the 1940s (that’s before television) ... None other than Bud Collyer ... went on to become a television emcee ... also provided Superman’s voice for a children’s series in the 1960s.

That television series ... Dallas ... was originally named ... Bet you could have guessed ... Houston.

Commissioners extend CJ Strike sheriff patrol contract

One extension OK'd three days after it expired

The Idaho Power Co. and the Owyhee County Sheriff's Office are operating under an extension of a law enforcement agreement while a new one is hammered out.

The contract covers CJ Strike Reservoir and commits Idaho Power to paying for two part-time marine deputies. In the past, Idaho Power also has paid for a patrol vehicle.

The Board of County Commissioners passed Resolution 11-04 on Jan. 18, which ratified extensions between the sheriff and Idaho Power that were signed by Sheriff Daryl Crandall on Sept. 29 and Jan. 11.

The original agreement — entered into in October 2009 — was set to expire last September.

Commissioners meeting minutes have no record of the BOCC ratifying the September extension, which expired on Jan. 15, three days before commissioners OK'd the second extension. State law prohibits anyone except county commissioners from signing contracts or extensions.

The document signed earlier this month by Crandall and Idaho Power recreation program supervisor Dwayne L. Wood extends the fiscal year 2010 contract until March 15.

Under the second extension,

Idaho Power will pay Owyhee County a total of $7,982.50 for the months of January, February and March.

In the first extension, the utility company had agreed to pay the same amount for October, November, December and January.

As for the contract under negotiation, Crandall said possible terms could include a new vehicle and a 1 percent raise for the deputies.

Court security started

The commissioners approved the hiring of Pat McCormack on a part-time basis to provide security at the county courthouse in Murphy.

According to pay authorization request submitted by Crandall, McCormack will earn $13.47 per hour. Crandall didn't give a set hourly schedule for McCormack, saying he would work as needed.

The authorization commissioners approved on Jan. 18 requested that McCormack's pay begin Jan. 10.

Although the FY 2011 budget established a pay line for one part-time security officer, Crandall told the commissioners that personnel changes in his department has created enough money to pay for a second part-timer. He submitted a pay authorization for former county jailer Dee Messick, but the BOCC took no action on the hire after an executive session called to discuss possible litigation.

Crandall said one of the security officers would be a fill-in when the other wasn't working.

McCormack, who told the commissioners that he has an extensive background in security, helped design the court security officer job description late last year. He is continuing work on the policy and procedures manual for the position.

As for courtroom security, Crandall told the BOCC that he has "provisions" to hire a bailiff for the days that court is in session.

County hires building official, GIS mapper

Two former Owyhee County Sheriff's Office employees have found work elsewhere in the county government.

The Board of County Commissioners approved Russ Turner and Linda Gerthung to positions elsewhere in the government during its Jan. 24 meeting.

Turner, a former sergeant who recently resigned from OCSO, was hired to replace Arlyn Tietz as building official.

Jan Fink accepts a plaque at her retirement party Friday.

Gerthung, a former dispatcher, will now work in the Magistrate Court in Homedale on Wednesdays. She replaces Cindy Chavez, who has been hired to succeed Jan Fink as the Magistrate clerk three days a week in Homedale.

Fink retired from the position Friday after more than 20 years with the county court system.

Commissioners approved a professional services contract with Duane Priest, president of Moscow-based Geographic Mapping Consultants Inc. (GMCI), to help the county meet mapping needs. Full-time employee James Ferdinand performed the duties before taking a job elsewhere.

The county will pay Priest $50 per hour and $6 for each parcel he adds to the county's mapping database. Assessor Brett Endicott said there were between 200 and 300 parcels to add for easier access to information such as parcel number, owner's name, etc.

County Clerk Charlotte Sherburn envisions taxing district maps on laptops at polling places to help voters determine if they are in the right place, or even eligible to vote for certain elections.

Priest also will be paid $500 per day to train county staff on software, which officials pointed out was a good deal given how much it would cost to pay piece-meal for mileage from Moscow, lodging and meals. The county still has an option to utilize state tutorial services as well, possibly eliminating the need to hire Priest for that aspect, Endicott said.

Marsing High School students sign a banner that will hang in the gym promoting not texting while driving.

Marsing teen raises awareness of texting while driving danger

Nearly four months have gone by since Marsing High School sophomore Kimber Bowman set out to bring attention to those choosing to text message while driving.

In the packed commons area at MHS, Bowman presented her peers with a public service announcement produced by Utah's Zero Fatalities. The PSA documented Reggie Shaw. At 19, Shaw was texting while driving and killed two men in a traffic crash.

Bowman has raised nearly $550 through the sale of bracelets she had made to remind everyone to not text while driving. She picked Students Against Drunk and Distracted Drivers to donate the proceeds of the bracelet sales.

Bowman is still accepting donations and continues to sell the bracelets. Those interested in donating or purchasing a bracelet can contact her by e-mail at notextingwhiledriving@hotmail.com.

One Owyhee County's fire suppression agency has benefitted from the generosity of another.

The Marsing-Reynolds-Wilson Fire Protection District recently received the donation of a structure fire truck from Silver City Fire & Rescue Inc.

MRW fire chief Wes Anderson said the Snake River, canals and ponds would be good sources of water for this high-volume engine.

"And with the five-inch large-diameter fire hose that came with the truck, we can lay out a water main," he said.

The 1964 Howe Defender has a 500-gallon water tank and a pump that can put out 1,250 gallons per minute. The engine previously had been in service with the Caldwell Rural Fire Protection District, which donated it to SCF&R in December 2006.

SCF&R fire chief Jim Hyslop said the agency didn't bring the Howe into service in Silver City the past two years because of constraining factors such as budget, manpower, water supply and the reality that the agency is "still a long way from launching a safer interior fire attack" in the historic mining town.

The engine has a long history of service in Canyon County.

"This grand old truck served for years in Caldwell, Notus, Parma and Middleton," SCF&R emergency medical service administrator Jan Hyslop said.

Current Middleton fire chief Brad Trosky is familiar with the engine.

"I am glad to see this apparatus go some place it can be of use," he said. "It's a good old truck, and I have fought a lot of fire off it."

GV Lions hope to complete sidewalk with successful auction

Raising funds to complete a sidewalk through Centennial Park is a primary focus for this year's Grand View Lions Club Auction.

The auction, which has been held for more than 50 years, takes place Saturday, Feb. 12, inside the Grand View Elementary School gymnasium, 205 First St. Lunch will be served at noon, and the auction under the direction of the Baker Auction Co. starts at 1 p.m.

The sidewalk is the latest phase of a project with which the Lions Club has helped since tiling a drain ditch in 2007 next to the highway behind Rimrock Senior Center and Grand View City Hall.

Two years later, Kathie Munro donated 26 trees in memory of her late husband, Larry, and Rimrock Jr.-Sr. High School student Brian Simper installed an irrigation system for the trees as his Eagle Scout project.

The sidewalk was started last year with

Lions Club auction proceeds, and the plan is to complete the work with money from this year's auction as well as $1,500 Idaho Community Foundation grant and a concrete donation from Cal Low of Low's Concrete.

"With these people's help and a good auction, we will be able to finish the sidewalk," Lions Club treasurer Doug Thurman said.

Auction items this year include tools, quilts, gift certificates, homemade furniture, oil, food, gravel, hay and some straw, according to Thurman.

The lunch menu includes sloppy joes, chili, hot dogs, homemade pies and other desserts, chips, pop and water.

In addition to the auction, the annual raffle also is being held with prizes being a Remington Model 887 Nitro Magnum 12 gauge pump shotgun and a Kenmore four-burner propane gas grill. Tickets are $1 each or six for $5.

For more information on the auction, contact Thurman at (208) 834-2442.

Local teams district tournament bound

Trojans get No. 3 seed

Girls draw Fruitland in opening round after knocking off Parma

Sydney Cornwall's first half sparked a victory over Parma High School and nailed down the third seed in the girls' basketball district tournament for Homedale on Saturday.

Cornwall scored all but two of her 15 points in the first 16 minutes and the Trojans spoiled the Panthers' debut in their new gymnasium, 51-40, in the 3A Snake River Valley conference season finale for both.

Homedale's lone senior also collected eight rebounds.

"Sydney did a tremendous job following up, getting some garbage baskets tonight on the offensive glass," HHS coach Jeremy Chamberlain said.

Homedale's victory over Parma combined with Payette's loss to Fruitland pushed the Trojans into the double-elimination portion of the 3A District III Tournament. Homedale meets second-seeded

With No. 1 seed secure, Lady Huskies look to bring home district title

Marsing plays Saturday at 6 p.m. in second-round game

The final week of the regular season saw the Marsing High School girls' basketball team go toe-to-toe with one of the two teams it could face in its opening game of the 2A District III Tournament on Saturday.

The Lady Huskies (18-2 overall, 11-1 2A Western Idaho Conference) locked up the No. 1 seed for districts, and the target on their back grew larger. They now prepare to take on either Nampa Christian or Cole Valley Christian, teams they have beaten twice this season.

"It is tough to beat a team three times no matter who they are," Marsing coach Tim Little said. "We have to prepare a little differently. Any coach who has lost to a team twice is going to change things up. We have to be prepared for anything."

Marsing will hit the court against the No. 4 seed Chargers or the No. 5 seed Trojans on Saturday night with action to begin at 6 p.m. at Columbia High School in Nampa, 301 South Happy Valley Road.

outings, the Lady Huskies' only league loss came from the district's No. 2 seed New Plymouth on Dec. 11.

"Luckily, these girls are motivated. They know that none of our games have been easy in league. They are excited and know that it won't be a cake walk," Little said. "This is the third leg of this long marathon we have been running all season. Everyone's record is 0-0. The girls aren't satisfied with a great regular season. Right now, their mindset is getting into the championship game of districts. I think their biggest goal is to win the first game to put us in a spot to bring home a district title."

On Thursday, Cole Valley came to Marsing on a two-game skid battling injuries to their leading players. The Lady Huskies were able to control the game. After settling in with a packed house of supporters cheering them on, they beat the Chargers, 55-34.

Marsing was paced by Rebecca Cossel who went 7-for-13 from the floor for 16 points and 11

Three Trojans at top of own tourney

Mac Hi goes unbeaten in five wrestling duals in Homedale

Three hometown athletes earned Outstanding Wrestler Awards during Saturday's fourth annual Homedale Team Duals Tournament.

Homedale High School's three top wrestlers from Saturday — Todd Bahem (3-0 at 112 pounds), Bodie Hyer (2-0 at 215) and Jorge Hernandez (3-0 at 285) — won all their matches by pinfall.

"Jorge Hernandez is new to the sport, but is obviously catching on to a few of the finer points of dealing with the big guys he has to face at 285," HHS assistant coach Mark Boothby said. "The team was very excited for Jorge to pull off those pins today."

Hyer can qualify for 189-pound matches, but wrestled up for the day as the Trojans went 3-2 in their five dual meets.

Homedale started the day with a 40-32 triumph over Timberline of Boise.

"That was a good win," Trojans head coach Toby Johnson said with emphasis after knocking off Timberline.

The Trojans also lined up against the Adrian-Tri-Valley cooperative (72-6 victory), Baker, Ore. (46-33 loss), Pine Eagle of Oregon (48-27 win) and Skyview of Nampa (44-34 loss).

Ismahel Mendoza was 4-1 at 171 pounds for Homedale, and his only loss came to Kyle Dennis of Pine Eagle, who is the reigning 2A/1A state champion in Oregon.

Tano Montes, a 140-pounder, lost only one match in five dual meets. He got all four of his victories by pin.

"Tano Montes wrestled outstanding today, pinning his way through his first four matches," Boothby said.

Also competing for Homedale on Saturday were Alfonso Barbosa (119, 1-2), Phillip Moulton (125, 2-2), Cole Jeppe (130, 2-3), Alan Kennedy (135, 2-2), Jovan Cornejo (152, 2-3), Ethan Brand (160, 0-3) and Brad McCain (189, 1-2).

The tournament attracted wrestlers from 13 high schools in Oregon and Idaho. Adrian teamed with Tri-Valley for the day. Action took place on five mats — three in the main gymnasium and two in the old gym.

HHS starts SRV's second half with loss ✓ Homedale: No. 3 seed

Homedale High School couldn't recover from a slow start Friday night in a boys' basketball loss to the 3A Snake River Valley conference leader.

Weiser had twice as many points as the Trojans by halftime en route to a 55-39 victory on its home floor.

Walter Almaraz hit two three-point goals, but was limited to a team-high eight points for Homedale (8-8 overall, 1-4 conference).

Zac Lowder and Mario Gonzalez scored seven points each, and senior Jonny Stacey added six and Jordan Jarvis five for Homedale's balanced attack.

Almaraz and junior Trey Corta had five rebounds each — all on the defensive end — while the Trojans managed just four offensive boards all night. Gonzalez had two of those as part of his team six rebounds.

The Trojans trailed 36-18 at halftime after falling into a 12-point hole after the first eight minutes.

Jan. 25: Homedale 83, Parma 76 — Senior Kenny Esparza's season-high 21 points and team-high six steals fueled the Trojans' highest point total of the season and their first win of the 3A Snake River Valley conference season. He also had five assists.

Corta scored eight consecutive points early in the second quarter to help build Homedale's 32-14 lead, but Parma begin hitting three-point goals to cut into the advantage.

points, Almaraz scored 14, and Homedale canned 16 of 20 free throws to keep the Panthers at bay. Corta and Gonzalez collected five rebounds each.

Parma scored 26 points in the third quarter to halve Homedale's lead. Sam Johnson scored 19 points for the first-year 3A team, while Trevor Kiser pounded in Homedale (4-16 overall, 3-5 in conference) blew open a close game with 23 points in the second quarter and dominated the backboards to maintain control through the second half.

The Trojans out-boarded Parma, 17-6, in the final 16 minutes. Raven Kelly's nine rebounds led the way.

Landri Timmons scored nine points for the Panthers, who lost all but one of their conference games during their first season in the 3A SRV.

While Cornwall sparked Homedale in the early going, Kylie Farwell slammed the door on the Panthers scoring 11 of her season-high 17 points after halftime. She also had three steals and two assists.

"In the fourth quarter, we just turned the ball over and put the ball entirely in her hands," Chamberlain said. "We just let her create and handle the ball, and she hit a three-pointer and was 5-for-8 from the foul line."

Laurien Mavey and Kelly scored five points each, and Kaylee Rupp added four points.

"The other girls did a real nice job filling in and hitting the open shots when they had them,"

Chamberlain said.

Thursday: Fruitland 46, Homedale 26 — Shots weren't falling for the Trojans, and the visiting Grizzlies got opportunistic during a 17-4 game-clinching run through the fourth quarter.

Trailing by seven points after three quarters, Homedale switched out of the zone defense it had instituted the entire game.

"When we changed defenses, they took advantage of their size on the inside and created some matchup problems for us," Chamberlain said. "That is when they made their run and pulled away."

With Raven Kelly leading the defense, Homedale had stayed close earlier in the game, trailing 15-10 at the break.

"The first half was a real defensive battle. Both teams made it hard for the other to score," Chamberlain said.

Rebounding was even through the first 16 minutes and neither team had visited the foul line. Sydney Cornwall, playing her final home game on Senior Night, corralled seven rebounds for the Trojans.

After a productive third quarter, though, the Trojans' accuracy from the field fell off.

Kaylee Rupp put in a team-high eight points for Homedale, while Farwell added seven.

Fruitland's Sadie Stutzman led everyone with 11 points, while teammate Jerica Martarano and Miranda Clinton put in eight each.

Huskies hang with No. 3 New Plymouth until final seconds

MacKay Hall goes up for a layup over Pilgrims defender Jake Mellenthin during Saturdays game in Marsing.

Marsing preps for Homedale rematch on Friday night

The Marsing High School boys’ basketball team held on strong until the final seconds against No. 3 New Plymouth in a 2A Western Idaho Conference rumble on Friday night dropping the game, 44-40.

With one minute left, the Huskies (8-8 overall, 2-7 2A WIC) were tied up 40-40 with the Pilgrims (12-4, 9-0). But Matt York drained a two-pointer with 45 seconds left followed by two free throws for New Plymouth to ice the game. Currently Marsing sits in fourth place in the 2A WIC following a win in McCall on Thursday night.

Jason Galligan and Agustin Paramo led Marsing with 12 points each. MacKay Hall picked up nine points, and Miguel Leon added seven for the Huskies.

“I’m pleased with the overall effort this week,” Marsing coach JW

Chadez said. “We went from playing good, to terrible, to playing good again. New Plymouth is the third in the state right now. We still didn’t play our best basketball but we came out hard. We played a physical basketball game. They didn’t let themselves get pushed around.”

Thursday: Marsing 37, McCall-Donnelly 30 — The Huskies had a tough conference game against the Vandals on the road in McCall and pulled out the win.

Galligan led Marsing with eight points, eight rebounds and three blocks. Paramo kicked in eight points and four steals. Dakota Hill finished with six points, Hall added five and Leon picked up four points and three assists.

“It is great to see them doing the things we talk about and practice. It isn’t all about strength and size but being determined,”

Chadez said. “I don’t know what changed. I think they are starting to believe that the little things we are teaching and telling them about, will give them the opportunity to win games.”

Jan. 25: Marsing 58, Greenleaf Friends Academy 45 — In a non-conference matchup on the road, two Huskies recorded double-doubles.

Hall dominated the floor, picking up 20 points and 10 rebounds. Galligan scored 13 points and recorded 14 rebounds. Paramo added 10 points, five assists and five steals. Leon picked up six points and four assists. Hill locked up four points, and Bernardo Galvez hit a three pointer.

“The next four games are real big for us,” Chadez said. “(Tonight) against North Star and next Wednesday against Nampa Christian are big games. We have a chance to lock up the fourth seed for districts. We would get to host the first round of districts and have a good home-court advantage.”

rebounds en route to her fifth double-double of the season. Ashley Hull made 4-of-6 treys for 14 points. Andi Merritt picked up 11 points and eight rebounds.

“Cole Valley had a lot on the line. This loss dropped them from the second seed to the fourth. They were battling some injuries of their post players,” Little said. “With Merritt and Cossel combining for 27 points and Deidrie (Briggs) with six, 33 of our points came from our post. It worked out well for us.”

Briggs and Candy Leon each locked up six points for the Lady Huskies. Briggs also grabbed five rebounds. Leon brought her regular season assists to 82, finishing the game with three. Andrea Rodriguez pulled in seven rebounds, four steals and had two points.

“These girls, they don’t assume anything. They know it only takes one slip up,” Little said. “They aren’t talking like ‘Who are we going to face at State?’ but getting past the first games and getting a district title. They are worrying about the state stuff if we get there.”

Jan. 25: Marsing 40, Nampa Christian 33 — With a hard-fought win over host Nampa Christian, the Lady Huskies cinched up the 2A WIC.

Merritt paced Marsing with 10 points and eight rebounds. Cossel snagged nine rebounds and nine points. Leon picked up nine points and three assists. Hull went 6-for-8 from the line for six points. Briggs added four points and four rebounds with Kate Blackstock kicking in two points. Rodriguez notched six rebounds.

“We just have to stay focused. I know that I’m really not going to have to deal with the little things to keep them focused,” Little said. “These girls demand a lot of themselves and have worked extremely hard all season.”

Marsing's Glenn takes second, Ceballos sidelined with injury

The Marsing High School wrestling team took part in the R. Darrell Brown Invitational held in New Plymouth on Saturday and came out with two out of the four wrestlers placing.

Austin Glenn took second place in the 189-pound class, falling in the championship round to McCall-Donnelly's Todd Allen. Glenn was ranked fourth in the state going into the tournament.

"Austin has a great offense and has been working on improving his 'on the mat' game," Marsing coach Rick Folwell said. "He was down in points in the second round and needed to get off the bottom to tie the match. He was not able to pull it off this time."

Ismael Hinojosa went into the tournament unseeded having to wrestle every bout and finished third, beating Weiser's Brady DeYoung in the 125-pound class.

"Ismael did a great job this weekend," Folwell said. "All of his matches were close. He showed quickness and skill in every round. He is definitely our MVP for the week. Many of his matches came down to the final seconds and were very exciting to watch."

Oscar Ceballos was taken out in his opening bout of the 275-pound class against Fruitland's Anthony Freeman when he sustained a shoulder injury.

"He injured his shoulder while trying to pull free from a good throw and hold in the third round," Folwell said. "He was unable to finish the tournament."

Folwell said he didn't believe that Ceballos' injury would keep him from finishing the season.

Marsing entered three junior varsity wrestlers in the tournament; Austin Williams took second in the 152-pound class. Armando Martinez took third at 119.

Wrestlers find a good spot to take a nap during the duals meet on Saturday morning in Homedale.

Wrestlers: Were recognized for showing

"The day went smoothly and there were some great team and individual match-ups throughout the day," Boothby, an alum of tourney participant Baker, Ore., said.

"Lots of coaches love this format because their teams get five matches without the possibility of elimination."

McLoughlin (Mac Hi) of Milton-Freewater, Ore., was the only team to finish with an unblemished slate after five dual meets. Johnson, Homedale's longtime head coach, is a Mac Hi grad.

While the Tri-Valley/Adrian conglomerate lost all five dual meets, Antelopes 145-pounder Mark Ishida went 4-1. His only loss came when he wrestled up a weight class at 152 pounds against another of the tournament's Outstanding Wrestler Award winners, Anthony Constantine. Constantine finished fourth in the 4A Oregon state meet last year.

"I guess he could have had a medal, but we opted for him to wrestle the better competition in that one," Adrian second-year coach Eddie Kinkade said.

In all, 26 wrestlers were awarded outstanding nominations after finishing the day without a loss. Melba's Troy Richardson, an Owyhee County resident, went 5-0 at 145, and his teammate Jared Johnshoy avenged a loss to Mac Hi's Ryan Bullock in a matchup of 135-pound unbeatens in the last dual of the day.

Owyheean wins outstanding wrestler for Melba

John Richardson, part of a strong Melba High School wrestling contingent hailing from Owyhee County, earned an Outstanding Wrestler Award with an unbeaten run at the Homedale Team Duals Tournament on Saturday.

One of at least four Owyheecans on the Mustangs' roster, Richardson collected five pins in his perfect day in the 145-pound division.

Melba once in five dual meets Saturday, and other Owyhee products who saw mat time included Chris Cowger at 130 pounds and senior and co-captain John Richards at 140 pounds.

Richardson placed at the 1A-2A state meet last year, and Richards also made an appearance in the state meet a year ago.

Another Owyhee resident, Alex Webb, has seen some mat time as well this season.

All the Owyhee County wrestlers are sophomores except for Richards.

There's More than meets the eye in Trojans' recent wrestling loss

The final score didn't tell the story Friday night for the Homedale High School wrestling team.

The Trojans dropped a 48-27 3A Snake River Valley conference decision to visiting Weiser, but gave up three matches because of forfeits.

"That's a 21-point spread. Eighteen of those were forfeits," HHS coach Toby Johnson said. "We out-wrestled them on the mat."

Johnson saluted the performance of 135-pounder Alan Kennedy and Brad McCain at 189.

Kennedy pulled out a narrow 8-6 win over Stephen DeSpain, while McCain shut down Ramon Almanza, 7-0.

Ismahel Mendoza nipped Nick Stephenson, 14-13, in the 171-pound match.

The Trojans showed off their power in the rest of the team's victories:

- Todd Bahem pinned his 112-pound opponent, Alex Gomez
- Phillip Moulton put Brady DeYoung's shoulder to the mat at 125
- Tano Montes pinned Weiser 140-pounder Noah Hall

"It feels good and builds team confidence when you can go out on the mat and win the majority of the matches wrestled," Johnson said.

With state-ranked senior Jeremy Ensley out of action, Homedale gave up six points at 119 pounds. The Trojans also forfeited at 103 and 160.

Rimrock draws No. 1 seed

After a rough start, Rimrock High School finds itself facing the top seed in the 1A, Div. I District III Girls' Basketball Tournament this week.

Coach Mike Chandler's squad, which lost the first five games of the season, finished fourth in the 1A Western Idaho Conference and bring the No. 4 seed into the tournament. The Raiders are two wins from a berth in the 1A, Div. I Real Dairy Shootout state tournament.

But Rimrock faces Horseshoe Bend on the Mustangs' floor in the one-and-done district quarterfinals Saturday. Horseshoe Bend comes into the tournament with the best record out of the 1A Long Pin Conference.

A win puts the Raiders into Tuesday's semifinals either on the road against Greenleaf Friends Academy or at home against Idaho City. Two wins, and Rimrock plays in the championship game on Feb. 10 at Caldwell High School.

Both finalists earn berths to the state tournament. The semifinal losers play an early game on Feb. 10 in Caldwell for the district's third berth to the state tournament.

Pats hand Raiders another loss

A low-scoring third quarter prolonged Rimrock High School's losing streak in boys' basketball.

The Raiders (8-7 overall) managed just four points to start the second half Thursday, falling to Liberty Charter, 59-37.

Dominic Hulsey scored 16 points to lead three Patriots in double figures.

Rimrock trailed by four points at halftime after playing to a 17-17 tie through the first quarter. The Patriots took control with a 22-4 run to open the second half.

Chris Smith had eight points for the Raiders, while teammates Clay Cantrell and Ricardo Garcia scored seven each. Cantrell had six rebounds, too.

Jan. 24: Ambrose 39, Rimrock 37 — The Pelicans swooped in and grabbed a victory with a fourth-quarter charge in Boise.

Ambrose held the Raiders to a free throw from Oscar Gomez and a three-point goal from Smith during a 12-4 run over the final eight minutes. Rimrock entered the final frame with a 33-27 lead.

Smith drained five treys and led all scorers with 15 points. Rimrock teammate Chance Pierce scored six points. Austin Meyers led the team on the backboards with eight rebounds.

Adrian can't rebound from early deficit

Adrian High School did everything it could Saturday night in its boys' basketball battle against the top team in the 1A High Desert League East Division.

Jan. 29: Adrian 42, Crane 49 — Senior Blake Purnell scored 18 points and snagged 22 rebounds for the Antelopes (5-11 overall, 2-2 1A HDL East).

Thomas Shenk scored eight points, and teammate Paxton Shira had seven points and 10 rebounds.

Jan. 25: Adrian 45, Riverstone 40 — Adrian held a 40-26 lead after three quarters, but the Otters outscored the Antelopes, 14-5, over the final eight minutes.

Purnell scored 19 points and grabbed 13 rebounds for Adrian. David Stones chipped in 12. Adrian collected a season-high 61 rebounds and held a 29-15 edge on Riverstone's end of the floor.

Lady Antelopes get third league loss

Adrian High School's girls' basketball team fell three games behind the divisional leader Saturday with its third 1A High Desert League East Division loss of the season.

The Antelopes' (12-6 overall, 2-3 1A HDL East) offense floundered in the second half of a 49-29 loss to division leader Crane on the road.

Madison Shira led Adrian with 10 points, while Madison Purnell had a team-high seven rebounds to go with her four points.

Brenda Otley's 13 points paced Crane.

Friday: Adrian 56, Harper 41 — Jessica Morton scored 18 points to help the Antelopes to a divisional win on the Hornets' floor.

Madison Purnell (11 points) was one of three players to grab six rebounds each as Adrian out-boarded Harper. Maddy Pendergrass and Nichole Orosco, who scored eight points each, were the other girls with six boards.

Mustangs rout divisional opponents

A big early spurt pushed Jordan Valley High School to a 66-31 1A High Desert League East Division boys' basketball win Saturday over host Harper.

Nate Easterday scored 18 points to lead Jordan Valley (5-7 overall, 3-2 1A HDL East).

Ty Warn scored 10 points, and Tyler Elsner and Nate Elsner scored nine points each.

Friday: Jordan Valley 54, Burnt River 27 — Exchange student Adam Brezani led the way with 10 points, while Dustin Bowers scored eight. Ben Telleria and Warn chipped in seven each.

Coed JV: Harper 37, Jordan Valley 33 — Meagan Fillmore's 11 points weren't enough.

Coed JV: Burnt River 36, Jordan Valley 27 — In a game featuring girls on both sides, Fillmore scored six points in a loss. Hayley Caywood had three points and Jessica Carson added two.

On the edge of common sense The new mustang key

The new Mustang has a dual personality. Not the BLM's millstone, but Ford Motor Co.'s snazzy new muscle car called "The Boss 302". It offers two keys!

One key, the "limiter," uses sophisticated computer software to allow it to perform such as would be fitting and safe for Grandpa Tommy or your 17-year-old son. The second key turns it into Boss 302, a race-ready, hopped-up stock car suited for Dale Earnhardt or a San Antonio cabbie!

How many times have you wished you had two keys on your horse? It's daylight. The crew's heading out on a big circle. The ranch foreman is riding a quarter Thoroughbred buckskin that's sixteen hands at the withers. He takes BIG steps! The Peruvian on the Paso Fino, the banker on the walking mule, and the neighbor on her Arabian stud seem to have no trouble keeping up. My horse is following at a pace the equivalent of an ol' timer doing therapy for hip replacement! He's got his head down. The closest description to his gait would be "plodding." Every five minutes, or when I can't see the riders anymore, I kick him into a trot and catch up.

They stop to let their horses blow occasionally, but by the time I reach them they've taken off again! It's like this all day until we point our steeds barnward and start back home. Everybody else's horse picks up the pace a little headed toward the corral, but mine suddenly is engulfed with the energy of a caffeine-addled muskrat in a squirrel cage! He's jiggin' and prancing, side-passing, throwin' his head, chomping at the bit and whinnying like an Alpine yodeler!

You are bouncing along, the reins tight, trying to have a casual conversation with the Arabian princess about the endurance of Arabians vs. the gas mileage of a Chevy Volt. After five minutes, she remarks that she used to stutter, too, when she was young. Would I like the number of her speech therapist?

After you get your horse unsaddled, you remember when you traded for him. You test-rode him in the arena, no problem! But down the road you were eventually forced to accept his eccentricities like: being cinchy, not being able to pick up his hind feet, and if you ever tied him solid he'd pull down the porch roof or uproot the hitching post!

And then you remember the day you suddenly realized that they didn't name him because of his color. I'd never heard of a horse being named Paint Shaker!

What I need is a key!

Eyes on Owyhee Off on the wrong foot

With every new election there's the opportunity to turn over a new leaf — except, it seems, in Owyhee County.

On the surface, things look to be different in Murphy: The new commissioners occasionally ask the right questions, and Sheriff Daryl Crandall has begun attending board meetings again like other elected officials.

But, at least until last week, there were subtle hints that it was business-as-usual, or worse.

There was nothing subtle about last week.

Daryl Crandall broke the law, and the commissioners let him do it.

Well, not all the commissioners. District 1 commissioner and BOCC chair Jerry Hoagland voted against the purchase of a new sheriff's patrol vehicle.

His new colleagues — Kelly Aberasturi from District 2 and District 3's Joe Merrick — two weeks after saying they wanted Hoagland as chair because of his knowledge and guidance ... heeded neither and approved the purchase of a $22,500 Chevy Silverado crew cab pickup for sheriff's patrol.

That in itself is on the up and up. State law authorizes commissioners to purchase property for the county.

However, in reality the truck already had been acquired through the dealings of the sheriff's office with Ken Garff Automotive Group in Utah. How else to explain Deputy Karl Kingston responding to calls in a shiny new truck weeks before Crandall submitted the claim for approval?

The Jan. 24 vote was based on an invoice from the car dealership dated Jan. 3. Crandall said his office had a difficult time getting the invoice from the seller, but he had plenty of time to at least inform the BOCC of his plan.

By voting for the purchase, Aberasturi and Merrick ignored Idaho Code 31-802, which gives commissioners supervisory duties over county officers, and aided and abetted Crandall in violating IC 31-807, which establishes commissioners as the only elected officers authorized to buy property for the county.

The right thing to do would have been to reject the claim and force Crandall to drive the pickup himself back to Salt Lake, and no mileage reimbursement.

The oath Merrick and Aberasturi took on Jan. 10 implores elected officials to uphold the laws of the state of Idaho. That would include requiring the sheriff to follow the proper protocol when making a purchase.

But perhaps Merrick and Aberasturi are cut from the same cloth as Crandall.

They either don't care about their constituents or don't have enough fortitude to stand up to Crandall's petulant propensity to do what he wants, when he wants, regardless of protocol, propriety or the law.

With Crandall, though, it could be just a lack of understanding the law. County Clerk Charlotte Sherburn had to remind him that the commissioners — not he — were the only ones who could legally sign an agreement extending the Idaho Power law enforcement contract for CJ Strike.

Of course, practicality says that elected officials should

From Washington We should tap Reagan's legacy of strength and optimism

Saturday, Feb. 6, 2011, marks the centennial anniversary of President Ronald Reagan's birth. This anniversary is an opportunity to reflect on the late president's legacy and his important achievements. The "Great Communicator" left an indelible mark, including a stirring and visionary speech, known as "A Time for Choosing," that he gave long before his presidency. While this speech was given nearly 50 years ago, many of the issues he raised run parallel to the challenges we face today.

In 1964, Reagan spoke about many of our country's major concerns, including our nation's serious debt, war, the problems of unemployment and the importance of protecting our constitutional freedoms. He highlighted how our government was spending beyond its means and failing to balance the budget — unfortunately, this problem has grown worse today. He also spoke of the difficult decisions of war and a needed commitment to success. At that time, our nation faced the threat of the expansion of communism — now, we face a war against terrorism. Reagan spoke about an erosion of the freedoms secured by the Founding Fathers and the specter of over-regulation — today, government takeovers and the ever-increasing encroachment of regulatory activities continue to bloat the federal bureaucracy and stifle our economy. He also touched on the problem of unemployment. Then, the annual unemployment rate was 5.2 percent. At nearly 10 percent, our current unemployment rate is unacceptable.

Throughout his decades of public service, our 40th president confronted great challenges, and he approached these challenges with optimism, conviction and perseverance. He faced difficulties in the Middle East, the bombing of U.S. Marines barracks in Beirut, the tragic Space Shuttle

As President Reagan stressed, we continue to have the opportunity to grow, create wealth and build a better life for those who follow. His emphasis on hope and freedom endures.

Challenger explosion, the height of the Cold War and the encroachment of Soviet influence in the developing world, economic recovery and many more trials. During times of heartbreak and trouble, he reminded the American people to maintain optimism and faith. Additionally, he didn't simply point out problems; he also had many ideas and solutions. Reagan kept focus on progress, and he demonstrated diplomacy with national strength. He pointed out the errors of big government and stressed that "government does nothing as well or as economically as the private sector of the economy." During his time in office, our nation recovered economic growth, rediscovered national strength and pride and cemented durable diplomatic relationships.

President Reagan's principles and vision still resonate. When he spoke of a time for choosing, he stressed our ability, dignity and right to make our own decisions and determine our own destiny. His legacy of strength and hopefulness continues to serve as an example as we face considerable, parallel challenges today. As President

Financial management

Don't deny dating when in debt; just plan for it

Dear Dave,
I'm a recent college graduate, and I'm determined to follow your plan and get out of debt. My biggest problem is when it comes to dating. Things aren't cheap today, so aside from not dating, how do you handle this area of your life when you're trying to get your finances in order?

— Roland

Dear Roland,
First of all, you definitely need to date people. I couldn't have gone without dating, especially at your age. So, I'm not going to tell you to do something I couldn't do.
There's absolutely nothing wrong with dating inexpensively if you're thoughtful. Just don't be so cheap that you're freakish about things. There are plenty of nice, stylish places that don't cost an arm and a leg. A picnic and a Frisbee will go a long way on a pretty day!

Your efforts to be a gentleman and make things happen in creative ways will more charming to any lady worth dating than throwing down an extra $100 at a snooty restaurant you can't afford.
The other thing is to make dating part of your monthly budget. In your situation, it's a legitimate expense, and you need to make it part of your financial game plan. Then, if you're seeing someone on a regular basis, and the money in the "dating" envelope is getting low, you can explain to her that you're working hard to manage your money properly so you'll be wealthy one day.

This will make you even more attractive to the right kind of person, because it shows that you're mature enough and responsible enough to be thinking toward and planning for the future!

— Dave

Dear Dave,
We currently pay to have our lawn mowed each week. This expense is figured into our monthly budget, but we're not quite out of debt yet. My wife says this is a luxury at this point, and I should cut the grass myself until we're out of debt. What do you think?

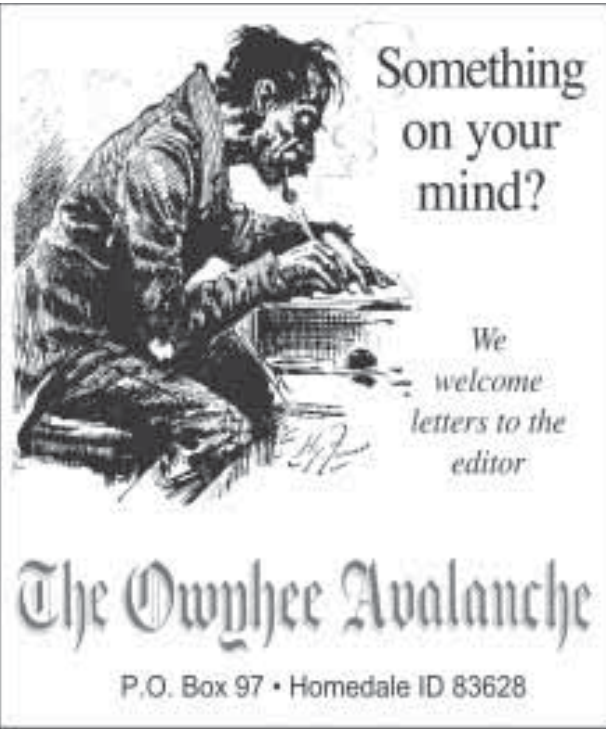

— Ty

Dear Ty,
I think it depends a lot on your income. If you're a surgeon making $350,000 a year, then making lawn care part of your monthly budget is probably pretty reasonable. Now, if you're only making $26,000 a year, you probably need to get behind the mower and start pushing it yourself!
Is this a snobbish attitude? I don't think so. It's a simple matter of mathematics. What is your personal time worth in the marketplace, and should you be plying your trade out in the world rather than mowing the lawn?
Let's say you're an attorney who charges $400 an hour. In that case, you're probably going to be better off out there lawyering — especially if you're trying to get out of debt — than you would pushing a mower. But if you make $12 an hour, it's a good idea for you to be cutting your own grass, isn't it?

Whether or not something is a "luxury" depends on your own personal income and financial situation. That's how I look at it.

Homedale newcomer pleads for orderly growth, planning

My family and I recently moved to Homedale. Having just retired from the military, we had searched several states and regions for a great place to raise our family. Owyhee County and Southwest Idaho has so much to offer for nearly everyone, and we are proud to call it home. There are lots of suburban activities from Caldwell to Boise, and the smaller towns such as Homedale offer all necessary services as well as a business center for local commerce.
One of the most appealing traits of this area is the respect displayed of the rural heritage and resistance to the urban sprawl that is so common and damaging in so many areas throughout the country. This success can only be continued through careful planning, thoughtful consideration by officials, vigorous public debate and adherence to a mutually agreeable vision for the towns, county and region.
The region I left was one of the fastest-growing in its state and the nation for the last 10-15 years. A former rural enclave changed seemingly overnight into a veritable sea of housing, retail, industrial and commercial developments. The planners and commissioners would change the zoning maps almost anytime anyone with a tailored suit and a retained lawyer would show up with some pretty sketches and a tenuous promise of increased tax revenue. Poorly planned development took its toll on infrastructure, property value and the area's overall personality. Instead of growing from the center of commerce outward, growth was done in random fashion resulting in horse pastures next to auto repair shops next to churches next to warehouses next to restaurants next to schools with no trace of the original plan intact.

I hope our officials will learn these lessons before and without repeating them.

✓ Reagan: Confront today's problems with late president's creativity

Reagan stressed, we continue to have the opportunity to grow, create wealth and build a better life for those who follow. His emphasis on hope and freedom endures.
We can take heart that, through optimism and commitment to our ideals, we can confront and overcome our challenges.
With true focus on the creation of lasting private sector jobs, we can tackle the pressing challenge of unemployment. Through unshackling the ingenuity of creative individuals and businesses, we can grow our economy and protect our freedoms. With an understanding that, through enabling our men and women in uniform to effectively accomplish their mission in the war on terror, our legacy of freedom will endure. With recognition that controlling government spending is paramount to economic recovery, we can take bold decisive action to get our nation's fiscal house in order.

At this time of choosing, America can take the path of optimism, conviction and perseverance exemplified by President Reagan and create a better world for our children and grandchildren.

✓ Wrong: BOCC vote validates Crandall's breach of protocol, state law be given latitude to purchase budgeted everyday items such as office supplies.

But, even with a budget of $45,000 in place, a pickup truck certainly is not an everyday item.
As a public servant sworn to look out for his constituents — the taxpayers — Crandall has an obligation to come before the commissioners — the fiscal officers of the county — to make request a major purchase.
Instead, Crandall circumvented the BOCC. Based on an invoice dated Dec. 21 for prisoner cages in two pickups, his bidding process — carried out by Sgt. Slade Heeb — had to have begun during the old administration when George Hyer and Dick Freund sat with Hoagland and occasionally held the sheriff accountable.

Hoagland said that he didn't know about the new truck until Jan. 18, when commissioners received a claim to pay Allied Signs $530.40 to decal the vehicle based on the Homedale business' Jan. 7 invoice.
That bill was paid without fanfare, probably because — like most bills submitted by the sheriff — there most likely was no context on what precisely the bill was for. That's on the commissioners, too, because they don't ask enough questions or pay attention to dates.

It was a missed opportunity to rein in the sheriff's need to spend every dime that's not tied down.
There's no argument that the sheriff's office needs new vehicles on occasion. The previous board wouldn't have budgeted for it had the need not been there.
But there is a right way to do things.
It seems Aberasturi and Merrick are following Crandall down the wrong path.
They'll get a chance to find the right path next month: They already know the sheriff will bring another claim for another truck — marked as sold already on the Garff dealership Web site — before the board.

Marsing school plan draws mixed opinions

The plan for a new junior-senior high school in Marsing drew mixed reviews from the district’s patrons at a public meeting Thursday night.

The Marsing School Board made final Jan. 24 plans for a $1.35 million bond election, which, if approved by a two-thirds majority, would make funds available to replace the existing high school with a facility for grades 7-12.

The proposal will be put before the district’s voters Feb. 25.

At the public information meeting Thursday, some of the patrons in attendance questioned the need for a new junior-senior high school, and said consolidation of the high school with another district might be a better route.

Marsing area resident Barry Larsen said he talked to Vallivue School Board Chairman Nadine Maggard on Thursday, and was told that district would consider any proposal for consolidation that Marsing wished to present.

Marsing denied reclassification

The Idaho High School Activities Association denied Marsing High School’s request to move from the A-3 classification back to A-4 last Thursday at its annual meeting.

The IHSAA did, however, change the way it determines enrollment when figuring school size classifications.

Marsing Booster Club spokeswoman Pam Dugger aid Monday her organization had not received written notification from the IHSAA of the decision. Dugger, who represented the booster club at a hearing last week in Boise, said she learned of the decision Friday in a local newspaper.

“It’s devastating is what it is ... We certainly feel badly about it,” Dugger said.

Marsing, a small A-3 school, made the request because migrant students at the school cause the student enrollment to fluctuate. Much of the school year, Marsing’s student enrollment is below the 150 A-3/A-4 cutoff line.

Trojans outscored by Huskies, 44-37

The Marsing Huskies outscored the Homedale Trojans 16-7 in the fourth quarter last Tuesday night on their way to a 44-37 high school boys basketball victory.

Marsing, 11-4 overall and 3-2 in the league with the victory, made some critical shots down the stretch to win round one of the Owyhee County rivalry. The two teams play each other next on Feb. 14 in Marsing.

Marsing’s Scott Webb hit two free throws with 3:21 to play in the game to give the Huskies a 37-34 lead. Marsing center Randy Lankford scored on an offensive rebound lay-up a minute later to expand the margin to five. And an eight-footer by David Floyd with 1:44 remaining gave the Huskies what they needed, 41-34.

Free throws were a telling statistic, as Homedale was just 2 of 7 in the fourth quarter, and connected on just four of 12 attempts on the game. Marsing, meanwhile, had 24 attempts in the physically rough game, and made 12 of those. The Huskies were 8 for 15 from the line on the fourth quarter.

Kimmo Salonaho had 13 points to lead the Trojans, and Devin Breshears added nine.

BALD HEADS, ATTENTION. The Elko Independent has been experimenting with white sage, and declares that aside from its being the most nutritious food for cattle, it is the best hair restorer in the world, and adds: “For this purpose alone it so far surpasses the preparations usually found in drug stores as to make them utterly valueless compared with the really restorative principle that it possesses. A decoction of white sage — which is readily obtained by boiling it a few hours over a slow fire — will accomplish more in restoring bald heads, fastening falling hair, and renovating and giving healthy action to the scalp, than a whole store of the usual remedies advertised for that purpose. Hundreds now in Nevada can testify to this fact, and a trial will convince any doubting Joseph that what we say of it in this respect will be borne out by results if he will give it a fair trial. The man who first brings white sage before the public as a Hair Restorative will not only drive every other preparation for that purpose out of the market, but will secure for himself a colossal fortune.

The reverend gentleman will have the assistance of many of the amateur ladies and gentlemen of Silver City and vicinity, and some from Idaho City. The affair has been suggested by a multitude of friends of Father Poulin, for his special benefit, and there will undoubtedly be a large attendance on each evening. Particulars as to where the concert will be held &c., will be published in due time.

ATTEMPTED INCENDIARISM. A few evenings ago a certain young man attempted to burn the dwelling of a prominent citizen in town. From what we can learn, it appears that the cause of this rash attempt was unrequited love. It seems that the would be incendiary had fallen in love with a daughter of the proprietor of the house, “popped the question,” and was refused; whereupon he conceived the idea of getting even by reducing the premises to ashes. Fortunately he failed in this base design and fled. Officers of justice are now on his track.

NOTICE

Dear Messrs. Spackman, Emery, Crandall, Wasden and Homan,
RE: Property at: 58265 Cedar Point Dr., Rogerson, ID 83302

My name is Chris Adamo, and I am the registered property owner of the above captioned address. As you know, my brother lives there alone, and the property in Murphy Hot Springs is in a very rural area that is 90 minutes away from the nearest authorities. My family and I have water rights at this property, and we have reported on multiple occasions of theft of, or disconnection of, our water lines. Unfortunately, our attempts to have the water rights enforced by various governmental agencies have failed completely. Additionally, we know who the water theft is being done by. In our opinion, the people are heavily armed and dangerous. They have made numerous threats of harm to my brother and family regarding the dynamics of the water right issue.

During the third week of December, when my brother was in town getting groceries, someone went on the property and physically removed the dirt base and a large portion of the concrete reinforcement that one of our buildings sits upon. He reported this to the local authorities, and as of this writing, the issue remains unresolved. When the spring thaw comes and the water level rises, the damage that was done to the bank in December will result in that portion of our structure being washed away.

While we realize the financial and logistical limitations my property has, it does not obviate the need to protect our civil rights. To that end, please let this letter serve as formal notice to everyone named above, that should my brother be injured or killed as a result of the failure to protect him, or enforce the law, my family will pursue a personal injury and/or wrongful death lawsuit against all of you.

All we are asking is for you to provide my brother and family with the proper protection of his civil rights, and we ask that you govern yourself accordingly.

Very truly yours,
Chris Adamo

The Islamic war with the west was highlighted by the attack on the Twin Towers in New York City, September 11, 2001

This incident raises numerous questions for Americans.

Why would God allow such a disaster to happen?

Will America be attacked again?

What will be the outcome of this war?

Does the Bible contain information about this conflict?

Do you know anyone that was in the Twin Towers when the planes hit?

You are invited to see an interview with an eye-witness from that day.
