Stabbing suspect still at-large

Saturday incident sends Homedale resident to hospital

Authorities are still searching for the person responsible for a stabbing at a Homedale senior citizens housing complex Saturday afternoon.

Police Chief Jeff Eidemiller said he was hopeful to be able to talk to the 77-year-old stabbing victim for the first time Monday, but no further details — including the man's condition or a motive for the attack — were available at press time.

The 77-year-old Hispanic man was stabbed multiple times at an apartment in the 200 block of West Owyhee Avenue sometime around 4 p.m. Saturday. He was airlifted to Saint Alphonsus Regional Medical Center in Boise, but was unable to speak with investigators until Monday.

"We really don't have any significant leads yet," Eidemiller said Monday morning. "Most of our attention has been surrounding the victim."

Authorities are on the lookout for a white 2003

Recognition of fellow Vietnam vets puts Bronze Star medalist at ease

Ray Bicandi awarded several medals for service

The 50th anniversary of the Vietnam War this year is making Veterans Day especially bitter-sweet for one Homedale man.

Ray Bicandi, 67, is happy to see people appreciate veterans like himself, but he doesn't have many fond memories of serving in the Southeast Asia war. He finished his one-year tour of duty with three Bronze Stars and a Purple Heart among other medals.

The son of Ysedro Bicandi and Eloise Dexter grew up in Homedale and graduated from Homedale High School in 1966.

He was drafted into the U.S. Army in 1968, and his basic training was at Fort Worth, Texas.

"Right after basic training, I went to Fort Sill, Okla., for artillery training, and then I was shipped out to Vietnam," Bicandi said.

Only one Grand View council incumbent survives election

Town sees highest voter turnout in county

Come January, there will be three new faces on the Grand View City Council.

In races that drew the highest percentage of registered voters of any municipal election held in Owyhee County Nov. 3, citizens threw out three incumbents.

Donald (Bill) Mead, who received the second-highest number of votes in the election for two four-year terms, was the only incumbent to survive.

Linda Araujo, who was running for a four-year seat, and Opal Ward lost their bids to remain involved in city politics beyond Dec. 31. Ward was running for a two-year term after her appointment earlier this year to fill the council seat vacated by James Burnett when he went to work for the city's public works department.

Mead earned 36.1 percent of the vote (66 votes), which was second in the four-year balloting to Jon Pennington (39.9 percent, 73 votes).

John Morrison was the top vote-getter (by one ballot) in the four-way race for a pair of two-year seats. Sixty-eight citizens (34.7 percent) voted for Morrison, while Melvin Freckleton also secured a seat from a challenger position with 67 votes (34.2 percent).

Ward was third in the two-year race with 39 votes, and Katy Hazlett garnered 22 votes.

A total of 101 people voted for a county-high turnout of 42.3 percent. The Grand View election led the county in the number of Election Day registrations, too, with 15.

Public hearing set for new Marsing P&Z map

Marsing's Planning and Zoning Commission will hear public comment regarding a revision of the city's P&Z map.

The hearing will be held at 7 p.m., Tuesday inside Marsing City Hall, 425 Main St.

Deputy City Clerk Annie Campbell said no copies of the proposed revised map are yet available, but said the idea is to provide further clarification for the recently approved amended land use map.

"The planning and zoning map will be a little more detailed in the zoning, I believe," Campbell said. "I'm not constructing it. It's our civil engineer Amy (Woodruff)."

She added that there hasn't been any discussion on changing commercial or industrial zones in the city, and the new map will focus on one category of zoning regulations.

"I think the mixed use. There was a lot of discussion on that," Campbell said.

When the amended land use map was approved, Woodruff said it and the amended comprehensive plan, are flexible enough to allow for changes if city leaders deem them to be necessary.

The revised P&Z map could be more rigid in terms of what type of businesses or developments would be allowed in specific areas of Marsing.

Citizens can comment at the hearing, or but written comments must be received by 5 p.m. Tuesday for consideration.

Homedale council to meet on Vets Day

Although it's a holiday, the Homedale City Council will hold its November meeting Wednesday on Veterans Day.

The agenda is light for the council members, who won't hold their second meeting of the month because the date falls on Thanksgiving.

This week's meeting starts at 6 p.m. on Wednesday inside City Hall, 31 W. Wyoming Ave.

Municipal airport business is on the meeting docket as the council reviews the renewal of annual leases for tenants at the airport.

The council also could take action on a resolution to accept a grant offer from the Idaho Transportation Department Division of Aeronautics for a small amount of money to help with airport improvements. City Clerk and Treasurer Alice Pegram said the grant is worth about $7,200 and would be used as part of the matching funds for the city's larger Federal Aviation Administration grants that have been used to rehabilitate and stripe the runway.

The council will also consider the possible purchase of a Mule UTV for the public works department.

Homedale FFA holds Harvest Auction on Thursday

Homedale FFA’s largest fundraiser of the year — its annual Harvest Auction — will be held Thursday.

The auction starts at 6 p.m. in the Homedale High School cafeteria, 203 E. Idaho Ave.

The chapter moved the auction from September to November to make it easier for the area’s farmers to attend.

Everyone is welcome to attend the event, which will include a tri-tip dinner and dessert.

Funds raised at the auction will cover expenses such as travel to conventions and conferences.

Chapter vice-president Jennifer Bautista is organizing and improving the Harvest Auction for her Senior Project.

The live and silent auction includes many items and services donated by local businesses and community members.

- A $250 certificate for fertilizer plus application donated by Helena Chemical
- A trailer storage box from High Country Plastics

- A show lamb from Fisher Show Lambs
- Gift certificates from D&B Supply, L&L Meats, Idaho Pizza Co., and more
- Hand-picked gift baskets from many local families, such as University of Idaho- and Boise State University-themed baskets.

FFA chapter members will be on the auction block for eight hours of “slave labor” of the buyer’s choice. “Slaves” in the past have done anything from babysitting to digging corrugates.

A new highlight of the auction this year will be a balloon booth, where guests can purchase a balloon containing a small mystery gift for $20.

This year's Parade Theme: "The Grinch"

Homedale student wins conservation poster contest

Homedale Elementary School fourth-grader Lexie Heck is this year’s Owyhee Conservation District poster contest winner.

The daughter of Camille and Jason Heck created a poster featuring a butterfly and a bee, following this year’s theme of “Your Hardworking Pollinators.” The award for first place was a check for $35.

The National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD) sets the theme each year for the poster contest.

OCD administrative assistant Gina Millard said the themes are usually based on farming or problems in nature.

“Since pollinators (bees especially) are struggling to survive in our world, the NACD has been pushing that theme,” Millard wrote in an email.

After winning the local poster contest, Heck moved on to the division competition Oct. 13, but did not move forward to the Nov. 15 state competition. Millard said details for this year’s

Homedale Elementary fundraiser arrives Saturday

Fall Festival to finance technology purchases

Improving communication and technology are the main targets for money raised during Saturday’s Fall Festival at Homedale Elementary School.

The school’s Parent Teacher Organization (PTO) created the carnival to replace Santa Brunch as the big fundraising vehicle for the year.

The event runs from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday at the school, 420 W. Washington Ave.

The festival will feature food, carnival games, a bounce house, face-painting, a cupcake walk and more.

There is a raffle with seven big prizes, too. Fourth-, seventh- and eighth-graders are selling $1 tickets for the drawing. Tickets for other prizes will be sold during the festival, and winners need not be present to win any of the prizes.

Event and raffle proceeds will help fund continuing operation of a districtwide parent communication system and technology for elementary classrooms.

Parents can opt-in to the notification system, which carries messages from staff members and administrators by text and email. The notifications can include messages regarding emergencies and school closures, but staffers also use the system to send out weekly spelling quiz lists and reminders about school events.

“It is an efficient way to keep parents informed,” HES principal Terri Vasquez said in a PTO release.

Among the classroom technology the PTO has purchased with Santa Brunch proceeds in the past are Bright Links and Chrome-books.

Bright Links is an interactive projector for each classroom, and it’s similar to the overhead projectors that teachers have used for years. The difference is Bright Links projectors turn the classroom wall or display board into a large computer screen, and students can use a special pen or their fingers the same way the would use a stylus on a tablet or iPad.

The PTO also paid half the cost for the electronic reader board that stands in front of the school.

Fall festival sponsors include W3 Livestock, Bowen Parker Day CPAs, Owyhee Auto Supply, Wilson Tire Factory of Payette, Orchard Valley Bees, Aqua Irrigation, Matteson’s and Jennifer Uranga of American Dream Real Estate.

For more information, call Camille Heck at (208) 899-9282.

✓ Stabbing: Authorities hunt for suspect’s white Dodge Dakota pickup

Dodge Dakota extended cab pickup that the suspect is believed to be driving. The truck has tinted windows, low-profile tires and after-market wheels and fender flares.

The suspect should be considered armed and dangerous.

“We do not believe that this was a random occurrence,” Eidemiller said. “We don’t believe there is any significant threat to the public at least.

“All indications are the victim and suspect were at least acquaintances.”

Eidemiller said anyone who spots the suspect vehicle or has other information on the case can call the police department at (208) 337-4642. — JPB

✓ Bronze Star: Bicandi went on to banking career, life on a farm

He would next find himself in Tay Ninh province where he would serve his one-year tour of duty.

“Back then if you served one, that’s all it required,” Bicandi said. “You could volunteer for a second one, but I was not one of those guys.”

He spent two years in the Army with the first year split between Fort Worth and Fort Sill.

With the rank of staff sergeant, he was the personnel management non-commissioned officer. He was awarded his first Bronze Star on Sept. 29, 1969 for meritorious service as a personnel manager.

The incident that led to his second Bronze Star, and a Purple Heart, happened on Dec. 18, 1969.

“We were laying on the ground when the mortar hit our hooch, our sleeping quarters, and it hit the corner of the hooch,” Bicandi said. “The hooches that we slept in were concrete-floored, and so the shrapnel just went everywhere.”

Despite a shrapnel wound in his side, Bicandi fled the shelter of the bunker to get help for a fellow soldier, who had been more seriously wounded when he stood up to open a door and go down into the bunker.

“We all got in the bunker, and we decided one of the gentlemen was hurt bad enough that we needed to get help. I left the bunker and got first aid for him,” Bicandi said.

Bicandi did not have to go to the hospital to be treated for the shrapnel wound. Army medics onsite were able to treat the injury.

On Jan. 30, 1970, Col. John E. Tyler, commander of the first brigade, 25th infantry division stationed in Tay Ninh, conducted a ceremony at the headquarters to present medals to soldiers. That was the day Bicandi received his second Bronze Star, this one for valor, and a Purple Heart.

The Bronze Star for valor is a small pin in the shape of a “V” that is affixed to the ribbon of a soldier’s first Bronze Star.

On Jan. 24, 1970, Bicandi would receive his third Bronze Star, the second oak leaf cluster (another small pin on the ribbon of the first Bronze Star) for his service in Tay Ninh.

Bicandi has several other awards from the Army, but none that he holds in such high esteem as his Bronze Stars and Purple Heart.

He thinks about the men that he served with, and the time he was there, when he looks at the medals.

“I’m just glad that I made it back home without any major disabilities,” Bicandi said. “I have memories of Vietnam, but I don’t have a lot of good ones. It was very stressful.”

He came back to the U.S. in March 1969, and went to Clark Junior College in Vancouver, Wash. Bicandi then transferred to Washington State University in Pullman, Wash., where he graduated in 1975 with a degree in animal science nutrition.

He went on to make a career in banking, but his education in agriculture would still prove to be useful.

“I was pre-vet when I got my degree at WSU, and then I went to work for a farm credit (business) as a loan officer, making agriculture loans,” Bicandi said.

He worked for Production Credit Association in Caldwell, and retired in June 2014. While working full-time, Bicandi also farmed approximately 160 acres on his property northwest of Homedale.

He is enjoying his retirement, and “highly recommends it.”

“I have plenty to do our here at my place, I’ve got the farm ground rented out, but I run a few horses and have to take care of the grounds,” Bicandi said. “It keeps me busy. I have a lot of projects.”

Bicandi feels pride when people recognize and appreciate Veterans Day.

“Vietnam veterans were there not because they chose to be, but because we were asked to be, and we stepped up and did our service to the country,” Bicandi said. “Vietnam was very controversial. Vietnam veterans weren’t always met with a lot of celebration when they came back. So Veterans Day, the way it is now, makes me feel good.”

New 4-H year brings new goals

We are geared up for the new 4-H year, which started in October, and have already lined out some great events. We have three goals we focusing on this year that we think will strengthen the 4-H Program.

- Offer more programming throughout O w y h e e County. All classes and workshops will include a Marsing/Homedale location and a Grand View/Bruneau location to better serve our 4-H families.
- Encourage and support our existing 4-H volunteers. Our volunteers are the backbone of the 4-H program.
- Recruit additional volunteers as club leaders, project leaders and resource leaders to support our existing clubs and add additional resources to our youth where it is needed.

4-H is not just for families with youth. There is a need for volunteers to mentor and support our children. We are looking for citizens who have a hobby or skill they are passionate about. We have had a few citizens reach out to our office recently. One woman is a retired teacher who lives in Homedale. She sews and could offer her support as a resource leader. A resource leader is available to meet with a club or youth one or twice a month and help them with their project. They give direction and support for the specific project.

Project leaders head up a specific project or area of interest. I am a certified Shooting Sports Archery Leader for Reynolds Creek 4-H Club. I am able to lead this project for 4-H youth. I help youth set goals, complete record books, give instruction and ensure follow-through to completion. A project leader has a bit more time involved than a resource leader. On a side note, I am the only 4-H leader certified in Archery in Owyhee County. I will be offering my assistance as a resource leader to other clubs so more youth are able to take archery as a project.

Club leaders have quite of bit of involvement and commitment. They coordinate all activities for the club to include meetings, projects and fair. They guide and mentor the project leaders and schedule resource leaders when needed.

If you are interested in enriching our youth and our community by becoming a certified 4-H volunteer please contact the Owyhee County Extension Office.

— Georgia Goodwin the 4-H coordinator for the University of Idaho Owyhee County Extension Office. She can be reached at (208) 896-4104, ggoodwin@uidaho.edu, or at the Extension Office, 238 8th Ave. W., in Marsing.

BLM lights prescribed burn near Silver

The Bureau of Land Management began a prescribed burn operation near Silver City last Wednesday.

The burns along Silver City Road and War Eagle Road, which target hand piles from a 2014 hazardous fuels reduction project may last until Jan. 1 depending on weather conditions. The project encompasses two units totaling 164 acres.

The BLM said operations may last up to one week once initiated, and personnel and equipment will be in the area. Smoke will be visible for some distance.

THE OWYHEE AVALANCHE

SEQUICENTENNIAL SAMPLINGS

Vol. 1, No. 13, Saturday, November 11, 1865

“OWYHEE” — a week or two ago we had occasion to speak in reference to the orthography and origin of the title of this section of Idaho. Since then, a citizen of Ruby, and who was at an early day a resident of this Puget Sound country, enlightens us somewhat on the subject in question. He says the name of the river — Owyhee — was furnished by a couple of Sandwich Islanders, who were in the employ of the Hudson Bay Company for the purpose of carrying on a more successful trade with the Bannock and Shoshone Indians inhabiting this portion of the country. The word — Owyhee, or Owhyhee, if you please — is really then the English of Hawaii, the native title of the group known as the Sandwich Islands. From what our informant says, the Indians in this section refused to learn Chinook Jargon — the current lingo of the country at that time (and practiced to a great extent yet in the more moist portions of Oregon) — hence the Hudson Bay Company had to resort to some other means to secure their trade. Having a Kanaka or two to spare, the Company gave them the agency for this part of the country, and our informant says they got along with the Indians remarkably well. We presume the above is sufficient to satisfy the wants of the curious on the subject.

DR. INSKIP INFORMS us that he is to have the placing (in manner the command) of a small detachment of soldiers from Camp Lyon, for the purpose of scouting for Indians. The Dr. is a practical mountaineer, and is particularly acquainted with the Owyhee River country. If the soldiers are properly directed in movements against the prowling bands that infest this section of Idaho, they will effect something; but if they attempt to fight Indians in any other than their own style, it will be a failure ninety-nine times out of a hundred. Dr. Inskip keeps the “Ruby Ranch,” on Lower Cow Creek, at the junction of the Jordan Creek and Camp Lyon roads; the traveler will find the “accommodations for man and beast,” at that place, unsurpassed in the territory, and the Dr. is bent on keeping things straight in the quarries; - impossible. Give him a show.

Bruneau library talk highlights Snake River stewardship

The Bruneau Valley Library will conclude its fall speaker program with a presentation by Idaho Power’s director of environmental affairs.

Chris Randolph’s topic during Bruneau and Beyond next Wednesday will be the company’s Snake River stewardship program.

During the noontime luncheon program, Randolph will explain that the project was developed to help meet water quality certification by reducing the water temperatures at the Hell’s Canyon complex. Reaching certification involved island enhancements at Glenns Ferry and flood irrigation-to-sprinkler conversions.

The Bruneau and Beyond series of luncheons are free and held inside the library, 32073 Ruth St., in Bruneau. RSVPs are requested to ensure adequate space for attendees and that enough food is prepared for the light luncheon. Call (208) 845-2131 or (208) 845-2282 by Monday.

New Oreana business joins fun in Bruneau

An injury sparked a business for one of the new vendors at this year's Bruneau Cowboy Christmas boutique.

Amy and Shane Riley launched J bar D Canvas and Leather in Oreana last year.

"I broke my ankle in October of last year, and wanted to make a bedroll while I was on crutches," Shane Riley said. "Amy started working on it in the kitchen. When she got done, she put it on Facebook, and it sold in 11 minutes."

After getting the offer of $130 that they couldn't refuse, the couple realized they had stumbled upon a new business venture. They have sold more than 300 bedrolls in the past year.

When the Rileys saw how popular the bedrolls (same as bed tarps) were, they expanded the business and now produce three items.

"We make a real neat little gear bag, we make those bed tarps, and then we make teepees (also known as range tents)," Riley said. "We try to make just one a week; that's all we have time for. So far we're on number 33, teepees."

The couple is going through 300 to 400 yards of canvas a month, and about 6,000 yards of thread a month.

"I don't have time to cowboy anymore," Riley said.

Shane Riley of Oreana, owner of J bar D Canvas and Leather.

Bedrolls and gear bags are the mainstay of their business, and all three items are only available for pre-order. Teepees are usually sent out within a month, while bedrolls and gear bags are shipped in 10 days.

Riley added that he thinks it is fair to say that their business became more successful than he would have imagined.

Prices for the three items the Rileys make range from $45 to $600. For more information about their products, go to the company website: <http://www.jbardcanvasandleather.com/>

Cowboy Christmas boutique returns to Bruneau this weekend

Holiday shopping event includes food drive

After growing every year for 15 years, organizers of the Bruneau Cowboy Christmas gift boutique expect this year's event to be bigger and better than ever.

The 16th annual shopping opportunity will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 14-15 at Bruneau Elementary School, 25841 Benham Ave., and American Legion Post 83 Hall, 32536 Belle Ave.

Organizer Becky Tester said it all started in 1999 when she rented the Legion Hall to sell her glass etchings, and a handful of other artists joined her. It has grown exponentially in the subsequent years.

"If you would have told me 15 years ago that this is how it was going to be, I would have told you that you were crazy," Tester said.

She added that the event has been held simultaneously in two different locations for the past three or four years because they ran out of space at the Legion Hall.

Tester and other organizers advertise the boutique by putting up fliers around town, posting information on Facebook, and they also send out postcards.

The boutique also gives folks a chance to help out the needy in the local community.

"When people come to the event, we ask them to bring a non-perishable food item, and when they do that they are entered into a drawing," Tester said. "We ask for their name and their address, so we use those to advertise for the next year."

She was impressed with how many canned food items were donated in 2014.

"I would say we probably got a couple pickup-loads last year," Tester said. "People have been really generous. They're just really awesome. More people realize how important it is. I mean, the first year we probably got only 10 cans."

The food items are given Knight Community Church in Grand View and Bruneau Community Church for distribution to those in need.

Admission is free, and shoppers can expect to find items including rustic furniture, antiques, collectibles, hand-tooled leather and silver pieces and tack, hand-made quilts, and western books. Tester said there will also be "a few really good wood crafters, and a lot of barn wood stuff."

She has seen some very strange things at the boutique over the years, too.

"We had somebody sell a swallow nest one year," Tester said. "It was just a branch with a swallow's nest. I know it was over 50 bucks because I thought it was insane."

Santa Claus will be stopping by the boutique to greet young cowboys and cowgirls. Tester said Old St. Nick will likely make an appearance around 1 p.m. Saturday and about noon Sunday.

Warm cinnamon rolls, stews and chili, cornbread and desserts will be available all weekend in the cowboy café at both locations.

The Legion Hall doors will open at 8:30 a.m. Sunday for cowboy church with worship lead by Riata Brown.

For more information about this year's Cowboy Christmas, call Tester at (208) 995-5206.

Bruneau church tears down century-old sanctuary

It's out with the old and in with the new for the Bruneau Community Church.

The congregation recently hired a contractor, Mike Taylor of Mountain Home, to tear down the church's sanctuary. The meeting place for church services was the original Bruneau schoolhouse.

Steve Landis has been pastor of the church for 13 years, and said the schoolhouse was built in 1900.

Church member Millie Porter said the building was used as a schoolhouse until 1912, when a new two-story schoolhouse was built. The Congregational Church bought the building in 1913, but didn't start using it for regular services until 1914. It would then change hands several times over the next 58 years.

Bruneau Community Church member Mack McDowell said their congregation acquired the old schoolhouse in 1972.

The contractor began demolition on Oct. 12 and the building was gone by Oct. 16.

Landis thinks the old structure was about 30x45 feet, and said the new sanctuary will be 40x60 feet.

The old school building did not even have a real foundation.

"They had rocks, but nothing cement or anything," Landis said.

"It was built on rocks like they used to build them back then."

He added that the building was nearly falling down.

"The bottom of the studs in the walls were rotted out, and parts of the floor joists were rotted out," Landis said. "The platform was settling, it was in bad shape. As for the building itself, there was no insulation, it had siding on the outside, and 2x4 studs and some material on the inside, and that was the walls."

The congregation, which consists of about 30 to 40 members, still used the old building in the winter despite the fact that it wasn't insulated.

Landis clarified that only the original building was destroyed. Rooms that were added on over the years will still be used, including a fellowship hall where the congregation currently meets.

The church already has the estimated $140,000 to pay for the demolition of the old building and construction of the new sanctuary.

"We've been blessed and entrusted with money, so we're able to build as we go," Landis said.

The congregation has been saving money and planning for the new sanctuary for about six years. Landis said construction should be complete by late January, and the contractor is almost ready to pour cement for the foundation.

Landis explained that they do not have an artist rendering of what the new sanctuary will look like.

"If you drive by it on the road you won't even know a difference, because you don't see the sanctuary part, it's fronted by the entranceway and the fellowship hall, all you'll see is the roof," Landis said.

New teacher leads Bruneau-GV student musicians

A new teacher continues to build the Rimrock Jr.-Sr. High School music program.
Cathryn Volk will lead the musicians Friday when they stage a Veterans Day concert.
The program begins at 7:30 p.m. inside the Rimrock auditorium, 39678 State Hwy. 78, in Bruneau.
“I’m very excited to be planning for our first formal concert, and I hope that getting the word into the papers will draw more people to attend,” Volk said.

Volk is a first-year teacher, having graduated from Illinois Wesleyan University after majoring in Music Education with a focus on band and elementary.
She now lives in Mountain Home after moving there from Illinois to accept the Bruneau-Grand View School District music director job. She grew up in the Chicago area.
Volk plays primarily piano and clarinet. In her free time, she also offers private lessons and plays or sings in several community groups in the Mountain Home area.

Friday’s program will feature two bands — the seventh- and eighth-graders and the high school musicians. There are 75 boys and girls in the high school band program. Each band will play three pieces of patriotic music, including “America the Beautiful,” “God Bless America,” and “Shenandoah” and others.
“I don’t have anything else planned besides patriotic music, but I will be acknowledging our community’s veterans and the work they have done in serving,” Volk said.

The program will last an hour or less, she said.
In addition to the high school music program, Volk is working with kindergarteners through fifth-graders at the elementary schools in Bruneau and Grand View.
Volk also plans a series of “Holidays Around the World” performances with a band concert for the older musicians as well as a music program at each elementary school.

The Holiday Band Concert at Rimrock, which is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 15, will mark the first performance for the school’s beginning band.
The Bruneau Elementary School holiday program will be held on Thursday, Dec. 3, and the Grand View show is scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 8. Both programs begin at 6:30 p.m. and will feature kindergarteners through fifth-graders singing, playing instruments and dancing.

Armed forces members invited to schools for Veterans Day

Veterans from all branches of the armed services are encouraged to attend Wednesday’s Veterans Day assemblies.

Homedale Elementary — 9 a.m., school gymnasium, 420 W. Washington Ave.

Homedale Middle School — 10:45 a.m., school gymnasium, 3437 Johnstone Road. Counselor Brooke Winston moved the start time up 15 minutes earlier than originally announced because of a conflict with lunchbreaks.

Marsing Elementary — 1:45 p.m. to 3 p.m., school district cafeteria on 8th Avenue West.

Bruneau-Grand View — Rimrock Jr.-Sr. High School’s seventh- and eighth-grade band and high school band will each play selections during a Veterans Day concert.

The program begins at 7:30 p.m. on Friday inside the Rimrock auditorium, 39678 State Hwy. 78, in Bruneau.

Ryan Cantrell, the Bruneau-Grand View district’s elementary school principal, said Veterans Day assemblies are planned for his schools, but details hadn’t been worked out by press time.

E. Owyhee Scouts plan food drive

Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts from eastern Owyhee County will launch a Scouting for Food campaign Saturday.

The food drive coordinated by the Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts from Troop 73 will benefit the Rimrock Community Food Bank, which distributes once a month out of the Knight Community Church, 690 Idaho St., in Grand View.

Collection bags will be set up on Friday, and they’ll be picked up on Nov. 21 in Bruneau, Grand View and Oreana.

The items collected during this drive will be used at the local food bank during months when the Idaho Foodbank in Boise doesn’t have enough to reach all areas.

“We’ve had different groups donate money to help us supplement what we get from the Idaho Foodbank,” local food bank organizer Verla Robison said.

“(The Scouts have) been doing it every year for probably the last three or four years, and it helps out tremendously, what the Boy Scouts bring in.”

The Scouts have averaged more than 1,000 pounds of food each year of their service project.

Anyone interested in donating food, or anyone missed by the food drive can call Doug Thurman at (208) 834-2442 or Robison at (208) 834-2419 to get more information on how to help out.

Husky PRIDE award

Maria McNair, senior

Parents: Benjamin McNair and Melody Helfrich.

Government/Economics teacher Deidre Brown’s nomination: “Maria has been very proactive in completing her course work correctly. Maria’s goal is to bring her grade up above a B and I see her trying very hard to work on her assignments, complete and turn in all her work, ask questions, and get the extra help she needs. In my opinion this is huge improvement recently for Maria, and it is appreciated.”

The Husky PRIDE award is selected by Marsing High School staff and submitted to The Owyhee Avalanche each week. PRIDE stands for “Positive, Responsible, Integrity, Determination, Everyone/Everywhere.”

Antelopes roll into 1A Oregon quarterfinals

Griffin's three TD catches lead offense

Adrian High School appeared to be on cruise control in its first state playoff game. The Antelopes rolled up an easy 60-8 victory in the 1A Oregon football playoffs against visiting Triangle Lake on Saturday. All three passes Mike Griffin caught went for touchdowns as Adrian (9-0) collected its 21st consecutive victory in a rare day game at Ward Field. The reigning state champions are back home at 2 p.m. Saturday against No. 8 seed Powers (9-1), which won its third straight game with a narrow 24-22 triumph over No. 9 Sherman County in both teams' state opener. Quarterback Reagan Shira and his running back brother Bryson teamed up for 311 yards rushing as Adrian piled up 455 yards total offense against Triangle Lake. Bryson Shira rushed for 211 yards, and Reagan Shira had 100 yards on five carries. Bryson didn't find the end zone, but his brother played a part in six touchdowns.

Gooding QB will challenge Homedale's red-hot defense

High-octane District IV champs are averaging 57 points per game during five-game winning streak

Homedale High School's defense has been on a tear of late, and Matt Holtry says his players must continue to peak in the 3A state semifinal. "It has to be for us," the coach said of using the steam of four straight stellar defensive performances to wilt Gooding's high-powered offense. "Their offense is what makes them special. Their quarterback (6-foot, 175-pound senior Wyatt Williams) is a phenomenal athlete. In my opinion, he's the reason they're where they are." The District IV champions

(8-2) are in the state semifinals for the first time since 2013 after squeaking by South Fremont, 34-33, in comeback fashion in the quarterfinals on Friday. It was the Senators' fifth consecutive victory. In Friday's 28-0 quarterfinal victory over Parma, the fourth-ranked Trojans (9-1) won their fourth consecutive game, and the defense posted its third shutout in that span. To say that the two teams are evenly matched may be an understatement. — See Challenge, page 15

Girls' basketball previews

Size, speed could make Trojans hard to catch

Betancourt optimistic with strong core back

Girls' basketball state tournament appearances have become routine for Homedale High School, but coach Joe Betancourt senses something special about this year's squad. He's coached for 10 years, and this is his fifth season with the Trojans, so he might know his stuff. "This is going to be the best rebounding and defensive team I've had since joining the program five

Home opener rescheduled

The Trojans' home opener against non-conference foe Melba won't be played Friday as originally scheduled. Co-athletic director Casey Grove announced Sunday afternoon that the game has been tentatively rescheduled for Friday, Nov. 20 because of this week's conflict with the football team's 3A state semifinal game in Gooding.

Marsing athletes ready to run and gun

Glorfield returns as Huskies' top scorer

Jaime Wood made a discovery during Marsing High School's run to the 2A girls' basketball state tournament last season. And the emergence of Shyanne Glorfield as a reliable scorer could be key in helping the Huskies overcome the loss of five key players from last year's 18-9 squad that went 0-2 in the state tournament. "I look for Shyanne Glorfield to have a great season just because of the work she's putting in training," Wood said. "She shoots the ball a lot like (Homedale High School standout) Tory Lane. She's just a good player." The third-year coach wants shooters on his club for one undeniable reason. "We want to take as many shots as possible," Wood said. "I want the ball going up. We're going to play just a fast, up-tempo type of basketball." It's the same brand of basketball that Wood tried to put on the floor last season, but in 2015-16 it will be vital because of the team's lack of size and abundance of young depth. "I'm going to consider all the newcomers key because of the style of basketball we're going to play this year," Wood said. "We're going to play all of the players on our bench because we are going to run and press." The Huskies come into their season opener missing a load of talent from last year's team that fought into the 2A state tournament with a play-in victory over St. Maries. Gone are Shannon Clover, Destiny Reynolds and Emily Tank, all of whom graduated. Shelby Dines decided not to come out for her senior season, and Emerson Sauer — the standout freshman guard — See Marsing, page 16

✓ Challenge: Big offenses, stingy defenses set to clash

“I think this game will come down to turnovers and field position,” Holtry said. “I really do think it’s going to come down to those factors.”

“If we can take care of the ball and not make any errors in the turnover department, and if we can get ourselves in good field position, our defense can get some good stops for us, I think that’s going to be the difference in the game.”

The defense appears to be up to the task.

In the four games since a 64-14 loss to Emmett, Homedale has allowed only 18 points.

But, with the shifty Williams at the helm, Gooding has averaged 57.2 points over the past five games.

Homedale plays what their coach calls “assignment” football with each athlete having a responsibility, but Holtry admits the key against Williams will be more than just “staying home” as the play develops.

“This kid, he is really special. I mean, he makes plays. We’re going to have to get to him and force him out of the pocket, make him uncomfortable if he is throwing the ball. And if he’s going to run, we have to make sure we have someone in his face because if he gets away he’s gone,” Holtry said.

“There’s a big pressure on our defensive line this week for them getting to the quarterback and making tackles at the line of scrimmage or in the backfield because if he breaks through the line of scrimmage then he has the ability to make big plays happen. So we’re relying a lot on them and our linebackers to do that.”

Gooding’s defense has limited opponents to 13.6 points per game.

“They’re aggressive. They play downhill,” Holtry said. “I think play-action could be big for us, but I know from watching film that they just fly to ball. Their players are just aggressive, athletic players. They remind me of us. They swarm to the ball and make big plays.”

“We’ll have our hands full as far as offensively moving the ball. I feel good about our offensive gameplan, but we just hope we execute at a high level and are able to move the ball like we like to.”

Before the scoring fest against South Fremont, the Senators had allowed only 35 points in the previous four games.

Although Holtry admits its hard not to be nervous at any point in the state playoffs, he has confidence in the Trojans’ offense.

There is familiarity between the two programs, which Holtry thinks could help his players. Most of the athletes are familiar with Keller Field because they played a junior varsity game there in 2013. The varsity squads split a home-and-home series in 2012-13.

Rimrock hires boys’ hoops staff

A chaotic time for Rimrock High School winter athletics is beginning to calm down.

Left without an athletic director or boys’ basketball coach after John Hannah’s sudden departure, the school board appointed Ashley Merrick to the AD spot and on Friday hired Will and Wylee Aquiso as co-head coaches. Arron Hall will serve as an assistant.

Coach Bobby-Jean Colyer opened the girls’ basketball season Tuesday with a jamboree in Bruneau. The Raiders tip off the season at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 19 by hosting Glens Ferry.

Symms sacked Pinz twice on his own en route to an eight-tackle performance that also included five solo tackles, three assists, two TFLs and an assist on another tackle behind the line.

from a year ago — transferred to Middleton.

But Wood expects his squad to be near the top of the 2A Western Idaho Conference again this season with returners such as the 5-foot, 8-inch Glorfield, 5-9 sophomore post/wing Mackenzie Farrens (the team's tallest player), and a pair of 5-1 guards in junior LeAnn Garcia and sophomore Elsaa Margartio.

Glorfield averaged 14 points per game after her promotion from the junior varsity for the District III tournament last season, and Margarito also brings varsity playoff experience.

Most of the varsity players competed for Wood's AAU team during the offseason.

And there will be several players seeing time on the varsity this season because of the depth Wood's favorite style of play demands.

The team will trap opposing dribblers inside a press defense, which will require physical fitness.

"The conditioning, the way I look at it: I want to work them harder in practice so when they get into the game, they're used to it and the game part should be fun," Wood said.

Most of the new varsity players are 5-1 guards, including freshmen Ashley Loucks and Alex Grant, and senior Maribel Ramirez.

Three other freshmen guards — Gabby Rodriguez (5-4), Hailee Bennett (5-3) and Emma Heitz (5-1) — will see time on both the varsity and with first-year coach Lamou Loucks' JV squad.

"Those three are going to swing, but I'm not kidding a bit when I say we're going to have a fast, up-tempo game," Wood said.

✓ Antelopes: Muñoz contributes pick-six

In addition to his three TD passes to Griffin, Reagan Shira also ran for three scores.

Griffin caught his first TD pass to start the second-quarter scoring for Adrian. The Antelopes led 30-0 after his 40-yard reception.

Eduardo Muñoz scored two touchdowns in the span of 2 minutes, 12 seconds in the first quarter to spark Adrian's barrage.

Muñoz scored on a 19-yard run then picked off Triangle Lake quarterback Carson Wynn and ran into the end zone for a 22-0 lead.

Bryson Shira, Munoz and Colton Nielsen led a balanced defense with five tackles each. Nielsen had four solo stops, a sack and three tackles for loss.

HMS wrestlers off to fast start

Homedale Middle School wrestlers got 15 of their season-opening 22 victories by pinfall.

Coached by Jake Levinski, the Trojans faced Ontario, Ore., and Fruitland last Wednesday on the Grizzlies' mat

Tommy Muir had Homedale's fastest pin, beating Ontario's Adrian Nunez in 21 seconds.

Each Trojan wrestled two matches with Michael Babcock, Brayden Christoffersen, Jose

Flores, and Jace Love collecting two victories each by pinfall. Babcock (41 seconds), Christoffersen (49 seconds) and Flores (50 seconds) all got a pin in less than a minute.

Keagen Christensen, Joseph Egusquiza, Matthew Randall, and Brady Trout also had two wins. Trout (48 seconds) and Randall (47 seconds) also had fast pins.

Notching one win each were Diego Alamilla (37-second pin), Spencer Fisher, Barton Strack, Dalton Strack, and Caleb Vargas.

Homedale took 19 wrestlers to the tri-meet, and Levinski's assistant coaches included Alex Willson, Joe Egusquiza and Jeff Christoffersen.

"I believe these young men are learning the lesson of hard work paying off," Levinski said. "They may not see the pay-off immediately, but come the end of the season they will know where hard work has gotten them."

Huskies to introduce winter athletes at booster banquet

Marsing High School sports fans will get the chance to meet athletes during the Winter Sports Kickoff Banquet next week.

The Marsing Booster Club-sponsored banquet begins at 6 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 20 inside the Marsing School District cafeteria on 8th Avenue West.

The boys' and girls' basketball and wrestling teams will be there, and coaches will introduce their athletes to the community.

Dinner costs $5 for adults, and $3 for children 10 and younger. Marsing High School athletes eat for free.

The spaghetti dinner will include salad and garlic bread, and booster club members are asked to bring dessert for the event.

There will be a raffle, too.

All proceeds go to the non-profit booster club, which supports the various MHS athletic teams.

Organizers' goals for the banquet are to promote school pride and community involvement while building good character traits and self-respect in the students.

Huskies' most improved also an all-conference volleyball selection

Marsing High School volleyball coach Jenny Carper announced one additional all-conference player last week.

Junior libero LeAnn Garcia also was placed on the All-2A Western Idaho Conference honorable mention list at the close of the season.

Garcia earned the Huskies' most improved player award.

"LeAnn was crucial in the back row for digs, and as the season went on, greatly improved her back-row hits," Carper said. "She was a lot of fun to watch out on the court this season, and I am very excited to see what she brings her senior year."

Trojans F/S volleyball caps perfect season

Team claims 3A SRV crown

The Homedale High School frosh/soph volleyball team completed a perfect season with a 3A Snake River Valley conference tournament championship.

The Trojans (17-0) were the top seed heading into the tournament and beat Emmett, 25-11, 25-22, in the title match.

“They were an amazing bunch of girls to coach — not only athletically, but their mental toughness and attitude was incredible,” coach Heidi Nash said. “This was a team that would never give up. Even if they got down on the scoreboard, they would battle back and find a way to win.

“They were extremely supportive of one another and continually celebrated one another’s success. No matter what their assignment was they rose to the occasion.”

Trojans shut out Panthers for third straight meeting

Connor Carter, Josh Tolmie top 100 yards again

At first blush, it would seem Lawsen Matteson had a pedestrian Friday night at Deward Bell Stadium.

But, just as football players know how to react according to down and distance, coaches know when it’s time to take the foot off the gas.

During Homedale High School’s 28-0 3A state quarterfinal victory over Parma on Friday, Matteson completed 67.7 percent of his passes (21-for-31) for 189 yards and three touchdowns. Not extraordinary numbers for the senior in his third season as starting quarterback, but his coach points out you don’t need to pad the stats when you’re comfortably ahead in a win-or-go-home playoff game.

“There are high school coaches across the state that would beg for that,” Matt Holtry said of Matteson’s statistical night. “We’ve been pretty blessed with what he’s been able to do and what he’s been able to provide for our team for the last three years, so the expectations are high, which he has higher expectations than any of us for him himself.

“But the way that the game went ... at halftime, I flat-out told the kids, I said, ‘We’ve got to establish our run game and we gotta prove that we can run the ball,’ and when we came out in the second half, we did. I was very, very pleased with the way we were able to move the ball down the field, and we marched right downfield running the ball right at them.”

Senior Josh Tolmie and junior

Jacob Furlott carried the load. Tolmie ran for 139 yards on 26 carries, while Furlott averaged nearly seven yards on 10 attempts, including a 5-yard run in the third quarter for the game’s final score.

Matteson’s three first-half TD passes and Adrian Monreal’s right foot built a 21-0 lead as the Trojans’ defense suffocated the Panthers.

In the first quarter, Jake Deal caught an 8-yard scoring strike, and Furlott took a screen pass 13 yards for a TD. Senior wideout Connor Carter highlighted his seven-reception, 101-yard outing with a 10-yard catch-and-run in the second quarter.

The scoring output paled in comparison to the season-best 55-0 shellacking Homedale administered to Parma in the Milk Jug Game less than a month ago, but with the defense locked in since the embarrassment of a 64-14 loss to Emmett, the Trojans didn’t need much else.

“The biggest thing that we got out of that was our preparation going forward from Emmett is that we can’t take anything for granted, and every opportunity you have out at practice you have to take advantage of that, and the kids have really bought into that,” Holtry said.

“The last two weeks have probably been the best two weeks of practice we’ve had all season. The kids are just dialed in, and they are practicing hard and practicing with a purpose. And you can tell, and you get the sense when you’re out there that they’re trying to get better every day.”

The defense held Parma to seven first downs and 110 yards total offense. The combination of a swarming defensive line and the one-man wrecking crew known as defensive back Chase

Martell forced Panthers quarterback Payton Pinz into two first-half interceptions and a 4-for-18 passing night that netted just 11 yards.

Martell picked off two passes in the span of 7½ minutes to help demoralize a Parma squad that was outscored 179-8 in the past four games of the series.

Homedale has posted three consecutive shutouts against Parma since its 47-8 victory in 2013.

On his first interception, Martell jumped the route, racing in from behind the receiver to the snag the ball.

Holtry said Martell’s burst of thievery was a combination of great game-planning on the part of the coaches, who pore over game film during the week, and the 5-foot-10, 160-pound DB’s dedication to his craft.

“The second thing is having a senior that has the confidence and the knowledge to make those plays because he recognizes them as they happen,” Holtry, a former DB, said.

“Our kids do a great job of watching film, and they can remember what play is coming by the formation the other team presents.”

✓ Trojans: Lane returns for fourth varsity season to lead fast-paced game

years ago,” Betancourt said. “Our goals remain the same as they do every year: be district champs, go to State then be state champs.

“I like our chances this year.” Perhaps he should.

The Trojans have qualified for the 3A state tournament the past three seasons. And, even though Homedale begins the season without three starters from last year’s District III runner-up squad, four players with a ton of varsity experience are back.

But Betancourt says experience still will be a weakness because seniors Tory Lane, Tristan Corta, Gardenia Machuca and Makayla Aberasturi are the only players with any time with the top club.

“Of the 11 girls we have, seven of them will be playing varsity for the first time,” he said.

Still, a core of those four is a pretty good start.

A wing with a tendency to shoot hot, Lane averaged nearly 14 points per game last season to lead the Trojans.

“She is a dynamic player who can shoot, pass and defend,” Betancourt said.

Lane epitomizes the type of game the Trojans could put on the floor this season.

“We’re going to be an up-and-down-the-floor team,” Betancourt said. “A team that is going to be really tough on defense. This is probably the best defensive team I’ve had in the four years as the coach.”

Corta will move into the point guard position this season, taking over from Morgan Nash, who graduated in the spring.

“She’s a tough competitor with defense as her strength,” Betancourt said. “Her shooting has improved from last year.”

Post Gardenia Machuca also will be a stern defender in the post, and Betancourt says the senior is the team’s best rebounder.

“She’s a great athlete who can get up and down the floor,” the coach said.

Aberasturi moves into the starting lineup this season as a wing.

“She can really shoot it and has improved her defense over the summer,” Betancourt said.

Lane is entering her fourth year on the varsity squad, while Corta and Machuca will be playing their third.

Despite losing post Hattie Mertz to graduation, the Trojans will be blessed with height this season. And the speed is still there, even though Elise Shenk also graduated.

“We haven’t had this much overall height in the years I’ve been here,” Betancourt said. “Even though we’re bigger than in the past, we will still be able to get out and run the floor.”

Three newcomers provide the balance of the height, including junior posts Ambyr VanWinkle and Carli Swallow and sophomore Ashley Burks, who plays both wing and post.

Betancourt said VanWinkle provides depth at the post position and Burks is going to have more on her plate this year.

“We’re going to ask (Burks) to do a lot this year,” the coach said. “She’s a tremendous athlete who has improved so much in the past two years.”

Swallow is a transfer student who has a good mid-range shot and can play with her back to the basket.

Betancourt also plans to enlist the skills of two other point guards who are new to the varsity roster, including senior Madi Fisher and sophomore Kendall Nash.

Of Fisher, Betancourt said: “I don’t know if anyone can meet her competitiveness. She works hard and plays great defense.”

As for Nash: “Her ball-handling and shooting have greatly improved over the past year and summer.”

Water report

The Bureau of Reclamation website showed that the Owyhee Reservoir was 4 percent full and that water was flowing in the Owyhee River above the reservoir at Rome, Ore., at a rate of 158 cubic feet per second. Water is flowing out at Nyssa, Ore., at a rate of 12 cubic feet per second. The reservoir held 29,536 acre-feet of water on Monday.

Note — SNOTEL statistics were gathered from the Natural Resources Conservation Service website at 3 p.m. Monday (Year-to-date precipitation is measured from Oct. 1 to Sept. 30.)

NRCS Soda Fire deadline looms

Agricultural producers who want help rehabilitating private land burned by recent wildfires, including the Soda Fire, must apply to the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) by Nov. 20.

The NRCS, which is part of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, is making $500,000 available through the Environmental Quality Incentives Program.

The rehabilitation assistance can be used for work such as fencing, seeding, livestock water development, weed control, and various erosion control practices on rangeland, pastureland, and non-industrial private forest land.

For more information, contact the NRCS office in Marsing at (208) 896-4544, or see the agency’s website, <http://www.id.nrcs.usda.gov/programs/>

Volunteer seed collection effort begins

Volunteers will branch out in coming weeks to collect sagebrush seed targeted to help rehabilitate rangeland devastated by August’s Soda Fire.

The wildfire burned 280,000 acres of rangeland and wildlife habitat in southwest Idaho and southeast Oregon.

Sagebrush seed that volunteers collect at several locations eventually will be scattered across the burned landscape in an attempt to re-established sagebrush stands in critical areas, including sage-grouse leks and habitat for mule deer and dozens of other species.

The collection effort begins Saturday and will be held on a series of Saturdays, including Nov. 21, Dec. 5 and Dec. 12.

Young hopes to collect around 1,000 pounds of sagebrush seed during the four seed collection outings.

Owyhee County youth play hoedown Saturday

A number of boys and girls from Owyhee County will show off their fiddling skills Saturday in Nampa.

The 33rd annual Country Harvest Hoedown will include two shows at 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. in the Nampa Civic Center, 311 3rd St. S.

The Little Hoedowners and Junior Jammers will be featured in the performance under the guidance of Roberta Pearce.

Admission tickets are $10 for adults, $8 for seniors, and $6 for children 12 and younger.

One of the Owyhee County youths who will perform is Jessica Hipwell, 8, of Murphy. The daughter of Doug and Tiffany Hipwell explained why she joined the fiddling ensemble.

“My big sister Kate, she started doing it and wanted me to do it along with my little sister,” Jessica said.

Jessica added that she doesn’t see herself putting the fiddle down any time soon, and thinks she’ll still be playing when she’s grown up.

Kate Hipwell is 10 years old, Emeline Hipwell is 6. Colt Hipwell, 2, will also perform during the two shows Saturday.

Eliot Little, 9, of Marsing, got involved with the annual hoe-down when he was 7. The son of Deidra and Tim Little said he wasn’t sure if he will ever make much money playing the fiddle, but he wouldn’t mind becoming a professional musician.

His 7-year-old sister Maizy is also in the group.

Alisha Hanus, 15, lives in Wilder and has been playing the fiddle for eight years. The daughter of Arlinda and Phil Oliver practices for an hour every day, except for Sundays, in preparation for the hoedown.

“I love doing it,” Hanus said. The children said they became interested in fiddling on their own without any influence from their parents.

To honor military veterans for their service, the Junior Jammer Fiddlers will open the shows with a medley of the theme songs from each branch of service.

Pearce is offering free tickets for the matinee to senior citizens who live in nursing homes or care centers. Activity directors for those facilities are encouraged to contact the Civic Center to reserve tickets.

Beet harvest to conclude this week

The annual mountain of sugarbeets piled up at the local beet dump reached approximately 50,000 tons late last week, representing 95% of this year’s crop from some 40 Homedale area producers.

Steve Youngen, fieldman for the Amalgamated Sugar Co. plant in Nyssa, said the beet harvest will conclude this week, possibly today, by which time the mountain of beets will have grown to the neighborhood of 53-54,000 tons. It represents the output from approximately 2,100 acres in the Homedale area.

“It’s a little hard to say” just yet how prices are shaping up for local producers, Youngen reported, estimating that prices “will probably be comparable to what’s been paid for the last two to three years.” That would mean about $38 to $40 per ton. Prices, he pointed out, are based on a sugar content of 15½% on average.

While the tonnage per acre from area farms “is better than normal,” the sugar content this year is less than normal, according to Youngen, perhaps because of record heat during the summer.

Trojans face Valley for championship

Headed into this Saturday’s game at Pocatello in their bid to reclaim for Homedale the Idaho State High School A-3 Championship title, are the local Trojans (10-1) confident about their chances against the Valley Vikings (11-0) of Hazelton?

Says Quarterback ace Chris Hoshaw: “Yep, I think we’re just too balanced for them to stop. Our defense will stop anybody.” Says unintimidated Guard Jack Terry: “Yeah, they’ll be a good team, but we should play our hardest and execute. All we’ve got to do is concentrate.” Says another senior veteran go-getter, Brian Tarr: “Yeah, we haven’t seen much on them, but we’re pretty sure we can take them.” Says junior TD-manufacturer Josh Hays, after reflection: “I think we’ll do pretty good. We’ve got a strong team.”

Maybe nobody would agree more with Hays than Valley Head Coach Rod Malone. He was scouting the Trojans last weekend while they were easily decking Fruitland 25-0 in their juggernaut’s climb to the top rung of statewide high school football.

In the game itself, it took the Trojans just a few minutes to establish dominance, with senior star Brad Dines nailing the 1st TD for Homedale with 3:51 on the clock on the 13-yard carry through the middle. The play had been set up thanks to a Fruitland fumble recovery by Tony Uranga, carries by Hays, Dines and Ryan Landa, plus a 10-yard or so toss from Hoshaw to Uranga.

Then Kevin Alambra’s kick sent Fruitland deep into their own territory. Homedale’s defenders allowed no gains, period. Three plays after the Grizzlies were forced to punt away, Hoshaw connected with a 42-yard sizzler to Alambra that put the locals on Fruitland’s 18 yard line. Two carries by Landa later, 4 seconds into the 2nd quarter, he gave Homedale its 2nd TD on an 8-yard straight-ahead power thrust, running the score to 12-0 after a failed 2 point conversion try and an earlier blocked extra point.

Marsing athletic roundup — Girls varsity basketball

The Huskies won their opening game against Homedale last Tuesday, November 6. They defeated the Trojans 30-24 in a non-league game.

Homedale couldn’t hit a basket the first quarter and scored only five points in the 2nd quarter to leave Marsing on top 16-5 at the half. The Trojans played better in the second half, out-scoring the Huskies in the 3rd and 4th quarters. But a persistent Marsing defense kept Homedale from pulling ahead in the final minutes.

Beth Kiester and Lachelle Loucks led Marsing with 10 and 8 points respectively. Homedale had twice as many turnovers as Marsing while the Huskies had trouble on the boards, pulling down only 15 rebounds to the Trojans’ 32. The teams were pretty evenly matched in field goal and free throw percentage.

Law enforcement problems told at Homedale C. of C.

Sheriff Al Barberis explained problems of Owyhee County law enforcement at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Homedale Chamber of Commerce Tuesday noon at Bicandi’s café.

Sheriff Barberis had been invited to attend the meeting in response to a request that a deputy sheriff be stationed at Homedale.

He proposed that a second deputy, Paul Whaley, who lives between Marsing and Homedale, and who has been hired to give drivers’ license exams four days a week, be retained as a full-time deputy, and be available for sheriff duties over the week end or in the evenings when drivers’ license hours were over.

Sentiment expressed by Chamber members seemed to indicate that this arrangement would only partly solve the problem, and that a full-time deputy in the Homedale-Marsing area is needed.

The problem of finances is a major one, according to Kenneth Downing, chairman of the Owyhee County board of commissioners. Cost of an additional car and travel expenses, plus additional salary, would make the cost of law enforcement in Owyhee County considerably higher than similar counties in the state.

Dedication of high school addition held Tuesday

Approximately 400 patrons and students attended the open house and dedication of the new Homedale High School addition, Tuesday evening, according to Darrel Reisch, principal.

Dedication of the building was held in the high school gymnasium and included a welcome speech given by Supt. Deward Bell. The high school music department also played several selections, and a report on the building was given by Joe LaMarsh of the Dropping and Kelley Architects of Boise. The presentation of keys was given by the Walter Opp Construction Co.

Following dedication ceremonies, tours were taken throughout the various departments in the new building. The new additions to the school included a new shop, shop classroom, two new physical education dressing rooms, two science labs, two business education rooms, a new music facility, including storage rooms, individual practice rooms, and a large rehearsal area.

John Malmberg cited for conservation in 1964

John Malmberg, Marsing, a farmer, and a supervisor of the Owyhee Soil Conservation District, won the Certificate of Merit for conservation achievements in 1964.

Malmberg has an alfalfa seed and livestock farm. He has remodeled his irrigation system, installing concrete ditches, and has done considerable land leveling. He has a basic plan with the Soil Conservation District and plans on installing needed practices annually to further improve his farming operation.

This Certificate of Merit was presented to the Owyhee Soil Conservation District Supervisors at the Division III meeting at Cascade. The presentation was made by a Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company representative. Presenting the Certificate to John Malmberg was Arlie Parkins, Chairman of the Board of Supervisors.

Trojans win final grid contest 34-0 over Kavemen

The Homedale Trojans scored a 34-0 non-conference Snake River Valley B grid-iron win over Kuna Friday night to close the season for both ball clubs.

The Trojans finished with a 6-2 over-all season record while the Kavemen wound up with a 7-2-1 mark for the ’65 season.

THE AVALANCHE IN IDAHO – The late visit of the editor of this paper to Alturas, Boise and other sections of our Territory afforded him an opportunity not only to speak of the resources of the country in accordance with their merits, and get acquainted with the people, but at the same time it also afforded him an opportunity to judge of the estimation in which the AVALANCHE is held outside of the locality in which it is published. A practical evidence of these favorable opinions of our paper is found in the fresh additions to the subscription list from these different counties, nearly two hundred new subscribers to the Daily and Weekly having been added to it during the past five weeks. Everywhere we found the AVALANCHE recognized as the leading paper of the Territory and credited with doing magnificent work in the way of developing the interests of Idaho and making known its wonderful resources. Many families and business houses regard it with the same favor they did the old Sacramento Union whose place it has supplied in very many instances. The entire trip was in fact something akin to an ovation which modesty prevents us from alluding to in detail. The generous reception met with everywhere will be treasured and always held in agreeable remembrance. Such a stimulus is greatly encouraging to all connected with this paper to push the work forward and keep the AVALANCHE up to the standard of excellence that it has attained. It is no easy work to get up a live paper in this Territory with its comparatively limited population, and consignment absence of facilities for displaying enterprise. With such resources however as we have at command every effort shall be put forth to make the paper worth all the increased confidence and support so generously being guaranteed to it. The advancement of the interest of every section of the Territory will always be the foremost subject for consideration in the conduct of this journal, and the people everywhere within the limits of Idaho may rest assured that the AVALANCHE will in the future as in the past be as sluggish at its post or on any opportunity to assist in building up interests so intimately associated with our future Territorial progress.

BRIEF SKETCHES – Some of the Leading Men of Boise City. The Capital of this Territory is not without its quota of representative men. For shrewdness, energy and go-aheadativeness many of her merchants will compare favorably with those of larger cities, while the men who fill other than mercantile positions would not come short of doing credit to more exalted stations than those which they may now represent. While there is less competition in the various professions among men who settle in sparsely populated or new countries, it does not always follow that incompetent men attain to the leading positions in the gift of the national or local governments. On the contrary some of the men filling public positions in many of the Territories are bright examples of that energy, perseverance and hard work that followed up steadily in the prime of manhood usually brings it reward.

PRESIDENT GRANT is improving some in his speech-making efforts. He made quite a little talk on the occasion of the serenade given him in honor of the recent Republican victory in Pennsylvania and some other States. Such demonstrations are in questionable taste. When elected to that position the President is the Chief Magistrate of the whole nation. He is of course expected to entertain fixed political views of his own, but the propriety of his joining in a partisan demonstration where he fills his position as the head of the nation is open to censure. The White House is not the place for indulging in this species of crowing, and the dignity and reserve which are supposed to surround the Presidential office are not in keeping with the shouts of exultation or hilarity of feeling proper enough to be manifested elsewhere, but quite unbecoming for the Chief Magistrate to join the chorus.

On the edge of common sense Ellen DeGeneres Pizza

LUNATICS DEMAND ELLEN DEGENERES REMOVE LEATHER FROM CLOTHING LINE! OH, NO!

Care2 gathered more than 1,800 signatures! To the dismay of animal rights activists and vegan martyrs, her “luxury lifestyle” brand of clothing has added a $250 pair of Brazilian shoes.

I would guess Ellen is a pretty tough cookie. She has promoted herself as a vegan and animal rights advocate. Now she’s offended them. It’s common whenever the extremist’s lobbyists get their claws into susceptible, famous prey like Ellen, they cling like kudzu. Some quotes of her predators now heaping shame and disappointment on her: “I’m so saddened . . .”, “. . . I hope our voices will remind her . . .”, “. . . it isn’t just heart-breaking, it’s baffling.”

Lately Ms. DeGeneres has moved off the end of animal rights and vegan activism. She was thrown insults by the parasitic extremists for treating her crew to a pizza party. The pizza was contaminated with cheese! Not a felony in the real world where now less than 2 percent of the U.S. population claims to be some sort of vegetarian, and the number is declining.

She also became the face of Cover Girl, which tests on animals and is not plant-based. Would they rather test on humans, maybe Syrian refugees pounding at the gates of Europe? Ms. De explained her vegetarian choice because, “I’ve never seen a happy cow.”

She lives in a different world than most of us. She has gone overboard to help causes she believes in, but time goes by and the edge wears smoother. I don’t think she hates 98 percent of Americans because we eat steak, chicken nuggets, BBQ ribs, Ben and Jerry’s, pizza and yogurt. It’s likely that her television audience is made up of regular people, 98 percent of whom eat meat and don’t protest Cover Girl.

We live in a real world. In her world it is hard to see us in the audience when the stage lights are bright. She is limited to advisors that she pays. Eventually a performer, politician, or columnist begins to believe that he or she knows more than their fans. The logic is: “If they like me then I really must know what I’m talking about!” And their enabling sycophants lead them around by the nose.

Care2 claims 32 million members. They stirred up 1,800 petition signatures and called it a “Massive Backlash!” Ms. De’s television audience when she last hosted the Oscars in 2014 was 44 million. If she’d asked for a show of hands from the 44 million-head audience, how many of them liked cheese on their pizza, whataya think?

She has done well as an entertainer. Any entrepreneur who becomes successful the hard way deserves credit and, she may not be as gullible as it seems. Or maybe she’s beginning to walk in our shoes for a while? I’ve seen thousands of contented cows.

I also have a personal reason to tell her to “stand her ground.” The first time I was on the Tonight Show with Johnny Carson, the show ran long and I was the last act to appear that night. In Johnny’s sign-off he apologized for not having the time for another guest waiting in the Green Room, “An up-and-coming young comedienne, Ellen DeGeneres, maybe next week.”

From Washington Spirit of Freedom honors veterans, those who help them

Veterans and their families infuse our communities with a deep understanding of the truest sense of service. Many of these veterans continue to serve their fellow veterans and others long after their military careers end. Their shared insight of the personal price of American freedoms provides a special connection to the veterans they assist. For the past 13 years, I have had the honor of recognizing some of this immense service with the Spirit of Freedom: Idaho Veterans Service Award. This year, 21 Idahoans are recipients of the Spirit of Freedom Award.

This award is presented in two categories: veterans and volunteers who assist veterans. It provides an opportunity to recognize the outstanding service to our nation of area veterans and many Idahoans who dedicate considerable time to supporting those who have served our nation. Their acts better our communities and encourage others through their examples. Ensuring that these individuals understand how valued they are and the importance of their service to others is part of the purpose of presenting the awards.

Some of those honored have participated in pivotal events in our nation’s history, others help honor and uphold the selfless service of our nation’s veterans, and many bring joy to veterans and their families. For example, one of this year’s Spirit of Freedom Award recipients was wounded when he helped secure the beach at Normandy in World War II. A Vietnam veteran is being honored for his distinguished military service and continued efforts to memorialize the service of veterans and their loved ones.

Another award recipient devotes hours nearly every day to assisting fellow veterans and leading other community efforts. Another talented awardee provides exceptional musical performances for veterans. All of the awardees are leaders — serving our nation and communities and bettering the lives of others.

Spirit of Freedom Awards are presented on Veterans Day. The Boise Veterans Affairs Medical Center, the Idaho State Veterans Homes in Boise, Lewiston and Pocatello, the Idaho State Veterans Cemetery, the Marine Corps League, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Vietnam Veterans of America Idaho State Council are among the organizations that submitted nominations for the award this year.

As of this year, 228 Spirit of Freedom Awards will have been presented since the award’s creation in 2002. The number of awards given is the just the tip of the iceberg of the deserving individuals in our communities. Countless Idahoans give of their time and talents every day.

Biographies of Spirit of Freedom Award recipients are posted on my website at http://www.crapo.senate.gov/issues/veterans/spirit\_of\_freedom.cfm. The actions of the award recipients and innumerable other Idahoans perpetuate the Spirit of Freedom and are more than worthy of recognition.

Financial management Tough love warranted when son breaks college deal

Dear Dave,
Our son is a senior in college. We all signed a contract before he left for school a few years ago stating that we would pay for school and provide him a car to drive as long as he maintained good grades and behaved in a respectful and mature manner. Over the past couple of years, his grades have dropped and he's been acting more and more disrespectful. We learned recently that he even told a family friend that he hated us. My husband went to confront him about his behavior and this statement, and our son admitted he said it and was unrepentant. My husband immediately took the car and cut off his cell phone, like we had agreed. But now, I just feel sick with worry. Did we do the right thing?

— Carla

Dear Carla,
I'm sure you do feel sick inside. If you didn't feel that way to some extent, you'd be a terrible person. This is your child we're talking about. And even though he brought this on himself by being a twerp, and you guys are simply following through on the agreement, it hurts you because you're human — and a good mom.

It may seem extreme to some folks, but what you guys did wasn't capricious or arbitrary. There was a deal in place, and he knew the terms of the contract. If someone worked for me and did or said or tweeted the kind of stuff you're talking about, I'd fire them on the spot. This kid has got to learn how to behave in the culture and that there are consequences for breaking your word and violating contracts.
But here's some good news for you, Carla. You married a real man — a strong and loving man. What he did took a ton of strength and courage. There are so many wimps in our culture today, but you married a good one. And whether this kid realizes it or not, he's got one heck of a dad who really cares.
I'll give you a prediction. Within

DAVE Says
by Dave Ramsey • www.davesays.org

30 days, your kid comes home wagging his tail behind him. Even if he's stubborn, being hungry and strapped for cash — along with losing his wheels — will solve a lot of that. From diapers until they're out of the house, and even after they're out of the house, you make a lot of those kinds of calls if you're a good parent.

— Dave

Dear Dave,
I'm 45 years old and a single mom. I have a decent job, but I want to go back to school to become a nurse. The money would be much better than what I make now, but I'd have to take out student loans to make this happen. Is it worth the risk?

— Susan

Dear Susan,
Is nursing a field worth pursuing, especially when it is something you love and would increase your income significantly? You bet! Nursing is a very honorable profession. Am I going to tell you to take out loans to make it happen? Absolutely not!
Save as much as you possibly can first — even if it's just a little each month. Then, I want you to look into Pell Grants, traditional and non-traditional scholarships and what I call the “indentured servitude” program. There's still something of a nurse shortage in this country, and there are hospitals and drug companies that will agree to pay your school bills if you go to work for them afterwards for a specific number of years.

I'm proud of you, Susan. Gaining knowledge and improving yourself and your career prospects are all good things. But stay away from student loan debt. It's bad and unnecessary!

Americans for Limited Government Here's Ryan's chance to exercise the power of the purse

by Robert Romano

“We fully expect we're going to exercise that power.”
That was House Speaker Rep. Paul Ryan (R-Wis.) on Nov. 3 promising to use Congress' constitutional power of the purse to include policy riders that will defund aspects of President Obama's agenda in an upcoming omnibus spending bill in December.
It was a seeming response to Sen. Chuck Schumer (D-N.Y.), who in an interview with the Washington Post published a day earlier promised, “There's a decent chance the government will shut down over one of these riders, but [Republicans will] lose. And we've agreed: Nancy [Pelosi], Harry [Reid], the president, we're locking arms on no poison pill riders.”
The war of words sets the stage for a December showdown over funding the government. For Democrats, it represents a high stakes game. For Republicans, which riders are off the table, specifically?
The Washington Post outlined a litany of past, high-profile attempts by Republicans to rein in Obama that Democrats promise to stop now: “Democrats are now firing warning shots that they will stay united to prevent Republicans from attaching such riders to the omnibus that could seek to cut off funding for Planned Parenthood or dismantle some of President Obama's top priorities, including Obamacare, new environmental rules and executive actions on immigration.”

So, if you're Paul Ryan, perhaps these are the first things to lay on the table. Make the fight, at least initially, exactly as the Washington Post describes. Say it's over defunding Planned Parenthood, Obamacare, new environmental rules and executive immigration amnesty.
All the while, Ryan could add hundreds of other policy riders affecting a full range of little-known Obama initiatives stretching across numerous departments and agencies.
When talks for the Fiscal Year 2015 so-called “Cromnibus” commenced between House and Senate negotiators, according to top Capitol Hill sources, Democrats had hundreds of appropriations riders to attach, but Republicans had less than 10. This, despite passage by the House of seven appropriations bills including 215 spending amendments in 2014 that could have been the subject of negotiations between the House and the Senate.
In the meantime, when one looks at past Democrat appropriations bills with a Republican president, it was hard to turn a page without finding some section denying funds for this, that, and the other thing.
For example a continuing resolution enacted in October 1984 included about 150 instances of the words “none of the funds.” Meaning, none of the funds shall be used to ... you name it. That was directed at a Republican president, Ronald Reagan, and even occurred with Republicans owning a Senate majority.

Obama has neither chamber of Congress. Why should he be immune? Defund him. Consider it a going-away present.
If House Republicans just combined the most important riders they have included in the past two fiscal years of appropriations bills, including those that made it into the Cromnibus and the partial Fiscal Year 2016 continuing resolution, Democrats could not veto away every single one of them.
Sure, they might stop defunding Planned Parenthood, or Obamacare or executive amnesty on immigration, but they can't stop everything.
We fully expect Speaker Ryan will exercise the power of the purse.
The question is how far is he willing to go to defend liberty and limit the size and scope of government? This could be Paul Ryan's finest hour.
