Fair culminates with coronation

Payette girl wins

Retiring Owyhee County Fair and Rodeo Queen Jaycee Engle of Melba places her crown on Payette's Mandy Allison after the new queen was announced Saturday night in the rodeo arena. The Saturday night coronation coincided with the final night of the Owyhee County Rodeo. Allison was chosen queen over three other contestants. She also earned the horsemanship award.

Crapo town meetings heading for Owyhee

U.S. Sen. Mike Crapo (R-Idaho) will hold three town meetings in Owyhee County on Thursday.

Residents will be able to discuss issues with the senator in the midst of his month-long tour of the state.

A common theme in all of Crapo's appearances will be the federal debt, but according to spokesman Lindsay Nothorn Owyhee-specific issues will be on the table during Thursday's Owyhee County town meetings:

- 3 p.m. at the Homedale Senior Center, 224 W. Idaho Ave.
- 4:30 p.m. at the Marsing Senior Center, 218 Main St.

6:30 p.m. inside McKeeth Hall at the Owyhee County Historical Museum, 1708 S. Basey St., in Murphy

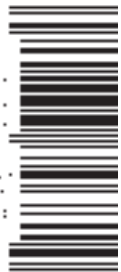

Citizens are encouraged to ask questions at each meeting.

During his time in Owyhee County, Crapo is expected to talk about the latest legislative fixes

Marsing-Homedale Cemetery District slates budget hearing

Commissioners will take public input on the Marsing-Homedale Cemetery Maintenance District's proposed budget for the 2016 fiscal year.

The proposed budget is 29.2 percent larger than the current budget; primarily because of the two-year temporary levy patrons passed earlier this year.

A public hearing will be held at 2 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 24 at the cemetery office, 4410 Cemetery Road, Marsing. The board of commissioners could adopt the budget soon after.

The budget is available for review between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday at the cemetery office.

The proposed Fiscal Year 2016 budget is $119,040, which includes a fund balance of $24,621 that will be carried over from the current fiscal year.

The FY16 budget compares to $92,178 for FY15 when the district had carryover of $18,903 from FY14.

The district is anticipating total revenue of $94,419 for FY16. The two-year temporary levy that was passed in May will provide $30,000 of that figure.

Commissioners have reduced the revenue anticipated from the sale of burial lots by nearly one-third of last year's anticipated amount of $14,500. Actual income from lot sales thus far in FY15 is less than $10,000 but cemetery sexton Bruce Benson points out there are six weeks left for this year.

"Somebody could come in here tomorrow and buy 30 lots," Benson said. "But that doesn't happen very often."

He added that because of the levy, they don't have to hope for that much money now.

In FY15, the district had total revenue of $73,275.

Commissioners say compensation for district employees will cost $52,000 next year. Sexton Bruce Benson's salary is $35,000, and another $17,000 is for farm oversight and part-time help. Benson's salary remains the same as FY15, but the district will pay $3,000 more for farm oversight and part-time help next year.

"Even now, what it says I make I'm not making," Benson said to illustrate how the board leaves extra money in the budget in case the funds are needed elsewhere.

The district expects to incur expenses of $67,040 during FY16. The most costly of those line items is for equipment at $18,215. Benson intends to purchase a new lawnmower — at a cost of at least $15,228 — after the first of the year.

Other expenditures include repairs to cemetery grounds at $8,000 and $5,000 in payments to the employees' state pension fund.

Smaller expenses for the district include gas and oil at $4,500, legal notices at $3,500 and payroll taxes of $3,300.

Marsing cafeteria signage helps students make better choices

New digital menus provide nutritional information

When students in the Marsing School District head back to classes on Monday, they will have tools to help them make better nutritional choices at lunch.

The idea behind the three new Mvix digital menu screens is to make students in the district's elementary, middle and high schools more aware of their eating habits.

Bringing this technology to the school district was child nutrition director Teresa Bettleyon's goal, and finding the right product involved two years of research.

"Mvix was very cost-effective compared to the other providers that we looked at," Bettleyon said. "If students are aware of their dietary intake, they can start making better choices."

The menu board allows Bettleyon to add nutritional facts like calories, fat grams and protein.

The program and setup fee cost $1,902 while the three screens cost $1,950, school district business manager and clerk Deb Holzhey said.

The money to purchase the Marsing students will get their first real taste of what the new digital menus can do for their nutrition when school starts Monday. Submitted photo board came out of the district's child nutrition budget approved by the state.

"Child nutrition funds are separate from the district funds per the State Department and, as such, are self sustaining under Teresa's direction," Holzhey said.

The school district has also enrolled in Mvix-managed service. It includes content design for the boards, template and layout setups, operational support and maintenance. Mvix Digital Signage is based in Sterling, Va.

The only thing the district has to do is provide the company with its lunch menus.

"(Mvix designs) the content, accompanying art, and layout, and they schedule the menus," Bettleyon said.

In 2014, Marsing elementary and middle schools received the HealthierUS School Challenge Silver Award from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The award recognizes schools that work diligently to help children eat more healthfully and be more physically active.

Homedale Elementary switching up the way breakfast is served

Program aims to help students focus on learning

In an effort to boost students' learning potential, the Homedale Elementary School will offer free breakfast to every child this school year.

Beginning Monday, Aug. 24 — the first day of the 2015-16 school calendar — children will have the option of taking breakfast as they enter the building for the start of the school day.

Homedale School District food services manager Vicki Eby announced the new program last week.

The premise is hungry children cannot learn.

Eby said the Marsing School District has offered a similar breakfast program for years.

"It's actually kind of the trend," Eby said. "You're able to reach more children, and especially elementary kids have a tendency when they arrive at school they're going to go play and see their friends and they won't eat."

The program also helps take pressure off working parents who scramble to feed their children in the morning while they're also trying to get ready for their jobs.

The food will be available to the children at any of a number of stations at school entrances, but the children can refuse the meal as they enter the school. Students will be able to eat their meals during the first few minutes of class as teachers are preparing for the day.

"My understanding is it works very well," Eby said of the integration of the opening meal and the opening of class.

Morning kindergarteners and first- through fourth-graders should arrive on campus no earlier than 7:30 a.m. when outdoor supervision is available. The elementary school building doesn't open to students until 7:55 a.m. when the first bell rings.

The afternoon kindergarteners will receive a meal at the beginning of their day, too.

For information about the new program or other food service issues, call Eby at 337-4033.

Homedale Elementary schedules Meet the Teacher event

Homedale Elementary School will hold a Meet the Teacher Night next week.

The school year starts Monday, Aug. 24, but students and parents alike can meet the 2015-16 teachers on Thursday, Aug. 20.

The event runs from 4:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the school, 420 W. Washington Ave.

Each teacher will hold five 30-minute sessions to go over classroom expectations. Each session has eight spots available for students and their families to ensure small groups. Each family will receive a student handbook, too.

Students also should bring their classroom supplies to the Meet the Teacher Night so they can put them away.

For more information on the Meet the Teacher Night, call the school at 337-4033.

Marsing kindergarten registration scheduled this week

Registration for incoming Marsing kindergarteners begins today.

The screening is set for 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. today and from 8 a.m. to noon on Thursday. The screening will take place at the elementary school on 8th Avenue West.

Teachers will collect basic parent and student information. Teachers will also conduct a short assessment of learning styles and basic skills such as letter names, counting and color recognition.

For more information, call (208) 896-4111, option 4.

Lightning likely culprit in Cow Creek

Ranchers helping BLM on fire

Bureau of Land Management officials suspect Monday afternoon lightning led to a wildfire that was burning in the Owyhee Mountains at press time.

The Soda Fire was reported at about 1 p.m. It was burning three miles north of Cow Creek. The blaze quickly grew from 60 acres to 2,000 acres within about 3½ hours.

The fire, which burned in grass and sage, threatened structures for a time, but began burning in the opposite direction, according to a BLM Boise District Office press release.

Crews, including personnel from the Owyhee Rangeland Fire Protection Association, worked through Monday night to try to get a handle on the flames. BLM Vale District provided two fire engines. Other resources included one air attack, one helicopter, one heavy engine air tanker and three single-engine air tankers (SEATs).

The ORFPA is composed of ranchers trained to help save rangelands in the event of a fire.

The fire is believed to have been triggered by lightning from the overnight thunderstorms that rolled through the valley Sunday into Monday.

Because of the threat of more thunderstorms and high temperatures, the BLM says crews could stay busy because of fires that smolder before flaring up.

Homedale man heading to prison after DUI

A man on felony probation has been sentenced to up to eight years in state prison for driving under the influence. Homedale resident Dwight E. Thompson was ordered to serve two to eight years behind bars after his guilty plea to felony DUI, third or subsequent offense. Third District Judge Thomas J. Ryan, who presided over the sentencing, gave Thompson credit for 89 days served in jail and ordered the man to pay $290.50 in fines and court fees. Prosecutors dropped four misdemeanor charges related to the traffic stop that led to Thompson's Feb. 16 DUI arrest. Thompson, who remains in custody at the Owyhee County Jail, had been on probation since his 2013 conviction for felony aggravated battery. The probation was in lieu of a state penitentiary term of between five and 10 years. A probation violation charge filed after his DUI arrest has been dropped. Grand View man sentenced for DUI Misdemeanor injury to child charges were dropped when

Grand View resident Jeffrey A. Eastman entered a guilty plea to one misdemeanor count of DUI for the second time within 10 years. Eastman was ordered into a treatment program and given an eight-day jail term during his sentencing hearing July 27 before Grober in Murphy. Grober suspended the balance of a 180-day jail sentence and placed Eastman on two years' probation. Eastman also had his driver's license suspended for 12 months. Grober imposed fines and court costs of $1,150, and Eastman must also pay $100 in restitution. The sentencing came nearly a year after an Idaho State Police trooper arrested Eastman for DUI and driving without privileges.

✓ Initiative: New director will act as fundraiser for organization, too inception more than a decade ago. "I have no dog in the fight. I have no land down here," the Ada County resident said. "I'm not a rancher down here, but I understand ranching. And I understand that one of the reasons for the Initiative is to protect the economic viability of ranching down in the county. "The other reason is that some of the stuff we need to do to protect our resources that have been championed by some of the environmental groups works. The ranchers believe it works. That's why they partnered up with them. So what I'm going to do is provide a central figure to move forward the Initiative as it was agreed to in May of 2006 and to keep its spirit and intent alive and to keep it moving forward."

Preserving the spirit

Since he arrived on the job in mid-July, Jaurena has been focused on a strategy to carry out the elements of the unique agreement. "I believe in what the Initiative had put together," he said. "It's rare when you get such a diverse group of people like that together for the Owyhee agreement and even rarer when that is supported by the county commissioners." When the Initiative board hired Jaurena to serve as the central voice for all interests concerned, the Board of County Commissioners agreed to front his salary for the remainder of this fiscal year. County Clerk Angie Barkell said Jaurena is being paid $2,100 per month for the balance of FY 15, and a $25,000 annual salary has been proposed in the FY 2016 budget. One of Jaurena's jobs is to serve as a fundraiser for Owyhee Initiative Inc., and eventually the group hopes to have funding to pick up his salary. "It's very critical right now especially with the implementation plans being put together," Jaurena said. "My knowledge of BLM helps me work within their regulations to provide fair and equitable implementation of the agreement." Jaurena understands the other interests at stake, including the BLM's side of the issue and the federal agency's dilemma of enacting policy according to written law instead of the spirit of the Initiative agreement, which in some instances was muted for the sake of getting it codified as part of the Omnibus Public Lands Management Act of 2009. Legislative work goes on "The complexity is what happened when the omnibus lands bill got passed in 2009, it wasn't the Owyhee Initiative agreement. It was something different than that," Jaurena said. "The change in politics back east required that something different be passed. That left a lot of wiggle room for BLM, and BLM — rightfully so — have to enact things according to the written law. "The rub has become that the spirit and intent of the law is not being used to differentiate the written law." B L M ' s s u b s e q u e n t interpretation of the written law has created the friction between the Initiative board and the federal agency, particularly in the case of motorized herding in wilderness and wilderness boundaries. "BLM chooses to use their interpretation instead of turning to the agreement to look towards the proper interpretation. than looking to the agreement to see what direction they should take," Jaurena said. "I believe what they should be doing is, 'Here's the written law. What did the agreement say? How should we interpret this written law?' " Sen. Mike Crapo (R-Idaho) has put forward a legislative fix for the motorized herding, which Jaurena said was clearly grandfathered by the agreement as well as the 2009 law. But when the BLM issued unilateral changes to its wilderness management plan three years later precluded motorized herding. County tops Crapo's list The Owyhee Wilderness Management Plan is still in the review process and a final decision hasn't been made. That gives Crapo time to work on solutions. "(Sen. Crapo's officials say) the No. 1 thing is to fix motorized grazing. The No. 2 thing is to fix is the boundary issues for the wilderness, and the No. 3 thing is Gateway West," Jaurena said. "For their resource-type focus, those are the three things they're working on. And all three of those, of course, are in Owyhee County. "While I'm only tangentially affected by Gateway West, it draws very similar, eerie parallels to the Owyhee Initiative. Here was a collaborative group that with BLM agreed to a certain process and then it gets back east and it goes south." Rep. Raul Labrador (R-Idaho) is championing the Initiative in the U.S. House of Representatives, and Jaurena says evidence that the Initiative group remains solid is the fact that The Nature Conservancy and the Wilderness Society are among the strongest advocates for the legislative fixes. "They're all looking out for each other on this thing," he said, rebuffing any notion that the stress of dealing with the BLM has weakened the coalition. Jaurena said contrarianism from BLM's national office is nothing new. In fact, the same thing happened with the Gateway West electrical transmission line project when Jaurena was the agency's Bruneau Field Office manager and Boise District associate manager. "The staff out here did a wonderful job picking the correct and proper route, in my opinion," Jaurena said. He said the southern route was a conceptual line drawn on a map that those involved locally agreed would be the best route, but when the issue was sent back east, National Conservation Area officials quashed the idea because it went against their rules and regulations. "That completely goes against the collaborative process that they used for (the power line route siting) and the collaborative process that we used for the Owyhee Initiative agreement," Jaurena said, adding that bureaucrats need to respect the collaborative process.

Letter vs. interpretation Like the motorized herding issue, Jaurena says the rub with wilderness boundaries issues stems from the BLM's interpretation of the Initiative and the law. Under the Wilderness Act, any land bordering wilderness that becomes a federal holding (as would be the case with state and private exchanges) also becomes wilderness, but Jaurena said it's not the intent of the Initiative agreement that exchange lands contiguous to established wilderness would be absorbed into the wilderness and change the boundary. Jaurena says his experience with land issues — and his knowledge of the Owyhee County landscape — are elements that make him ideal for the executive director job. "One of my strengths is having been in BLM I know what the rules and regulations are what they can and cannot do, and not so much cannot do in a negative sense, but cannot do in a positive sense," Jaurena said. "Their hands are tied in some things that they do out there, but then again sometimes they tie their own hands by their interpretation. And that's why I want to help them work with them. "If we can get a collaborative, positive relationship going where they say, 'Well, I have this rub issue that may be a problem,' and they call me, we could potentially work things out to everybody's agreement and benefit. It's when unilateral action happens, especially in the government, that riles people up." — JPB proposed for the Owyhee Initiative, the need for locally driven sage-grouse conservation plans, funding to fight wildfires, federal overreach regarding private property and the Second Amendment. Crapo currently is working on legislation that will force the Bureau of Land Management to recognize motorized herding as an allowable use in wilderness and not subject to the federal agency's permitting process. The BLM's proposed Owyhee Wilderness Management Plan would require a rancher to obtain a permit before carrying out the same motorized herding that was permissible in wilderness study areas and was supposed to be grandfathered with the Owyhee Initiative, but wasn't explicitly mandated in the Omnibus Public Lands Management Act (OPLMA) of 2009. The BLM's draft environmental impact statement (DEIS) regarding a sage-grouse plan has elevated livestock grazing's threat level to the bird's habitat to a status comparable to the primary designation that wildfire has received, which goes against the conclusions of the state's proposed conservation plan. Crapo will meet with constituents in New Plymouth and Middleton on Thursday before traveling to Owyhee County.

✓ Crapo: Initiative issues among topics expected for three county stops

Obituary

Paul William Shenk

Paul William Shenk, age 80, passed away on August 8, 2015, in Homedale, Idaho.

Paul William was born September 28, 1934, in Nampa, Idaho, at his Aunt Nita’s home. She took one look at the new guy and called him Charming Billy. The name stuck. He was Billy.

Bill was the fourth child born to Mark and Ada Crifffield Shenk. He joined brothers John and Art and big Sis Adean. Brothers Den and Dick followed along with the two little sisters that joined the bunch, Cindy & Christy. They were raised in the Ridgeview Community near Adrian. Bill went to elementary school in the Ridgeview School House and high school at Adrian High. There he finished his education as did his children.

Bill married Florence May Stanford on November 19, 1953 in a double ceremony with Dave & Nellie Stanford Gorley. Just a continuance of the lifetimes spent of the boys growing up together and the girl cousins that grew up together too on Jackson Creek, Jordan Valley, Oregon. As their families grew, we spent lots of time together. Dad & Mom were married 61 years. They raised 4 girls and Paul on their farm.

They raised us to think we were very important to the farming operation. What more could you give a kid? Took the time to load us up to go help, only as we got older did we realize “what help” we were...They farmed there in Ridgeview for over 55 years. Paul bought the farm down the road in 1979 and they farmed together while another bunch of Shenk kids grew up on it. The farming goes on today with the addition of his grandson Lawrence.

Poppa “Pop” as he was known to all the 12 grandkids, their friends and 20 great-grandkids that followed. He never failed to show his love and pride in all of them. Once again setting the bar high for us, the amount of time spent cheering on us and every kid that passed in front of him will be hard to match and will be so very missed.

He was preceded in death by his parents and two brothers, John & Art.

Survivors include his wife Florence & five children: Vikki Price (Joel) Adrian, Oregon; Toni Case (Terry) Nyssa, Oregon; Robin Martin (Bob) Adrian, Oregon; Louise Wortman (Mark) Helena, Montana; Paul (Alyce) Adrian, Oregon. He leaves behind 12 grandkids and 20 great-grandkids and so many family members and friends. He was a good son, brother, husband, dad, grandparent and friend.

Bill’s funeral service will be held Thursday, August 13, 2015 at 4:00 P.M. at the Mountain View Church of the Nazarene, 26515 Ustick Road, Wilder, Idaho.

In lieu of flowers donations may be made to the Adrian Football Program, c/o Adrian High School, Adrian, Oregon 97901

Rimrock teacher honored for inspiring FFA students

Rimrock Jr.-Sr. High School’s longtime FFA advisor has been recognized for his work to help students achieve excellence in agriculture education.

Alan Schoen received the Norco Inspirational Award during the Idaho Vocational and Agricultural Teachers Association summer meeting. The honor, which was bestowed in June, salutes an agricultural science teacher that has inspired students in ag education and the FFA organization.

“We are proud of Alan’s accomplishments and hard work to provide a great education for our students,” Bruneau-Grand View School District superintendent Dennis Wilson said in congratulating Schoen on the award.

Schoen began teaching ag education at Rimrock in 1989 after he graduated from the University of Idaho. While at U of I, he was a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity.

In 26 years at Rimrock, he has overseen several FFA district and state championship performances in Ag Mechanics, and his students have won several national awards for Proficiency and Supervised Agricultural Experiences.

Schoen has served as the Boise Valley FFA District advisor during his time at Rimrock.

Officials credit Schoen’s hard work and dedication with making a positive impact in Bruneau, Grand View and Oreana.

Numerous students attributed their success to Schoen’s influence. One student, Jason Tindall, has become the ag teacher at Vallivue High School.

Schoen and his wife Tammy have been married 24 years.

Schoen was raised in Payette. He was active in the Payette FFA chapter and showed sheep and steers at the Payette County Fair.

Protecting older Americans’ finances

“Older Americans face many financial challenges as they age. They have opportunities to travel, explore new fields of work or hobbies, or spend time with family and friends. But often scam artists or bad advice take away these opportunities.”

— Office of Financial Protection for Older Americans
Consumer Financial Protection Bureau

The Office of Financial Protection for Older Americans within the federal government’s CFPB can provide information, resources, and tools to help seniors navigate safely through financial challenges, especially now that new ones seem to be developing at a rapid rate.

These resources can be invaluable as individuals begin to realize the need for defense in the realm of preventing fraud or theft of personal financial information, with the primary weapon being individual education. One of the resources is the Money Smart for Older Adults – Prevent Financial Exploitation curriculum, which helps prevent elder financial exploitation. The program was produced in partnership with the FDIC, and consumers can download the resource guide directly. Individuals can order a copy of the program module by creating a request on the CFPB website.

“Financial caregiving is also an important task that many take on suddenly or with little preparation. The free, downloadable Managing Someone Else’s Money guides are available for agents under powers of attorney, court-appointed guardians, trustees, and government fiduciaries (Social Security representative payees and VA fiduciaries).” While Managing Someone Else’s Money is a guide not necessarily as helpful to an individual as the other resource listed above, this may be something to consider recommending to your attorney or financial advisor. Use the resource as a conversation starter as you discuss the current handling of your funds and how you would like to continue their administration or as a key piece to breach the subject as you begin to invest your monetary assets. The use of one or both of these resources can work to help keep your money safe in a society that is encountering more and more identity theft as well as mismanaged money.

Owyhee Then & Now

Owyhee Graffiti, Vol. 1

Vigilantes

Western expansion and settlement in the territories was rapid and unplanned, leaving law and order behind in the states.

When Lyman Stanford was elected Sheriff of Owyhee County, Idaho, in 1865, the usual means of establishing law and order was to shove the undesirables on to another camp. If a person was arrested for a crime or an argument had to be settled, the individual or group that had the most friends had command of the situation. As a result, law-abiding citizens lived in fear of those who preyed upon them, but without exception, the oppressed finally had enough and established order at the expense of those who had harassed them.

Vigilante committees were formed for the purpose of encouraging the criminal element to stop their activity or pay the ultimate price. Hill Beachy, a hotel and livery barn owner in Lewiston, Idaho, became suspicious when strangers showed up at his establishment with his friend, Lloyd Magruder’s, horses and gear. Magruder, a packer, was scheduled to return from a packing trip to the Beaverhead Country and Virginia City in Montana. He was returning with $30,000 in gold. His traveling companions had another $20,000 in gold dust.

Beachy investigated and found where his friend and party had been murdered at the junction of the Clearwater and Snake Rivers. He followed the bandits down the Columbia to Portland and on to San Francisco where, with the help of local authorities, he arrested the murderers at the mint where they had gone to sell the gold.

He brought them back to the territorial capitol at Lewiston where they were tried and hanged.

While in San Francisco, Beachy met with the city’s vigilante committee and was informed of the organization’s structure. He brought the message back to Idaho:

“There’s a central executive committee. The officers are: president, executive officer, prosecutor, secretary, and treasurer. The companies are in charge of captains and lieutenants. Each man signs an oath of allegiance and they all watch each other.”

— This is the final installment of our long-running series featuring the writings of Jordan Valley rancher, historian and author Michael F. Hanley IV. The Owyhee Avalanche nameplate turns 150 years old next week, and we will begin reproducing news items on a weekly basis from the first volume and number forward.

Homedale library to spotlight Asia

It’s tiger time at Homedale Public Library’s Story Time. Three exhibits will be shown during the weekly event at 10:15 a.m. Friday. The library is located 125 W. Owyhee Ave.

One exhibit will represent India, and another will display the Indonesian islands.

The final exhibit will be a big cat enclosure containing four stuffed animals.

Valerie Bodden’s book “Tigers” will be read, and children will have fun while they learn facts about the largest wild cat in the world.

There will be songs and snacks. For more information, call 337-4228.

The library is open from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Wednesday, from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. Thursday, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Marsing to receive input on proposed budget tonight

Spending plan to rise nearly 30 percent

The City of Marsing could spend almost $675,000 more in Fiscal Year 2016 than it is scheduled to spend in FY15.

A public hearing on the city's proposed FY16 budget will be held during the city council meeting that starts at 7 p.m. today inside City Hall, 425 Main St. The council could adopt the budget soon after.

The proposed $2,961,731 budget is 29.5 percent (or $673,864) more next year than what was spent in FY15 ($2,287,867).

Roads and streets account for $170,450 of the total dollar figure, up from the current appropriation of $136,678.

The proposed parks line in the budget is $513,597. That compares to $135,954 for the last fiscal year. The reason for that increase is because of major improvements planned for both Island Park and City Park.

The city council originally planned to transfer $100,000 from the general fund into the parks fund, but the council later decided to increase that to $175,000.

Grant money from the Idaho State Department of Parks and Recreation will pay for the bulk of the improvements. However, the city will have to supply at least $56,000 in matching funds for the projects.

The work at Island Park will include new bathroom facilities.

The proposed budget includes leaving $18,000 in the general fund, which could be transferred into capital improvements if Mayor Keith Green makes a request to do so during a council meeting in FY16. Green has not detailed what those capital improvements might involve.

The FY16 general fund is proposed to be $655,859, an increase of $62,719 over last year.

In the proposed budget, the city intends to raise the water allotment line to $886,060 from $780,600. The council has not discussed raising water user rates in the next fiscal year.

The city will benefit for infrastructure improvements to water systems through town next year thanks to the recently approved Nederend housing development. The duplex project will include 32 housing units (16 duplexes) and should bring in about $208,000 from water and sewage hookups.

The irrigation line would also increase by $1,900.

Another item in the proposed budget is for sanitation. It is set to be $87,050. In FY15, the city budgeted $85,150 on sanitation services. The council has not talked about increasing residential rates for trash services. A recently approved fee hike for dumpsters operated in the city by Westowns Disposal Inc., will not apply to residential trash totes.

For more information on the budget, call City Hall at 896-4122.

Sarah Dixon of Homedale serves a piece of cake to Jade Kelly of Homedale to celebrate National Farmers Market Week at the Homedale Farmers Market on Thursday.

Homedale Farmers Market to feature guest speaker this week

How to preserve your produce through the winter months will be the featured topic at Thursday's installment of the Homedale Farmers Market.

Surine Greenway, family & consumer sciences coordinator for the University of Idaho Owyhee County Extension Office, will have a booth set up at the market in Bette Uda City Park. The market is open from 3:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. each Thursday through Sept. 24.

Market manager and president Denise Dixon said Greenway show people ways to preserve fruits and vegetables and will also answer questions on food safety. Greenway will have samples available of produce that she has preserved herself.

Greenway's focus with the extension office is in food safety (including food preservation), health and nutrition, financial management and 4-H.

In other farmers market news, Dixon wrote in an email that she recently met with a tamale vendor who is currently at the Nampa Farmers Market.

"She is considering the Homedale Farmers Market," Dixon said. "She will be visiting the market this week to make her final decision."

Dixon also wrote that they have lost two of their produce vendors. Kathy Rose and Kayla Widner will no longer be participating in the market this season because of family and health issues. However, Dixon is hopeful that they will return next year.

Because of the departures of Rose and Widner, Dixon is looking for a couple of new produce vendors to join the market. If you would like to set up a booth at the market, contact Dixon at ddixon@msn.com or call (208) 840-0440.

Forms, vendor costs and other information about the market are available at www.homedalefarmersmarket.weebly.com.

Dixon also reminds people that the market now accepts EBT (electronic benefit transfer) cards for food stamps.

HHS Class of '75 plans reunion

Members of the Homedale High School Class of 1975 are invited to attend the group's 40-year reunion later this month.

The reunion will be held Friday and Saturday, Aug. 21-22. The festivities start at 6:30 p.m. each day.

On Friday, the reunion kicks off with a gathering at the private residence of a classmate.

The scene shifts to Orphan Annie's in Caldwell on Saturday.

For more information, call Julie Townsend Cloud at 941-6286.

Swap meet slated for Homedale LDS church

A free community swap meet planned for Saturday could make back-to-school shopping a little easier.

Organizers are calling the event at the Homedale LDS church, 708 W. Idaho Ave., the perfect opportunity to pick up some school clothes or fill other needs around the house.

The swap meet, which is open to those who have something to swap and those who just want to browse, takes place from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday in the pavilion on the north end of the church's parking lot.

Hearing planned for Marsing bridge project

A survey conducted in March 2013 showed the Snake River bridge in Marsing to have a sufficiency rating of just 11.0. At that time, the National Bridge Inventory evaluated the bridge as structurally deficient.

A September 1991 inspection found the bridge to have a sufficiency rating of 47.1 and an evaluation of "not deficient."

Now the Idaho Transportation Department has a plan to replace the bridge, which was built in 1951.

A public hearing has been scheduled to be held from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 27 in the Phipps-Watson Marsing

American Legion Community Center, 126 W. 2nd St. N.

Currently, approximately 6,500 cars cross the Snake River Bridge every day.

The Idaho Department of Transportation (ITD) says the bridge has reached the end of its design life and needs to be replaced. ITD also says the roadway surface between the bridge and U.S. Highway 95 — which encompasses Idaho highway 55/Main Street through Marsing — needs to be improved.

The National Bridge Inventory (NBI) estimates the project will cost $11,877,000.

The new structure will include:

- A six-span structure that will be approximately 785 feet long
- Five piers
- Sidewalk and shoulders
- Two travel lanes, one in each direction

The roadway project will include rehabilitating 2.3 miles of pavement on Idaho 55 and building curbs and gutters in downtown Marsing. Americans with Disabilities Act-compliant pedestrian ramps will be added or updated, and drainage will be improved.

ITD hopes to complete the final design for the work by next summer. Construction would begin in 2017.

Temporary portable stoplights will be installed at each end of the bridge during the construction to keep one lane of traffic open at all times. Drivers can expect some delays in the area.

ITD will complete an environmental evaluation of the area surrounding the bridge before construction begins. The evaluation will account for factors such as Snake River Physa snail habitat, the nearby Marsing Island Park and the needs of agricultural traffic and boaters.

Water report

The Bureau of Reclamation website showed that the Owyhee Reservoir was 4 percent full and that water was flowing in the Owyhee River above the reservoir at Rome, Ore., at a rate of 92 cubic feet per second. Water is flowing out at Nyssa, Ore., at a rate of 164 cubic feet per second. The reservoir held 30,762 acre-feet of water on Monday.

Man arrested after apparent high-speed attempt to flee

An 18-year-old Homedale man has been charged with a felony after an incident Friday night.

Shortly before 9:15 p.m., Owyhee County Sheriff's Deputy Chris Even was driving toward Marsing on U.S. Highway 95 when a car traveling at a high rate of speed went past him in the opposite direction, Sheriff Perry Grant said.

Even pursued the vehicle, which he said was hitting speeds of over 100 mph. Even attempted to pull the vehicle over near the intersection of U.S. 95 and Idaho highway 55 when the car slowed to 78 mph.

The driver of the vehicle, Casey R. Young, turned off the highway onto Gem Road and then onto Malmberg Lane.

Even caught up to the fleeing driver on Malmberg where Young surrendered and was arrested.

Young faces a felony charge of attempting to elude a police officer in a motor vehicle and a misdemeanor for failure to purchase a driver's license.

Young is scheduled in court at 1:30 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 24 for his preliminary hearing on the charges before Magistrate Judge Dan C. Grober.

On June 28, Young was charged with misdemeanor malicious injury to property in Homedale. His arraignment on that charge is set for 9 a.m. next Wednesday in Homedale also before Grober.

Idaho Power cautions county residents about biting insects

Idaho Power is asking people in sections of Owyhee County to take precautions to ward off ticks and mosquitoes.

John Utz, an Idaho Power senior biologist who works near Bruneau, says the ticks are as dense as he has ever seen them.

"In one day out in the field, I picked 117 off me, and my coworker Josh Pearson had even more," Utz said in the utility company's weekly news brief.

Utz and his crews are finding the highest concentrations of ticks around Bruneau in areas dominated by tall grasses adjacent to creeks, rivers, and C.J. Strike reservoir.

Ticks can cause a variety of illnesses, including Lyme disease, which can be extremely debilitating and difficult to diagnose. Ticks target animals as well, so Idaho Power is advising people to check their pets thoroughly.

Mosquitoes are also causing problems in Owyhee County this year.

Mosquitoes with West Nile Virus have been found in areas near Bruneau and Turner Ranch.

They are especially active from dusk to dawn, and in areas near standing water.

For protection against ticks and mosquitoes, use a repellent that contains 20 percent or more DEET that lasts up to several hours.

A web page regarding bug bites written by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recommends if you are using sunscreen, apply the sunscreen first then add insect repellent.

The web page also says mosquito and tick bites can be prevented by covering exposed skin with long-sleeved shirts, long pants and hats. It's also a good idea to wear closed shoes instead of sandals to prevent bites.

If a mosquito bites you, avoid scratching the bite and apply hydrocortisone cream or calamine lotion to reduce itching.

To find and remove ticks from your body, bathe or shower as soon as possible after coming indoors. Also check for ticks under your arms, in and around your ears, behind your knees and especially in your hair.

Downed power line ignites wildfire near Bruneau Sand Dunes

A fallen power line created a fire near mile marker 89 off Idaho highway 78 last Wednesday morning.

Bureau of Land Management fire information officer Jacque Link said the Crane fire started around 1:30 a.m. It burned 266 acres in the Browns Gulch area northeast of Bruneau Dunes State Park.

Fire suppression efforts were initially slowed by sandy conditions.

"With the crew that went out there, it was just an engine crew with two engines," Link said. "They're 32,000 pounds, so getting around in sandy conditions is just really hard. You get stuck."

Crews contained the blaze by 8 p.m. last Wednesday. The fire was controlled around 7 p.m. Thursday.

Resources on the scene of the Crane fire included two engines, one bulldozer, and one water tender.

Only BLM crews were dispatched to the Crane fire.

BETTER BITES FOR BACK TO SCHOOL

FAMILY FEATURES

There’s plenty of research that shows eating well and school performance are closely linked. Whether you’re fueling up for a busy day or grabbing a snack on the go, keeping nutrition in mind will help the whole family feel good about diving into an exciting new school year.

A Smooth Way to Add Fruits & Veggies

Today’s nutritional guidelines recommend that children consume at least five servings per day of fresh fruits and vegetables. Yet the reality is many parents struggle with getting their kids to eat healthier, especially during the school year. The good news is, with very little preparation you can serve healthy, grab-and-go meals that are not only nutrient-rich, they’re vegetarian friendly and delicious. With meals like this, your kids might actually want seconds. Try this quick, refreshing recipe for a breakfast or after school snack option. If you’re feeling inspired, create your own butter lettuce recipe — it might be worth a $1,000. Learn how at www.lettucerecipecontest.com.

Butter Lettuce Papaya Smoothie

- 1/2 papaya, peeled (plus slices from remaining half for garnish)
- 1/2 teaspoon finely chopped fresh cilantro
- 1/2 teaspoon grated fresh ginger root
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 1 head Live Gourmet® Living Butter Lettuce (chopped, cleaned and root removed)
- 1 cup almond milk
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 lime, peeled
- Apple and/or pear slices for garnish (optional)

Using a traditional, compact or hand blender, mix all ingredients for 30 seconds or until smooth. Garnish with slices of papaya and apple or pear, if desired.

Protein Power for On-the-Go Parents

Here’s a quick and healthy low-calorie snack that’ll make parents’ lives a little easier this back-to-school season. It’s rich and tasty with body-fueling protein, fiber and carbs to give you the energy you need, but won’t load you down with sugar. For more information, visit www.bowflexbody.com.

Chocolate Peanut Butter Truffles

Prep time: 12 minutes
Total time: 50 minutes
Servings: 10-12 truffles

Truffles:

- 1/2 cup plain rolled oats
- 1/4 cup ground flaxseed meal
- 1 scoop Bowflex Body French Vanilla shake powder
- 1 packet Bowflex Body Rich Chocolate Fat Burner+ shake boost
- 1/4 cup unsweetened shredded coconut
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 1/4 cup all-natural chunky peanut butter
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/4 cup cold water
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- Dash of salt

Coating:

- Unsweetened cocoa powder (about 1/4 cup)

Combine all truffle ingredients in mixing bowl and stir well. Place bowl in refrigerator for 20-30 minutes so mixture can firm up. Remove bowl from refrigerator and form 10-12 small balls. Roll each ball in cocoa powder to lightly coat.

Notes: For easier mixing of peanut butter, warm in microwave for 30 seconds before use. Truffles can be stored in refrigerator for 1 week or in freezer for 1 month.

Nutrition information per serving (1 truffle): 105 calories; 3 g protein; 9 g carbohydrates; 4 g fiber.

A Sweet Way to Start the Day

Start each school day on a sweet note with all-natural sweetener instead of syrup on your pancakes, waffles and other breakfast favorites. Maguey Sap, carefully crafted and brought to you by Villa de Patos, is an unrefined and unprocessed alternative sweetener with unique flavor and tons of versatility in baked goods, marinades, dairy products, beverages and more. Buy a bottle of Maguey Sap, check out additional recipes and learn more at www.villadepatos-us.com.

Maguey Sap Glazed Bacon

Yield: 8 slices
Prep time: 5 minutes
Cook time: 25 minutes

- 8 slices hickory smoked bacon
- 4 tablespoons Maguey Sap

Heat oven to 400°F.

On foil-lined rimmed baking sheet, arrange bacon in single layer (use baking rack for crispier bacon). Bake until fat is rendered and bacon is beginning to brown, about 15-18 minutes.

Remove from oven and brush one side with Maguey Sap. Bake another 3-5 minutes, or until coated side of bacon is browned.

Remove from oven and flip each piece using tongs. Brush second side with Maguey Sap. Bake another 3-5 minutes, or until browned.

Drain away grease and allow bacon to rest 5 minutes. Serve warm and enjoy with your favorite pancakes.

Homedale firefighter marks 50 years

John Matteson, who is celebrating his 50th anniversary of active membership in the Homedale Volunteer Fire Department this month, had an appropriate place of honor while riding in Saturday’s annual Owyhee County Fair & Rodeo parade here Saturday. He was seated in Homedale’s first fire truck, which is also reaching its 50th year of service this year. To cap everything off with a golden touch, Matteson and his wife, Kathryn, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary here Aug. 12, the day following the parade. Homedale Fire Department Chief Kenne Metzger, incidentally, drove Matteson and the fire brigade’s grand old entry in the parade.

New attorney-prosecutor hired

The Homedale City Council agreed to hire Chris Nye of Caldwell to serve as both city prosecutor and city attorney at the latest regular meeting last week. Nye, an attorney with the law firm of White, Ahrens, Peterson and Perry of Nampa, had been recommended by Homedale prosecuting attorney Renae Hoff, who has accepted a judicial position. He also submitted the lowest bid among applicants for required legal work, $40 per hour.

Nye is to begin work immediately as prosecutor and assume the job of city attorney, currently held by Gary Morgan of Caldwell, at the start of the new fiscal year on Oct. 1st, Homedale City Clerk-Treasurer Edna I. Grimes said later. Morgan appeared to learn of his impending replacement when, arriving late at the session, he was questioned whether there would be a conflict of interest in combining the two legal jobs. He said “no” and the council immediately thereafter approved hiring Nye.

Rodeo winners share prize money awards

Ty Portenier of Caldwell hung on tight for a score of 80 to take top money in the bull riding event at the Owyhee County Rodeo that concluded here Saturday, while Shawna Roberts of Nampa was named new queen of the county fair and rodeo for 1991. Joe DeMers of Kimberly came in first among bareback bronc riders with a 73 score, while Kenny Black of Bruneau topped the field of saddle bronc competitors with a 72 posting.

First place team ropers taking home the fattest purse were Jason Eiguren of Arock and Tim Black of Bruneau, with a recorded time of 5.95. Kelsey Felton of Clarkston, WA, clinched the top money among calf ropers, with a 9.30 time. Dave Maddox of Weiser proved the top steer wrestler, with a recorded time of 7.38. Koni Baldwin of Weiser led among barrel racers with a 17.40 time. Breakaway calf roping winner was Cheryle Thorson of Nampa, with a time of 3.64. Among steer riders in the kids’ division, C.J. Lequerica of Arock came in first with a recorded score of 70.

Winners in the wild horse racing event where Shawn and Mike Roberts and Chris Davis, all of Nampa. Tom Love of Caldwell and Roger Haylett, address not listed, won the wild cow milking contest. Winners of the hide race were J.B. Salutregui of Homedale and Ryan Canning of Caldwell.

Major rodeo events first place winners were gifted with satin jackets by the Budweiser Beer Co. in addition to their cash winnings, Canning said.

Owyhee County Rodeo to feature six events

The Owyhee County Rodeo will feature six events including saddle bronc riding with some famous horses as Bingo, who has only been ridden twice out of 40 times out of the chute.

Bareback riding, calf roping, team roping and bull riding are included each of the four nights.

Bull riding will feature a complete new set of fighting and bucking bulls with lots of entertainment being offered by the clowns and bull fighters, Curley and Eddy Heath.

Girls’ barrel racing will be held each night.

One hundred and forty-three cowboys and cowgirls are entered in the six events.

Stock is furnished by Jake Pope of the Spur Rowel Ranch, Twin Falls.

Another event will be the kids’ steer riding. Twenty-one kids are entered to ride for the belt buckle given in this event.

A rodeo parade Wednesday evening was led by Miss Rodeo Idaho and the Owyhee Rodeo Queen.

The Eh Capa riders of Boise were featured in the parade.

Five girls vie for county fair queen

The list of queen candidates has increased to five with the addition of Pat Shaffer of Marsing sponsored by the Marsing Livestock Club, Paula Simon of Homedale sponsored by the Homedale Fire Department and Marie Jereb of Homedale sponsored by St. Hubert’s Altar Society.

Pat is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Shaffer of Marsing and will be a freshman at the University of Idaho this fall. She is an active member of 4-H in Owyhee County and has participated in many Owyhee County Fairs.

Paula is the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Simon of Homedale. She graduated in May from Homedale High School and is undecided as to her plans to attend a college. Her father is a volunteer fireman on the Homedale Fire Department.

Marie is the 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Jereb of Homedale. She will be a sophomore at Homedale High School where she is an active member and officer in the F.H.A. She also likes to participate in most sports.

Cheryl Baalson of Marsing sponsored by the Marsing Chamber of Commerce, and Paula Johnston of Oreana sponsored by The Tailoring Ten 4-H club were the first two girls to enter.

Mrs. Mary Lee Woods, Home Extension Agent, is in charge of the queen candidates.

High school to offer largest selection of subjects

Homedale High School will offer the largest number of subjects in the school’s history this fall, according to Darrell Reisch, principal. He said the curriculum was enlarged because of adding more classrooms to the high school through construction of new additions.

Classes added and enlarged are shorthand, typing, business English, mechanical drawing, wood shop, farm shop, advanced biology, chemistry, physics, German, French, world history and geography.

Reisch also announced that juniors and seniors will register August 26 from 12:30 to 6 p.m., with freshmen and sophomores registering August 27 during the same hours. He emphasized they must register the day assigned or will be required to pay a late registration fee.

High school teachers listed for the coming year by Principal Darrel Reisch are James Barayasarra, counselor and biology; Gaymon Bennett, English, speech and art; Ardath Chatterton, commercial; Douglas Eier, social studies and bookkeeping; Barbara Gardner, home economics; Marsh Jones, social studies, P.E. and coaching; Ken Kellom, industrial arts and coaching; Ken Langdon, math, science and coaching; Ardis Nash, English; Elizabeth Noyes, girls P.E.; Duane Ash, German, Duane Root, band; Hollis Selders, library, French and chorus; Dean Vance, annual, newspaper and typing; Dean Wilson, math and science.

THERE IS NO REASON why there should not be an abundance of milk, butter and cheese in the market at this season of the year, and no reason why the prices should not be somewhat lower than they are at present. There is abundance of the best kind of grazing not far from town, and beyond the expense of looking after them, it costs nothing to feed the cows and keep them in fine condition. Cheese ought to be more abundant, and if a few dairies were established in the country nearby, they would do a good business and make money by letting us town people have cheese for twenty cents a pound. Butter is too high and ought to come down at this season to thirty and forty cents. Ten cents per quart for milk would handsomely remunerate the owners of the cows, and where that quantity is furnished daily by the month, $2.50 would afford a fine margin of profit for the time. We expect higher prices in winter, but at the present time, for the reasons we have given, butter and cheese ought to be supplied to customers at least one-third lower than the rates that are ruling now.

THE WAGONTOWN MINES. The Silver State says that a lot of ore from Wagontown mines, now on exhibition at Winnemucca, is creating quite an excitement among mining men down there. One of the owners of the Henrietta, from which the specimens referred to were taken, furnished the Silver State the following information in regard to the mine: “The Henrietta was discovered by five miners named respectively, W. H. Oglesby, Joseph Mace, W. Brockie, B. Harkins and John Burke, and is prospected by a shaft fifty feet deep. The vein is about twenty feet wide, and in this are streaks of ore from eight inches to two feet wide, samples of which assay from $3,166 to $1,025 per ton; about twelve per cent of which was gold. Some of the specimens brought here weigh several pounds, and contain such a high pressure of silver as to render them malleable. Three tons of ore from this mine have been brought here for reduction, about 800 pounds of which is first-class. The owners are practical miners, and they intend to have sufficient ore worked here from time to time to pay for supplies used in developing the mine. There is no doubt as to the permanency of the ledges, and Wagontown is destined to be a flourishing camp. At present the number of men at work there does not exceed fifty.”

JOE CRABBE, a well-known horseman, will take “Humboldt” to Jordan Valley this week and there put him in training for the fall races. It is understood that the owners of “Humboldt” will match him against any horse in the country to run a quarter- or a half-mile race. He will be taken to the Boise Fair in September, and it is not improbable that there will in the meantime be some racing on the Jordan Valley Track.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL of the United States has decided that “no statute makes a breach of the provisions of the Sioux Treaty an offense against the United States; therefore to invade the Black Hills is no violation of law, and those invading them cannot be punished.” We believe the country approves of Mr. Pierrepont’s view of the subject. If such arbitrary and unwarrantable military restrictions had been enforced during the last quarter of a century on this Pacific Slope, the great country now populated by hundreds of thousands of people and affording them sustenance would have been a desert.

EIGHT HOURS FROM FAIRVIEW. Dr Gaylord left Fairview last evening at 7 o’clock, expecting to walk down leisurely in about an hour or so. He did not arrive here until 3 o’clock this morning. At Castagnette’s he took the road leading to the Golden Chariot mill and, by mistake, journeyed off in the direction of Sinker Creek. He wandered along for several hours not knowing whither he was drifting, and finally got back to the mill, from which place he reached his hotel in safety, where he found his wife nearly distracted on account of his prolonged absence.

On the edge of common sense
Stupid question

Who said, “There is no such thing as a stupid question”?

1. Is that cow really angry with me for messing with her cute little calf or is that just a defensive posture she assumes because it is expected of her?
2. Did Dad rope that front foot on purpose?
3. I had a pickup like that. Have you tried choking it?
4. How come the first calf in the crowding alley is turned backwards?
5. Did the mill make a mistake, or did you really recommend taking all the grain outta the finish ration?
6. I’ve never seen a horse do a complete back flip. Did you teach him that?
7. This Elko is quite a place. Which one of you guys is a cowboy poet?
8. Why didn’t you quit before you took that last drink?
9. That dog in the gate ... is he yours?
10. That’s a great tattoo. Were you drunk?
11. You don’t see too many left-handed team ropers. You a heeler?
12. Does the NO TRESPASSING sign mean I can’t hunt on your place?
13. Didn’t you know that wire was hot?
14. It worked on the scouring pigs, didn’t it? See, I feel better already.
15. Sure I can run one of these. How do you start it?
16. Nice dismount. You with the circus?
17. Is the Forest Service upping your AUMs this year?
18. Do you mean to tell me not one of you top hands can milk a cow?
19. Fifty dollars on a pair of threes! Were you bluffing?
20. Hello ... did I wake you?
21. That’s gonna need stitches! Does it hurt?
22. How could you possibly have missed that last steer? We would’ve won $1,500!
23. I didn’t know you could put a book of cowboy poetry as a ranch expense?
24. Did the packer buyer pay you more when you told him they weren’t branded?
25. Didn’t you hear me yell “IN!” on the black bally and “BY!” on the other three?
26. Were you scared? Better go back to the house and change.

Health Center Week
Health centers vital to the well-being of underserved

This week (Aug. 9-15) marks the 50th anniversary of National Health Center Week (NHCW) as part of a celebration to raise awareness about the mission and accomplishments of America’s health centers as local solutions for affordable and accessible healthcare.

Community Health Centers serve more than 23 million people nationwide. That’s 1 in 15 Americans, including 7 million children and 260,000 veterans. Health centers save the U.S. health care system more than $24 billion every year in reduced overall costs from preventable hospitalizations and avoidable emergency room visits. Idaho has 13 Community Health Centers and provides high-quality healthcare to about 140,000 people each year. These Community Health Centers are located in 45 communities throughout the state, including Terry Reilly Health Services clinics in Homedale and Marsing.

Community Health Centers are non-profit, community-directed (over 51 percent of the board of directors must be from the patient community) and provide high-quality affordable primary and preventative care, including dental, behavioral health, substance abuse and pharmacy services. Also known as Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs), they are located in areas where care is needed but scarce, such as the rural areas in Idaho, and they improve access to care for millions of Americans regardless of their insurance status or ability to pay through programs such as sliding fee plans.

“Health center patients are among the nation’s most vulnerable populations: People who even if insured would nonetheless remain isolated from traditional forms of medical care because of where they live, who they are, the language they speak, and their higher levels of complex health care needs,” according to the National Association of Community Health Centers (NACHC). According to the U.S. Census data, 16.7 percent of Idahoans are uninsured. Locally, 52 percent of uninsured patients use a community health center as a primary medical home. For many patients, the health center may be the only source of health care services available.

The Community Health Center has come a long way over the past 50 years. What was once deemed a “free” clinic is now poised to play an essential role in providing quality, integrated healthcare. Health centers emphasize coordinated primary and preventive services or a “medical home” that promotes reductions in health disparities for low-income individuals, racial and ethnic minorities, rural communities and other underserved populations. Studies have found that the quality of care provided at health centers is equal to or greater than the quality of care provided elsewhere because of the emphasis on a medical home model in combination with the same board-trained and certified clinical staff found at private or larger institutions.

Idaho’s Community Health Centers have provided timely, preventative, and primary care services through early diagnosis and treatment for more than 40 years and continue to be an integral part of Idaho’s overall health care system. Community Health Centers: good for the economy, good for health, and good for the community.

— Tami Fife is the Terry Reilly Health Services development and outreach director. What Idaho native Terry Reilly began as Gente House transformed into a medical clinic in 1971 and grew to be Community Health Clinics, Inc., before it was renamed in Terry Reilly’s honor.

Glenn Mollette, syndicated columnist

Race for the presidency
Americans want an effective leader first and foremost

by Glenn Mollette

Most Americans cannot tell you how many Republicans are running for President. If they are like me at this point, they don’t care. I suppose if 10 more people announce their candidacy we would just nod our heads sort of like Linda Blair did in the movie The Exorcist. If you didn’t see the movie, it wasn’t pretty.

There is not much pretty right now about all the political rhetoric in our country. I guess we shrug our shoulders and say, “That’s politics in America.” Actually it’s entertaining and will become more so. We have Lindsey Graham shattering his cell phone after Trump gave out his phone number. Rand Paul tried to become theatrical sawing up a copy of the tax code. Ted Cruz recently called Mitch McConnell a liar, and Mike Huckabee has the Jews at the door of a furnace if the Iran nuclear arms deal goes through. Personally I don’t like the idea of trusting anything to Iran either. If they get a bomb, we will be the second people they will drop one on, right after Israel. All the while Donald Trump’s hairdo has not changed. If I had $10 billion, I would at least get a different haircut. While the Republicans get louder, Hillary Clinton is still dealing with her email problems and Bernie Sanders is turning up the chase just a bit in the Democratic race.

Trying to answer the question of who will be our next President is a little scary. Just exactly who will be our next Commander-in-Chief? Who really has the best ideas and the leadership ability to pull this country together and save us from going the way of Greece?

While politicians slug it out, Americans are dealing with their own worries. How long will we have Social Security for retirement? How will Medicare ever pay all the growing medical bills? My wife recently had three tests done in one of our esteemed clinics, and the bill was over $10,000. Fortunately our insurance paid $7,700, but that left us with a nice balance. In my opinion, the three tests were worth about $2,300. I suspect we paid the bill and our insurance company was slammed for the $7,700 of gravy money. Stuff like this is happening all around. We have university presidents in this nation making close to a million dollars a year while 22-year-old kids try to pay back their $60,000 college loans. All the while many of the corporations and unions that promised to pay generous lifelong retirements plus all the medical bills are trying to renege or at least edit what they promised.

Many Americans watch the news, and they know that ISIS and terrorism are growing. They know our jobs are leaving America. They know education is expensive. Even with Obamacare, going to the doctor is often cost-prohibitive. They know our country is being flooded with illegals, and they have realized that in many cases our kids may not have the American life that our parents did.

In the midst of all this, many Americans are depressed and feel hopeless and many don’t give an iota about who is a Democrat or a Republican. They want somebody that gives them a feeling of hope. The man or woman who for the next 16 months can convince the average American that he or she can pull this country together and truly make us a leading and prosperous nation again will be our next President.

Financial management

Sacrifice, determination bridge gap until career takes off

Dear Dave,

My wife and I are thinking about selling our home. I was recently let go from the military because of downsizing and I've begun a job in real estate, but things are starting slowly. My wife brings home about $3,500 a month as a teacher, and the only debt we have is our house payment of $1,616 a month.

I was given a $35,000 severance package, but we need some advice to help bridge the financial gap. Any ideas?

— Erik

Dear Erik,

Having little or no income is a lot harder than a variable-income situation. Your wife is bringing home good money, but at the moment your house payment is almost half that amount. Are there some things you can do on the side to create income while you're getting your real estate business going? If you could make even $1,000 to $2,000 a month, it would change the picture entirely. You guys would be able to keep your home and have a little breathing room while you get your real estate career off the ground.

Looking at it from a long-term perspective, if you're selling a bunch of houses a year or two from now, you're in the clear. You could easily stay in the house. But if you don't find extra income while you build your business, if you're not willing to work extra hard and sacrifice in the meantime — even if it means just delivering pizzas — then you probably need to sell the house.

It takes about six to nine months to start making a living in the residential real estate business. So look at it this way: the more houses you sell, the less time you spend delivering pizzas. All this

DAVE Says
by Dave Ramsey • www.davesays.org really hinges on is how badly you want a career in real estate and how much you guys want to keep your home. If you want it enough, you'll do what it takes to get there. And for the time being that's going to mean supplementing your income with something on the side while you grow your real estate business!

— Dave

Dear Dave,

We've made an offer on a house we really like through a first-time buyers program. Now, after looking over our budget and debts again, my wife and I are having second thoughts. We haven't signed or turned in any paperwork yet. What do you think we should do?

— Craig

Dear Craig,

I wouldn't go through with the deal. I advise people to be debt-free before buying a home, because you want a home to be a blessing, not a curse.

Homeownership when you're broke is never a good idea. And basically, that's the situation you're describing. You have debt, and you're trying to squeak into something with a first-time buyers plan. The translation? You have no money. Everything that can go wrong will go wrong. That's Murphy's Law, and he'll move into your spare bedroom along with his three cousins — Broke, Desperate and Stupid.

Get your debts paid off, build up an emergency fund, and save up a good down payment before buying a home. I know that's not the popular answer, but it's the smart one!

Obama policy lifts Iranian oil economy, stifles U.S., Canada

by Marita Noon

President Obama's confusing approach to energy encourages our enemies who shout "death to America," while penalizing our closest allies and even our own job creators.

Iran's participation in the nuclear negotiations that have slogged on for months, have now, ultimately, netted a deal that will allow Iran to export its oil — which is the only reason they came to the table (they surely are not interested in burnishing Obama's legacy). International sanctions have, since 2011, cut Iran's oil exports in half and severely damaged its economy. Iran, it is estimated, currently has more than 50 million barrels of oil in storage on 28 tankers at sea — part of a months-long build-up.

It is widely reported that, because of aging infrastructure and saturated storage, it will take Iran months to bring its production back up to pre-sanction levels. The millions of barrels of oil parked offshore are indicative of their eagerness to increase exports. Once the sanctions are lifted — if Congress approves the terms of the deal — Iran wants to be ready to move its oil. In fact, even before the sanctions have been lifted, Iran is already moving some of its "floating storage."

On July 17, the Financial Times reported, "The departure of a giant Iranian supertanker from the flotilla of vessels storing oil off the country's coast has triggered speculation Tehran is moving to ramp up its crude exports." The Starla, "a 2 million-barrel vessel," set sail — moving the oil closer to customers in Asia. In April, another tanker, Happiness, sailed from Iran to China, where, since June, it has been parked off the port city of Dalian.

Starla is the first vessel storing crude offshore to sail after the nuclear deal was reached — which is, according to the Financial Times, "signaling (Iran's) looming return to the oil market." Reuters calls its departure "a milestone following a months-long build-up of idling crude tankers." Analysts at Macquarie Capital apparently think the oil on Starla will not be parked, waiting for sanctions to be lifted. A research note states that Iran is "likely assuming that either a small increase in exports will not undermine the historic accord reached or that no one will notice." We noticed.

Already, before sanctions are lifted, global oil prices are feeling the pressure of Iran's increased exports. Since the deal's been announced, crude prices have lost almost all of their recent gains.

While the Obama Administration's actions are allowing Iran, which hates America, to boost its economy by increasing its oil exports, they are hurting our closest ally by continuing to delay the Keystone pipeline — which would help Canada export its oil.

After 6½ years of kicking the can down the road, and despite widespread support and positive reports, the Keystone pipeline is no closer to construction than it was on the day the application was submitted. It is obvious President Obama doesn't like the project, which will create tens of thousands of jobs, according to his own State Department. Back in February, he vetoed the bill Congress sent him that would have authorized construction, saying that it circumvented "longstanding and proven processes for determining whether or not building and operating a cross-border pipeline serves the national interest." At the time, Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell (R-Ky.) said, "Congress won't stop pursuing good ideas, including this one." But he was not able to gather enough votes to override the veto, and, since then, we've heard nothing about the Keystone pipeline. In Washington, DC, silence on an important issue like Keystone isn't always golden.

There is no pending legislation on Keystone, but the permit application has still not been approved or rejected. I had hoped that the unions, who want the jobs Keystone would provide, would be able to pressure enough Democrats to support the project, to push a bill over the veto-proof line. But that didn't happen. For months, Keystone has been silently dangling. But that may be about to change.

Reliable sources tell me that Obama is prepared to, finally, announce his decision on Keystone. According to the well-sourced rumor, he is going to say, "No" — probably just before or after the Labor Day holiday. He'll conclude that it is not in the "national interest." So helping our ally grow its economy and export its oil is not in our national interest but helping our sworn enemy do the same is? It's like the "Channeling Jeff Foxworthy" parody states, we just "might live in a country founded by geniuses and run by idiots."

Speaking of economic growth and oil exports, what about here at home, in the good old U.S. of A.? Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-Alaska) questions the deal that allows Iran to export its oil, while we cannot. "As Congress begins its 60-day review of President Obama's nuclear deal with Iran, there are plenty of reasons to be skeptical about whether it is in our nation's — and the world's — best interests. Not least among them are the underexplored, but potentially significant, consequences the deal will hold for American energy producers."

Most people don't realize that the U.S. is, as Murkowski says in her op-ed, "the only advanced nation that generally prohibits oil exports." Because of a decades-old policy, born in a different energy era, American oil producers are prohibited from exporting crude oil because it was perceived to be in "short supply." (Note that refined petroleum product, such as gasoline and diesel, can be exported and is our No. 1 export. We are also about ready to ship our first major tanker full of natural gas to Europe.) Today, when it comes to crude oil, our cup runneth over. The U.S. is now the world's largest producer of oil and gas. Rather than short supply, we have an oversupply — so much so that American crude oil (WTI) is sold at a discount over the global market (Brent). This disadvantages U.S. producers but doesn't benefit consumers because gasoline is sold based on the higher-priced Brent.

Murkowski argues that it is time to lift the 40-year-old oil export ban. She's introduced bipartisan legislation that would do just that, but, if he were so inclined, President Obama could reverse the policy himself — if he found it to be in the national interest. And how could it not be?

Allowing U.S. crude oil onto the world market enhances global energy security, as it would be less impacted by tensions in the Middle East. Our allies in Europe and Asia would have access to supply from a friendly and reliable source — remember the Arab Oil Embargo crippled Japan's economy because it had no domestic supply and was overly reliant on Arab sources. Lifting the oil export ban would allow U.S. crude to be sold at the true market price, not the discounted rate, which would help stem the job losses currently being felt throughout the oil patch because of the low price of oil and exacerbated by the drop in the price of crude triggered by the Iran deal.

So, the Obama Administration is lobbying Congress to lift the sanctions on Iran, a country that views America as The Great Satan. Lifting sanctions would allow Iran to resume full oil export capabilities and boost its economy — while refusing to give our allies and our own country the same benefit. Iranian oil will enter the world market, while Canadian and American oil is constrained. How is that in the "national interest?"

It appears we might just be living in a country founded by geniuses and run by idiots.

Man sentenced for trying to fill dead person's prescription

A Homedale man can have a felony drug conviction removed from his record if he successfully completes probation.

Roberto Martinez-Hernandez received a withheld judgment Aug. 4 when Third District Judge Thomas J. Ryan imposed sentencing for a felony charge of obtaining a controlled substance by fraud of forgery.

Martinez-Hernandez entered a guilty plea to the felony.

Owyhee County Prosecuting Attorney Douglas D. Emery dropped a felony count of burglary.

Under the conditions of a withheld judgment, Martinez-

Hernandez can have his record expunged if he successfully completes three years of supervised probation. Martinez-Hernandez must also pay $635.50 in fines and court costs.

Homedale Police arrested Martinez-Hernandez on Jan. 20 as he tried to pick up a prescription at Homedale Drug on North Main Street.

The store's pharmacist had alerted authorities that Martinez-Hernandez had earlier dropped off a prescription in the name of someone who had been dead about two months.

Homedale budget hearing tonight

Citizens will have their chance to comment on a plan to raise Homedale's mayoral salary by nearly $140 per month.

The city council narrowly agreed to plug Mayor Gheen Christoffersen's raise into the Fiscal Year 2016 budget. A similar idea to raise the salaries of the council members didn't pass muster.

The council will hold its annual budgetary public hearing at 6 p.m. today inside City Hall, 31 W. Wyoming Ave.

Citizens will be able to attend and give their input on the city's proposed $3.6 million budget.

In addition to Christoffersen's proposed salary increase, the budget also includes an appropriation to add another patrol officer to the Homedale Police Department payroll.

Police Chief Jeff Eidemiller has said the new position would help fill the patrol hours lost during the nine months of the year that

Sgt. Mike McFetridge is serving as the Homedale school resource officer.

Overall, the city's proposed FY16 budget is more than $85,000 larger than the current appropriations (a 2.4 percent increase).

The HPD budget is set to go up nearly $25,000 because of the addition of another officer, while the city's irrigation fund also will gain about $19,000 over FY15.

Grand View to hold budget hearing today

Citizens will have the opportunity to scrutinize the City of Grand View's Fiscal Year 2016 budget in a public hearing today.

Grand View's monthly city council meeting starts at 6 p.m. inside City Hall, 425 Boise Ave.

The city's proposed budget, set at $614,816, is about $40,000 more than the current budget.

The budget includes proposed salaries for elected officials. The council passed an ordinance in June setting a prospective salary schedule to pay Mayor Franklin Hart and each council member $600 annually, or $50 per month.

The city's elected officials have never received a salary in the 45-year history of the town's incorporation.

Teen arrested after alleged violent attack on father

Owyhee deputies help search for drowning victim

A teenager has been arrested after allegedly pistol-whipping his father during a dispute.

Owyhee County Sheriff Perry Grant said Cody Allen Webb, 18, was taken into custody on Aug. 3 after allegedly beating up his dad with brass knuckles and striking him in the head twice with a .22-caliber pistol.

Grant said the dispute began as an apparent argument over rent at a residence on Idaho highway 78 south of Birmingham Road near the Opaline area.

Webb remains in Owyhee County Jail in Murphy on a felony charge of aggravated battery. Grant said his 44-year-old father refused medical treatment.

Webb has asked for a reduction in bond, and Magistrate Judge Dan C. Grober will hear the motion simultaneously with a preliminary hearing at 1:30 p.m. on Monday in Murphy.

A two-year no-contact order has been issued.

OCSO helps search river

Owyhee County Sheriff's personnel assisted in the search for 22-year-old Cody Dossett, who drowned in the Snake River last week.

Deputies used boats to scour the river south of Celebration Park after the Nampa man disappeared while trying to swim across the river from the Canyon County side on Aug. 4.

Grant said the search continued daily throughout the week with OCSO personnel searching during the day, and the Canyon County Sheriff's Office handling the job at night.

The CCSO Lake Patrol unit recovered Dossett's body in the river at approximately 9 p.m. on Friday.

Sheriff's Lt. Donia Ballard reported Dossett's body was found about three-quarters of a mile downstream from the Guffey bridge where he went missing.

Accident leads to arrest

A 20-year-old Homedale man was arrested after 2 p.m. on Aug. 4 after a two-vehicle accident on U.S. Highway 95 in Homedale.

Abdiel Camargo Garcia was cited for failure to provide insurance, but was arrested on a misdemeanor charge of driving without privileges.

Camargo Garcia was driving a silver 1999 Dodge Durango when he was involved in an accident at the intersection of U.S. 95 and Pioneer Road.

The Durango collided with a white 2010 Chevrolet Silverado C-1500 pickup driven by 44-year-old Kelli Buckingham of Bruneau.

Owyhee County Fair and Rodeo

Parade sweepstakes winner dedicated to Shriner

Billy Shaw is at the wheel of the colorful El Korah Shriners Jeep, and Shriner Blake Titus plays the calliope Saturday.

Several entries carry special meaning

Saturday’s Owyhee County Fair and Rodeo Parade had significant meaning for several top entrants.

In the most poignant of the entries, El Korah Shrine’s sweepstakes-winning float was dedicated to Brother William (Bill) Shaw, who despite his illness had planned to make an appearance in Saturday’s procession through downtown Homedale.

Blake Titus, a fellow Shriner and, like Shaw, a member of the Silver City Masonic Lodge No. 13 in Homedale, reported Saturday afternoon that his Masonic brother had passed away Friday night.

The Shriners dedicated Saturday’s Jeep-and-calliope float entry to Shaw’s memory. Shaw’s son, Billy, drove the Jeep, and Titus was seated at the calliope, playing it as the parade moved westward down Idaho Avenue.

Richard Saylor of Hum Motors won the top prize in the vehicle category for his 2004 Lamborghini Murcielago. The teal sports car, a 40th anniversary Murcielago model, is the 22nd of 50 built, and Saylor employs the rare car to raise funds for Disabled American Veterans.

Donnie Drake drove a P150 Willys Jeepster and took third place in the vehicles division. Driving the 1950 Jeepster, which was marketed by Willys-Overland Motors between 1948 and 1951, marks the culmination of a 30-year project for Drake. He paid $25 for the unusual phaeton model and had to pull it out of a ravine to start the labor of love.

Parade coordinator Jolyn Green of Marsing expressed the parade committee’s gratitude to several folks who helped make the parade possible:

- Mike Beavers of Owyhee Express Carriage Co., donated his time, horses and surrey to lead the parade with grand marshal Mary Lootens aboard.
- The spectators who lined the route to enjoy the parade.
- The Owyhee County Fair Board and Rodeo Board for putting on the parade
- Green also said: “Special thanks to my hard-working judges — Bonnie Kent, Dixie Leedom, Brandie Campbell, Sue Showalter, Eric Stansell, Jake and Megan Astorquia, Calvin and Janelle Thompson, and Keith Green.

“I so appreciate them volunteering their time to help make this such a fun and successful parade.”

Sort-of-modern and not-so-modern modes of agriculture productivity shared Idaho Avenue during Saturday’s parade.

Richard Saylor’s 2004 Lamborghini Murcielago was the judges’ top pick among the automobiles in Saturday’s parade.

David Ineck’s band of merry pedalers flooded the pavement with all shapes and sorts of foot-powered conveyances and won the Miscellaneous championship.

The adults weren’t the only ones winning ribbons.

Owyhee County Fair and Rodeo

Craig captures two rough stock championships

Rob and Dan Webb sizzled to a 4.7-second run in last Wednesday's slack performance for the Idaho Cowboys Association team roping. The time held up for the Owyhee County Rodeo championship.

Casey Cunningham's 76-point ride on Thursday held up in the ICA ranch bronc contest until Konnyr Marek scored 79 points to take the championship Saturday.

A little body English from a fan helped Trell McFarland to an 89.5-point ride in Thursday's first night of mutton busting, but twin brother Trey McFarland stole the show — and took the buckle — with a 91-point ride on the same night.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

On Thursday, December 3, 2015 at the hour of 11:00AM, of said day, in the lobby of the Owyhee County Courthouse located at 20381 Highway 78, Murphy, ID 83650,

Alliance Title & Escrow Corp., as trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, cashiers check, certified check or tellers check, (from a bank which has a branch in the community at the site of the sale), money order, State of Idaho check or local government check, or cash equivalent in lawful money of the United States, all payable at the same time of sale, the following described real property, situated in the County of Owyhee, State of Idaho, and described as follows, to wit:

All that part of Government Lot 6 lying South and West of State Highway No. 78 in Section 17, Township 1 North, Range 3 West, Boise Meridian, Owyhee County, Idaho.

THE TRUSTEE HAS NO KNOWLEDGE OF A MORE PARTICULAR DESCRIPTION OF THE ABOVE-DESCRIBED REAL PROPERTY, BUT FOR PURPOSES OF COMPLIANCE WITH IDAHO CODE, SECTION 60-113, THE TRUSTEE HAS BEEN INFORMED THAT THE STREET ADDRESS OF: 10977 State Hwy 78, Melba, ID 83641, MAY SOMETIMES BE ASSOCIATED WITH SAID REAL PROPERTY.

Said sale will be made without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession or encumbrances to satisfy the obligation secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in the deed of trust executed by Scott D. Jensen a single person , as Grantor to Alliance Title & Escrow Corp., as Trustee, for the benefit and security of Selene Finance LP as Successor Beneficiary, recorded January 20, 2009 as Instrument No. 267246, Mortgage records of Owyhee County, Idaho. THE ABOVE GRANTORS ARE NAMED TO COMPLY WITH SECTION 45-1506(4)(a), IDAHO CODE. NO REPRESENTATION IS MADE THAT THEY ARE, OR ARE NOT, PRESENTLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THIS OBLIGATION.

The default for which this sale is to be made is failure to:

Make principal and interest payments as set forth on said Deed of Trust and Promissory Note. The original loan amount was $120,772.00 together with interest thereon at the rate of 5.5000% per annum, as evidenced in Promissory Note dated January 15, 2009. Payments are in default for the months of August 2012 through and including June 2015 in the amount of $834.81 per month and continuing each and every month thereafter until date of sale or reinstatement. The principal balance as of June 16, 2015 is $114,534.55 together with accrued and accruing interest thereon at the rate of 5.5000% per annum. In addition to the above, there is also due any late charges, advances, escrow collection fees, attorney fees, fees or costs associated with this foreclosure.

The balance owing as of this date on the obligation secured by said deed of trust is $114,534.55, excluding interest, costs and expenses actually incurred in enforcing the obligations thereunder or in this sale, as trustee's fees and/or reasonable attorney's fees as authorized in the promissory note secured by the aforementioned Deed of Trust.

Dated: July 30, 2015

PROPOSED AMENDMENT OF WATER PERMIT

Dennis and Arline Huhtala of 8148 Hwy 95 Marsing, ID filed Application No. 80217 to amend a water permit with a 2009 priority from ground water totaling 0.04 cfs for heating, domestic and stockwater use . The permit provides domestic and stock water for property located three miles SW of Marsing. The applicant proposes to amend a condition of the permit which requires primary beneficial use of the water's heat value for heating before domestic and stockwater use, to heating use is in conjunction with domestic and stockwater uses.

For additional information concerning the property location, please contact Western Region office at 208-334-2190; or for a full description of the right(s) or proposed amendment(s), please see www.idwr.idaho.gov/WaterManagement/WaterRights. Protests may be submitted based on the criteria of Idaho Code § 42-211. Any protest against the proposed change(s) must be filed with the Director, IDWR Western Region, 2735 Airport Way, Boise ID 83705-5082 together with a protest fee of $25.00 for each application on or before 8/24/15. The protestant must also send a copy of the protest to the applicant.

Records fall at Jr. Livestock Auction

Saturday’s Owyhee County Junior Livestock Sale shattered records, with auction-goers spending nearly 10 percent of the entire proceeds brought in since 1991.

A record 239 animals were sold for a total of $309,200 raised, according to Debbie Titus with the University of Idaho Owyhee Extension Office.

“We have begun posting add-ons, but won’t have a total on that for a couple of weeks as they are continuing to come in,” Titus said.

Nearly $76,000 in add-ons were collected after the 2014 auction. Add-ons for 2015 will be accepted until the end of the month, Titus said.

This is the first time the sale has topped $300,000, and the previous high for animals through the sale ring was 229 in 1992 when exhibitors were allowed to sell more than one animal. Today, the youth can only market one animal.

The sale breakdown included 113 swine, 76 sheep, 35 beef and 15 goats.

Here’s how the Owyhee County Fair livestock show’s top animals sold:
